Liberal Leader To Raise Pensions If Elected

HANOVER (CP) — A Liberal government in Ontario would institute an old age pension scheme to give pensioners $85 to $90 a month, says Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer.

He addressed a nomination meeting Wednesday night at which former Ontario Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver was named to represent the Grey North riding in the next provincial election.

Mr. Wintermeyer said the increased pensions would come as part of a liberal plan to begin a portable contributory pension system in Ontario.

He said a recent survey showed more than 40 to 60 per cent of persons over 65 in the province do not have any pension or subsistence income as high as $85 to $90.

The plan would at first be voluntary, but would become compulsory later in the same way as hospital insurance. It would include everyone in the province.

The government can never provide this out of its own funds, but it can provide the best type of plan."

LABOR REFORM

Mr. Wintermeyer also called for "a sort of United Nations" forum where labor and management could debate their problems.

"One cannot legislate industrial peace," he said, "but you can bring it about by providing the machinery for both sides to come together."

The Liberal leader questioned the right of Premier Frost's Progressive Conservative government to hold the date for the forthcoming provincial election.

"We are ready for and invite an election," he said. "The only thing simply is that the present government done a good job!"

Animal Lovers Rallying to Aid Of Shepherd Dog

WINDSOR (CP) — Windsor animal lovers are rallying to the aid today of the two-year-old German shepherd dog sentenced Wednesday to three years' hard labor for expenses of an appeal may be launched.

The dog has been sentenced to die within the next 10 days.

Police Court Magistrate Augus W. Macmillan who after hearing evidence said the dog was vicious and issued instructions that he be destroyed.

Dusty is said to have bitten people on several occasions in 1958 and a 14-year-old Windsor boy on Feb. 14.

Dusty is owned by the William Read family. There are five children in the Read family who will lose their pet if Dusty dies.

Veterans Can Play Great Role In World Affairs Says Martin

Home and School Meeting Told of African Journey

TRENTON — Dr. W. R. Patrick, well known local dentist, was the speaker at the April meeting of the Queen Elizabeth School Home and School Club, held in the school auditorium last night. Dr. Patrick showed colored slides of his recent visit to Central Africa, the Sudan, and Egypt to an interested audience of parents, teachers and grade six students.

He described the journeyings of himself and Mrs. Patrick from the Cape of Good Hope up through Khartoum to Cairo, showing pictures of Kenya and the principal products, sisal for cordmaking, and coffee, with cotton and gum arabic in the Sudan region.

Many pictures of animals such as elephants and camels, and types of native architecture all came on the screen, accompanied by Dr. Patrick's racy and interesting commentary.

During the business portion of the meeting, which was opened by the president, Mrs. C. E. Bull, Mrs. L. Aziz, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, and W. Bilsky, treasurer, gave his report. Mrs. Aziz read a letter from College Street Home and School Association, inviting the Queen Elizabeth members and executive to the May meeting, when Mrs. Ruby Courtice would be giving a talk about the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations. Mrs. Courtice is the Federation's vice-president.

PLAN FUN FAIR

Mrs. Bull said that the Fun Fair committee still needed canned goods for the fair, and a few bumpers to put them in. Mrs. Pope offered to try and find a refrigerator for the night of the fair.

T. E. Bedford, school principal, took the room count, which was won by his room.

He then introduced Dr. Patrick, and when the slides had been seen and enjoyed by everyone, he thanked voiced thanks to the audience.

Mrs. Bull adjourned the meeting, and lunch was served to the children present, and lunch to the adults.

PRE-MARITAL BLESSING

QUEBEC (CP) — Some 700 young men and women planning weddings this year took part in benediction ceremonies at St. Helo Roman Catholic church. They are registered for pre-marital courses sponsored by the church.

TRENTON — Hundreds of veterans from all over Quinte district gathered Wednesday night at Branch 110 of the Canadian Legion in Trenton held the second annual combined Vimy and VE Day banquet in the new hall here.

The honorable Paul Martin, guest speaker for the evening, told the veterans he had heard of Branch 110 all over but this was the first time he had visited it and he congratulated them all. "This splendid building," he said, "is a credit to the work which is being done here by the veterans."

In his address to the group Mr. Martin told the veterans that the danger spots in the world today and the position Canada must take in world affairs now and in the years to come.

He told the veterans of the various places of the world he had visited and that the name of Canada meant something in all of them, even small countries we have hardly heard of."

"We can, Mr. Martin said, "play a great role in the world today and we owe it to our children to do so. We are among the few countries of the world which know freedom as we have it today and this makes us one of the last bastions in the world for this type of freedom. You as members of the Canadian Legion and citizens of Canada have this responsibility to shoulder the weapons of freedom."

He was introduced by Senator W. A. Fraser and at the conclusion of his speech was presented by past president of the branch, John Farrell.

Other speakers at the banquet were: Branch president Ross W. T. Lawson, who acted as the introductory remarks and introduced the head table and the veterans, Mayor Ross Burtt, Ross Grier, lai vice president of the branch who gave the reply to the toast to the ladies. Mayor Ross Burtt who gave the civic welcome to the veterans. Zone-commander elect Earl Donaldson who spoke on Vimy and V-E vets, F/L C. W. Bryce, branch padre on "Our fallen comrades".

The lines of commemoration were recited by John Silver, and the bugler for the last post and reveille was Pte. David Street of the R.C.A.F. Trenton.

Woman, 81, Injured While Housecleaning

TRENTON — Mrs. Mary Higgins, an 81-year-old woman, was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon, with a deeply lacerated leg, caused by a fall from a step-ladder while she was housecleaning.

Mrs. Higgins, who lives with her son Frederick at R. R. 6, Trenton, was adjusting curtains when the accident happened. She was rushed to the hospital, where she was attended by Dr. J. D. Beecroft, and Dr. W. A. L. McDonald.

Combined Tea And Bake Sale Held at School

TRENTON — Dufferin Street School held a most successful "Open House" combined tea and bake sale in their auditorium last night when 263 guests attended. The venture was planned by Dufferin Home and School president H. T. Beggs and his executive to replace a "Fun Fair" this year.

Mrs. N. Campey, convened the event, and parents enjoyed examining the exhibits, which were the work of their youngsters, who attend the school. Mothers gravitated to the bake and home goods tables, while fathers congregated in the film room, where films were shown of curling and kindred sports.

Refreshments were convened by Mrs. S. Walters, assisted by Mrs. R. Barlow, Mrs. H. Clark, Mrs. Bruce Westfall, Mrs. D. Murphy, Mrs. Lou Knack, and Mrs. C. McColl.

The good things to eat were prepared in the kitchen by Mrs. W. McLaren, Mrs. R. Bennett, Mrs. Ed. Wilson, Mrs. C. Ormshaw, Mrs. C. Dauncey and Mrs. R. Clark.

Mrs. G. Brown and Mrs. R. Weaver presided at the home baking tables, ably assisted by Mrs. H. Chambers, Mrs. Vagn Lange, Mrs. R. Ball, Mrs. A. Vanderwater and Mrs. G. Hoyt.

Taking tickets at the door were Mrs. R. D. Magnus and Mrs. Claude Smith.

Guard Stabbed At Penitentiary

KINGSTON (CP)—A guard on duty in the psychiatric ward in Kingston penitentiary was stabbed early today by a convict patient.

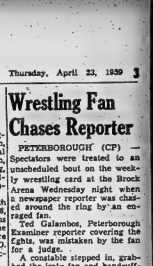
His condition was not believed serious.

The convict, Nicholas Prokopy of Toronto, is serving a two-year term for breaking and theft. He was being treated in the ward at the time of the stabbing.

Wrestling Fan Chases Reporter

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Spectators were treated to an unscheduled bout on the weekly wrestling card at the Brock Arena Wednesday night when a newspaper reporter was chased around the ring by an enraged fan.

Ted Galambos, Peterborough Examiner reporter covering the fights, was mistaken by the fan for a judge.



A constable stepped in, grabbed the irate fan and handcuffed him. The man spent the night cooling off in jail.

Picketer Fined

WINDSOR (CP) — A union picketer, arrested during the Chrysler strike in January and charged with impeding others, today pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

Duncan Brown, 44, of Harrow, was arrested for blocking the way of a train attempting to leave the strike-bound Chrysler plant.

THE LITTLE MAN

We see by a UPI news report that Charlie Chaplin, now seventy years of age, is going to revive the "little man," the one with the baggy trousers and the waddling walk. Commenting on this proposition Mr. Chaplin stated, "There is room for the little man in the atomic age."

We feel that there is quite a bit of truth in that statement if one reflects upon its implications. To start off with we might consider Mr. Chaplin's forte -- humor. If the return of the "little man" will add a few more smiles and chuckles to today's somewhat hectic life -- as we strongly suspect it would -- his return would be most welcome indeed. It is amazing how so many of us seem to hurry about getting our day's work done and complete the many little odd tasks which crop up without taking time off to have a really good laugh. It is truly surprising how light some of our problems become when we approach them after having experienced a high degree of humor.

As we recollect Mr. Chaplin's "little man" he seemed to take care of other people's woes by exhibiting a complicated series of experiences which showed that in those very same troubles there was a form of laughter to be found, even in the direst situations. In laughing at Charlie Chaplin's antics we were actually laughing at ourselves -- and thoroughly enjoying it.

If the atomic age serves to bring back the capacity to laugh at ourselves through the medium of the "little man," we certainly look forward to it.

There is another view we can take of Mr. Chaplin's statement, however. This may be called the sociological view. In the light of the overwhelming advancements of technology and the rapidity with which we overtake us -- and pass us by -- we might be inclined to forget about the mere mortality of these things. Even in our short life we have seen, or heard, the age of radio, the jet age, the atomic age, the age of the ICBM, and can expect to see the latest replaced by an age of interplanetary travel, providing we are not creating a modern tower of Babel.

We feel that Mr. Chaplin was expressing a sociological sort of humor when he was showing the "little man" in the big factory, completely befuddled by the creations of his genius. An entertainer is one who gives his audience some relief from their everyday lives. An actor, we would suggest, is a person who puts across an idea or thought to his audience through his portrayal of a role on the stage. Mr. Chaplin belongs to the latter category for, although he does make one forget one's "cares and woes" for a while, Mr. Chaplin's little man is actually showing us that without him there wouldn't be much meaning left to what goes on about us. Take the little man out of Mr. Chaplin's former films and what do you find? A scene of meaningless motions and backgrounds denoting nothing in particular.

We can't live without the "little man" either in the atomic age or the next.

DIRTY SIDEWALKS

Belleville's sidewalks are dirty.

Long stretches of them are still covered with sand which was dumped on them during the winter by works department employees to help maintain safe footing on the ice.

Some residents have swept off sidewalks in front of their property. Others, either through laziness or physical inability, have not. The situation is not a happy one. One reader, responding to a request for suggestions for comment, said she had been informed by city authorities removal of the sand was not their responsibility. We have considerable sympathy with this stand. We shudder to think of the tax bill if seven men with seven brooms swept for seven days. We sympathize, too, with property owners not physically able to undertake the task themselves nor financially able to pay for having it done. This leaves us without any solution, except to wait for the winds to blow all this dust into the faces of pedestrians and onto the first newly-painted house of the season. Perhaps, though, if everybody who could sweep a sidewalk were to do so, there would not be quite as much dirt left as at present.

Or could some curiers go into spring housecleaning?

THE FOLLY OF GRUMBLING

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Oh, it ain't no use to grumble,
And it ain't no use to cry,
For that never brings the sunshine
And it never clears the sky;
And it never makes things easy
And it never stops the thunder,
And it never checks the rain;
So it's best to keep a-smilin'
Till the sunshine comes again.

Oh, it ain't no use to mutter,
And it ain't no use to swear,
'Cause that ain't going to lighten
Any load you've got to bear,
And it never makes things easy
To be gloomy-like and glum,
'Cause the Lord will send you pleasures
When it's best for them to come.

By Freighter

Holiday Cruise To Historic Caribbean

By G. A. MORTON
ARTICLE 18

Due to quite a number of inquiries about more particulars regarding costs and an appraisal of enjoyment of a freighter voyage, we have decided to devote a few paragraphs to the subject. The fare per person on our trip was $475 and for this price passengers were given a stateroom with private bath -- including a bathroom of adequate size with a shower but no tub. The meals were bountiful with good variety and two dinners -- one each evening and tea at four in the afternoon. Stewardesses served the meals and tended to the stateroom. The girls on the Sunadele came from Switzerland and they were very pleasant and competent.

Some people have an owner's suite which includes a good-sized sitting room with two staterooms. The suite costs about ten per cent more than any stateroom and is often reserved for a special customer or guest of the shipping company. However, it is best not to count on obtaining this accommodation, but if it can be had, is well worth the cost in the opinion of travellers who have enjoyed the extra space.

Freighters cannot take more than twelve passengers unless they have a physician on board. Thus anyone going on an extended trip should be in reasonably good physical condition. Cases of accident or illness could be rather serious for there are times when land is many hundreds of miles away and help does not always mean good medical service is available even then. Twenty-four hours out of St. John, for instance, the Sunadele was stricken ill with appendicitis. Fortunately for us, Dr. Wray Hicks, from Hope, Ontario, was a passenger and gave the patient treatment to lessen the pain and his great apprehension. An ambulance met the ship when as we docked and took the young man to hospital.

OTHER LIMITATIONS

Persons over seventy and young children are not accepted by most freighters and others who are not able to get about briskly would find a long ocean-liner cruise liners where elevators are part of the equipment. A freighter is no place for nervous sea-sick sufferers who want to be doing something all the time. Deck space is limited for walking, there is no swimming pool, recreational facilities are limited or ashore, no buffet luncheons or decks, no bouillon cups served on deck in the mornings and no dancing under the stars of a tropical night. The atmosphere of a freighter is short on glamor. Yet, for those who like to be where the action is the obvious question often asked. It is difficult to answer without sounding terribly dull and commonplace, because the time went just too fast and the days were just not long enough. We took along several books we had been wanting to read for some time -- we did not read one -- and that we hurriedly finished as we neared the home port.

Following breakfast an hour was spent in the sun on deck, then back to our cabin for a nap or some reading. More time on deck, then to the lounge before lunch where tea had been served. Coffee in the lounge was available at all times. Following lunch came another restful period, tea at four, more time on deck, then the usual-time routine at sun down. Evenings were spent in pleasant conversation and listening to records. Most everyone retired about ten o'clock. Sleep was restful and very, very pleasant for we had a regular routine. All people on board, the weather was perfect, the ship was most comfortable and the sea was like a charm of the moving surface of the ocean as we sailed majestically along. We loved every moment of the trip even including the storm we had on the return trip.

THE HEAVY DEMAND

As there is a heavy demand for accommodation on the better freighters, reservations should be made four months in advance if possible. However, Major and Mrs. Stephen Gittus of Quebec City, obtained two rooms a week in advance of sailing due to cancellations. Major Gittus is technical staff officer at Cardy near Quebec. He is connected with the Canadian Research Development Establishment which is a department under the Defence Research Board. This fine couple know the Belleville district well for he was instructor in gunnery, School of Anti-Aircraft Artillery at Picton for five years -- in 1947 to 1950 and 1952 and '53. He is also a top notch camera enthusiast and recently won honorable mention at the International Salon at Erie, Pa., for his work. He was the only Canadian to receive a mention.

OFF THE RECORD

Is All World Going Crazy?

Brockville Recorder and Times

In the present world crisis, in which the eyes of the world are focussed on Berlin and prospects for a summit conference between east and west, it is interesting to reflect on the psychological aspects of the situation.

Backing out gracefully is not an easy trait in human character, and often it is the case of how this is the post problem. Prestige and sentiment and the ties built up during the war with Western Germany demand that the West stand firm.

To withdraw from Berlin would be no hardship to the Russians as they are without defences -- but for the United States, British and other NATO countries to do likewise would be unacceptable. One can easily imagine the effect such an action would have on such an event and the rejoicing in the Kremlin, to be followed by Soviet plans for a vacuum in Western Europe created by the United Nations.

That such a situation will never come about by any voluntary act of the West is certain. Any change in the status of Berlin will only be the result of agreement through negotiation. And so the world waits while the West remains firm in its determination of foreign ministers, to be followed by a summit conference.

To refer once again to the psychological implications of the present situation, it is evident that while each side has no illusions about the fearsome character of another war, each is still prepared to risk it. And it is not unrealistic to believe that Mr. Khrushchev likes to keep the international pot boiling just for the hell of it on the theory that a little tension is good for us all. Indeed, the fears engendered by the international jockeying on both west and east in the broader patterns of our diplomats are probably of great interest to psychologists. Dr. Hans Selye, professor, Dr. G. W. Riskin, wrote a book on the subject. The reason to believe we are going "mad on a global scale" is that it is the principals in a summit conference to take the first step in demonstrating frankly their responsibility toward humanity, compromise if they must, but by no means sensible and reasonable agreements on Berlin and Germany.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

The great Gandhi, whose compassion touched the heart and mind of the whole world, was in his day the Gandhi philosophy of India by a name which meant "children of God."

In other words, he called these despised and degraded people by the greatest and loftiest name he could think of. There may be in the Gandhi philosophy of criticism and certainly he had, during his life-time, as many enemies as friends. He died under the heavy bludgeoning of hatred. Historians for centuries will differ as to his influence on society, but certainly he was a man of great heart. His was shown when he referred to the outcasts as "children of God."

There is nothing this whole world of ours needs so much as love. We read in the Bible that God is love. In other words, the very essence of the character of the divine nature is love. Usually we think of love as an emotion. Love is that, but it has a universal aspect, love is something vastly more than this. Love is something which is of the very nature of God Himself, the original Creator of the universe. We should know what life is. If we want what love is, we would know what God is.

The text now is to seek God. To find love is to find reality in all its amazing aspects.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The splash season is now in full swing. The ladies in the department following winter's damage have not yet been repaired. Even the little European cars are still in their shells, and the standard cars, trucks and delivery pickups are going about it.

There can be no doubt any longer that the Canadian motorist is at last been accepted as part of gracious -- modern living. Ten years ago, the motorists by and large were morbidly conscious of their cars' role, and spent their days drove with self-conscious-ness, many of them deliberately slowing down when they approached pedestrians near a public. Ten years ago, pedestrians used to get furiously angry when a car flung filth all over them. They leaped backwards, cursing. Now they stand after the interesting enemy, and calling upon all beholders to witness the outrage.

But today the motorist has lost his self-consciousness and his viciousness. He swishes along at good speed, puddles be hanged. And the most you will ever see a pedestrian do is just execute a very jaunty little caper, not a real coil, an automatic reflex to old fogeyish impulses of a bygone day. The girls don't even glance down at their hymns any more. It is time to say how times improve.

We get used to progress.

With Mike Laura Newman, St. Catharines, past president of the Canadian Federation of University Women's Clubs, as guest speaker, an inaugural banquet, instituting a club of this nature for Belleville district, took place last night at the New Queens Hotel, Mrs. John Precious being the unanimous choice as president of the new organization. Some fifty women college graduates from Belleville, Trenton, Brighton, Picton and Stirling were present enthusiastic over the enterprise. Mrs. Precious occupied the chair for the occasion, and a delicious banquet was served the guests.

The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. J. E. Bateman, the other members being Miss M. Grout and Miss Nellie Merry. The following executive was duly elected: president, Mrs. John Precious; vice-president, Mrs. William Doyle; secretary, Miss Jessie Priest; treasurer, Miss Hilda McLaren; social convener, Miss Ida Grout; program committee, Miss Agnes Sweeney, E. N. Kulbeck and Miss Beasie Billings.

Miss Isabel Smillie, of Toronto, is visiting among acquaintances with friends in this vicinity and in the city.

FEVER BLISTER IS A LOCALIZED AND ANNOYING INFECTION

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you write about fever blisters? I get them one after another.—A.M."

Call 'em fever blisters, cold sores, or "herpes simplex." They usually appear after a severe infection, although I had one after a common garden variety of cold. Since I didn't run a fever with the cold, I figure that the cold virus must have found a spot to gather in force, causing the fever blister.

First these blisters tend to appear in the same location, usually on the lip but sometimes around the nostril (where, incidentally, they sometimes are very tender indeed for a day or two.)

They can, of course, be the result of some allergy, a fact which I have repeatedly called attention to a number of ailments, since allergy is a matter to be looked cause of troubles. Hay fever isn't the only symptom of allergy by a big margin.

Your report of getting these blisters "one after another" suggests allergy as a possibility.

And, of course, any sort of infection — a sore throat, bronchitis, a small, localized and annoying infection — is a matter to be looked back you if or when you are run down. Are you getting insufficient sleep? Are you overworked? Have you developed a chronic anemia? Is there some chronic infection in your system that doesn't make you obviously ill, but saps your general resistance?

Here's a case where I suggest a checkup on these basic elements, because very often you find some flaw in your health that can be corrected and your resistance to infection goes up.

Incidentally, some people have found that a by-law be introduced appointing a committee consisting of the whole council. The motion was carried unanimously. Ald. Riggs gave a notice of motion that a pavement be constructed on Pinnacle St. from Mill St. to Dundas St.

Mr. A. E. Ponton, who purchased recently the Hudson Fire Insurance Agency here, has purchased from Mrs. A. Lockwood the fine residence at the corner of Victoria and Bridge and Albert Sts., and will take up residence there shortly with his family.

Here's a case where I suggest a checkup on these basic elements, because very often you find some flaw in your health that can be corrected and your resistance to infection goes up.

Incidentally, some people have found that a by-law be introduced appointing a committee consisting of the whole council. The motion was carried unanimously. Ald. Riggs gave a notice of motion that a pavement be constructed on Pinnacle St. from Mill St. to Dundas St.

It now seems practically certain that a by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers to provide a sum of $70,000 with which to pay for the erection of three public schools in the city.

Mr. Harry Flagler went to Brockville today.

Mrs. S. Leavitt and young son Sherman, left this morning to visit friends in Detroit, Mich.

The Rev. G. R. Beamish, rector of St. Thomas' Church will address the men's meeting at the YMCA Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Arthur D. Ostrom of Vancouver, B.C., accompanied, by his two sons, is visiting in the city. Mr. Ostrom is an old Sidney boy and this is his first visit here in 28 years.

Arrangements are being made for the 15th Battalion, Argyll Light Infantry, to visit Picton on May 24th.

SEEKERS AND FINDERS

If there were more of us as our objectives we are sure to distinct seekers and finders, we would be far happier and more successful in this world of ours, Adams, "After all, man knows mighty little and may some day learn enough of his own ignorance to fall down and pray."

In the Bible we are admonished to Seek, promising, if we do, that we shall Find.

Every day of our lives should be one in which we sincerely seek. We need to have daily objectives and purposes, else we might lose our way. We must have assurances that we are finding the object of our search. Then we have the comfort and satisfaction of added knowledge.

Books tell us much, but not as much as does the human heart. Everything we have and are is the product of seekers and finders. To inventors we owe inspiration and skill and efficient

Body Can Take More Strontium Say Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP) — An influential group of scientists said Wednesday night they believe the human body can tolerate twice as much radioactive strontium as has previously been regarded as acceptable.

The recommendation for increasing the permissible limit was made by the National Committee on Radiation Protection and Measurements. It is an unofficial organization of radiation experts whose past recommendations have been followed closely by such agencies as the Atomic Energy Commission and the public health service.

If adopted by the health service, the new recommendations would mean a 20-per-cent upward revision in the amount of strontium considered permissible in milk. Among foods, milk is the principal means by which strontium can enter the body.

Radioactive strontium is the most feared constituent of fallout from nuclear bomb explosions because it could cause bone cancer if present in the body in sufficient amounts. The material is also a potential hazard of working in atomic energy plants, and of any exposure to wastes from such plants.

The committee's chairman, Lauriston Taylor of the national bureau of standards, said of the group's recommendations:

"We now believe the body can accept twice as much radioactive strontium as we thought five years ago when the most recent recommendation on this subject was made. And we believe this is with no greater degree of risk than was anticipated five years ago."

Taylor told a reporter the new recommendation was based on improved knowledge of the problem, including an evaluation of some 2,000 separate research studies of radiation in various parts of the world.

The new recommendations were made in a summary of a handbook the committee will issue later.

The recommended "body burden" of strontium was changed from one microcurie to two microcuries. A microcuries is a millionth of a curie. A curie is the amount of radiation emitted by a gram of radium.

Coroner's Jury Says Youth Took Own Life

MATTAWA (CP)—A verdict of death by suicide was returned by a coroner's jury Wednesday in the inquest into the death of Allan Watling, 19, of Temiskaming, Que., found hanged in a jail cell here May 22, 1957, two hours after he had been arrested on a charge of impaired driving.

The inquest began April 8 after the youth's parents had appealed to the attorney-general's department for an investigation.

It was adjourned until Wednesday to allow Mrs. Robert Myers of Windsor, who was with Watling when he was arrested, to be brought to Mattawa to give evidence.

The Watling family said a watch, wallet and sum of money reported to have been in their son's possession were missing.

The jury foreman said the jury was convinced the money had been spent on beer and wine and at local hotels where Mrs. Myers said she and Watling had been drinking and that he had lost the watch.

Extend Season for Trapping Muskrats

The season for trapping muskrats has been extended from April 21 to April 30, 1959 in the area south of No. 7 highway in the counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Frontenac and Prince Edward.

The extension is being granted to trappers because of the unusual late weather conditions which have made trapping conditions rather difficult and many marshes are only now becoming free of ice.

North of No. 7 highway, the muskrat season remains unchanged and closes on April 30th.

The beaver season is now officially closed, the last date for taking these animals in the northern portion of the district was April 15th and in the south, March 31st.

Retailers Stage Cut-Rate Sale To Protest Price-Maintenance Ban

TORONTO (CP)—The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada Wednesday night held a cut-rate sale to aid its campaign to have a section of the Combines Investigation Act repealed.

The section prevents manufacturers from controlling retail prices for their products.

Businessmen and bargain hunters jammed Massey Hall to its 2,753-seat capacity for the sale. Cigarets were sold at five cents a pack. A costly electric stove was sold to a housewife for $18.88. Other women acquired floor polishers for $3.95 each.

Another object of the sale was to dramatize the length to which competitive price cutting can go.

General Manager D. A. Gilbert of the association said manufacturers had given the goods to help the association protest cut-rate prices and explain how price-setting can harm consumers and merchants.

Proceeds of the sale went to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Mr. Gilbert said the Combines Investigation Act section has been an open invitation to opportunists resulting in predatory price cutting, discount houses, discount catalogues, deceit, deception and in some cases outright misrepresentation.

T. Z. Crowder of the Canadian Wholesale Council said wholesale manufacturers and distributive trades want the individual manufacturer permitted to conduct his own business for his own protection.

Transcontinental Schedules Will Be Speeded Up

TORONTO — Faster transcontinental schedules to reduce travel time for both long distance and inter-city passengers will be introduced by Canadian National Railways with the switch to daylight saving time on April 26. The cuts range from a few minutes to half an hour.

Both the Super Continental and Continental will save 30 minutes from Toronto to Vancouver making the Super Continental the fastest Canadian transcontinental westbound train by one hour. The Continental will pick up the 30 minutes between Toronto and Winnipeg while the schedule of the Super Continental has been reduced between Winnipeg and Vancouver.

The Super Continental eastbound to Ottawa and Montreal from Vancouver will also save a half hour.

When the new schedules are put into effect, the Super Continental will leave Toronto daily at 6:10 p.m. E.D.T. and arrive daily in Toronto at 3:10 p.m. E.D.T. The Continental will leave Toronto daily at 12.30 a.m. E.D.T. and arrive in Toronto at 8.00 a.m. E.D.T.

Changes in other inter-city and commuter train schedules will be adjusted to conform to the change in time.

Two Children Killed, Run Over by Dozer

THESSALON (CP)—Two young children were killed and a third critically injured Wednesday when a dump truck carrying a bulldozer backed over them.

Michael Cuthbertson and Debra MacDonald, both 6, were killed. John Cuthbertson, 3, Michael's cousin, was injured.

The Cuthbertson boys lived with their grandmother, Mrs. Dolly Cuthbertson. Debra was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacDonald.

Ronal Marlimer of Thessalon said he didn't see the children move in behind his vehicle.

Police Arrested Two Groups of Catholic Priests

VIENNA (AP) — Police arrested two groups of Roman Catholic priests and former theology students in Czechoslovakia on charges of forming "a fifth column in the service of the Vatican," the Prague Communist paper Mlada Fronta reported today.

The paper said one group of 14 had already been tried but did not disclose verdict or sentences. The other group, will go on trial next Monday. The number involved was not given.

Mlada Fronta said the first group formed an "illegal school of theology" for students who were expelled from state-controlled universities for activities "hostile to the government."

"Their principal aim," reported Mlada Fronta, "was to form a fifth column in Slovakia as the obedient tool of the Vatican which could be exploited in case of war."

The second group was accused of "espionage for the Vatican."

Daylight Time Coming Up On Sunday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians in eight provinces will turn their clocks an hour ahead after midnight Saturday as most communities start five or six months of daylight time.

For most, daylight time begins at 2 a.m. Sunday. Other centres make the switch earlier at one minute after midnight, a Canadian Press survey shows.

Alberta and Prince Edward Island stick to standard time all year round, so do the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

In Ontario, Port Arthur and Fort William and Windsor stay on standard but most centres change to daylight time at 12:01 a.m. or 2 a.m. Sunday for a six-month period. Those that switch back to standard earlier are Chatham, which goes back Sept. 6, and St. Thomas, Sarnia, Stratford, Woodstock and London, which revert Sept. 27.

This man is your neighbour.

You can be a good neighbour to this man who has come to grief through misfortune or misdeed. In the hostels, havens, homes and hospitals of The Salvation Army, such men are given compassionate help and led back to health in body and spirit. The message of hope is carried even to those in prison and offenders are often placed in the care of The Salvation Army in lieu of sentence.

To you this man may be a stranger, but like the man befriended by the Good Samaritan whom the Master praised, he is your neighbour.

By your contribution to such works of mercy you can know the happiness of being a good neighbour in a practical way.

Sigma Phi Chapter Elects New Slate

The first April meeting of Gamma Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Mrs. B. Bishop, Victoria Ave. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Donald Boyce and Mrs. Bishop.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. O. Cochrane. The report of the nominating committee was read by Mrs. J. C. McDonald and Mrs. C. E. James gave the treasurer's report.

The "manual review" was conducted by Mrs. J. A. Pringle.

Two cultural programs were presented; "Nature," in the form of a "scavenger hunt" and "People," in the form of a questionnaire and interesting discussion.

On Tuesday evening the chapter met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Pringle, Eastwood Park Drive.

The meeting opened with the very impressive "Pledge Ritual;" after which the new pledges, Mrs. John O'Flynn, Mrs. G. A. McElheron, and Mrs. M. C. Nettleton, were individually welcomed by the members.

The slate of officers for the following year is as follows: president — Mrs. J. A. Pringle; vice-president — Mrs. B. Bishop; 2nd. vice-president — Mrs. E. James; recording secretary — Mrs. D. H. Bateman; treasurer — Mrs. Garth Sine, and corresponding secretary — Mrs. W. L. Turner.

The chapter was asked to assist with homebaking for the Y.W.C.A. tea to be held soon and a short discussion on the annual Fall bridge closed the business meeting.

Refreshments were served by the members of the executive.

Mrs. J. Haig Gives Talk to Hospital Aux.

Mrs. John Haig (Harriet Stevens) spoke to the members of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary at their April meeting on the subject "Work of the United Nations".

In March, Mrs. Haig was awarded a Fellowship by the Business and Professional Women's Club and for three weeks attended sessions on "Status of Women" at United Nations in New York.

The speaker outlined the background of United Nations; first, the General Assembly and Security Council were formed. These, in turn, established commissions so that experts could discuss and recommend actions, which they cannot legislate.

On opening day, March 9th, a Canadian delegate was elected chairman of the session. A most interesting woman, she had lived in her country through the recent revolution.

The speaker was told the sessions would be tiresome, but found the contrary. Every debate was most interesting and informative. Because of the IS per cent illiteracy presented,a verbal picture of conditions in her particular country.

Mrs. Haig, in disclosing various conditions in the more backward countries, stressed the need of sympathy, and above all, an understanding that the free world, to help maintain peace. Quoting Charles Lynch, she said: "We must never set our standard of living if we are to keep these other countries with us". "For example, if we legislate ourselves and exclude the products from Japan, where would they turn?" she asked: "in this connection, we should be practising a kind of missionary work which must be done."

Mrs. Haig was introduced by Mrs. J. H. Forrester, and thanked by Mrs. Lawrence Smith.

At the conclusion of her talk Mrs. Haig was presented with a gift by the hostess, Mrs. A. E. Burley in appreciation of her loyal support to the Auxiliary.

Mrs. A. E. Burley presided at the meeting, during which reports were read. The coffee shop report was given by the convenors, Miss Nell Merry and Miss Ivy L. Dickens. It was learned that during March, the shop grossed $1,000 and the both convenors thanked all who had donated/helped.

The public is reminded that "Hospital Day" will be held on May when the hospital will hold "Open House." Everyone is invited to visit the hospital. The Auxiliary will be serving tea and this year there will be information booths in the board room where the convenors of the various projects will be on hand to discuss their work. During the afternoon the winner of the poster and essay contests will be announced and the posters exhibited. The theme this year is "Your Hospital — The Sentinel That Never Sleeps."

Hospital superintendent Kenneth Rea, stated there was a definite need of a new microscope in the laboratory. The Auxiliary decided to send a cheque for $530, to purchase same.

Further future projects include: redecorating the third floor waiting room; installation of a long mirror in the volunteers' dressing room, and purchase of 30 flower vases for distribution in many parts of the hospital.

Mrs. M. F. L. Jones, first vice president, will represent the Women's Hospital Auxiliary at a tea and fashion show being presented by Hastings and Prince Edward Medical Society Women's Auxiliary in May at Bridge Street United Church. All local members are cordially invited to attend.

Women's Activities
ST. THOMAS EVENING W.A.

The April meeting of the Evening Branch of St. Thomas Anglican W.A. was held recently, Mrs. Mac Smith presiding.

It was reported that the sale of marmalade at the spring tea was a great success as was the sale of aprons and candy. It is a year-round project of the branch to sell greeting cards and Mrs. Gordon Chalmers is in charge.

The study book "He Cares" dealt with the social service work conducted by the Anglican Church with new Canadians, especially the faith. Volunteer workers meet the ships and planes and welcome and inform of the arrival of immigrants and assist them in every way possible.

The thankoffering collection received was gratifying. This is presented at the annual Diocesan W.A. meeting being held this month in this town. It is then distributed to various missionary activities.

Miss L. Woods Gives Talk to B.P.W. Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held on Monday evening with the president, Hilda Carman, in the chair.

Florence Fitzgerald, membership convenor, introduced one new member, Miss Winnifred Donaldson, who is on the staff of the Belleville General Hospital. Winnifred was welcomed by the president and presented with a lovely corsage of green and yellow 'mums, the club colors.

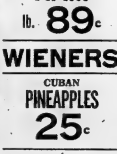
Mildred Hall won the lucky prize and Marie Buckley the "Sunshine" draw.

Dorothy Ellis presented the slate of new officers for the coming year. They will be installed at the May meeting.

Following a short business session Muriel Jobson sang two solos.

Plans were discussed for attending the provincial conference to be held on May 2nd and 3rd in Trenton. Mildred Hall is to be the official delegate.

Ruth McMullen gave a report of her trip to the United Nations as delegate for the club.



The Regional Adviser for District No. 11, Miss Mary Woods of Napanee, and guest speaker for the evening was introduced by Irene Haig.

Miss Woods gave a short talk on the aims of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs. "We build a better world for business women." She hoped that Canada would soon have more women taking an active part in politics and serving on juries and congratulated Belleville on being one of the first places to extend the municipal franchise to all over 21. Miss Woods suggested that an employment conditions chairman be named to look into discrimination against the promotion of capable and experienced women in administrative positions.

Simcoe McFadden voiced the appreciation of the club and presented Miss Woods with a gift.

CONTENTED CATS

So Automobile Association patrolman Bob Rule carried milk and cat food on his beat. The owner is an AA member but I would have looked after the cats anyway," he said.

Minerva Chapt. O.E.S. Holds Country Store Tea and Bazaar

The annual "Country Store" tea and bazaar, sponsored by Minerva Chapter No. 1380 O.E.S. was held recently at the Masonic Temple, Foster Ave.

Guests were graciously welcomed at the door by Mrs. Francis Marner, Worthy Matron, assisted by Mrs. Grace Hendricks, wife of the Worthy Patron. Tea-chet convenors were Mrs. E. Heard, Mrs. M. Moorman, Mrs. D. Tugnett, Mrs. N. Clarke and Mrs. A. Mc. Rollo. Treasurer was Mrs. F. Lennox.

The home baking table featuring a variety of delicious and mouth watering examples of culinary art, was convened by Mrs. A. Chapman, Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. A. Morris and Mrs. C. Sharpe, assisted by their groups.

The apron table offered for sale an assortment of aprons of every color and style and was convened by Mrs. H. Clancy, Mrs. M. Collyer, assisted by their group.

The candy table offering for sale little red baskets of homemade candy, was convened by Mrs. V. Bunnett, Mrs. E. Humphries, Mrs. A. Ireland and Mrs. N. McBurney and their group.

The miscellaneous table, featuring Arbor Day pillow cases, pin cushions, baby sets and pictures, attracted many buyers. It was convened by Mrs. B. Tufts, Mrs. V. Crawford, Mrs. M. Kingston, and Mrs. I. Watters and their group.

The hat table was a breath of spring with hats for every age and beach wear to delight every member of the family. A special "thank you" goes to Miss F. T. Lanning for this wonderful contribution, convened by Mrs. M. Finkle and Mrs. I. Sine.

The men's table was an added feature with all kinds of garden produce, shrubs, plants and garden equipment, also convened by Mr. William Adams, capably assisted by Mrs. Adams.

The refreshment table, which was through an arbor of red, white and blue, flanked with potted red geraniums. The guests were invited to the tea room by Mrs. M. Armstrong, Mrs. H. Matthews and Mrs. B. Marsh.

The tea table was covered with a white damask cloth and centered with a miniature white wheelbarrow filled with red geraniums, flanked by red, white and blue candles in silver candelabra. On either end of the table were silver tea services, presided over by Mrs. Helen Marsden, D.D.G.M., Bancroft; Mrs. Audrey Elliott, Chief, Stirling; Miss Bessie Clarke, W.M., Belleville No. 85; Mrs. Edna Broad, P.D.D.M. Mrs. Belle Wonnacott, P.D.D.M. and Mrs. Edna Dobbs, P.D.D.M.

The small quartet tables were covered with white cloths decorated with miniature clothes of tiny white wheelbarrows, each filled with a tiny potted red geranium.

Servers were Mesdames L. Vallery, D. Craighead, H. Wilson, H. Dickson, V. Thompson, D. Price, Z. Wotten, R. Orr, H. Hall, M. Bather, H. Chard, G. Vanner, G. Batchelor, J. Bushell, J. Cumming, I. Burns, V. Mary, J. Pine, E. Beare, J. Fitzgibbon, H. Brenton and J. Miller.

Replenishers were Mesdames B. Haggerty, E. Noel, N. Cooper, L. Bleecker, assisting Mrs. Kay Bushell, kitchen convener.

Over-all convener of this successful "Country Store" and tea was Mrs. Margaret Hunt, P.M.

The tea room convener was Mrs. Lil Jordan, P.M.

Worthy grawn was assisted as follows: rug, donated by Mr. W. Broad, won by Mrs. M. Morris, of Wine on Ice; basket of fruit and basket of groceries donated by men's group, hamper was by Mrs. Ron Sharpe, Rosemore; basket by Mrs. Carr, Belleville; floor doll, donated by Mrs. Gelsthorpe, won by Mrs. L. Waters; pair of candy boots, Mrs. Arthurs, 92 Pine Street.

Ticket sellers were Mrs. N. Caldwell, Mr. A. Hendricks and Mrs. C. Reed.

Discuss Trends In Education At H-S Meet

The Sir Winston Churchill Home and School Association held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

A panel of five prominent Belleville and district citizens and active members of local school boards presented the topic: "Modern Trends in Education." Panel members were Mr. Lawrence Allen, superintendent and chief public school inspector, chairman for the evening; Mr. Mac Smith, a member of the Belleville Public School Board; Mr. Linton Reed, head of the English department at Belleville Collegiate Institute; Mr. Roy Sills and Mr. Allan Drysdale, both members of the Secondary School Board.

Many controversial questions were put to the panel and the parents appreciated the informal and frank manner in which every question was answered. Each member spoke briefly on the part of the panel to see that each person received a satisfactory answer.

Mrs. Donald Maddocks expressed the appreciation of the Home and School Association to Mr. Kells and his panel members.

The attendance award for most parents present was won by Miss I. Horton's grade one class.

A social hour followed the close of the meeting.

CWL Returns Slate at Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of St. Ann's Subdivision of the CWL, Holy Rosary Parish, presided by St. Anne's School. The president, Mrs. W. Smith, opened the meeting with prayer.

The correspondence was read by Mrs. Wm. Hogan.

The following executive was returned to office and is as follows: directress, Mrs. Wm. Hogan; Buckley; president, Mrs. William Smith; 1st vice-president, Mrs. M. Whalen; 2nd vice - president, Mrs. J. Storey; 3rd vice — president, Mrs. A. Genevaux; treasurer, Mrs. C. Lloyd; spiritual convenor, Mrs. D. Cook; recording secretary, Hazel Simmons; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thompson; press, Gertrude Simmons; counsellors, Mrs. J. Fierlan, Mrs. J. Simmons, Mrs. B. Whalen, and Mrs. R. Weese.

The various convenors read their respective reports showing a very successful year. Mrs. Smith thanked the members for their kind co-operation and assistance given to her in the past year and asked that all would continue to support her for the coming term.

Hazel Simmons, on behalf of the members present, tendered a vote to Mrs. Smith for her untiring efforts. The diocesan reports were then compiled. The meeting was adjourned by Mrs. C. Lloyd.

Progressive euchre was then played. The winners were: Mrs. C. Lloyd, Hazel Simmons, and Beryl Barrage, Mrs. A. Genevaux, Mrs. J. Dickinson, Mrs. J. Bertrand and Mrs. F. Lancaster.

The refreshing table was convened by Mrs. H. Smith assisted by Mrs. J. Clarke and Mrs. F. Leach. The cakes, cookies, muffins, date bread and tarts were all sold long before the afternoon was over.

The evening branch's marmalade table was convened by Mrs. Athey and Mrs. H. Hurst, who generously gave sample tastes of their lemon and ginger marmalade, an innovation this year. The table decoration was a large glass basket of oranges, lemons and grapefruit, which very effectively set off the jars of golden marmalade. The Evening Branch also sold floral notes and cards. Mrs. G. Chalmers was in charge of this table.

Mrs. F. Alker and Mrs. A. Shirley convened the candy table for the Girls' Auxiliary and had no difficulty in disposing of the little baskets of homemade fudge and maple cream.

Patchwork quilts, made by the Senior Branch, formed a pretty background for the odds and ends table, presided over by Miss M. Ledge and Mrs. E. Bristol. Here an assortment of 2 p p o n s, potholders dollies, bowls, pottery, and a variety of small articles proved a popular attraction.

The afternoon was a successful and happy event and many felt the tea was one of the nicest ever given by the W.A.

Handsome Spring Coat

By VERA WINSTON

Beautiful pastel checked woolen is used for a coat that steps of spring. The four-button, double - breasted closing is placed on a front panel which is cut in one with the curved belt that ties in back with fringed edges. It's an excellent coat for smart, general wear, in town or out.

Mrs. E. Urch New Head of Carmel W.I.

The annual meeting of Carmel Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. Whitmore, in the form of a pot-luck dinner.

Nineteen adults and four children attended and enjoyed a lovely dinner. The meeting followed.

Roll call was answered by the paying of dues. Conveners reported on their work as follows: Agriculture, Mrs. J. Homan; citizenship, Mrs. A. Allison; home economics, Mrs. William Rodberg; Mrs. Urch reported historical search for Mrs. Brintnell; public relations reported by Mrs. P. Reynolds. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. S. Homan.

Mrs. A. Gowthorpe reported for the nominating committee: The following is the list of officers: past president Mrs. A. Whitmore; president, Mrs. E. Urch; 1st vice-president, Mrs. C. Thompson; 2nd vice-president, Miss M. Hicks; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. William Rodberg; pianists, Mrs. Brintnell and Mrs. K. Lyons; card convener, Mrs. J. Patterson; agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. J. Homan; historical research, Mrs. C. Brintnell; citizenship and education, Mrs. S. Homan; home economics and health, Mrs. J. Clarke; district director, Mrs. A. Gowthorpe; resolutions, Mrs. L. Lattone; Institute directors, Mrs. A. Allison, Mrs. S. Geen and Mrs. G. Moorman.

The meeting closed with the new president in the chair.

Helen Pollock Knows Her Vegetables

THURSDAY

Rudolph Stanish Individual Omelette; Potatoes in Parsley Cream Sauce; New Asparagus; Maple Dumplings (see Tuesday); Coffee.

SUNDAY

Consomme Masdrilene; Veal Scallopini with Spanish Sauce; Rice Paprika; Waldorf Salad; Cream Sponge Cake with Chocolate Filling (see Saturday; Coffee.

Out of her freezer she produced bright green homegrown broccoli which the chlorophyl seemed to be fixed, for when it reached the table it retained its garden greenness by her magic.

The three recipes that are here today are Helen's and transform everyday vegetables like potatoes canned cream-style corn and canned tomatoes into dishes you will cherish for your dinner party menu file.

TAMALE CORN

One No. 2 can (1¾ cups) cream-style corn, 1 cup partially cooked, diced celery, ½ cups chopped ripe olives, ½ cup finely chopped pimiento, 2 beaten eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, paprika, ½ cup finely crushed corn flakes. Combine corn, cooked celery, olives, pimiento, eggs, and seasonings and pour into greased casserole or 6 individual baking dishes. Sprinkle with finely crushed corn flakes. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes. Serves 6.

TOMATO TIMBALES

One and one-third cups canned tomatoes, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon sugar, 8 salted crackers crushed finely (about 3-3 cup), 2 eggs. Heat tomatoes with salt, pepper and sugar. Add crushed crackers and mix well. Remove from heat and add to eggs, slightly beaten. Mix and pour into greased individual baking dishes. Stand in pan of hot water and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes, or in larger baking dish about 50 to 60 minutes.

POTATO SOUFFLE

Eight medium potatoes, 2 tablespoons each milk, butter, ½ teaspoon salt, freshly-ground pepper, ¾ cup butter (a second amount) 2 teaspoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup chopped onion, 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms, paprika, butter. Boil potatoes until tender. Mash. Add milk, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt and pepper. Whip very well (with electric mixer if possible) until light and fluffy and lumpless. Butter a 1½-quart casserole and put about half of potatoes in it. Melt ¼ cup butter and add lemon juice and ½ teaspoon salt. Saute onions and mushrooms until tender and add to casserole. Top with remaining potatoes. Sprinkle with paprika and dot with butter. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes until nicely browned on top. Serves 6 to 8.

Women's Activities

HALLOWAY W.M.S.-W.A.

The Halloway W.M.S. and W.A. held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Kennedy.

The worship service was opened by Mrs. H. Townsend with the observance of a two-minute silence and the reading of a poem by Mrs. E. Emerson in loving memory of Mrs. Darke. The hymn, "O God, Our Love O King of Peace" followed. A prayer was given by Mrs. H. Townsend and the Scripture was read by Mrs. G. Kennedy. The reading "Easter Tells Us That Death Is Never God's Last Word," was given by Mrs. J. Wellman.

Mrs. C. Townsend and Mrs. G. Roth favored with a duet and the worship service was closed with prayer.

The W.M.S. business was conducted by Mrs. E. Hough, the president. The collection was $5.40.

The study, which was conducted by Mrs. G. Roth, covered religions in the U.S.

The W.A. business was conducted by Mrs. F. Wellman, president.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. G. Roth for hemming the Communion tablecloths and also to Mrs. M. Kennedy for buying the programs.

The date was set for the strawberry social in May. A vote was taken which resulted in the cancellation of the fall fowl supper this year. The members voted to donate instead.

Film, Feature Of Queen Vic H-S Meeting

One of the most interesting meetings of the school session was held recently in the auditorium when the Queen Victoria Home and School Assoc. welcomed Mr. H. B. Anderson, National Film Board representative for zone B, Eastern Canada, presented the film, "Socialist Sixes to the Noisy Nines".

The members were divided into two groups and a lively discussion on the film followed.

It was agreed the situations developed in the film were quite characteristic of life in the average home, but the handling of these situations in the film was not always in keeping with our own methods of dealing with them. The groups then researched other related to each other's viewpoints.

Films, such as the one shown, are made available through the National Film Board and provide very educational and interesting evening. More such programs will be held in the future.

Mrs. Savage thanked Mr. Anderson for a most enjoyable evening, after which coffee was served by Mrs. Jenkinson and her committee.

During the business portion of the meeting Mr. Welch, treasurer, reported profits received from the Fun Fair held by the association in March. Mrs. Beatty drew attention to various activities being held by other schools and urged the members to attend and support these moneymaking projects all possible.

Mrs. Savage reported on the convention held recently in Toronto which she attended, and thanked the Home and School Association for delegating her as their representative.

The next meeting this month was won by Miss Malcolm's kindergarten for the juniors, and Mr. Marner's room for the seniors.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. D. M. — He isn't living a healthy life.

Gilbert M. — All she knows is nag, nag, nag.

Mrs. D. M. — I am very worried about my 36-year-old son, Gilbert, who is so shy that he has no friends at all.

Gil works at a job where he has his head buried in figures all day. When he comes home he says he's completely pooped. He doesn't even want to go out. I try to get him to come with me to a church function every now and then, but he won't do it.

On weekends he usually stays home and reads, watches TV or sleeps. Every now and then some old friend will call him and ask him to go out to a ball game or something, but he says he can see it better on TV. I feel that it isn't a healthy life for a young fellow.

Gilbert M. — The only thing that isn't healthy for me is my mother's nagging. That's all she knows — nag, nag, nag.

My work is very hard and it takes all my energy. I am dead-beat at the end of the day. What am I supposed to do? Dance or something?

I'm the kind of a guy who likes to keep to himself. I enjoy my own company. Other people get on my nerves. For one thing, I always have to be thinking of what to say to them. I can't think of what to say half the time. People always ask me why I'm so quiet, but I just can't think of a thing to say.

As for going out, I don't see any sense in spending money on things I don't enjoy.

The Council: Mrs. D. M. has good cause for worry. There is definitely something wrong here and the likelihood is that things will get worse if Gilbert doesn't get some professional care.

Gilbert should try to face the facts. It is very doubtful that he works harder than most people, but if he does he has even more need for fun and relaxation — especially if his work keeps him from contact with others. His timidness is emotional, not physical. If he had something to look forward to in the evening, he would spruce up and be full of energy.

Gilbert should also face the fact that he doesn't really enjoy his own company. Those who do, also enjoy the company of others. At heart, he believes he is a failure and is afraid to expose himself to others. He can't think of anything to say because he is afraid something will come out that reveals the hateful Gilbert.

This young man should try to force himself up and out of the house and into activities with others of his age. If he finds he can't, he should seek an agency in his community that can direct him to psychiatric services. I f he refuses to do this on his own, Mrs. D. M. should get the information herself. Nagging won't work, but she should let him know where help is available.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

FOXBORO W.A.

FOXBORO — The general meeting of the Foxboro W.A. was held in the Sunday School hall on Wednesday evening with the president, Mrs. Jamieson, presiding.

The devotional period conducted by Mrs. Ronbough opened with a poem by Mrs. Ronbough, followed by a hymn and prayer.

The Scripture, taken from Galatians 5 was read by Mrs. Hayton. A meditation on the Scripture and prayer were given by Mrs. Hayton.

A reading, "Don't Judge Too Harshly," was given by Mrs. Bamber and the devotional period closed with a hymn.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

The program based on "Christian Citizenship" was conducted by Mrs. Ronbough. A paper on Christian citizenship was given by Mrs. Ronbough. A reading, "Happy the Man," was read by Mrs. Arthurs, followed by a reading by Mrs. Meyers, "Slow Leak." A few lines from Kipling were read by Mrs. Ronbough which closed the program.

The president presided over the business. A minute of silence was observed in remembrance of a deceased member, Mrs. Darke, with the president offering prayer. Eighteen members were present.

There were 27 sick calls reported. Three "thank-you" cards were read, also two members thanked the W.A. for being remembered when they were ill.

The treasurer's report was given showing receipts of $190.81 with expenses of $140.06 and balance on hand, $50.75.

It was decided a strawberry and tea cream social will be held in June and a bazaar and tea in November.

A report on the kitchen project was given by Mrs. Hubble.

The president reminded the members of the annual W.A. convention to be held in Belleville in May. Delegates are Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. Kilpatrick.

Refreshments were served by members of group one and a variety sale was held by group two after the meeting.

EGGLETON MISSION BAND

MADOC JUNCTION — The April meeting of the Eggleton Mission Band was held at the school on Friday afternoon.

The president, Sharon Reide, presided over a program which she and Sheila Clarke had prepared. The meeting opened with the hymn, "When He Cometh."

The pupils repeated the Mission Band Purpose in unison and following this, 1st Corinthians, 13th chapter, was read by Sam Danford.

The thankoffering envelopes were gathered by Vickie Brownring and dedicated with a prayer.

An interesting reading, "God Cares for Kittens," was given by Isabelle Prest.

All enjoyed the song contributed by Beverley Stapley, Lois Danford, Marilyn Stapley and Dianne Prest.

The secretary called the roll which was answered by 25 children and two adults.

Mrs. M. Clancy read from the "Missionary Monthly" about the "Special Object," which is the work of Miss Margaret Martin in Winnipeg. Her work is among young people and the Indian families who have left the reservation to find employment and live in the city.

After this, Mrs. Clancy passed around two pictures showing the country and peoples of Cuba.

Audrey Stapley gave a reading, "Facts In A Nutshell About Cuba."

The chapter on "Cuba" from the study book, "How Carmen Found Her Head," was then told in story form by the leader, Mrs. Clancy.

During the recreation period, the pupils enjoyed singing several choruses and playing the game, "Musical Island."

At the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by Sharon Reide.

Bright Jewel Accents

BY TRACY ADRIAN

There's a cool look about the new costume jewelry that makes it just right as an accent for spring and summer dress.

The set shown has that frosted appearance which is achieved by interspersing long, white, rice beads with clear crystals. The bib is in ten strands. With it is a wide, multi-strand bracelet. Matching, lacy, cluster earrings can also be worn as "hair pins" nestled in the coiffure.

More Education on Alcoholism And Its Evils Urged in Schools

The April meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, was held at the Y with Mrs. E. Farnsworth presiding.

Miss Gertrude Campbell, the provincial field secretary, will be the guest speaker at the May meeting of Bridge St. W.M.S. The following day she will speak at Tweed.

According to TV guide, Pat Boone, the popular young singer, signed for a show of his own after turning down three separate network offers, two sponsored by cigaret companies, the third by a brewer. He said, "I realized these people wanted me because of my influence with teen-agers. I am personally opposed to both smoking and drinking and I do not want to be responsible for any one else taking them up".

The clip sheet was presented by Miss Clasie on "Alcohol and Education". It reported brewers are disturbed and complaining that alcohol education in public schools is reducing sales. The making of posters and essays on Alcohol Education is certainly sowing seed in young active minds. In seven schools of Belleville there were 82 posters and 23 essays sent in. The thought and work required, will soon fade from memory.

MORE EDUCATION NEEDED

The Midland Free Press stated "Statistics show the incidence of alcoholism among the youth is increasing. Only a full scale, all inclusive program of alcohol education will suffice to make the people who need to be told and shown that alcohol can, like a fire leap out of control and engulf them. This program should start first in the home by precept and example and be augmented by lectures, films and instruction in schools and churches and the time to start is now. This education is important at the school age since 98% of the people who drink start in their teens."

Dr. Lorne Henry, Toronto, stated, "Every youth should have a clear idea of what happens when alcohol enters the body, and a definite knowledge of the action of alcohol will give young people power to deal effectively with it."

The need is urgent. A poll was taken at the Y.M.C.A. in Toronto, and it was found less than 20% had received alcohol education in their health classes.

It is true the urgency of alcohol education is growing and is of concern to all in public life. We would, "It is the only resource left for Temperance and against the insidious plague of chronic alcoholism, a pest that has cut off too many promising careers before they could arrive at fruition.

We have an annual increase of alcoholics in Ontario alone an informed and challenged youth is the answer to this great alcohol problem.

We are told that Ontario is first in physical fitness and only 10% of the population meeting the standard; certainly we do not need to increase our standard of deficiency by adding thousands of alcoholics every year. Temperance Education is a positive approach in dealing with this growing menace.

In all the Provinces of Canada alcohol education has a program in schools, churches and communities; and financial support from the Provincial Department of Education, is given in some.

In Ontario, the Temperance Federation and the W.C.T.U. have educational programs of increasing interest in the schools and youth gatherings.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

DON'T SEND "SYMPATHY CARDS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In your column you have cleared up for me many questions of etiquet, and now I am coming to you for help in my personal problem. (1) Just today the mother of a very dear friend of mine passed away. My husband and this friend grew up together, and I do so much want to do the right thing about the expression of sympathy. Actually I have had no reason to send sympathy cards, flowers, and so forth, as no close relative or friend of our family has passed away in the ten years since I was a little girl. (2) The son and his wife have their own home, do not live with the father. Therefore would I be correct in sending sympathy cards to both the son and the father? — M.

(1) Your letter shows you are such a kind and gracious person that I hope you will write the kind and gracious and understanding note of sympathy I am sure you can write. Please don't send cards of sympathy . . . they never convey, Printed words of sympathy are too impersonal. Write your friend three or four sentences of warm-hearted sympathy and understanding, including your husband's sympathy unless in this special circumstance he would like to write a separate note.

(2) Write a note of sympathy to each.

FRANKFORD

40 Relatives Fete Couple Recently Wed

FRANKFORD — On Saturday evening 40 cousins met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Curry to honor Barbara (nee Curry) and Gordon Smith.

The home was decorated with pink and white streamers and wedding bells.

Two piano selections were played and a number of vocal solos and several readings were given. Mrs. Gordon Smith and her cousin, Miss Kathleen Gunter, sang a duet. Barbara Smith played several accordion solos.

Mrs. R. Hollinger, of Foxboro, read the address, and Mr. Gordon Chapman of Trenton presenting Barbara and Gordon with a purse of money.

They both thanked their relatives for their kindness.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Gerald Curry, assisted by relatives.

SEVERAL CHILDREN BAPTIZED

A number of young children were baptized in Frankford United Church on Sunday. They are: the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Rankin; the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fyear; the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGee; the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vosbough and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Powell.

UNIVERSITY NEED

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Canadian universities will need $285,000,000 to provide space for increased student enrolment between now and 1963, President Watson Kirkconnell of Acadia University at Wolfville, N.S., told an alumni meeting here. He said enrolment would double in the next six years.

Stirling

STIRLING — The Gordon Construction Company of Kingston began laying the trunk sewer last week. The various streets will be closed to traffic as the work progresses.

Messrs. Burton Bateman and Elwood Bateman of Stirling, and Russell Wescott, Shannonville, attended the funeral of Mrs. Isaac Ploughman at Campbellford on Saturday afternoon. The deceased was 91 years of age.

Mrs. Jean Burch, St. Catharines, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox. She had attended an Encampment rally at Oshawa over the weekend. Mrs. Burch is treasurer of the Rebekah Assembly in Ontario.

Born: At the Belleville General Hospital on Monday, April 13th, to Mr. and Mrs., Leon Shortt, a son.

Mrs. Dave Lamb, Stirling, and her sister, Mrs. Clayton Frechette, Belleville, spent the weekend with their sister Mrs. Dolly Reddick, in Toronto, and also visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reddick.

Mr. Rudy Klompmaker, of Peterborough, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Klompmaker.

On Friday the local fire engine was called out on two runs. The first was to Woodbeck's garage and the second at the home of Mrs. Maude McGee.

Mr. and Mrs. Murney Hick, of Belleville, spent Saturday with their daughter, Mrs. M. Armstrong, and Mr. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Dalrmple and son, of Bowmanville, were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cain. Baby Joseph Andrew Dalrymple was baptized at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church with Rev. W. H. V. Walker, of Belleville, officiating.

Mrs. H. Foley, Toronto, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fowler of Bowmanville spent the week-end in Stirling with friends.

Mr. Roscoe Wright spent a few days last week in the Belleville General Hospital. Mrs. Wright has been a patient there for the past few weeks.

Mr and Mrs. Morley Richardson, Mr. Bruce Richardson and Mrs. R. Cooney, all of River Valley, spent a day in Toronto and visited Mrs. Dolly Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Richardson.

Mr. T. Elay, Mill Street, underwent a major operation in the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday.

Mrs. Joe Daniels, Foxboro, spent last week with Mrs. Maude McGee.

Mrs. Walter Elliott recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Orne, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Huffman and Miss W. Huffman, Corbyville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Cain.

Mrs. Debert Utman attended the funeral of Mrs. Hermon Tucker at Tweed.

SAY 100 DEAD

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Unofficial estimates say as many as 100 persons may have been killed in a Falangist uprising here Sunday. El Diario, an independent newspaper, said 72 members of the government party were killed and listed their names. Thousands of mourners led by President Herman Siles Suazo marched through silent streets for burial rites.

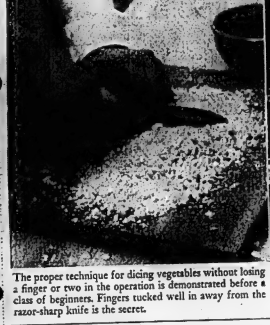
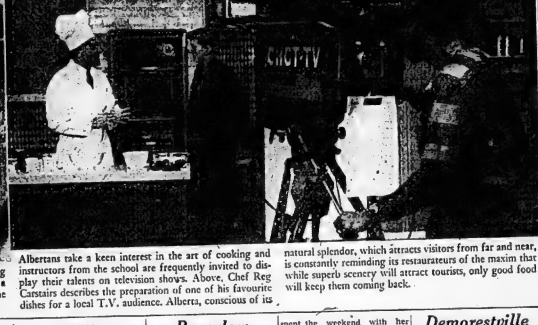
Dining out for Pleasure

Canada Trains Restaurateurs

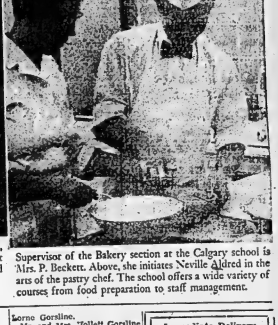
Many schools have appeared in recent years offering courses in the preparation of food and restaurant management. At the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art in Calgary, instructor demonstrates for freshman class. Overhead mirror gives all students full view of technique.



More and more Canadians are eating out regularly than ever before. The post-war boom in the country's economy has seen the steady growth from coast to coast of attractive restaurants offering well prepared food to an ever-enlarging segment of the population with the time and the money to take heed of the exhortation: eat out more often! The business is keenly competitive with emphasis on quality and service as restaurateurs vie for the $½ million dollars which Canadians annually spend dining out.



Betty Rathwell, owner and operator of a restaurant in Medicine Hat, Alberta, checks her appearance before attending special classes in the Refresher Course. Cleanliness and good grooming are stressed in all classes.



National Film Board of Canada Photos by Gar Lunney.

The proper technique for dicing vegetables without losing a finger or two in the operation is demonstrated before a class of beginners. Fingers tucked well in away from the razor-sharp knife is the secret.

Albertans take a keen interest in the art of cooking and instructors from the school are frequently invited to display their talents on television shows. Above, Chef Reg Carstairs describes the preparation of one of his favourite dishes for a local T.V. audience. Alberta, conscious of its natural splendor, which attracts visitors from far and near, is constantly reminding its restaurateurs of the maxim that while superb scenery will attract tourists, only good food will keep them coming back.

Supervisor of the Bakery section at the Calgary school is Mrs. P. Beckett. Above, she initiates Neville Aldred in the arts of the pastry chef. The school offers a wide variety of courses from food preparation to staff management.

Large Crowd Enjoys Teen Dance Party

TWEED — A capacity crowd turned out for the Teen-Age Dance Party held in the High School auditorium on Friday night.

It was sponsored by the Kinsette Club and featured Ted Curt and his orchestra from Kingston.

One of the nice features was that a number of the parents accompanied their teenagers, and enjoyed the evening with them.

Novelty dances and features by the Kingston group made the evening a most successful one.

Lunch was served by members of the Kinette Club.

Proceeds will go for the purchase of records for weekly teenage dance parties.

Residents of Old Crow, Y.T., Living Longer, More Healthy Due to Splendid Health Plan

OLD CROW, Y.T. (CP)—Death is almost a stranger in Old Yukon community of 173 persons. No one has died in three years.

Behind the record is one of growth. Twenty-one children have been born since April, 1956, when the last death was recorded. Of the population, 100 are children under 16 years of age. On the other hand, one resident is more than 100 years old.

Loucheux Indians and about a half-dozen whites make up the settlement near the Alaska-Yukon border, 75 miles north of the Arctic Circle. Most live in log cabins but some make their year-round home in tents despite temperatures as low as 65 degrees below zero.

Except for missionaries, Mounties and a succession of nursing sisters, few persons from the outside have disturbed Old Crow.

DISEASE OVERCOME

The Loucheux are a hardy, intelligent people who have fought the traditional enemy — tuberculosis—and other diseases. Modern medicines and personal work have helped overcome the problem.

An uphill battle against disease was started in 1927 by Malcolm McCabe, a nurse now living in Nova Scotia. She left in 1940, in 1946 the wife of Cpl. E. A. Kirk, in charge of the RCMP detachment at Old Crow, continued the improvement program.

By 1950, the year a program of vaccination began, the death rate started to drop. Thirty - seven deaths were recorded in the 1930s. In the 1940s, 30 persons died as influenza resulted in meningitis and pneumonia. Only two deaths have been recorded over 70, have died since 1950.

Today, serious illness means removal by boat or air 160 miles west to the Hudson Stuck Memorial Hospital at Fort Yukon, Alaska. Since then, most cases are taken to Aklavik, N.W.T., 100 miles to the northeast, or Charles Camsell Indian Hospital in Edmonton, 1,200 miles southeast of here.

RELY ON TRAPPING

Caribou is the staple food of the community. Trapping is the main occupation. Monthly family allowance cheques help residents during poor seasons.

Loucheux families are not uncommon. Mrs. Sarah Abel, mother of Chief Johnny Abel, had a family of 17. At present there are two families with 10 or more children.

Located in mountainous country, Old Crow was cut off from Porcupine River, Old Crow wasn't always in its present location. Before the Alaska Yukon border was defined in 1903, the community was 20 miles west in Alaska.

When the Loucheux — intensely loyal Canadians — learned this, they started in 1951, Mr. Kirby was followed by Archdeacon Robert McDonald, whose son Neil still lives in Old Crow.

CONTACTS WITH OUTSIDE

The RCMP maintains daily contact with Aklavik and Whitehorse. Dr. J. N. Lyons is available for consultation and an emergency strip, Mull, until last year handled by the United States postal department through Fairbanks, Alaska, was flown in by aircraft chartered by the Canadian post office.

The Loucheux, probably the most northerly Indian tribe in North America, cherish their Indian lore. Included in the community's population of 173 persons are a handful of white people, boasts that no one has died in the past three years. The Loucheux, a hardy intelligent people, live mostly in log cabins, but some still dwell in tents all year despite winter temperatures of 65 degrees below zero. (CP Photo).

Chinese Say Tibetan Revolt Now Cleaned Up

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist command in Tibet claimed today it had wiped out the bulk of the Tibetan rebellion and killed, wounded or taken prisoner nearly 2,000 rebels.

The army said that the only remaining opposition was from "a few remnant bandits who have fled to remote mountainous areas."

"With the active support of the Tibetan people in those localities," the announcement said, "the troops are continuing to hunt out and mop up the scattered remnants. They will be wiped out in the near future."

The army report, broadcast by the Communist New China News Agency, said that in more than 10 days of fighting the Red troops captured a vast number of arms and supplies, including "all the key points in the border area of the Loka area and in the northern ranges of the Himalaya Mountains."

MAIN REBEL BASE

The Loka area is the main rebel base southeast of Lhasa. It is Tibet's border area with India and Bhutan.

The Chinese Communists meanwhile fired an angry barrage of criticism at Indian government comment for releasing the Dalai Lama's statement that he left Tibet voluntarily.

The official Peiping People's Daily said the very act of issuing such a statement, containing "a big talk about the so-called independence for Tibet," and the unbridled attacks on China, showed that certain influential figures in India wrongly take the view that China is weak and timid and now is the time to freely exert "pressure" on China."

The newspaper termed this a miscalculation and declared: "There can be no greater tragedy for a statesman than miscalculation of a situation."

HIT AT INDIA

The angry outburst came after 48 hours of anti-Indian speeches on the floor of the National Congress in Peiping.

The Communist criticism made clear that the Red hierarchy felt Prime Minister Nehru's government had tried to discredit the Peiping regime.

As the Dalai Lama was saying he fled to India of his own free will, Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was categorically declaring that he had been abducted.

Nehru meanwhile left New Delhi today for Mussoorie, where the Dalai Lama has settled after his flight from Tibet. They are scheduled to meet Friday.

In Peiping speakers at today's session of the Chinese National Congress warned "imperialists and Indian expansionist circles" meddle in China's internal affairs."

BERNEHYS, Switzerland (AP) — A handwriting expert says a yellowed 45-page manuscript found at a junk shop is a short story written by O Henry 50 years ago.

E. E. Davenport said the manuscript was found in an old leather trunk at the salvage store operated by the Roman Catholic St. Vincent de Paul Society. The new master said he had no idea where the trunk came from.

Ritual Dinner Marks Beginning Of Passover

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jews throughout the world Wednesday night began the annual observance of Passover, commemorating the exodus from slavery in Egypt 35 centuries ago.

In many homes the week-long festival began with the traditional seder, a ritual dinner at which the story of the flight from Egypt in the time of Moses is read and ceremonial dishes marking the events are eaten. Some families hold a second seder Thursday night.

The festival is said to have got its name from the commandment of God to the Israelites to smear the blood of a lamb on the side post of their doors so that He would pass over their houses when He slew the firstborn of the Egyptians who held them in bondage.

During the week matzoh, or unleavened bread, is eaten in place of ordinary bread.

MEDICAL JOURNAL

The first medical journal in Canada was founded in Quebec in 1826 by Dr. F. X. Tessier, and survived until 1828.

Union Day, Christmas and other holidays with square dances, tug-of-war and steaming moose steak dinners.

They speak Kuchin—a language distinct from that of the neighboring Eskimo—and still perform tribal ceremonies such as the Loucheux Crow Dance, done on New Year's Day this year by former chief Peter Moore.

When the 40 children of school age aren't packed into the log cabin school to learn how white men's three Rs, the unwritten history of the tribe is passed on to them by the adults.

A medical and physiological team from the Arctic Research Centre at Anchorage, Alaska, is in Old Crow conducting a study of the Loucheux. The team has proved that the natives are more adaptable to cold than the white man.

Other scientific studies have left investigators with respect for the intelligence and culture of the Loucheux.

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Christian A. Herter, the new American secretary of state, appears to have more support in the Senate than he does in the White House. Usually, in so sensitive a cabinet post, it's the other way around.

The Senate went to unusual lengths this week to demonstrate to the world—and possibly to President Eisenhower — its unqualified confidence in Herter as successor to cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles. It suspended its own rules to hear him, in little more than four hours, a confirmation that ordinarily takes at least a week.

The unprecedented Senate action was designed primarily to strengthen Herter's hand when he meets in Paris next week with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville to plot Allied strategy for East-West meetings in Geneva next month on the Berlin issue.

But it also is regarded as a rebuke to Eisenhower for the offhand and lukewarm manner in which he handled the Herter appointment after a spreading concerous condition made it clear that Dulles could not continue in office.

Apparently Eisenhower tried to make up for this coolness belatedly at Wednesday's farewell ceremony. He told Herter that he and Dulles "were as one" in deciding that Herter was the best man for the job, and pledged him full support.

The president's personal distress over Dulles' illness, and his reluctance to see a competent man resign, was generally acknowledged but many congressmen were puzzled as to why Eisenhower took so long in nominating the man who long has been regarded as the logical successor to Dulles.

They noted, for example, that the way in which the president last week discussed Herter as only one of a number of possible appointees and the formal brevity with which he presented the new secretary to reporters last week-end after the appointment had been announced.

This, in the minds of some, left an outward impression that the president was unenthusiastic about the appointment. There was some fear that if this impression gained currency abroad, Herter's position at the negotiating table, particularly—in meetings with the Russians—at Geneva, would be weakened.

But now, with the Senate so solidly behind him, there can be no doubt abroad that Herter has powerful support in his new post. He unquestionably is in a better position to negotiate than he would have been had the Senate followed its usual practice—after of seven days' deliberation before and taken the required minimum approving him.

Govt. to Close Gap Between Income and Expenditures

MONTREAL (CP) — The Bank of Montreal, in its Business Review of April, said today that improving business conditions and increased federal revenues will increase sufficiently by this time next year to close the gap which is added $184,000,000 for the old age pensions.

Non - budgetary disbursements amounted to $646,000,000, to all, $1,363,000,000 had been borrowed.

Part of this "sharp reversal of fiscal position" was the result of the business recession and the government's deliberate policy to combat it, the bank said. Cash requirements involved an encouragement of Canada's public debt from a post-war low of $14,-500,000,000 to $15,000,000,000.

During the year, however, the economy began to recover markedly from the recession. On a seasonally - adjusted annual rate basis, national production rose from $21,500,000,000 in the first quarter to $32,700,000,000 in the last three months.

The pick - up in business will bolster federal revenues, the review continued. But to further reduce the deficit to $393,000,000, the government proposed new taxes that will bring an additional $156,-000,000 in a full year, or $102,-000,000 in the current year.

In all, this year's market borrowing should be less than half

Farquhar Oliver Running Again

HANOVER (CP) — Farquhar Oliver, who entered the Ontario legislature in 1926 and has been there ever since, has been named to contest the Grey - South riding for the Liberals. Mr. Oliver was 82 and known as "the boy orator" when he was first elected a member of the Ontario Legislature.

Examining the federal budget's economic forecast, the bank said that "assuming no significant change in expenditures, revenues could conceivably be flowing at a rate sufficient to close most of the budgetary gap by the time the government enters a new fiscal period a year from now."

U.S. Loses Hope Iraq Can Resist Red Domination

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many U.S. government officials have about given up hope that revolutionary government of Iraq can resist Soviet Communist domination.

There is growing fear here that Iraq soon will become a virtual satellite of the Kremlin, if it has not already become one.

Since the Iraqi revolution last July 14, U.S. officials have watched the tide of events in Iraq with growing dismay. Premier Abdel Karim Kassem has become increasingly dependent on, or allied with, Communist support. The British, Turkish and Iranian governments which had persisted in believing Kassem could crack down on the Reds when the time came, now are said to share U.S. pessimism.

Authorities are convinced Egypt's President Nasser has given behind - the - scenes backing to anti-Communist bids for power in Iraq. But he has always failed.

Between Nasser and Kassem the U.S. remains neutral. Although Nasser's hostility to Kassem said to Soviet communism in Iraq has softened his attacks on Western powers, he still is not considered as a dependable friend. Government experts believe Moscow prefers to move into the Middle East area in stages rather than in one great advance.

By this theory the first stage is to break the Middle Eastern power of the West. This stage reached a climax with the assumption of King Faisal and the pro-U.S. Iraqi leaders last July 14.

The second phase would be to gain indirect control of a Middle East government as in Iraq.

The third phase would see the establishment of a land bridge. That could only mean trouble of the greatest kind between Russia, Iran, Iraq and probably Turkey.

Since both Iran and Turkey are in the Middle East defense alliance, and Turkey is a member of NATO, any such trouble would involve the whole world in drinking at home, the Khrushchev regime has put a ceiling on the price of vodka by the bottle in the last two years.

BEHAVIOR CONTROL

Hand in hand with the temperance campaign has been the carefully endorsed a broad program of "behavior control." Its enactment is largely in the hands of the Komsomol (Young Communist League) and the Soviet army. Komsomol organizations in every city, industry, and collective farm have been urged to pick the most militant and dedicated Communists for duty as volunteer militiamen. They concentrate on restaurants, parks, public areas, making sure that hooliganism is suppressed, that behavior is proper, that drunkenness in public and at home is sharply controlled.

But early results of the behavior police have not been completely encouraging.

Khrushchev Instituting New System to Supervise Habits, Behavior of People

Editor's note: Nikita Khrushchev's newest brand of repression is having a sobering effect on the Russians. Russell H. Miller, in this third of four articles on the Soviet Union today, tells what has become out of Moscow after nearly three years as chief of the AP bureau there.

By HAROLD R. MILES
Associated Press Staff Writer

Nikita Khrushchev appears to be instituting a new control system to replace the dreaded midnight knock of Stalin's secret police.

The stocky ruler of the Soviet Union has called for expanded supervision of the personal habits and behavior of his people. His campaign against drinking is one phase. His "intensification of people's volunteer militia" to curtail what is called public misbehavior is another.

The drinking habits of Russians, long famed as hardy imbibers, have been changing rapidly under the drive of Khrushchev — formerly renowned himself for his ability to handle a full glass.

DRINKING DECLINES

Some say Khrushchev's criticism of excessive drinking as unCommunist and harmful to the progress began about the same time as reports that he suffers from kidney trouble.

Be that as it may, it appears that the stern arm of the Soviet Union has tapered off sharply in its campaign against habits that he expects every drinking man and woman in the country to help him get other people to join him.

Nowhere has the change in Khrushchev's — and the Russians' — drinking habits been more startlingly apparent than at formal Kremlin receptions.

Such functions usually have been the scene of heavy and sometimes crude drinking.

TOASTS ALL AROUND

Tables were laden with bottles of vodka, red wine, cognac, brandy, beer, sometimes champagne from the republic of Georgia. Few bottles were returned to the shelves unemptied as Russian and foreign guests toasted themselves and everyone else.

The last Kremlin reception I attended—in honor of a visiting Polish delegation—was in sharp contrast.

Gone were the vodka bottles, even from the inner-ring tables for serving diplomats and Soviet Russian officials. Our table held three bottles of native wine, a bottle of cognac and a bottle of "frukti water" and several flasks of mineral water. The diplomats declared no better. A few trays of brandy were passed among top officials. But they sipped it sparingly and their drinks were small and few.

WORKERS CUT OFF

Drinks for Soviet citizens have been cut off at 11 o'clock. At a factory worker out for a night on the town can no longer sit in Moscow restaurant and drink vodka until his friends carry him home. He is permitted only one fifth or so a sobering-up station.

By order of Khrushchev his favorite Moscow restaurant are limited to a hundred grams—two and a half ounces—of vodka per person.

If he wants more he has to go to another restaurant. Khrushchev says "the walk in between will help him stay sober."

Despite the drive against drinking at home, the Khrushchev regime has not increased the price of vodka by the bottle in the last two years.

BEHAVIOR CONTROL

Hand in hand with the temperance campaign has been the carefully endorsed a broad program of "behavior control." Its enactment is largely in the hands of the Komsomol (Young Communist League) and the Soviet army. Komsomol organizations in every city, industry, and collective farm have been urged to pick the most militant and dedicated Communists for duty as volunteer militiamen. They concentrate on restaurants, parks, public areas, making sure that hooliganism is suppressed, that behavior is proper, that drunkenness in public and at home is sharply controlled.

But early results of the behavior police have not been completely encouraging.

Dies of Injuries

GODERICH (CP) — Alexander William Miller, 46, died Tuesday night from injuries suffered in an explosion 1,700 feet below the surface of the Dominion rock salt mine here.

Four others working on the same level suffered minor bruises. A native of Pugwash, N.S., Miller is believed to have touched a piece of dynamite with a drill he was using, triggering the explosion.

National Guard Digs Up Arms Cache in Panama

PANAMA CITY (AP) — The National Guard said today it had dug up an arms cache landed on a beach 75 miles west of Panama City by Roberto Arias, fugitive husband of British ballerina Margot Fonteyn.

Arias still was at large with most of the 10-man band the government claims landed with him at Santa Clara Sunday. The government accused Arias of trying to launch a revolution against President Ernest de la Guardia and expelled his wife from the country.

The 39-year-old dancer flew to New York Wednesday and refused to discuss events in Panama. She said she did not know, when her husband was or when she would see him again.

SEARCH AT ARIAS

The Panama National Guard searched the coastal strip near Santa Clara, where Arias family, long a power in Panamanian politics, has a big estate. Roberto Arias is a former vice president of Panama who split a year ago with the de la Guardia administration.

Officials said search of a beach house near Santa Clara turned up letters left by Arias, including one from Arnulfo Arias, uncle of actor John Wayne. Authorities said Wayne was a friend and business associate of Arias.

Contents of the letter were not disclosed.

Police said circular felt shoulder patches bearing the number 17 were found in the house. They apparently left behind when the rebels fled. They indicated the rebels were trying to start a "May 25" revolutionary movement patterned from the date a year ago of bloody clashes between students and government forces.

The de la Guardia government has accused Arias of plotting a revolt in Panama patterned after Fidel Castro's successful revolution in Cuba, and with the aid of Panamanian oppositionists hiring Cuban pilots.

The present revolutionary scare in Panama started with the flight of a small band of rebellious students to the mountains, trying to start a Castro-like movement similar to Castro's. And Castro called a "rebel to the day 26 Movement —commemorating the date of his first abortive attempt against the Cuban government.

One of Driest Springs Shaping Up on Prairies

REGINA (CP) — Farmers are preparing to fight drought and grasshoppers as one of the driest springs on record shapes up on the prairies.

Temperatures are generally most unfavorable," said R. E. McKenzie, of the Saskatchewan agricultural department's plant industry branch.

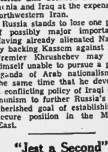
"Many fields in the south are so dry that grain would not germinate now."

Jack Armitage, agriculture department official in Manitoba, said parts of his province, west of Brandon in Prairie, are extremely dry.

"It could be quite serious unless we get moisture, either rain or snow, soon," he said.

GRASSHOPPER CONCERN

R. E. English, provincial statistician in Alberta, said some Alberta districts are concerned that there will not be enough moisture for germination.



Mr. McKenzie said the first grasshoppers will hatch during the first week in May. They will live on weeds until the first grain appears "when they'll be ready to move right in."

An extremely bad grasshopper infestation has been predicted.

The dry spring follows a winter of only moderate snowfall and an exceptionally dry season in 1958. Precipitation in the Regina district in the first three weeks of April has been only .10 inches, compared with a normal of .77 for the month. In 1937, a year of drought in which many farmers fields did not bother to cut their crops, there were .18 inches of moisture in April.

J. J. Hutchison, director of Saskatchewan's agricultural representative branch, said soil drifting is quite bad in parts of southern Saskatchewan. There is also drifting in Manitoba.

Officials emphasized that a good rain would eliminate the picture overnight in the dry areas

Winter Killing Of Fall Wheat Causes Big Loss

PICTON — Prince Edward County farmers stand to lose more than $150,000 as a result of winter killing of fall wheat, according to a survey conducted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture here. In some parts of the county, the winter kill is as high as eighty percent, in others about 30 percent was killed.

Rain which failed to materialize during the past few days, coupled with continued cool weather, has lessened chances of many fields of wheat recovering, Agricultural Representative Donald Taylor states. He advised farmers to plow and cultivate such fields so that weeds may be kept down.

On an average, 11,000 acres of wheat are grown in Prince Edward, representing an investment of $33,000 in seed and a crop value of $396,000.

Many leading growers are turning to oats instead and cleaning plants are barely able to keep up to the demand and their services as the unexpected change had to be made. Some farmers state that there will be a record acreage of oats and this may serve to depress the price for this grain next fall.

Cold weather continued to delay farm operations in Prince Edward, with little work having been done on the land. Pastures are very backward and cattle will be turned out late this year.

Set Up Clinics In County to Give Polio Shots

PICTON — Alarmed that so few adults have taken steps to protect themselves against poliomyelitis, Prince Edward County Health Unit is setting up clinics throughout the County where inoculations will be given free of charge. The first two clinics are being held in Picton on April 29 and May 1-6 and 8.

"We are endeavoring to have every adult 40 years and under have this inoculation", Dr. W. M. Turpel, MOH stated "At the Unit and at the special clinics to be set up, the service will be entirely free and the vaccine will be furnished by the Province. Those who wish to have the service performed by their own doctor may do so but are called upon to pay for same."

SPEAKER TO ATTEND

PICTON — Guest speaker at the convention, which will choose a Progressive Conservative candidate to contest the riding of Prince Edward-Lennox in the next provincial election, will be Hon. the Rev. A. E. Downer, speaker of the Ontario Legislature", it was announced here yesterday. The convention, expected to attract five hundred delegates, is being held in Napanee Collegiate, Wednesday night, April 29. While it is expected there will be several nominations, there appears to be little opposition to the present member, Norris Whitney, who will again seek the nomination.

— BELLEVILLE —

AT THE PARK — Rory Calhoun's rifle emphasizes his warning to John Dehner, Carolyn Craig, Barbara Bates and Tom Pittman (l to r) of the approach of warring Apaches in Columbia Pictures' new Eastman Color western, "Apache Territory", now showing at the Park Theatre. On the same program the romantic comedy with music "Gidget", in CinemaScope and color, starring Sandra Dee, Cliff Robertson, James Darren, Arthur O'Connell, Mary La Roche, Jo Morrow and the Four Preps. Both attractions are first Belleville and district showings.

AT THE BELLE — Meet Shaggy — This is an artist's conception of the lovable clown who plays the title role in Walt Disney's biggest comedy hit, "Shaggy Dog", holding tonight, Friday and Saturday at the Belle Theatre. You've heard about Shaggy on TV, and that he is a natural born Disney character; he shares top billing with Fred MacMurray, Jean Hagen and Tommy Kirk. On the Belle Saturday 1.00 p.m. show, Belleville's favorite comics, The Bowery Boys co-star in "Feudin' Fools", with an all-star comedy and choice cartoon comedies.

AT THE McCARTHY — A scene from "Sea of Sand", opening tonight at both the McCarthy and Drive-In Theatres. 2nd. action-packed hit on the same program at both theatres is "Blitzkreig", the horror of war as it really is inhuman and ugly.

Entertainment Cake Light Concoction for Next Year

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major networks have baked the public its entertainment cake for next season. It's an extremely light concoction.

Icing will be added later as numerous special programs are announced. There also will be some plum inserted for the minority of viewers who seek intellectual sustenance from television.

But the basic prime evening viewing hours between 7:30 and 11 p.m., which determine the color of ink commercial television uses in its ledgers, are pretty well set.

Some 13 hours of westerns will be on the three networks during the seven evenings of each week. Mysteries, as this season, will be second with a total of about 12 hours.

Variety shows will occupy about nine hours, situation comedies seven hours, adventures four, Quiz and panel shows, which two years ago were occupying about 16 hours, are away down to seven hours a week.

DRAMA OUTPUT

Regular weekly drama programs thus far scheduled total five hours (and that includes calling 77 Sunset Strip on ABC-TV a "drama program"). The total amount of drama visible will be raised, however, by special programs, the monthly Du Pont Show of the Month on CBS-TV, and five Hallmark Hall of Fame productions on NBC-TV.

Playhouse 90 will be seen only every other week over CBS-TV, with a new 90-minute program, Biography, alternating.

On Sunday evening, ABC-TV starts off, as at present, with Maverick and rides the western ranges until a new adventure, The Alaskans, comes on at 9:30. The CBS-TV Sunday evening schedule looks much the same, except that Jack Benny moves to 10 p.m. alternating each week with George Gobel, a transfer from NBC.

START NEW SHOW

With Steve Allen abandoning his long-time Sunday spot for 10 p.m. on Mondays, NBC-TV will launch a new show. Comedy Hour, for which no details have been announced. The Dinah Shore Show will continue to be seen at the same hour.

Under present plans the biggest western night will be Tuesdays, with seven visible, including two new ones.

Transferring Perry Como from Saturday evenings to his new Kraft Music Hall program Wednesdays at 9 p.m. NBC-TV is placing a slew of popular programs back-to-back with the obvious aim of seizing a viewer and holding him all evening: Wagon Train, The Price is Right, Como, This is Your Life, and the Loretta Young Show.

Film Companies Now Have Two Tarzan Movies on Go

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Just who is the king of the jungle, anyway?

Ever since the early beginnings of the movies, there has been an incumbent Tarzan. Whether it was Elmo Lincoln, Crabbe, Herman Brix (Bruce Bennett) or Lex Barker, he ruled the jungle with interference only from an occasional lion or rhino.

Now it's Tarzan vs. Tarzan.

One film company has been in Africa shooting Tarzan's Great Adventure with Gordon Scott. And Denny Miller is starring as Tarzan, the Ape Man on MGM's Lot. 3. The explanation for this gives evidence that the movies are a rough and tumble business.

RIVAL ACTIVE

Sy Weintraub took over the series from its longtime producer, Sol Lesser, and launched a talent hunt for a new Tarzan to succeed Scott. In the midst of the campaign, he learned that MGM intended to re-film the first of the Weissmuller-Maureen O'Sullivan films, Tarzan, the Apeman.

So Weintraub called off his search and convinced Scott to resume his loincloth.

I dropped out to MGM to see the latest 'No. 12' ape man and found him to be the nonathletic type. In the picture, that is.

"I hope to get my degree in physical education this summer," he remarked. "So I can always become a coach if my acting career blows over."

REAL ABORIGINE

He did a scene at the elephant's graveyard with Joanna Barnes (Jane) and Cesare Danova. Acres and acres of ivory. Clad in the traditional hip-slit uniform, he delivered his lines as the earlier, tree-swinging kind of Tarzan, rather than the more sophisticated one of recent years.

When he finished, I asked him if he worried about being typed as the jungle king.

"No," he replied. "I understand that MGM owns only two more of the Tarzan stories, so there couldn't be much of a series. I've done other roles. I had a bit in Some Came Running, though you'd have to look pretty fast to see me. The part I'd like is Jim Kirk (Jim) Atmer in the film version. I've been studying voice, and I think I could handle it."

Gene Littler Favored in Calcutta Pool

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gene Littler was rated the favorite in the record breaking Calcutta pool today for the $40,000 Tournament of Champions golf tournament. The par 36-36—72 event starts today.

The betting pool was $380,000, eclipsing last year's record $365,000, as several hundred golf-minded suspects took a chance on their favorites in the field of 26 players.

Littler sold for $36,000. Just behind were Art Wall Jr. at $25,000; Stan Leonard of Vancouver, the 1953 winner, $24,000; Cary Middlecoff $23,000; and 1952 runner-up Billy Casper $21,000.

In the Calcutta, which is legal in Nevada, individuals or groups bid on the players. Out of the total, 10 per cent comes off the top for the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund. The owner of the winning player wins 40 per cent of the total amount after the 10 per cent deduction for the cancer fund.

Sport Briefs

U.S. TAKES LEAD

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—The United States took a 3-1 lead over Bermuda Wednesday in the Amorita Cup yachting series by winning the third official race, 44½ points to 41. Sam Barton, U.S. captain, led his team home in a tight finish. Bermuda's Sir Bayard Dill took second place. The series, sailed in international one-design yachts, is a best-of-seven affair. The Bermudians actually have won two races, but decided to disregard Tuesday's victory because Barton had to drop out to keep his boat from being dismasted.

HEAVY WORKOUTS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Champion Floyd Patterson returned to a heavy workout Wednesday and challenger Brian London concentrated on speed in preparation for their world heavyweight boxing championship bout here May 1. Patterson sparred two rounds with Ike Thomas and Julio Medicos and did calisthenics. The British challenger went two rounds each with a couple of sparring partners. Contracts for the bout will be signed today.

HUNTING SEASON SET

TORONTO (CP)—The hunting season this year for the Parry Sound, Haliburton and Renfrew areas south of the French and Mattawa rivers has been set for a 15-day period in November, Ontario Lands and Forests Minister Spooner announced Wednesday. Ontario residents and non-residents may hunt deer in these areas from Nov. 9-23. Open seasons for the rest of the province were announced previously.

SEARCH FOR GROUNDS

BARRIE (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League may locate their out-of-town practice centre in the Barrie Curling Club, Jake Gaudaur, president and general manager, met Wednesday with Mayor Willard Kinzie, directors of the curling club, a representative of Barrie fair grounds and a caterer, to discuss the matter. Mr. Gaudaur will submit the proposal to the board of directors of the club.

MAKE BIG OFFER

TOKYO (AP) — Japan has offered to spend more than $18,000,000 staging the 1964 Olympic games if they are awarded to Tokyo, the Japan Travel News said Wednesday. The publication of the National Tourist Association said the amount would be raised in the form of $2,778,000 in gate receipts, an equal amount in contributions and the remainder of $11,112,000 from the national and metropolitan governments.

CLAIM RECORD

TOKYO (AP) — Red China has claimed today its lightweight weightlifting champion Hu a n g Ching-Hui had set a world record by jerking 138.5 kilograms (343.7 pounds). The New China News Agency said the record was set at the 1959 national weightlifting championships at Taiyuan. It improved by a half kilogram (1-1 pounds) his previous record made last November.

Bears Shade Bisons 2-1; Take 2-1 Lead

HERSHEY Pa. (AP)—Hershey Bears scored the winning goal in the third period to beat Buffalo Bisons 2-1 Wednesday night and take the lead in the American Hockey League finals.

Hershey now leads 2-1 in the best-of-seven series. Fourth game is here Saturday night.

Bisons grabbed the lead in the first when Jerry Foley tipped in Tucker Macdonald's 40-footer.

Hershey tied the score five minutes before the second period ended. Ernie Yanosik outskated the Buffalo defence and fired another 40-footer that sailed over goalie Marcel Pallie's shoulder.

The winning goal came early in the third period. Ed Sandkovich connected with a short shot from behind the Buffalo net. The puck struck Pallie's skates.

With 25 seconds to play Pallie was withdrawn from the Buffalo goal as the Bisons used six players in a futile effort to tie the score.

Cardinals Take Eskys to Court

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP)—The Chicago Cardinals, coached by former Edmonton Eskimos coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, have taken a contract dispute with Edmonton to the courts.

Cardinals filed suit Wednesday asking that Auburn's Jerry Wilson be enjoined "from playing for the Edmonton Eskimos or any other professional team than the complainant during the 1959 professional football season."

The Cardinals contend that Wilson, an end, made an oral agreement with them Dec. 19 in Birmingham, his home, to play in 1959 for $11,000.

They said they paid Wilson $1,000 that day to seal the deal.

But since then, they said, Wilson has notified them that he has signed a contract with the WFU club.

The Cardinals said that the loss of a player of Wilson's ability could not be compensated by damages.

Ken McMillan New OHA Prexy

TORONTO (CP) — Ken McMillan of Georgetown has been appointed president of the Ontario Hockey Association for 1959-1960 by acclamation. The association will hold its annual meeting here on Saturday at which time its four-member executive board will be elected.

Glen Sonmor Quits Indians

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Coach Glen Sonmor of Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League resigned Wednesday.

Sonmor indicated job opportunities were causing him to return to St. Catharines.

A former Cleveland Baron winger, Sonmor once played briefly with New York Rangers.

Wolves Clinch English Soccer League Title

LONDON (AP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers lashed lowly Leicester City 3-0 Wednesday night and clinched the English Soccer League championship for the second straight year.

The Wolves' victory sent them into the European Cup of Champions next season. The Wolves lost in the first round last year to Schalke of West Germany.

Leicester held the Wolves to a scoreless first half. Then Norman Deeley, recently picked for England's tour of the U.S., hit the Wolves' first goal in the 51st minute. Mike Lill and Bill Murray added the others.

Luton Town, the English Cup finalists May 2, defeated bottom-of-the-table Portsmouth 3-1. It was Luton's third win in 13 games since they reached the final.

The other Cup finalists, Nottingham Forest, ran head under. Leeds United defeated them 3-0.

Leeds' centre forward Alan Shackleton hit all three goals. Nottingham has won only three out of 13 games since the semi-finals.

"Spider" Spins 4th Round TKO Over Rivers

CHICAGO (AP) — Spider Webb has spun himself into a corner as far as the middleweight boxing title is concerned.

Webb Wednesday night wove his 33rd victory against only four defeats with a fourth-round technical knockout off Nesi Rivers, but it got him nowhere in his pursuit for Sugar Ray Robinson's 160-pound championship.

Webb, 28, put Rivers into bloody submission in 2:49 of the fourth round in their scheduled 10-rounder before only 859 fans.

Mystery surrounds Robinson's plans concerning a middleweight title defence. Webb apparently must sit in the bleachers and wait for something to happen.

If Robinson, given 15 days to make up his mind, by the court, decides to defend his title, his opponent will be Carmen Basilio, the man he dethroned March 25, 1958.

If Robinson is stripped of his title May 7, the National Boxing Association will call for a match between Basilio and Gene Fullmer, the winner to meet No. 3 ranked Webb.

In a precedent-setting decision Wednesday, Supreme Court Justice Saul Streit upheld the power of the state athletic commission to vacate a title and also said the commission could choose the challenger and fix the date for such a fight.

The commission ordered Robinson to fight after he failed to defend the title when winning it from Basilio March 25, 1958.

Robinson then took the matter to court. There is a good possibility he will appeal to a higher court.

North Ireland Whips Wales

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Northern Ireland defeated Wales 4-1 Wednesday night and shared the British soccer championship with England. Ireland and England both finished the home-and-home tournament with four points.

Northern Ireland led Wales 3-0 at half-time and went on to bewilder and bewitch the Welshmen who missed the inspiration of John Charles, now with Juventus of Italy.

Ireland's goals came from Peter McParland who got two, Billy Peacock and Jimmy McIlroy. Derek Tapscott, inside right from Cardiff, scored for Wales.

American League Dates Changes

BOSTON (AP)—The following changes in the American League schedule were announced Wednesday by league president Joe Cronin:

May 7: Baltimore at Washington (night)

May 11: Baltimore at Washington (night)

May 27: Boston at New York

May 28: Detroit at Chicago (night)

July 9: Baltimore at Washington (twi-night doubleheader)

July 16: Kansas City at Baltimore (night)

July 16: Cleveland at Kansas City

Cronin said all the changes are the result of postponed games, except the Kansas City at Baltimore game, July 16, which has been changed from a day to a night game.

Two postponed games, through those scheduled as of April 20, have not yet been assigned new playing dates. They are: Boston at New York game of April 11, and New York at Boston game of April 20.

BOXING RETURNS

Boxing, long dormant in this city and never a spectacular success here due to various reasons, returns to the sports scene next week with a background that augurs well for its future.

Jack Fitzgerald

The new Belleville Boxing Club, under the management of promoters Jack Fitzgerald and secretary-treasurer Bob Totten, who is the club's trainer as well, makes its debut in Memorial Arena on April 30, with a card of young fighters that should meet with the approval of what has always been a critical fandom. George Palmateer is the matchmaker.

Well-known bowler and sportsman, Fitzgerald brings with him a background of integrity, square-dealing and good sportsmanship. The boxing public can rest assured Jack will offer the best talent obtainable, with scored on promising youngsters of the city and district, augmented by ring stars of outside points.

Jack's honesty and integrity is unquestioned. He has gathered around him some 35 youngsters, ranging in weight from 125 to 165 pounds. (We're not ready for the heavyweight division yet"), some of whom show exceptional promise and ability.

Outstanding boxers and promoters of clubs of other cities have promised Fitzgerald their fullest co-operation. The well known, "Deacon" Allen, Toronto's prominent boxing promoter, has stated he will aid the new boxing club here with some of his best ring talent. Allen doesn't fool. He is not accustomed to make rash promises to fly-by-night local promoters. His backing of Fitzgerald is enough in itself.

The headquarters of the new Belleville Boxing Club is located over the old firehall on Upper Front Street this side of the bridge. For three months now, Fitzgerald, Totten and Palmateer have been working quietly gathering equipment and rounding up promising talent.

Evidence of their success and the promise of their ring protegés is seen in the fact that seven of the youngsters were busy bouts and another fought to a draw in eight fights staged at the Palace Pier, Toronto.

"We, naturally, are proud of the initial success of the boys in their first appearances, especially since they were out of town and against fighters of some repute. Toronto boxing people thought highly of their performances, and this fact did a lot towards them promising future co-operation in Belleville," said Fitzgerald.

"However, they are not cocky over their first victories, and we of the club are going to keep them in their respective classes and gradually build them up until they are ready to meet the topnotchers. In this manner I believe we can promise the boxing fandom of the city and district some excellent shows in the not-too-distant future."

Fitzgerald said the club will be struggling along on a financial shoestring until it finds its feet. "We have equipment to pay for and hope to square everything with the first two or three cards. We have had the co-operation from the Arena Commission, and the arena staff," he said.

The new club makes its bow to the boxing public with a card that promises plenty of action. Outstanding boxers from Oshawa and Peterborough will clash with Fitzgerald's boys in eight bouts.

Headlining the card will be a five-round battle between Belleville's Rocky Lucas (147) and Peterborough's Al Reid. The hard-punching Lucas bolted out a unanimous decision over Richard Oliver, of Deacon Allen's Toronto stable in his last appearance at the Palace Pier. Reid is a tough slugger with 20 fights to his credit.

Barry Parsons, a fine looking Belleville prospect, will go four rounds in the semi-final against Ted Milligan of Peterborough. This, too, promises to be a free-swinging, wide open fight.

A special five-rounder event will see Paul Daniels, the Ontario lightweight champion from Peterborough, tangle with Grant O'Reilly of Oshawa. Daniels, a seasoned scrapper, won a close decision from the Irishman their last time out and the return match should see the fists fur fly. Five other bouts round out an attractive "first-nighter" card.

Allan Cuppers Adapt 'Rough Play-Referee' Theme

Both Managers Air Charges After Corporal's Guard Sees Dunnies Whip Canadians 5-2

By MILT MacPHAIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The Allan Cup hockey final between Whitby Dunlops and Vernon Canadians is starting to reek with charges of dirty play and criticism about refereeing. That's par for the course in the playoffs.

Both came Wednesday night when a thin crowd of 2,543 watched Whitby outclass Vernon 5-2 to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series for Canada's Senior A hockey championship. Third and fourth games are here Friday and Saturday.

Wren Blair, outspoken Whitby manager, accused Vernon of dirty play and was backed up by Whitby playing-coach Bill Smith, who was penalized twice won the National Hockey League's Lady Byng Trophy for gentlemanly play when he was with Toronto Maple Leafs.

BLAIR INCENSED

"They're (Vernon) the dirtiest club we've played in a long while," Blair said. "They sure know how to hold and highstick."

"A lot of our guys got cut to-night from being off high sticks," Smith said. "Vernon should have a good enough team without using that kind of stuff."

George Agar, Vernon's 49-year-old playing-coach, countered: "We weren't carrying our sticks any higher than they were. This is playoff hockey and it's bound to get a little rough."

Canadians unsuccessfully protested two calls by referee Al Paradise of Windsor, once in the first period when Vernon claimed a goal and in the third period when Whitby scored while three players were jammed into the Vernon goalmouth.

Dunlops, skating faster and showing more finesse, dominated play in the first period when they took a 2-0 lead. Vernon got organized in the second period and the teams split four goals.

Whitby came back strong in the third period, scored the last goal of the game and checked the Western champions so hard they didn't have one good scoring opportunity.

Smith and Whitby's captain, defenceman Harry Sinden, each scored two goals and one assist. Fred Etcher got the other goal.

Agar and defenceman Willie Schmidt scored for Vernon in the second period.

MAKES 49 SAVES

Hal Gordon, who played Vernon's 1956 Allan Cup champions, made a total of 49 savers, 19 in the first period. Long John Henderson had 24 saves in the Whitby nets. Vernon got seven of nine minor penalties.

Penalties were prominent in the scoring. Etcher got the first goal at 8:10 of the opening period while Vernon's Bill Swarbrick and Walt Trentini were in the penalty box.

Each team was a man short when Sinden made it 2-0 at 14:08 on a screened backhander. Sinden boosted it to 3-0 at 3:13 of the second period.

Canadians cut the margin to 3-1 at 4:16 when Agar whipped in a goalmouth shot.

Less than a minute later Smith sent Whitby in front 4-1 and at 7:34, while Whitby's Tom O'Connor was sitting out a slashing penalty, Canadians got their final goal on Schmidt's 15-foot blast.

Vernon defenceman Harry Smith was off for roughing when Smith got Whitby's fifth goal in a controversial play at 7:13 of the third period. Three players were bunched in the Vernon goal when Sid connected on a short drive.

Canadians protested in vain to Paradise. The referee also rejected Vernon's claim for a goal in the first period when a shot by Harry Smith seemed to hit the top bar of the Whitby net and bounce out.

Agar said: "The puck Harry shot definitely went into the net and came out again, and the referees certainly shouldn't have allowed Whitby's last goal because two of their players were in the crease."

Agar added, however: "I'm not crying about losing. We played lousy hockey. It wasn't because Whitby was that good. With any breaks at all we'll come back and I still think this series will go the limit."

Smith said "We weren't nearly as sharp as we were in the Ontario finals against Kitchener."

The crowd brought to only 4,635 total attendance for the two games. Blair commented.

"Hockey should end with the Stanley Cup. When that's over hockey interest is bound to fall off."

Ford In High Gear; Indians, Braves Scalp Foemen

Whitey Nips Senators in 14 As Tribe Tomahawks Tigers; Burdette Out-Duels Roberts

Associated Press Sports Writer
By ED WILKS

Lew Burdette has found his "stuff" again. He misplaced it when he was unfrocked as a Yankee killer last October.

It was the "screwball" pitch—the pitch that made it easy on the fielders because hitters hit it right at 'em — that won three from the New York Yankees as Milwaukee won the 1957 world series. He still had it last season, when he became a 20 - game winner for the first time.

Then he lost it in last fall's world series, twice taking his lumps while the Yankees staged a startling comeback by winning the last three games.

Now, Braves once more lead the National League, and Burdette put them a game in front Wednesday night, picking up eight hits but out-dueling Robin Roberts, who allowed only four, for a 3-0 victory.

It was Burdette's third victory of the season—and his seventh in a row, all complete games, since last Sept. 7.

Lou Ameche fell out of a virtual tie for first as San Francisco ended its 10-game winning string at four, 6-3. Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 9-4, while St. Louis Cardinals blasted the cellar despite an 8-2 victory over Chicago Cubs.

The Braves were held hitless by Roberts (1-1) until the seventh when three runs broke the shutout duel. Billy Bruton added his first homer in the eighth. Burdette, while claiming his 18th career shutout, now has a string of 14 scoreless innings — all against the Phils.

The Giants dropped the Dodgers with a five-run fifth against losing starter Carl Erskine (0-1). A walk, four singles and Orlando Cepeda's doubleoldie the damage. Jack Sanford (2-2) won it, but needed a clutch relief job from Sam Jones, who relieved Don Demeter and pinch-hitting Carl Furillo with two on in the ninth.

The Pirates tied it in a seven-run seventh capped by Bill Virdon's three - run homer. Then after Gus Bell gave the Reds a new lead with a solo homer in the eighth, the Bucs put it away against losing reliever Orlando Pena in the ninth on a bases-loaded walk and Rocky Nelson's single. Elroy Face (1-0) won it in relief. Bob Friend was the loser.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell gave up five hits and won his second end with a third consecutive complete game job this season for the Cards. Alex Grammas, Gino Cimoli and Curt Flood hit first-of-the-season homers for St. Louis. Grammas, who hadn't homered since 1955, drove in four runs. Taylor Phillips (0-2) lost it.

New York Yankees' insistence that Whitey Ford go on a diet is paying off—both for the Yankees and Ford. He went 14 innings for the first time in his major league career Wednesday night and beat the Senators 1-0.

Although Ford led the American League with seven shutouts and a 2.01 earned run average last year the Yankees weren't happy. Although he won 16, the management said they didn't feel he was earning his $35,000. Overweight, they said. Other complaints were such that it wasn't until his bosses scrubbed their semantics that the stubby southpaw agreed to play ball—and go on a diet.

As a case of fact, Ford was virtually ineffective over the last month and a half of last season because of arm trouble.

But there was nothing wrong with his arm Wednesday night.

STRUCK OUT 10

Ford, who leads active pitchers with a .734 winning percentage, struck out 10 and gave up but seven hits in a shutout duel with Bill Fischer and Chuck Stobbs that wasn't broken until Bill Skowron rapped his third home run of the season with one out in the 14th.

That left Yanks two games behind Cleveland Indians who again battered Detroit 10-1. Chicago White Sox smothered Kansas City 20-6 while Boston beat Baltimore 8-4.

Ford, 30, walked seven, but gave up just one single from the 10th until the 14th. Then, after Skowron had ended Stobbs' hitless relief job, Ford was touched for two hits before putting it away. Stobbs (0-2) took over after Fischer, who gave up six of the Yankees' eight hits, was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the ninth.

WALLOP LARY

Young Gary Bell (2-0) breezed in with a seven-hitter for the Indians, who have rapped Detroit

Strathroy Wins Senior B Title

STRATHROY (CP) — Strathroy Rockets won their first Ontario Hockey Association Senior B championship Wednesday night when they defeated Welland-Crowland Voltaires 6-2 to take their best-of-seven series 4-1.

Willie Haas and Art Sullivan each scored twice for Strathroy. Defenceman Lome and Jim Udan scored the other rockets' goals.

Eric Unger and captain Ernie Bergeson scored Welland-Crowland's goals.

Coach Lyle "Mickey" Roth, a former Senior A standout with Stratford and Windsor, said he was elated by the championship in his first try at coaching.

Rockets, guided by the Stratford public school principal, won the Western Ontario Senior B title, eliminating St. Thomas Royals and Woodstock Athletics. Welland-Crowland reached the final by eliminating Niagara Falls and Meaford in the Metro-Niagara district league.

Ron Slater, Woodstock netminder, replaced Wilson Crowland's regular goalie Ed Rafferty and was outstanding. He was the target for 33 shots. Rafferty was sidelined by a groin injury.

pitching for 24 runs and 31 hits in two days. Jimmy Piersall drove in the first four runs off Jerry Casale (0-2). Two with a homer. Rocky Colavito added a three-run blast and Gene Leek, making his first major league game, socked a two-run homer. Earl Harris homered for Detroit.

The White Sox bustled from behind after the A's had chased Billy Wynn with five runs in the second inning. They made it a 10-5 game in the seventh off three pitchers—needing but one hit while benefiting from walks (one shy of the record), a hit batter and three errors. Bob Talbot (0-2) lost it in relief. Bob Shaw (1-0) won it with 7-1/3 innings of three-hit, shutout relief.

The Red Sox wrapped it up with five runs in the fourth on four singles, a walk and an error against loser Arnie Portocarrero (0-2). Vic Wertz homered for Boston while Murray Wall (1-0) won it in relief.

Tigers Dangle Hundred Grand Slugger Bait But Big Ones Fail to Nibble

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, hungry to apply $100,000 in first aid to a battered team that lost eight of nine games, are shooting in all directions for a muscle-packed slugger.

So far the Tigers have been rebuffed everywhere. General manager Rick Ferrell said Wednesday night he has had unsuccessful trade confabs with the Washington Senators, Baltimore Orioles and New York Yankees.

Ferrell said the Kansas City Athletics would be an early stop on his continuing agenda.

He said Washington had spurned his bid of $100,000 and a front line pitcher for Roy Sievers. Sievers, 32, an outfielder - first baseman, belted 39 home runs and drove home 108 runs for Washington last year.

Ferrell said a second offer involved Sievers, $100,000, the top pitcher and second-line players on both teams.

Ferrell declined to name the pitcher he offered, but he was believed to be Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack or Billy Hoeft. The general manager said he would resume negotiations later.

Baltimore twice has refused Tiger attempts to pry loose catcher Gus Triandos.

The Yankees wanted pitcher Frank Lary or outfielder Al Kaline from Detroit, but Lary and Kaline are regarded as Tiger untouchables.

New York would have been willing to give up Marv Throneberry, Ryne Richardson, Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern or players of equal ability, Ferrell said.

Jets Rack Up Third Straight Over Toronto

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Miami Marlins are having an International League field day in their current series with the Buffalo Bisons.

The Marlins are being haunted by aces who were very friendly last season when they adorned Miami uniforms. Foremost is the Bisons' manager Harry Parnell, whose team has taken the first two games of the four game set.

The Bisons did it Wednesday night, 4-1, as Dallas Green fired a five-hitter. The night before Warren Hacker, a 1958 Marlin, was the winning pitcher.

In other games, Richmond and Montreal split a doubleheader with Richmond winning the nightcap 4-1, breaking a four-game losing string after Montreal took the opener, 3-1.

At Columbus, the Jets racked up their third straight victory with a 3-2 decision over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

CLINCHES OWN GAME

Alvin Jackson, 22 - year - old southpaw helped clinch his win by poking a tie-breaking double off the right fence in the seventh inning.

The big reason for the changing Miami personnel was the decision of the Philadelphia Phillies or the National League to move their triple-A International League franchise to Toronto. The Baltimore Orioles of the American League took over Miami, installing Pepper Martin as the new manager.

Buffalo got Farell and a host of the 1958 Miami squad.

Green, in outdoing Hacker's eight-hit victory Tuesday night, struck out eight and walked only two. Leo Burnett's double was the only run he allowed.

Bob Wiesler broke Richmond's losing streak as he struck out seven and walked three to win. He had a no-hitter until two were out in the sixth. Gene Parris homered for the Royals only run.

WIDE CIRCLE

He also delivered a decisive two-run double in the seventh to give right-hander Ron Negray the victory. Billy Harris lost the nightcap for the Royals.

Jim Bronstad took Richmond's loss.

Jackson's tie - breaking double came after Toronto had taken a 2-0 lead on homers by Ray Cobbell and Hec Rodriguez. Leafs also had lost starting pitcher Bob Chakales who was charged for disputing a balk call.

Jackson relieved starter Jim Hardison. Jack Crimian was the losing pitcher.

Rochester almost pulled out a victory over Havana with a five-run eight inning but Tony Gonzalez' two-run homer in the home half of the eighth proved his undoing. It was his sixth.

Walt Craddock won his second of the year while Joe McLain lost.

Petes' Bowman Is No Imlach And Boss Sammy Is No Help

WINNIPEG (CP) — Coach Scotty Bowman wasn't exactly oozing with confidence Wednesday night as he brought his eastern champion Peterborough Petes into Winnipeg for the memorial Cup final against Winnipeg Bravés.

"You know", said the 25-year-old Bowman as he ushered his boys into their hotel quarters, "I'm actually surprised we got this far.

"But my boys have a lot of spirit and drive, and from what I hear of the Braves, they seem to have a lot of the same. This is liable to turn into a great series."

Bowman, who coached Hull-Ottawa Canadiens in 1957 when they were defeated in the Canadian junior final by Flin Flon Bombers, said his present club "probably couldn't hold a stick against Hull-Ottawa of two years ago."

He said Sammy Pollock, farm system director for Petes' parent Montreal Canadiens, was convinced the eastern champions could not win a game against the Braves or Flin Flon—eliminated in the western final by Winnipeg.

"I won't make any predictions about this series though, because I haven't seen Brandon play," Bowman said. "And I won't know anything more after the first game because, as you know, we always seem to lose the first two."

Petes gained a "Cinderella" reputation by winning their last three eastern playoffs after dropping the first two games in each.

"It's a funny thing with our club," he said, "I think one reason why we always go down early in that every series we win we weren't expected to win — and everything after it seems anticlimactic."

Bowman, who seeds his club through a light workout at the Winnipeg Arena today, said he hopes Petes can continue with the series setup, the dates for the sixth and seventh games, May 6 and 10.

CRITICIZES SCHEDULE

"I wish they could advance the dates a little," he said. "Most of my kids are in school and five are graduating this year. They can't afford to miss that much time."

The series, with all games but one to be played in Winnipeg, will begin Friday night with the second the next day. The third, fourth and fifth games are scheduled for May 2, 3 and May 1, but the sixth and seventh games, if necessary, aren't slated until May 6 and 10. The May 1 game is at Brandon.

Frank Selinger, second vice-president of the CAHA, agreed with Bowman that all attempts to negotiate new dates when he reaches Winnipeg.

Softball Teams Given Warning By Secretary

Secretary - treasurer Bob Blaind of the Belleville and District softball league announced this morning that the final entry deadline meeting has been scheduled for Monday night.

"There will be no extension this time and there will be no exceptions" stated Blaind this morning. "This is it. If the teams want to play ball they will have to file entry by this Monday deadline. We will not stand for any more nonsense such as took place last Sunday when only one representative turned up", he emphasized.

Four teams are expected to return from last year, Point Anne, Belleville Bobcats, Trenton Legion and Cobourg Merchants. Two new possible entries are Campbellford and Picton. At the entry deadline meeting called for last Sunday the only team represented at the meeting was Campbellford. They stated at that time that they wanted to enter the loop.

Monday night's meeting will be held at the CNRA Park ticket office at 7:30 p.m.

Astrological Forecast

By CAROLL RICHTER

Thursday, April 23

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Having A.M. a clever idea occurs to you just how to increase abundance, but then you are suddenly faced with so many obligations and pressing bills that you quickly feel defeated.

Be astute in handling others and follow up on ideas.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—You appear to arrive at a real understanding with associate in A.M., but during afternoon you are put to tests that require every bit of ingenuity and intellect to pass. Be victorious and be sure you do not offend or hurt others.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—Plan your day minutely and follow such schedule, though there will be problems cropping up that would deter you from full accomplishment. If you accomplish one half of what you intended, you will still be far ahead of the game. P. M. take it easy.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — You arise in good spirits and full of inspiration, but the headaches of the day crop up to put a damper on things. However, they need to be cleared away sometime, so why not do it now while you feel strong and capable, Work.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) — Home duties and obligations need your undivided attention and much diplomacy today, but if you are going to grumble over them, it is best you get into the world of activity. Thus, you still have a productive day and avoid arguments.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Tend to your shopping, selling, calling early now. But be sure you drive carefully all day, and are cautious in motion, for any intervention on your part could lead to a serious accident of some sort. P. M. is time to sit back and dream.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Fine opportunity to put goods or office in fine order during A.M. Later in the day, take care you are not extravagant with your money or time. Impress others with your wisdom.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Do everything you can to make your appearance as charming as possible during A. M. Later, you may be in the mood to dominate others, but this would only lead to argument, so use that charming smile instead and get much further.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Morning is just fine to put behind you all those pressing duties. Later in the day you may be pretty tired and want to rant and rave, but if you keep calm you will show far greater wisdom. Give a helping hand to those in need.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Better plan a fine day's work now, since many of your kin and friends are in a mood to be demanding and somewhat quarrelsome. This puts money in your pockets while at the same time having made a good deed. Be wise.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You can do your regular job very efficiently today and get your credit up higher. Also, take care you keep rules and regulation to which you are subject or you stand to lose much ground and prestige.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Look for needed information from paper and other fine printed media in A. M. You are then eager to put new ideas to work immediately, but this has to wait until the morrow, since other pressing tasks are before you.

If your child is born today ... The mercurial child born today will be so full of vitality and drive that you must see they are channelled in the right directions, or you stand the chance of having your child take the wrong road simply to have something he or she considers interesting to do. Excellent chart for government or police work where law and order are to be maintained, or becoming head of bank, big business, etc.

LION MAULS BOY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A two-year-old boy was mauled by a lion Monday but escaped serious injury when he wandered into a neighbor's yard where the 130-pound pet was staked on a chain. Johnny Cox was in fair condition at a hospital after treatment for wounds on his ear, throat, shoulder and stomach.

UNEMPLOYMENT
WITHOUT JOBS AND SEEKING WORK

UNEMPLOYMENT DOWN — Unemployment in Canada has declined for the second straight month. The number of persons without jobs and seeking work dropped to 525,000 at March 21 from 537,000 a month earlier.

This figure based on government figures released in Ottawa, traces unemployment figures through 1958 and for the first three months of this year. The post-war high was 597,000 in March, 1958. (CP Newsmap.)

der. "If you don't like it you can take it elsewhere."

Mr. Justice McGillivray said: "You're not obliged to stay. I'm going to leave the bench if you refuse to accept our judgment."

"I'm not refusing," replied Mr. Duncan.

Mr. Duncan, who has been banned from the Supreme Court of Canada until he apologizes for asking a judge to withdraw from a case there on November 25, Tuesday asked Chief Justice Porter and Mr. Justice Schroeder to withdraw from the Kennedy case. They refused and rebuked him for "impertinence."

The three judges Wednesday showed constant irritation as the veteran of 45 years' practice calmly continued to advance arguments they rejected.

"With the greatest respect, I want to contend my liberty of speech right here," said Mr. Duncan.

"Your idea of liberty of speech is to read through the whole criminal code," said Mr. Justice Schroeder.

"Don't try our patience," said the Chief Justice.

"You are paid to be patient, with the greatest respect," Mr. Duncan replied.

strike call by the firemen in plans to operate normally.

Union sources have indicated that if the firemen walk off their jobs, they won't get open or outright support from other railway unions.

The question of support was expected to be discussed Friday in Ottawa between Mr. Gamble and Claude Jodoin, president of the 1,000,000 - member Canadian Labor Congress.

The dispute, fought through two strikes on the CPR, revolves around the use of firemen on yard and freight diesels. The union and the CPR reached agreement a year ago whereby the company protected jobs of present firemen but no longer hired new ones.

Mr. Gamble said his negotiating committee stands ready to meet with the CNR with the "object of reaching a settlement which will be satisfactory to the unconcerned."

Certain writers and newspapers have been quite vocal in their contention that strike action by the railroads would not receive the support of either labor or the public," Mr. Gamble said in his statement. "We do not expect to receive editorial support. We have never had it.

"We are confident that trade union principles will prevail. Members of our brotherhood do not cross picket lines or other organizations engaged in legal strikes. We are confident that the trade unionists of other railroad crafts will do likewise. We have every assurance that a strike against the CNR will be a success . . . a complete success.

"HAVE TO FIGHT"

"In regard to public support, we believe that the working men and women of Canada realize that 2,500 men have to fight for job security every time the future of the CNR fireman and his family depends on his willingness to move beyond the limits and threats of the railway. The firemen are willing to meet the challenge.

A railway strike is near popular. It is not a convenience to put one into effect, we believe the people of Canada will bear the inconvenience, and even encourage canadian national firemen fight courageously for their jobs."

"I . . . From the very beginning," he added, "there has been constant refusal by railway officials to discuss the question of helpers aboard diesel locomotives. No collective bargaining has been done on this subject because the railways hide behind the Kelloch commission report."

The Kelloch commission was appointed by the federal government to investigate the diesel dispute. The firemen went on strike against the CPR in January, 1957. The commission said, in a report in reference to the Kelloch commission were such that a yes or no answer were the only two. Mr. Kelloch said, "only in-between considerations were involved." He said the Kelloch commission been instructed to study the operating problems of railroads, a much different and more accurate report would have been forthcoming.

"The fact that the railways refused to discuss the diesel issue forced the brotherhood into the strikes. The Canadian National Railways now appreciate the dispute with the same ivory tower attitude."

He left the door open for further talks with the CNR.

Collective bargaining, if both parties participate, may develop agreement on three jobs where a helper is a necessity. It will develop provisions for iron-clad job security and better working conditions."

MIGRATION CURBS

was designed to curtail immigration from Italy.

"As a matter of fact, it eventually permits applications to be accepted from a broader range of persons in Italy and thus achieves a more diversified and representative movement from that country."

This was a reference to questions of Mr. Pickersgill (Bonavista - Twillingate) about news reports quoting immigration officials as saying the order was aimed particularly at Italians.

The order in question eliminated the right of residents of Canada to sponsor immigration from certain countries of their brothers and sisters, married sons and daughters and the spouses and unmarried children under 21 of these classes of relatives.

The order applied to Israel, Latin America, South America, Mexico, Central America and certain European countries including Italy.

It allowed Canadian residents to sponsor from these countries only a husband or wife, unmarried son or daughter, parent, grandparent, fiance, or unmarried orphan nephew or neice under 21.

REBUKES LIBERALS

Unaffected were British subjects from the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand or South Africa or citizens of Ireland, France and the United States.

In her rebuke of the Liberal party's attitude toward the order, Mrs. Fairclough singled out Mr. Pickersgill, former immigration minister.

She took particular umbrage to Mr. Pickersgill's description of the order during the budget debate as "cruel and inhuman." He urged her to "admit her mistake" and correct the matter.

She said the "cruel and inhuman" immigration policy of the Liberals led to a huge backlog of applications for admission to Canada, which could not be handled for two years or even longer.

HOPES FOR NEW DEAL

There are "many things in the (immigration) act that I don't like," she said. Proposals for changes would be submitted to the appropriate groups, including the ethnic press, for advice as well as to labor, business, church and welfare interests.

"Out of this, it is my hope we can produce a new deal in immigration matters: positive approaches, democratic programing, raising of standards (of immigrants), flexible practices for selective immigration to replace rigid restrictions in the present act and regulations."

The government's policy was to reunite families and to encourage the entry of the immediate family members first; then more distant relatives should follow.

She said regulations attached to the Liberals as discriminatory were originally enacted in 1956 by the then Liberal government. Mr. Pickersgill had "much to forget and to hide, and the present propaganda smokescreen is specifically designed to achieve that purpose."

She said the list in the immigration act regulations setting out persons prohibited from entering Canada as immigrants will be revised.

"I trust the revisions then suggested will be understood and will have the approval of all those really interested in immigration."

NEW STAMPS

Designs for new stamps, commemorating the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, were released jointly by Canada and the United States in April, 1959. The stamps, identical in design, except for the necessary difference in captions and denominations, were designed by Canadian artists A. L. Pollock and Gerald Trottier and American artists William H. Buckley, Arnold J. Copeland and Ervine Metzl. The Canadian stamp is in the five-cent denomination while the U. S. one is a four - cent stamp, the respective rates for first class letter mail in each country. The stamps, which are red and blue on white paper, were to go on sale June 26, 1959. (CP Photo).

50 Ships Waiting To Enter Seaway For Opening Sat.

Elaborate Ceremonies Planned for Ports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

More than 50 ships anchored over 30 miles of river are ready to pass through the $475,000,000 tunnel called the St. Lawrence Seaway on its opening tomorrow and sail on into the Great Lakes.

Many of the ships, which represent almost every Maritime nation, will be the first large oceangoing ships to reach the Great Lakes.

Elaborate ceremonies are being prepared to greet the vessels as they enter various harbors.

The ships are anchored in almost the order they will start through the canal. They will be locked into the canal by the icebreakers D'Iberville and Montcalm, loaded with members of Parliament and the Senate and honored guests.

Toronto has planned a big ceremony for the first ships arriving. Plaques and medallions are planned for the first ship.

Some ship captains are reported worried about overcrowding in the ports. They say the delay in opening the canal because of ice has cost them a pilotage and further delay and additional expense will be caused by the crowded Port officials say they will have wharf and terminal facilities to handle all shipping once the initial rush is over.

At Lauzon, Que., St. Lawrence River pilots reversed themselves and agreed to take the 8,815-ton Norwegian tanker Olav Ringdahl Jr., loaded with Bunker C bound, to Montreal for the first ship without lightening her. The ship will draw 27 feet, about 1½ feet less than the seaway's navigating depth—a little too close for comfort, according to the pilots.

Transport Minister Hees announced in the Commons that a voluntary pilotage system is being established for the seaway, especially for the tricky route from the Welland Canal to Lake Huron.

In the Senate Liberal Senator Farris of the House of Commons said it is "reasonable and sensible" to propose that the St. Lawrence Ports be closed to shipping for five months of the year to give Atlantic ports more business.

He described as "unnecessary, extravagant economic wastage of the highest order" the seaway that has $1,250,000 spent annually by the transport department alone in icebreaking operations in the St. Lawrence.

Senator W. D. Euler (PC—Ontario) said that if it is a good thing to close the St. Lawrence in winter for the benefit of Atlantic ports it would be equally good to close it when the St. Lawrence is open the Maritime ports should be closed.

Senator Isnor said there is not much sense in the comments Euler's statement. There was ice in the St. Lawrence in winter but Atlantic ports were open to shipping throughout the year.

GOVT. CHANGES DAIRY PRODUCT SUPPORT PRICES

Cheese, Milk Powder Will Be Cheaper

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Harkness says cheese and dry skim milk will be available to consumers at cheaper prices as a result of the government's latest changes in dairy product support prices.

But the reductions announced Thursday in the Commons for cheese and powder and the decision to keep the existing butter support of 64 cents a pound ran into criticism from Liberal and CCF spokesmen.

Hazen Argue, CCF House Leader, said the announcement further underlines a trend in government policy—"to cut prices rather than to implement welknown election promises to provide support prices based on parity."

Both he and Paul Martin (Liberal—Essex East) said the reports do not meet the wishes of the Canadian dairy farmer.

Edgar Benoit, National Dairy Council said in comment that the new policy will permit flexibility and represents a serious effort by the government to bring milk production into balance with consumption.

SUPPORT PROGRAM

Mr. Harkness announced this support program, effective May 1:

1. Creamery butter, boosted to 64 cents a pound from 58 a year ago, will be continued for another 12 months à at 64 cents, basic deliveries at Montreal and Toronto. Prices vary elsewhere.

2. Cheddar will be cut to 32 cents a pound from 34 in Ontario and to 31½ cents from 33½ cents in Quebec, basis delivery at Montreal.

3. The skim milk powder market will be continued only for

TIBET'S PUPPET RULER ASKED TO MEET DALAI LAMA

Nehru Trying to Arrange Meeting

MUSSOORIE, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today invited Chinese Communist representatives and their puppet ruler of Tibet, the Panchen Lama, to visit the Dalai Lama at his refuge here.

Nehru said he hoped the Dalai Lama, Tibet's 23-year-old spiritual and temporal ruler, would return to Lhasa, the Tibetan capital. It was an obvious bid to reconcile the Red Chinese government and the Tibetan god-king, who fled to Communist domination of his homeland.

Nehru made his peace overture in an impromptu press conference two hours before meeting with the Dalai Lama. Nehru arrived from New Delhi earlier today.

"I will welcome the Panchen Lama to come and meet the Dalai Lama anywhere whenever he likes," said Nehru.

DOOR OPEN

The prime minister added that "the door is open" for the Chinese ambassador to India or any representative of the Peiping government to see the Tibetan ruler. Nehru has given sanctuary to the exiled in a large mansion in North India.

Nehru has refused to condemn the Chinese communists for the repression of the Tibetan rebellion. But he has said India's sympathies are with the Tibetans and that autonomy, or local self-government, is the only adequate solution for the situation in Tibet.

Others also made clear to the reporters that he hopes the Dalai Lama would say nothing to upset further relations between India and China.

Wins Nomination Over Lloyd Price In Close Fight

Two-Man Contest Marks PC Meeting at Madoc

In a convention upset which came as a distinct surprise to a great many attending the nomination, Progressive Conservatives from East Hastings named former county warden, Clarke T. Rollins, 48, of North Hastings, as their candidate in the forthcoming provincial general election.

Mr. Rollins, Bancroft, district oil distributor and businessman, defeated incumbent Lloyd H. Price of Actinolite, and former warden, who won the East Hastings riding by acclamation late last summer. The East Hastings seat had been left vacant by the resignation of Roscoe Robson, now Hastings county sheriff.

Mr. Rollins and incumbent Lloyd Price were the only two nominees at last night's party convention which filled the Madoc Armouries. Guest speaker for the convention was James A. Maloney, Q.C., Ontario Minister of Mines.

The new Progressive Conservative candidate comes from a family well known in North Hastings. His father, the late Charles Rollins, was a well known Coe Hill businessman, and one time county warden. The new candidate also is a former county warden, having had the honor in 1950 while serving as reeve of Wollaston. In 1951 he resigned the office when he offered himself as candidate for East Hastings Conservatives.

THANKS DELEGATES

"I thank you from the bottom of the my heart for the support you have given me this evening," Mr. Rollins said in his acceptance speech. "Although I have worked hard in the past few weeks, in travelling through the riding, my nomination today will come as a thorough surprise to me."

With many problems, both in the county and in the province lying ahead, Mr. Rollins promised that he would do his best to serve the riding.

"I hope with your support we can carry on in East Hastings as we did during the time of Roscoe Robson," he said.

Mr. Price expressed his thanks for the support given him and promised his whole-hearted support for Mr. Rollins, the successful candidate.

Father of Seven Charged With Manslaughter

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP)—Merlle Lavilolette, 44, of Montreal was to be arraigned here today charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of a cyclist who was struck by a car and carried these miles on the hood of the vehicle.

A coroners jury Thursday night found the father of seven children responsible for the death of Albert Goyette, 31, who was killed Thursday near this community 40 miles west of Montreal.

Lavilolette was arrested several miles from the scene after his car smashed into the rear of a truck.

Hellyer Fails To Get Answer From Pearkes

OTTAWA (CP)—Paul Hellyer, former Liberal associate defence minister, tried in the Commons Thursday to resolve the question of whether Canada needs new manned interceptors for home air defence.

He didn't get much help from Defence Minister Pearkes.

Mr. Hellyer, MP for Toronto Trinity, began by asking whether Bomarcs has a new long-range jet bomber known as the Boudner.

Mr. Pearkes said he had seen press reports to that effect.

Mr. Hellyer asked whether the minister believes the Boudner is being manufactured in Russia.

Mr. Pearkes said that surely Mr. Hellyer didn't believe he was so naive as to expect him to confirm or deny the press reports on the basis of Canadian intelligence reports.

Mr. Hellyer asked whether Mr. Pearkes puts credit in the statement of Soviet Premier Khrushchev that the Soviet Union has a new long-range jet bomber.

Mr. Pearkes said he had no further comment.

Later, Mr. Hellyer asked whether the minister agrees with a statement by Gen. Curtis Lemay, vice-chief of the U.S. air force, that the USAF is keeping manned fighters because missiles are not reliable enough.

Mr. Pearkes said it would not be appropriate for him to comment on alleged statements of officers in another country about the defence equipment of that country.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis:—Skies are cool and temperatures close to 40 F. Lakes Erie and Ontario this morning. Moving over Ontario without weather is continuing its slow and steady southward advance and should reach Southern Ontario today. Weather prospects for Saturday are none too good for most parts of Ontario. A disturbance now over Montana and Wyoming is heading eastward and threatens some rain for Southern Ontario and snow further north for tomorrow.

Sudden Spring Storm Spreads Snow Through West, Coming East

WINNIPEG (CP) — A sudden spring storm swept across western Braintire today after spreading a thick blanket of snow over Alberta's parklands, forests and grasslands.

The weather office at Winnipeg said a moderately-heavy snowfall was expected in Manitoba by noon, although it was unlikely to reach anything like the 14-inch depths recorded in the foothills of the Rockies Thursday.

The mild temperature forecast for Manitoba and Southern Saskatchewan indicated a possibility the snow would melt as it fell.

The storm, centre of which was moving eastward through northern United States, was expected to move into Northwestern Ontario. Farmers and forestry workers watched happily as the storm brought a welcome drink for a spring drought and forest fires.

Fourteen inches were reported to have fallen at Lacky Mountain House in the foothills. Banff had 12 inches and Calgary had about seven inches.

The storm tapered off in most of Alberta Thursday night but continued flurries and below-freezing temperatures were forecast for today in most areas.

Rainfall amounts over the heavy fall in Southern Alberta should provide significant moisture, although lighter snow in northern areas would have little effect on dry topsoil.

Ontario Will Present Queen With $500,000 Scholarship

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's official gift to the Queen in honor of her visit in June will be something she must leave behind.

Premier Frost and Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay announced Thursday night that the gift will be a $500,000 scholarship fund to be administered by the presidents of all Ontario universities for any purpose they see fit.

There will be no other personal gifts by the province.

Mr. Frost described the gift as a "fitting commemoration" of the visit of the Queen and Prince Philip and said it is in line with the Queen's expressed desire that gifts "be such that they will broaden the opportunities of this great province and enrich her people."

He said it will be called the Queen Elizabeth II Ontario Scholarship Fund.

"It will be unique in that it will not be tied to any specific course of study or scholarship

"There will be no restriction or limitation for the use of the interest. It will be an unrestricted gift of any kind type of scholarship.

He said it is the hope of the government that the money will be used in a vastly different manner than the ordinary university scholarships now receive. He suggested grants for research and to that which brought the discovery of insulin and for post-graduate studies and studies in medicine, science, mathematics and social sciences.

"But we want to place no limits on the administrators. Nor do we wish to tell them in any way how much they can give or what they can give it for."

There is provision for additional money for the fund and for its future growth.

Queen Mother Unperturbed At Incident

ROME (AP) — An Italian woman grabbed Queen Mother Elizabeth today, pleading "bread and work! Bread and work!" at her.

Four policemen pulled the hysterical woman away and hauled her off to the police station.

The Queen Mother, on a sightseeing tour of Rome, was not in the least ruffled. She waved to the crowd of about 400, stepped into her car and drove off.

The Queen Mother had just visited the Capitoline Museum, city hall when suddenly the woman, who appeared to be about 40, broke through the crowd of spectators and with both hands grabbed the Queen's dress at the waist.

"Pane e lavoro! pane e lavoro!" she cried.

"Viva la regina!" roared the crowd as it tried to get close enough to see the royal guest.

Princess Margaret was sightseeing elsewhere today. She and the Queen Mother arrived Monday for a holiday visit. They return home Saturday.

Doctors Rally to Alleviate Grave Shortage in Eye Bank

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's family doctors have rallied to alleviate a desperate shortage of eyes at the Ontario eye bank.

An appeal was made Thursday to nearly 1,000 physicians a few hours before the close of the annual scientific convention of the Canadian College of General Practice.

"It brought terrific results," said Mrs. Anne Wolf, a University of Toronto researcher who had been manning a booth for the eye bank during the four-day conference. Flocks of physicians took away pledge forms for their patients to sign, she said.

The eye bank, which acts as clearing agency to supply the living with sight from the dead, has received only one pair of eyes during the last seven weeks. Wednesday two eye operations were cancelled in Toronto because there were no eyes.

Mrs. Wolf said the bank has 4,000 bequests but nearly all are from young people. "Of course few eyes will start coming in but at the moment there's a desperate shortage."

It has reached the point where Mrs. Wolf and Dr. Leonard Crawford, Toronto General Hospital, asking who has died and getting interviews for the newspapers in the hope of turn over the dead patient's eyes.

"It's a horrible job. Every morning I descend like' a vulture.

Since the bank began operating three years ago—there are others in Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver—360 eyes have been collected and only 13 were wilted. "We had to tramp hospital corridors for all the rest.

Doctors at the conference also showed interest in another display booth—manned by bill collectors.

The booth was sponsored by the Associated Credit Bureaus of Canada and representatives estimated more than 500 physicians made inquiries.

"This is a problem for every doctor," said J. Morse Hait of Oshawa, manager of one of the 105 credit bureaus making up the association.

Mr. Hait said he was told of cases in which a doctor in a community who died with $50,000 owing to him from patients. The largest fee was payable on all the bills and it just about wiped out the estate.

The conference wound up with a paediatrics session which produced a warning of the dangers of stomach ache in children.

"No other condition demands a more careful questioning and thorough examination for diagnosis," the general practitioners were told by Dr. A. L. Chute, chief physician at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children.

In babies, Dr. Chute said, stomach pains are caused by infection, colic, gas or even constipation. Only when all causes fail it could be appendecitis, gastroenteritis, respiratory infection, kidney trouble, disturbances in the genito-urinary system, allergy or spasm of the intestine caused by hacking coughs.

"Psychological causes of abdominal pain are frequent in children who have difficulty at school or with other children or at home. A typical case is the child whose abdominal pain occurs during the week—usually in the morning before school—but never on weekends."

Dr. J. F. McCreary, chief paediatrician at Vancouver's Health Centre for Children, said convulsions in children could be caused by infection but if they occur after 12 hours it could be something more serious such as epilepsy or a brain tumor.

Fire Chiefs Want Exemption From Traffic Rules

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Fire Chiefs' Association annual convention has passed a resolution by the executive a proposal that fire equipment be exempted from certain traffic regulations.

A letter from Chief Leonard Lee of Toronto asked the "super" port for a change of regulations to allow fire equipment to go through red lights and enter one-way streets in the wrong direction. Fire chiefs want exemption from other traffic regulations.

The matter was passed to the executive. Thursday after secretary Leon Mills of Brantford read the letter. Deputy Chief Brigham, Kingston, Chief Ellis, Fort William, Kenneth Baird, Cobourg, vice-presidents; Chief Spence, Whitchurch, Thomas Tuckwell, Merrition, Robert Scott, Sudbury, directors.

Humans Subjected to Sound Waves Could Be Homogenized

LOS ANGELES AP)—A Los Angeles inventor is developing a out-of-this-world sound. It could be used in warfare because president of James B. Lansing Sound Incorporated.

He explained: "The sound is so loud that you can't hear it because you feel it rather than you hear it. It's perfectly capable of destroying human tissue and a human being subjected to such high frequency sound waves would probably be homogenized, or scrambled—in seconds."

Thomas A. Dolby, the firm's High Intensity Sound Simulator (HISS) as a major breakthrough in efforts to simulate tremendous vibrations encountered on a trip into outer space. Vibrations of such a trip are caused by high pressures and shock waves.

HISS was recently developed high frequency vibrations capable of setting a building with an intensity greater than an earthquake, he added.

But, Thomas noted, the noisemaker couldn't be used as a weapon. Any way in wartime because sound waves dissipate rapidly in the atmosphere. The farther the waves, travel from their source the weaker they become.

HISS is housed in a concrete structure weighing hundreds of tons and containing many high powered loudspeakers, powered by seven 10-kilowatt amplifiers.

A sound is sent through a horn, bounce off a two-inch thick steel plate and then is absorbed by a sink containing sound-absorbing material.

How loud is this big noise?

Can't say, said Thomas, because no one has ever heard it. The only noise comparable to HISS, he added, is the close-by roar of a giant missile just as it thunders off a launching pad, powered by several hundred thousands pounds of thrust.

50 Ships Waiting To Enter Seaway For Opening Sat.

Elaborate Ceremonies Planned for Ports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

More than 50 ships anchored over 30 miles of river are ready to pass through the $475,300,000 funnel called—the St. Lawrence Seaway on its opening tomorrow and sail on into the Great Lakes.

Many of the ships, which represent almost every Maritime nation, will be the first large-ocean-going ships to reach the Great Lakes.

Elaborate ceremonies are being prepared to greet the vessels as they enter various harbors.

The ships are anchored in almost the order they will start through the canal. They will be led into the canal by the ice-breakers D'Iberville and Montcalm, loaded with members of Parliament and other guests and honored guests.

Toronto has planned a big ceremony for the first ships arriving. Plaques and medallions are planned on the first ships.

Some ship captains are reporting delays about ceremonies being in the ports. They say the delay in opening the canal because of ice has caused a pileup and further delay and additional expense will be caused in the ports. Port officials say they will have wharf and terminal facilities to handle all shipping once the initial rush is over.

At Lauzon, Que., St. Lawrence River pilots reversed themselves and agreed to take the 8,-815-ton Norwegian tanker Olav Ringdahl Jr., loaded with Russian benzol, through the canal without lightening her. The ship draws 29 feet, about 14 feet less than the seaway's navigating depth, but the pilots want to be certain according to the pilots.

Transport Minister Hees announced in the Commons that a voluntary pilotage system is being established for the seaway especially for the tricky route from the Welland Canal to Lake Ontario.

In the Senate Liberal Senator Roger Teillet of Nova Scotia said it is "reasonable and sensible" to propose that the St. Lawrence be kept open to shipping for five months of the year to give Atlantic ports more business.

He described as "unnecessary, extravagant economies" instead of "the almighty money" the more than $1,250,000 spent annually by the transport department to run ice-breaking operations in the St. Lawrence.

Senator W. D. Euler (PC—Ontario) said that if it is a good thing to close the St. Lawrence in winter for the benefit of Atlantic ports it would naturally follow that when the St. Lawrence is open the Maritime ports should be closed.

Senator Isnor said there is not much point in the Senate Euler's statement. There was ice in the St. Lawrence in winter but it was not a problem for ports to shipping throughout the year.

TIBET'S PUPPET RULER ASKED TO MEET DALAI LAMA

Nehru Trying to Arrange Meeting

MUSSOORIE, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today invited Chinese Communist representatives and their puppet ruler of Tibet, the Panchen Lama, to visit the Dalai Lama at his refuge here.

Nehru said he hoped the Dalai Lama, Tibet's 23-year-old spiritual and temporal ruler, would return to Lhasa, the Tibetan capital. It was an obvious effort to reconcile the Red Chinese government and the Tibetan god-king, who fled from communist domination of his homeland.

Humans Subjected to Sound Waves Could Be Homogenized

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Los Angeles man is developing an out-of-this-world sound. It could kill you, said William Thomas, but he and James B. Lansing Sound Incorporated.

He explained: "The sound is so loud that you can't hear it because your ear drum is destroyed before it's heard it. It's perfectly capable of destroying human tissue, and a human being subjected to such high frequency sound waves actually would be homogenized or scrambled—in seconds."

Thomas described the firm's High Intensity Sound Simulator (HISS) as a major breakthrough in efforts to simulate tremendous vibrations encountered on a trip to outer space. Vibrations on such a trip are caused by high speed and shock waves.

HISS' sound waves developed high frequency vibrations capable of producing a rattling with an intensity greater than an earthquake, he added.

But, Thomas said, the noise-maker couldn't be used as a weapon. Its wartime because sound waves dissipate rapidly in the atmosphere. The farther the waves travel from their source the weaker they become.

The sound-box, about a foot-horn, bounce off a two-inch thick metal plate and are absorbed by a sink containing sound-absorbing material.

How loud is this big noise?

Can't say, said Thomas, because no one has ever heard it.

The only noise comparable to HISS, he added, is the close-up roar of a giant rocket engine or thunders off a launching pad, powered by several hundred thousand pounds of thrust.

Ontario Will Present Queen With $500,000 Scholarship

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's official gift to the Queen in honor of her visit in June will be something she must leave behind.

Premier Frost and Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay announced Thursday night that the gift will be a $500,000 scholarship fund to be administered by the chancellors of all Ontario universities for any purpose they see fit.

There will be no other personal gifts by the province.

Mr. Frost described the gift as "fitting commemoration" of the visit of the Queen and Prince Philip and said it is in line with the Queen's expressed desire that gifts "be such that they will broaden the opportunities of this great province and enrich her people."

He said it will be called the Queen Elizabeth II Ontario Scholarship Fund.

"It will be unique in that it will not be used to do things which are done through other scholarship and bursary funds. There will be a good deal of latitude for those who will administer it. Our idea is not to freeze the money in any rigid type of scholarship."

He said it is the hope of the government that the money will be used in a vastly different manner than the money the universities now receive. He suggested grants for research or for that which brought the discovery of insulin and for post-graduate studies and awards in medicine, science, mathematics and social sciences.

"It is not want to place no limits on the administrators. Nor do we wish to tell them in any way how much they can give or what they can give it for."

There is provision for additional money for the fund and for its future growth.

Doctors Rally to Alleviate Grave Shortage in Eye Bank

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's family doctors have rallied to alleviate a desperate shortage of eyes at the Ontario eye bank.

An appeal was made Thursday to nearly 1,000 physicians a few hours before the close of the month-long campaign conducted by the Canadian College of General Practice.

"It brought terrific results," said Mrs. Anne Wolf, a University of Toronto researcher who had been manning a booth for the eye bank during the college conference. Flocks of physicians took away pledge cards for their patients to sign, she said.

The eye bank, which acts as clearing agency to supply the living with sight from the dead, has received only one pair of eyes during the last seven weeks. Wednesday two eye operations were cancelled in Toronto because there were no eyes.

Mrs. Wolf said the bank has 4,000 bequests but nearly all are from young people. "In 10 years those eyes will start coming in but at the moment there's a desperate shortage."

It has reached the point where Mrs. Wolf makes daily phone calls to Toronto General Hospital, asking who has died and getting interns to fill in their blanks for possible eye donors for the dead patient's eyes.

"It's a horrible job. Every morning I descend like a vulture."

Since the bank began operating three years ago—there are others in Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver—360 eyes have been collected and only 12 were wilted. "We had to tramp hospital corridors for all the rest.

Doctors at the conference also showed interest in another display booth—manned by bill collectors.

The booth was sponsored by the Associated Credit Bureaus of Canada and representatives estimated more than 500 physicians made inquiries.

"This is a problem for every doctor," said J. Morse Hall of Oshawa, manager of one of the 105 credit bureaus making up the association.

Mr. Hall said he was told of one doctor in a small prairie community who died with $50,000 owing to him from patients. "Intertiance tax was passed on the bills and it just about wiped his estate."

The conference wound up with a paediatrics session which produced a warning of the dangers of stomach ache in children.

"No other complaint demands a more careful questioning and thorough examination for diagnosis," the general practitioners were told by Dr. A. L. Chute, chief surgeon at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children.

In babies, Dr. Chute said, abdominal pain may result from infection, colic, gas or even constipation. In older children it could be appendecitis, gastro-enteritis, respiratory infection, kidney disease, pneumonia, a genito-urinary system, allergy or slight pain in the intestine caused by hacking coughs.

"Psychological causes of abdominal pain are frequent among children who have difficulty at home, at school or with each other in the morning before school—but never on weekends."

Dr. J. F. McCreary, chief paediatrician at Vancouver's Health Centre for Children, said convulsions in children could be caused by infection but if they occur after 12 hours it could be something more serious such as epilepsy or a brain tumor.

Wins Nomination Over Lloyd Price In Close Fight

Two-Man Contest Marks PC Meeting at Madoc

In a convention upset which came as a distinct surprise to a great many attending the nomination, Progressive Conservatives from East Hastings named former county warden, Clarke T. Rollins, 48, of North Hastings, as their candidate in the forthcoming provincial general election.

Mr. Rollins, Bancroft, district oil distributor and businessman, defeated incumbent Lloyd H. Price of Actinolite, and former warden, who won the East Hastings riding by acclamation late last summer. The East Hastings seat had been left vacant by the resignation of Roscoe Robson, now Hastings county sheriff.

Mr. Rollins and incumbent Lloyd Price were the only two nominees at last night's party convention which filled the Madoc Armouries. Guest speaker for the convention was James A. Maloney, Q.C., Ontario Minister of Mines..

The new Progressive Conservative candidate comes from a family well known in North Hastings. His father, the late Charles Rollins, was a well known Coe Hill businessman, and one time county warden. The new candidate also is a former county warden, having had the honor.. in 1950 while serving as reeve of Wollaston. In 1951 he was unsuccessful when he offered himself as candidate for East Hastings Conservatives.

THANKS DELEGATES

"I thank you from the bottom of the my heart for the support you have given me this evening," Mr. Rollins said in his acceptance speech. "Although I have worked hard in the past few weeks, in travelling through the riding, my nomination tonight comes as a thorough surprise to me."

With many problems, both in the county and in the province ying ahead, Mr. Rollins promised that he would do his best to serve the riding.

"I hope with your support we can carry on in East Hastings as we did during the time of Premier Leslie Frost," he said.

Mr. Price expressed his thanks for the support given him and congratulations were offered to the new standard-bearer.

Youth Program Dates Set

There was a meeting recently of the Youth Program Committee of the Belleville YMCA to set up the dates for this year's Day Camp for Bellville children and youth. This year the boys' camp will be held from July 6th to July 17th, under the directorship of Jack Bernhardt. The girls' camp will be held between July 20th and 31st with Kay Holman as director. The Y's Men's Club will be undertaking a project to clean-up and make general improvements to the camp. It is hoped that it may be possible to obtain boating facilities for the camp this year, which is the second year of its operation. There will be a maximum of sixty persons allowed at each camp.

Bruce MacKenzie was chairman of the committee meeting.

Mr. Maloney Gives Away "Top Secret"

The much awaited provincial election date expected each day to be set by Premier Leslie Frost" was announced Tuesday by Jas. James A. Maloney, Ontario Minister of Education, in a speech delivered at last night's Progressive Conservative meeting held at Madoc for the election of a new riding candidate.

"I am going to announce a date which all of you have been looking forward to," he said, during his address.

"You've all heard that Queen Elizabeth is to visit Canada early this summer to officially open the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power.

Then as the suspense quickly built up, to the large crowd of party delegates and others attending the convention, Mr. Maloney paused with a smile —

"Well, I'm announcing now that the provincial election will be held either before or after the Queen's visit."

Don Lockyer Named Principal Of Avondale Public School

The new principal at the Avondale Public School in September will be Mr. Don Lockyer, currently vice-principal at King George School. It has been decided by members of the Bellevile Public School Board.

Mr. Lockyer was named to the new position at the April meeting of the board held this week, thus filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Kenneth Bird who will assume a new position with the Sidney township public board in Sept. Mr. Lockyer commenced his teaching service in 1950 and has been with the city since 1955.

The Board received and accepted with regret the resignations of nine teachers: Mrs. Elizabeth Bristol, Miss Margaret Pickering, Miss Ruth Vulchond, Mr. John T. Carswell, Mrs. Shirley Graham, Mrs. Margaret Bader-ley, Mr. Bert Baker and Miss Sylvia Dickie.

At the March meeting, the Board requested the Recreation Committee to make a survey of the playground equipment at the Prince of Wales School and to report on the equipment they found. A reply was received from Mr. L. G. Doran, director of recreation, that the playground at the Prince of Wales School appeared to be adequately equipped and that the general state of repair was good. He suggested, however, that attention be given to the erection of a ball field, and that two pieces of equipment now in use either repaired or modified for safety reasons.

WILL ATTEND MEETING

Notice was received of the meeting of the Ontario Eastern Zone of the Ontario Urban and Rural Trustees to be held at the Collegiate and Vocational Institute in Kingston on Wednesday, April 29th, commencing at 10.45 a.m. and continuing throughout the day. Mr. Gordon H. Trill, a former chairman of the board, is a director of this Trustees' Association and the board will be represented at the meeting by Mrs. Kingsmill.

The board approved the addition of Mrs. Thelma Worsley, Trenton Public School, Mrs. McCoy of Cookaville and Mrs. Marilyn Graham of Peterborough to the substitute list for school opening in September. Mrs. Marie Carroll and Mrs. Lillian Cathres were secured to serve at the Queen Alexandra School for the remaining months of this school year.

Three present staff members were promoted to vice-principalships for the school year 1959-60. Mr. Ken Hall was assigned to assist Principal L. McQuaid at the Queen Mary School; Mr. William Lott, assigned to assist principal O. Slack at the Prince of Wales School and Mr. Lawrence Moore, assigned to assist principal J. Saxon at the King George School.

HARD TO OBTAIN

The Board was advised that difficulty is being experienced in securing competent instructors for the special classes in Industrial Arts and Homemaking economics, and instruction was given to restrict these classes to Grade VIII only, if suitable instructors could not be obtained for the Grade VII and VIII program.

The Board will attempt to blend the King George and Prince of Wales areas by changing the boundaries from College Street to North Front Street; at the same time the Board expects that this alteration in school boundaries will better distribute the pupils attending the two schools and will to some extent provide a safer approach to the schools for the children in attendance.

Information was received that the deed for a new school site in east Belleville had been received from City Solicitor R.A. Pringle, Q.C., following which the Board urged upon City Council the desirability of transferring to Board ownership the public park attached to the new school site, and the unclosed part of Lingham Street adjacent to the East Belleville Playground and Park.

The Property Committee Chairman, Mr. Jas. Ritchie, and Superintendent of Public Schools were authorized to proceed with fencing a portion of the Public Park attached to the site, to alter the location of a proposed fence at the Queen Alexandra School; and to provide for a parking area at the Bayside School, also in response to a request from the Ontario Municipal Board that a pay rates be reviewed, a special committee of Mr. Jas. Ritchie, Mrs. Kingsmill and Mr. Dobson, Superintendent L. A. Kells and Supervisor of Attendance Mr. Bird be appointed to meet with the Custodians and report to the Board at the next meeting.

The Home and School Association of the Prince of Wales School presented a plan for the installation of a public address system. Instructions to proceed was given that the Association be advised that it was doubtful if the Board would undertake work this year, but that this subject and the matter dealing with the budget was being prepared for the year 1960.

SUMMER APPOINTMENTS

The report of a special meeting of the Board's Dental Advisory Committee was received and approved. The committee recommended that Dr. Kingston's survey of examinations of children' teeth at the King George Public School, which has indicated a steady definite trend in improvement in decayed surfaces, filled surfaces and missing teeth in grades Three, Four and Five, and classes these defective conditions as preventable and that the defects in particular the defects are less than half those observed in the 1955 survey, be communicated to the Board that the Dental Educational trend is such that we are able to accept credit for some part of this improvement, at least, in the examination of the committee were:

(1) That the Committee reaffirm its faith in the educational dental program as defined in previous reports, and that another arrangement can be made with the Board of the Public Public School Board continue the program.

(2) That the Board endeavor to secure a dental assistant in order to increase the number of half days per week in the program from three to five.

(3) That the Public School Board again draw to the attention of teaching staff, Home and School Associations, and others, the recommendations of the Dental Health Service regarding choice of foods for good dental health: milk instead of chocolate milk, sugar-free sandwiches instead of cake and cookies; vanilla ice cream instead of candy-coated ice-cream bars; nuts and popcorn instead of candy.

The Board received a request from the Board of Education for Thurlow School Area to give consideration to assistance in that Board in meeting unusual needs for the next few years that the South Thurlow Board considered arose from the annexing of part of the area on January 1st. The Board directed that its special committee endeavor to meet and confer in agreement with the South Thurlow Board, while at the same time giving due consideration to its responsibilities to the taxpayers of the City of Belleville.

ANDREW RATHWELL
Haley Station

Word was received in the city today of the death of an aged and highly respected resident of Haley Station, Ontario, in the person of Andrew Rathwell. Mr. Rathwell was in his 87th year and had been confined in that community for many years. A son, Les Rathwell, M.P.P. for Renfrew North in this city, survives, besides other immediate relatives. The funeral will be on Saturday.

MRS. HARRY MORLEY
Gilmour — Trenton

In failing health for some time, Mrs. Charlotte Marian Morley, formerly of Gupfer, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Vincent Gosleigh, 437 Front Street, Trenton, Thursday.

She was born in England 81 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Potter and came to this country as a young girl. She settled at Gilmour in North Hastings and excepting for a short time in Toronto had lived all her life in the northern part of the county in which she was born and where she highly respected. She was a member of Gilmour - United Church and was also a life member of the Women's Auxiliary to the congregation.

Surviving are nine daughters, Mrs. Gerald (Susie) Canapny, Mrs. Vincent (Charlotte) Gosleigh, Mrs. Earl (Mary) Blakely, all of Trenton; Mrs. Vernon (Marjorie) Wright of Gilmour, Miss Nell Morley of this city, Mrs. Frederick (Ethel) Hollingsworth, Wellington, Mrs. Ellis (Rose) Morrison of Gilmour, Mrs. Dan (Lillian) Rhodes of Scarborough and Mrs. Robert (Marie) Kidd of Belleville. Also surviving are 35 grandchildren. Her husband, Harry Morley, predeceased her in 1944.

Resting at the Rowe Funeral Home, Trenton, friends may call after 2 p.m. Saturday. Funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. ALBERT LICKORISH
Deseronto

The funeral service of Mrs. Albert Lickorish was held on Tuesday, April 21st, 1959, from the White Funeral Home, Deseronto. She died on April 21st, 1959, in Belleville General Hospital, after a short illness, at the age of 71.

Mrs. Lickorish, the former Margaret Marchbank, was born in Deseronto, the daughter of Alexander of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Marchbank. She had resided in Deseronto for the past nine years and was quite active in the activities of the Trinity United the Presbyterian Church of the Redeemer. She was a member of the Ladies' Aid and of the choir of that church.

She was the last of her family. Her husband, Albert Lickorish, predeceased her.

The funeral service was conducted by Mr. J. N. Stone, interment was in Deseronto Cemetery.

The bearers were S. Newman, D. Cassie, M. Witkowski, S. Brown, H. R. Axton, and H. Klaver.

Harmony Night Expected to Be Big Success

Wednesday night the Belleville Barbershop Chorus will held their final rehearsal with the exception of the dress rehearsal for their 8th Annual Harmony Night, to be held in the Belleville Collegiate Auditorium on Friday, May 1st at 8.00 p.m.

This will be a considerable optimism amongst all concerned that the show will be a great success. This is partly due to the impressive list of guest quartets that will be on hand. Quartets from Hamilton, the Chord-Criers from London, 1958 championship quartet for the Ontario District, and the Mellow-Men from Woodstock.

The difficulties in presenting the above such as Harmony Night are really recognized. The quartets are entitled to considerable expense and as they the working people, can usually only come to Belleville one night. This means that all expenses incurred for the show must be recovered in one night's performance. However, Belleville audiences seem to look forward to this annual evening of entertainment which combines good talent, comedy and audience participation in one fine evening of singing and song.

Repairs on Parapet at BCI To Cost $40,000 Authorized By District H.S. Board

Preliminary work in preparation for the commencement of repairs on the parapet at Belleville Collegiate which, with other renovations, will be completed in cost in the neighborhood of $40,000, was authorized by the Bay of Quinte District High School Board this week at their April meeting.

The board authorized cutting of the parapet down by level with the property and supply committee to proceed with plans for parapet repairs.

The parapet on the school has been deteriorating over the years until it has become dangerous in sections. The complete renovation cost is not expected to cost above $40,000, but the work possibly will not all be done this year.

The appointment of Harold F. Ketcheson, Consecon, as a member of Gordon Locklin as head of the same department at Quinte Secondary School was approved by the board.

Permission to award contracts will be offered to Mrs. Mabel Bristol, Miss Ruth Vulchond, Mr. Jack Cody, Ronald Isaac, John Terry and Harold Woolley.

The board authorized the purchase of a new flag for the outside pole at Quinte, but deferred the matter of outside lighting for the same school to the property and supply committee for further study.

RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED

Resignations from the following teachers were accepted — Mrs. Gina Bruning and Norman Ewald, from Belleville Collegiate, and Miss June Rose and Miss Ruth Hamilton, Picton secondary.

Several members of the board will attend the Eastern zone meeting of the Ontario Urban and Rural School Trustees, to be held April 28-29 at Kingston.

Authorization was given for C. Sloan, head of the English Department to attend the International Reading Conference to be held in Toronto, and the annual bus trip to Kemptville for Agriculture students at both Bell and Quinte were approved.

The Canadian Legion of Commerce was granted the use of a classroom at B.C.I. for classes in connection with the bank work study, and turned down a request from the same banking agency to set up students' savings plan in the high school.

Every conversation possible will be given in the proposed program for attendance week, it was decided, however, that due to assembly programs being presented considerably ahead advance, the time element would not allow a special citizenship and safety program. Citizenship week is planned for the week of 10th.

The local Red Cross Blood Donor committee will be permitted to distribute leaflets at the schools in connection with a proposed blood donor drive.

ENDORSES CODE

The board agreed to endorse the code of ethics adopted by the Ontario Trustees' Council with respect to the hiring of high school teachers.

And two letters of appreciation will go to the school bus offices, one to the county of Hastings for the loan of snow fence to protect new seeding on the campus at Quinte Secondary School and the other to members of the B.C.I. Keyette Club.

It seems members of the school Keyette club used to wash their Easter holiday period to their shower room.

Addresses in Criminal Code And Business Letters Given Club

The seventh evening of the Social Education Club of which all were in attendance Wednesday evening, April 15th, in the ballroom dancing and Mosaic craft were in progress for the first part of the evening.

The second part, "Courses and Instructors Period," was handled by two guest speakers. In the "Miscellaneous Topics," the guest speaker was Miss Ruth Hamilton who addressed the group on "Business Letters." Miss Hamilton was born in England and emigrated to Canada in 1951. She was first employed in Welland for the magistrate for six years. Miss Nightingale received her Grade 13 in 1954 and at present she is the clerk of the Belleville Police Court and of the Peace and magistrate's reporter. She acquired the Ontario Business Certificate in October of last year. She is an active member and secretary of the local Theatre Guild.

Miss Nightingale's address on Business Letters was illustrated with humor. Some communication and courtesy in business has become scarce since people grew more and made more than they needed. Communication is on the bark of trees and then paper. Earliest pens or making instruments were bones, sticks and finally feathers. Business correspondence followed the same lines as social correspondence and is to the Individual Revolution. Relics of this early correspondence are still used in the commencing closing and on the salutation of letters, that is Dear Sir" and "Yours Truly." With the upsurge of business following the industrial revolution old methods were not sufficient. Typewriters were invented and business letters became divorced from their former character.

Display is very important. Various methods of setting up include block, indented, semi-block and simplified styles now in common use. The material it should be placed on the paper like a picture in a frame. It should be centred on the page with a slightly wider space on the top than on the sides and slightly more at the bottom of the page. As to composition, it should be concise, clear, correct and without hackneyed phrases such as "I beg to state."

"Thanking you in anticipation" and "Yours of your reply." These are no longer in good taste. Use simple sentences, most of us make to the writing of our time in our lives are the letter and the letter is a business aim at all times to make these credited."

CROWN ATTORNEY HEARD

Crown Attorney John Principe was the second speaker. His subject the "Law-Various Forms" section of the Criminal Code born in Montreal, graduated from the university of Toronto in 1948 and called to the Bar in 1952. He was associated with Pelmore Gorg. In late 1956 he then came to the city to the firm of Pringle and Pringle. In 1957 was appointed Crown Attorney for the County of Hastings. He is secretary of the Crown Attorneys' Association. Mr. Pringle was introduced by Miss Vivian Cooper.

His subject was the "Criminal Code of Canada." Mr. Pringle came armed with a large book which presumably contained the criminal code. He explained that it was quite impossible to go through more than the highlights of the code in so short a time and then proceeded to give descriptions of various cases and how each charge was associated with each section of the criminal code.

Mr. Pringle explained some of the meanings of legal terms including the part that "uttering" had relating to coin in the code but meant the presenting of a document known to be false to the presentor. The criminal code was derived from the British code of laws Act and was essentially uniform throughout the provinces of Canada. In the case of crown Mr. Pringle explained that each charge had the seven code which often differed considerably from the codes of neighboring states in that the seventh code were often derived from different legal systems. Example of this being New York which has a British origin, Louisiana a French and California a Spanish origin.

The evening continued with the serving of refreshments, sing-song accompanied by Mr. Wilbur Wright of Trenton at the piano. Dancing completed the evening. An elimination dance "musical knees" was won by Miss Carolyn Forhan and Ronan Cambridge.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils were the only losers as the stock market swung ahead today in light morning trading.

Little activity among speculative mines held the volume to 732,000 shares, slightly better than Thursday's 624,000 at the same hour.

In industrials Ford A jumped 2½ at 137½, a new high for the issue. St. Lawrence Cement led base metals 2¼ at 16. Algoma Central added ¾.

In base metals Geco and Consolidated Mining and Smelting while Steep Rock and Hudson Bay were up ¼.

Among golds McIntyre added 1 at 82½, Giant Yellowknife moved up 35 cents at 7.75.

Canadian Husky lost 1/4 at 11¾ and Pembina was down ¼ at 10¾ in western oils.

On Thursday industrials led the market 4-0 for the third straight session amid the lightest trading this year.

THE FINALS ... para 2-FS

The final volume was 2,090,000 shares, compared with Wednesday's 2,065,000. The total volume for the five sessions this week was only 399,393 shares. On a was only 399,393 shares. On a good day one mine easily can do this amount. Copper had the best gain among the most active, .78 to 131.19.

Weekend Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Top grades of desirable weight steers sold at steady prices and prices with heavy steers discounted at the Ontario public stockyards this week.

Heifers tended actively at steady prices. Fed yearling heifers were in moderate supply. Cow babies, both steers and heifers, sold at steady rates. Cow numbers were down slightly more than last week at 25 per cent with top grades steady at fully steady prices with canners and cutters meeting an improved demand. Bulls were generally slow with the exception of heavy bologna bulls which sold readily at steady prices. Fat lambs were very scarce and difficult to sell. Calf prices were strong. Hog prices were steady and lambs generally on a short supply.

Cattle receipts were some 650 head more than last week and about 200 more than the same week in 1958. Western cattle receipts totalled 283 head an increase of 23 head over last week. There were two carloads shipped to eastern Canadian slaughterers and no exports to the United States.

Slaughter Cattle: Choice steers 25.50-26; good 24.50-25.50; medium 22.50-24; common 20 — 22; good heifers 24.50 with sales to 25.00 and odd choice at 24; mediums 21.50 -22.50; commons 19 — 21; choice fed yearlings 26.50-27 with odd fancy to 28; good 24-26; good cows 18.50 - 19 with odd tops at 19.50; good light heifery cows sold 19.50-20; mediums 17-18; commons 15.50-17; canners and cutters 13-15.50; good heavy bologna bulls 21.21.50 with odd tops at 22; common and mediums 16.50-20.

Replacement cattle: Good stockers 25-27 with some westerns at 27.50; common and medium 20-24.

Calves: Good vealers 33-35 with choice to a top of 37; mediums 26-32; commons 22-25; boners 16-20.

Hogs: Grade A 25; heavy sows 19; light sows 17; stags 14. a hundredweight on a dressed weight basis.

Sheep and lambs: Lamb receipts included one double deck of Alberta feed fat lambs good to handyweights mostly 25; medium and heavies 20-23; sheep 4-9 according to grade.

778 Lbs. Pickerel Netted Illegally In Hay Bay

NAPANEE — Magistrate Roy Hooper fined Lloyd Cassidy of Picton man $100 plus costs of $15.50 for obtaining fish otherwise than while owning a gill-net licence for carp.

James Scott, a commercial fisherman, was apprehended by department of lands and forests officials on Hay Bay April 10 with 1,644 pounds of fish, including 778 pounds of pickerel, in his possession.

Conservation Officer Everett Ferguson testified that on April 7th he saw three men on the ice in Adolphustown. He watched the trio working with nets for a period and when the three came ashore they were stopped and the fish was found.

Mr. Ferguson said that 90 per cent of the pickerel were feeable on their way to spawning grounds. He said some of the pickerel weighed 15 pounds each. The average pickerel would have very wide openings and are designed to catch only large fish.

Mr. Ferguson said the gill-nets were placed at the mouth of the bay rather than in water where there is vegetation on which the carp thrives. He said the fish in the nets when the nets were placed intentionally in a position where pickerel would be caught.

On April 8th, over 600 yards of gill-nets were found in Hay Bay area where Scott had replaced them the preceding day."

GIVES QUARTERLY

Scott pleaded guilty but offered the following statement, in effect:

"I have been in my licence for a good many years in the Bay of Quinte area as well as many other fishing licences. During the past year I noticed large bodies of carp in Hay Bay and subsequently contacted our local game warden for advice on putting nets in these bodies.

"I put the nets in about the first of January and fished for 80 days and took 120,400 pounds of carp from that area. This is about seven tons. I also caught and in Hay Bay during that time.

"This has proved to be very profitable. I also think it will help the pickerel because carp was so thick I do not think game would come in. Very few game fish were caught in the carp nets.

"Pickerel are bloated these days, and I have been advised that is why many were caught in the carp net. I was told this the pickerel will be down from 14 pounds to 10 pounds and most of them would go through the carp nets.

"We have several verbal agreements with the department of lands and forests including one that any game fish caught in the carp net we turn over to an institution. The few pickerel I have caught during the past few months I gave to the Old People's Home at Picton.

"Due to the spring breakup and the difficulty of working around the water because of ice, I had not emptied my net for five days. During that time a large body of pickerel must have come down through the mouth of Hay Bay and some got caught in the nets.

"The biggest share of fish caught in the nets will die if they are released in water after spending a day or more in the nets and that is why I brought all the fish to shore."

Magistrate Jackson said there was a lot of good fishing destroyed because of the spawning that was lost.

Official Says Women Aides Not Assessors

TRENTON — J. Allan Smith, town assessor, stressed yesterday that the women who are collecting data for him in the re-assessment of the town, are not assessors but strictly statisticians.

He said he has been receiving a number of calls from persons who have the impression that the re-assessing and have objected to this. "These rumors," Mr. Smith said, "are not correct. All these women are doing is collecting the necessary information and turning it in to the office where my office staff and myself do the valuation and final work on the assessing.

"The women," he said, "are an advantage paid and when necessary I will be visiting some of the places myself but it is impossible for me to visit and measure extra property, I own personally, but any that are doubtful will be checked by me."

The fix women from Trenton were hired by the town assessor last week, and all of the week have been out measuring properties and filling in a form supplied by the assessor, which asks questions it is necessary to know in assessing property properly.

The women will travel in pairs and will visit residential sections of town only. At the same time they will collect information which is needed for the election roll of voters.

Mr. Smith said he will be doing the re-assessing of the commercial and industrial areas himself.

Wind Shift Saves Barn From Fire

TRENTON — Town firemen were called to the farm of George Flynn on the Wooler Road yesterday where a grass fire had caught one of the barns on fire.

However a shift in the wind at the last moment took the flames away from the building and Mr. Flynn and his sons were able to get the blaze on the side of the building out before the fire department arrived.

Mr. Flynn said they had been burning some grass in a small plot near the barns and it got going too fast for them to handle. It went directly towards one of the barns and when the building caught fire he had the Trenton Fire Department called.

But the change in the wind drove the flames away and into the grass in the orchard where it burned a pile of tree props, and also burned some grass under buildings on the edge of the trees.

On arrival the firemen and other helpers put the grass fire out and saved the barn to make sure there was no fire in it. The several barns on the farm are grouped together and if the one had caught on fire it would have been difficult for the firemen to save the others. The barn which was threatened contained a large number of baskets used on the fruit farm in the fall.

Both the Dodge and the hose truck were taken to the fire after the general alarm had been rung.

A second call yesterday took the firemen to 30 Dominion street where an oil burner had flooded about 6.30 p.m.

SHOT IS OVER — Massachusetts State Trooper Leonard Von Flatern of the Northampton barracks, leaves prison block with his face registering the grim battle he and fellow troopers had in quelling a riot at the Concord Reformatory last night. Dart League Ends Season With Banquet

TRENTON — The Trenton Dart League closed up the season last night with a banquet and the presentation of trophies at the Memorial Hall of Branch 110 in the Canadian Legion building.

Ken Shaw also took the step into next winter's work by winning Phil Scott's trophy for the league for the new season. He replaces Russ King. Also presented with a trophy received was Ernie Green who took over the duties of secretary treasurer from Jack Lee.

Neither of the executive for last year have been name to go in for re-election. They both expressed their wish that other members of the league take over the posts for the coming season.

Mr. King expressed his thanks to the members of the league who helped to make the season a successful one. He also introduced a new trophy into the league which had been donated by the Parkside Curlers and which is to go to the highest individual average. It is named Hall of Fame trophy. The new trophy three times in a row it must then become the property of the player. At the same time it was also announced in the Canadian League Hall.

Other trophies awarded last night included the Merrill trophy and the Carlings trophy.

Following the banquet Orval Smith proposed a toast to the ladies who had served the turkey dinner and had the entire group sing, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart". The toast was served by the members of Branch 110 Ladies' Auxiliary.

Harold Lee, the outgoing secretary-treasurer, gave the financial report of the group telling them it had been a successful year and he felt confident the ensuing year would be successful.

Budget Reveals Sharp Increase In Tax Rate

CAMPBELLFORD — Town council met in a special session this week to draw up the budget for 1959. All members were present with Mayor F. M. Rutherford presiding.

Education, budget, debentures and an increased county rate, all uncontrollable far as the council is concerned, bring a sharp increase in the tax levy.

Public school supporters will provide $9,135 mills for school purposes and other uncontrollable expenditures, while Separate school supporters provide 48.135 mills on this account. Last year's figure was 41.354 mills for supporters of both schools.

Non-controllable expenses comprise the following items:

Public school maintenance (not including Seymour's share) $94,285.12; Separate school, $31,952.08. This totals 40.059 mills. For the Separate school requisition is levied on only 11 mills. Debt charges take up 4.221 mills, the hand grant and the county rate adding one-half mill and 12.925 mills respectively. In all, uncontrollable expenditures are 48.135 for P.S. supporters and 41.354 for the Separate school.

Items common to both Separate and public school supporters comprise the balance of the estimates, and these are as follows in brackets): public library $3,200 (1.2); recreation $750 (.282); cemeteries $1,000 (.375); sessions and property, $7,304 (2.74); reserve fund for new equipment, fire and road truck, $1,750 (.656); capital expenditures, $11,-000 (4.278); police, $13,000 (4.87); hospital grant, $3,600 (1.35). The public utilities commission items which items do not come under the heading of committee expenditures, is $24,500 or 7.316 mills.

Committee expenditures are: industrial, $1,003 (.376); legal, $500 (.183); fire, water and light $4,723 (1.771); roads, $2,750 (2.906); property and parks $6,200 (2.326); by-law enforcement, $1,250 (.694); relief, $2,000 (.732); finance, $17,740 (6.653); road and bridge construction (11.250) making a total of 26.438 mills.

Revenues from miscellaneous, $1,760; Province of Ontario, $19,400; county grant for roads $4,750; dog tax, $2,000, recovery of advance to P.S. board, $4,750; arrears of taxes, $15,000, from which is subtracted $5 allowance for uncollected taxes, $10,000 (1.166,200), making a total of $49,000. The unconditional grant from the province is $10,590.00 and applies only on residential and farm property and makes a difference of 6.5 mills between residential and farm property and industrial and farm property and that to business and industrial.

The rate will be:

For P.S. supporters (residential and farm) 60.5 mills; industry (residential) 60.5 mills; P.S. supporters (commercial), 78 mills; for S.S. supporters (commercial) 67 mills.

The committee carried on items over which council has control is changed very little from previous years.

The by-law providing for the levy was passed in open council and the by-law for the Hydro contract vote, likewise passed.

Air-to-Ground Missile Fired Far Out to Sea

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Regulus 2 jet-powered guided missile from the Navy's Mid-Ocean Missile Range has been test flight far out to sea Thursday.

Officials announced later that the Regulus 2 was launched while carrying a nuclear warhead. Necessarily, they added, "objectives." They did not elaborate.

In New York Thursday night, Defence Secretary Neil McElroy interrupted a speech to report the launching.

He said the United States next year would "add to its offensive armament powerful new weapons of atomic missiles—which can be fired from our heavy bombers hundreds of miles outside target defence areas."

PSI Payments Over 17 Million During 1958

TORONTO — Doctor bills totalling $17,540,456 were paid in 1958 on behalf of subscribers of Physicians' Services Incorporated. This is an increase of $2,312,792 over 1957 and represents 85 per cent of the total income received from subscriptions last year. Administration costs were $1,545,658 or 8.4 percent of income.

This was reported today by Dr. R. M. Anderson, of Oakville, President of P.S.I. at the annual meeting of the Professional House of Delegates at the Royal York Hotel.

Dr. Anderson said P.S.I. processed 1,986,878 medical claims in 1958, an increase of 150,000 over 1957. He said a large portion of this increase was due to the demand for preventive inoculations against polio and influenza.

Despite the record - breaking volume of business in 1958, Dr. Anderson reported that P.S.I. lost $704,314. He said this was combined with an increase in benefits to subscribers and a necessary for P.S.I. to increase its rates for both the comprehensive and medical-surgical plans on March 1 of this year.

PUBLIC OPINION POLLS

Members of the House of Commons left no doubt about their belief that, in a democratic country, the sampling of public opinion through polls should not be curtailed, even at election time. They voted down, 190 to 6, a bill sponsored by Arnold Peters, CCF member for Timiskaming, which would have banned pre-election polls on the probable outcome of voting.

Mr. Peters argued that the polls gave an unfair impetus to a tendency on the part of some voters to climb their ballots for the candidates picked to win the election. Miss Margaret Aitken, Progressive Conservative M.P. for York-Humber, who led the opposition in the proposed bill, said that the reason the CCF was opposed to polls was that it feared public opinion. Since these polls almost invariably show that the CCF has no hope of winning, this seems a fair interpretation, but there are two points which deserve consideration.

Firstly, is Mr. Peters correct in maintaining that many voters cast their ballots for the candidate they expect to win? If he is right, it does not say much for the voters. Elections should not be a guessing game. Though we think little of those people who always vote for the same party without giving any consideration to the issues, such voters are much to be preferred to those who have no political principles at all and merely try to pick a winner. We have some doubt though, whether such people are as numerous as Mr. Peters believes. If they were, the public opinion polls would not so frequently prove reasonably accurate in forecasting the results. The calls are sometimes changed at the last moment, as we found in 1957 when Diefenbaker was substituted for Nassau and Ciudad Trujillo. A ship making eight or ten calls in three weeks obviously is in port for very short periods in all of them, passengers have little time for sightseeing beyond the port liself.

Secondly, if three fine cargo ships out of New Orleans were taking on passengers, have swimming pool facilities and give a more luxurious service than is possible on a freighter. These trips are skeleton-day voyages and are far south as La Guaira the port serving Caracas in Venezuela. The fares on these ships are about $700 to $1,100 per passenger. The same company also has ships sailing out of New York for the West Indies.

The Canadian National Railway downtown ticket office of Belleville and Milton Davison are agents and Davison can give information to anyone interested. Another thing, a group of friends can club together and reserve all tourist accommodation on a freighter which would almost give them a private yacht and think of the difference in cost.

Some readers have wondered why owners of these ships bother with passengers. Aside from the interesting considération, which is not to be ignored, is the fact that such ships get a better rate to anchor positions in many ports because port authorities know that passengers will be spending some welcome dollars in the stores and hotels. Another consideration is the thought that the presence of passengers generally is good for morale of the crew and your guess is just as good as ours as to the reason. Perhaps, they take more pride in their ships and work accordingly, especially when there are some young women aboard.

CLOTHES NEEDED

Beachwear clothing, summer slacks, rubber-soled shoes, sports shirts, three or four white shirts, a wool and a light-weight sport jacket, sleeveless pullover, cap and light top coat are the main items for the men. For the women: Well, perhaps we had better call on Mrs. M. for her help . . . A woman's best outfit is a suit and a woolen dress along with a top coat for the first three days it sailing out of Halifax or St. John. Afterwards, summer clothes of a very informal nature are called for — shorts, skirts, blouses and shifts in the afternoon when one dresses for dinner. While in port no well-dressed woman would suppose a lady time on the streets in slacks or shorts and will never don a hat, but does cover her head with a scarf whenever entering a church. Summer cocktail dress is the usual attire. While on shipboard rubber soled shoes with low heels are a "must" as the roll of the ship makes high heels very hazardous, especially on a ship not having a physicien on the staff."

Laundry service is available at most ports and is sent with the ship's linen. Nothing is for sale on the ship except cigarets, liquor and wine so anyone planning such a trip should include all necessary drugs and cosmetics in the luggage.

Holiday Cruise To Historic Caribbean

By G. A. MORTON

Saguenay Shipping Limited has a large number of freighters in service, including those owned by the company and others under charter. The Sunadelia is one of two sister ships owned by a Swiss industrialist who leases the two craft to Saguenay. The other ship is the Sunamella and it also is on the Caribbean run.

Some of the vessels are larger than the above and smaller and all do not carry passengers as understand. Also we should point out that sailing dates are subject to change through lengths of time in ports of call for cargo handling. Stormy weather can occasionally be a factor and labor difficulties can delay.

Different ships are routed to different ports and sometimes these changes are sometimes changed at the last moment, as we found when Diefenbaker was substituted for Nassau and Ciudad Trujillo. A ship making eight or ten calls in three weeks obviously is in port for very short periods in all of them, passengers have little time for sightseeing beyond the port liself.

THANKS EXPRESSED

Before we close this protracted account of our holiday trip we wish to express our grateful thanks to Mr. R. E. Powell, president of Aluminium Ltd., Montreal, for his kindly and courteous interest in us in writing to make our holiday so pleasant and interesting. Mr. Powell knows the West Indies exceptionally well and highly recommends travel by freighter as a pleasant way to spend a leisurely vacation when time permits.

To Captain Herbert Colzau of Hamburg, German, we express our admiration for his patience and good nature under the stress of living in close to such unconventional landubbers as his four table companions. We think of him with much affection.

We predict a bright future for First Officer John Hessel of The Hague, Holland, who hopes to get command of a ship soon and happy would be the ship owner who gets his next services. Another man of outstanding ability is Chief Engineer Harry Hoogendoorn of Schiedam, Holland, who is striving to perfect his English before he gets to London. We wish him good fortune for he has a fine record as student and as officer.

The Chief Steward, Louis Cammaerts of Belgium, is genial and anxious to be of service more than any other man in our group and everyone had a good time.

It was a wonderful holiday, not exciting, but made doubly pleasant by the good fellowship of our companions and the ship's officers and the competency of the crew. Last, but not least, we shall always treasure our memories of the good ship, the steel ship, "M. V. Sunadelia."

Bon Voyage.

Letter To The Editor

Ordered to Acquire Bigger Septic Tank

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

A telephone inquiry to the city hall, as to the minimum requirement of weeping-tile to ensure proper drainage, of a tile bed, brought the city engineer to my home with the assertion that my (already purchased) 200-gallon septic-tank was inadequate.

He additionally known mailorder store advertises a tank of the same size as suitable for households up to 7 persons." Ours contains four.

Before purchasing a 400-gallon septic-tank, I would like to know whether I have been misled by the city necessary, or whether this by-law has been formulated behind the scenes with little or no practical knowledge.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

TRIUMPH AWAITS YOU

The newspaper this morning was full of crime. Two young men, Schmeiser firemen, were alleged to have confessed to starting a number of fires with their boots to extinguish. There was murder also, and a comely young woman with an unusually bad record was apparently at the back of it all. Another brutal murder occurred over the fact that blood had been spilled and life lost.

Crime, of course, is only the extreme and chronic form of sin. Indeed we all, I think, have been reading a book recently written by a man who was formerly a drunkard and by nature and who denounces the Biblical doctrine of sin. He says with all that book were correct! But realism as well as revelation convinces us that the book is not correct. The greatest underlying fact ever made is that the heart of man is desperately wicked. The greatest evidence of that truth is that it includes you and me.

Here calm down. It has included vastly better and more important people than ourselves — St. Paul, for instance, and St. Augustine, and those numerous persons who did not have the word "saint" placed before their names.

But the hopeful aspect of the situation is that origin and present condition does not end the matter. There is a triumph awaiting the human soul who exercises his will and bestirs his heart to take advantage of it.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the movies and on TV and radio, men of importance have important voices. This is part of the tradition of the theatre and dramas. But in real life, the important man who has the voice is the rarity. Prime Minister Diefenbaker can round out a noble sentence, but President Eisenhower has no better voice than Dulles. Even getting a voice that took a little getting used to at first, but it became one of the finest sounds on earth nineteen years ago.

Importance in public life seems to study and cultivate their speaking voices, and they have risen to importance on their voices. But in business, where men have private affairs, our leaders in finance and industry, who seize us with their squeaky, raspy or gargling voices.

Some of them have querulous, railing voices rather like those of the fishwife at the lobby of a great skyscraper filled with the loud coffee of a dozen conversations I heard a voice like a shovelful of gravel being dumped on a concrete path, scolding. It was an elderly man accompanied by three or four young men who were reverently bowing him into the elevator. He was scolding them as a senior and sounded like a rusty barn hinge.

When the elevator, crowded, left without me, I asked the starter who the old boy was.

He is one of Canada's wealthiest and cleverest men.

HISTORIC BELLEVILLE

(Article 77 contributed by members of the Hastings County Historical Society)

THEY STOOD ON GUARD

By June 3, 1866, when the danger of Fenian invasion from the Canadian-American border was imminent, over 600 officers and men of the immediate Belleville area were stationed at the front.

The first Belleville Rifles, almost 60 strong, under Captain Cassidy, C. O. Leviscombe, were at Cornwall.

The 15th Battalion of the A.I.I. consisting of 350 officers and men under the command of Lt. Col. A. A. Ponton was part of the force mobilized at Prescott.

The 15th's headquarters at Prescott was Old Fort Wellington, which had been strengthened in preparation for the Fenians. It was well equipped with three batteries of garrison artillery.

Also in preparation for the Fenians, several companies of Volunteer Militia were "judiciously posted at certain vulnerable points along the lines" which was Belleville and the Grand Trunk Brigade was active in this area for some time. (See Article 38).

Much to the disappointment of the Belleville troops, the main events took place along the Vermont border, rather than along

MUCH REMAINS TO BE LEARNED ABOUT VITAMIN B - 6

"Dear Dr. Molner: Could you give us some information about Vitamin B-6 (pyridoxine)? The minimum daily requirement without harm to a person, foods highest in B-6, and highest intake daily without harm? — C.P."

The chief function of Vitamin B-6 is to assist in fundamental chemical reactions of the body, but a great deal remains to be found out about it — including the precise requirement of the body, which for a number of other vitamins is well known.

However, deficiency shows up in skin changes about the eyes, as well as corners of the mouth, neuritis, red tongue, loss of appetite. An adequate balanced diet evidently provides enough of it for anyone. It is plentiful in beef liver, pork, beans, grain, wheat germ, nuts, cereals, and milk.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My boy, Bill, is 15, fell when only four years ago and hit a front upper tooth. He knocked it loose and the nerve died but the roots are still strong. The tooth is a dirty gray color. The dentist has removed the dead nerve and packed the tooth but he says he is unable to do more. Can you do to make this look white? — Mrs. H. L."

You can't do anything, except have the tooth "capped." Dentistry involves grinding down the size of the tooth and cementing over it a "cap" which is performed and colored to match the other teeth.

With or without capping, the tooth can remain in place but the nerve should be extracted periodically to see that infection has not gained a foothold. Your Union Jack." The chair was occupied by Sergeant - Major Arks, and nearly all the sergeants were present.

Mr. L. E. Wills of this city is visiting friends in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Mr. W. F. Holaway of Gowganda, is visiting his cousin, Mrs. H. H. Phillips, Commercial Street.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Sometime ago you mentioned pills that could be taken by an alcoholic. Can they be obtained without a physician's prescription, are there any ill effects other than nausea and vomiting if said are effective after taking? — M. I."

Here is one I said. Before that they don't work unless the patient is willing to take them and if he is willing, he usually can quit alcohol without pills. They are called Antabuse. You must have a prescription (and medical supervision), they require supervision for safe use and customarily are required daily. But I repeat: Don't depend on powerful medicines for results that should come from within yourself.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I really enjoy reading your column. Please tell me what to do. I have a rash on my face on my stomach and it is itching and burning like fire and has spread to my groin. I have used (list of three kinds of applications) without relief. I have been to a doctor yet. It would be so embarrassing if I had it. I don't know I couldn't stand this irritation in hot weather. What to do? — Mrs. H.M.S."

If you had read the column regularly you would know what to do. The idea of embarrassment over seeing your doctor is ridiculous and self - centered. Obviously hasn't worked, and in fact may have spread, as you state. Sometimes this often happens in skin conditions when people try to treat themselves. Go to your doctor. It won't be the first time he has seen such a skin eruption. Probably he's seen lots like your case. Better be embarrassed than sick, but better sick, don't be embarrassed. Just go.

Hemorrhoids can be cured. If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to me in care of The Belleville Ontario Intelligencer, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Illinois, requesting a copy of my booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," enclosing a large, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover handling.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE WILL TO HOLD ON

I recall an incident in my youth. It was at a Fall Fair. There was a man who took a balloon ascent and was to come to earth again by dropping from a parachute. The lines from the balloon were set and the performer called out for everyone to stand still where they were. The signal was given, and a man walked forward and got tangled in the ropes, so the balloonist and his uninvited guest took to the air — the guest hanging by the seat of his pants.

"Hold on!" called out the balloonist — and he did. Later on the performer gradually descended and then was safe. I have often called to mind that exhibition and it has inspired me, when I have lost the will to be encouraged. I have kept hearing those words, "Hold on! Hold on!" Many a time I have hung on in confusion of mind and spirit — but I have found the will to hold on, and then I have held on and landed safely again.

Too many fall to hold on until all danger is past. I like to think of these brief Talks as a cry to others to hold on and win victories. And they nearly always have been the incidents that have been the most helpful to me. I have learned to pay attention to the approach to danger or failure, and then to gather myself to hold on. It always works!

Trenton's mayor expresses his lies in the fact that people have held on until the difficult moment has passed. Sincerity and work these lines: "A man is relieved when he finds that he has his heart into his work and done his best. What more can anyone do? The will says to hold on, and so we do, landing safely often in the midst of storm and stress, agreement, for God and men appear at the one of will and courage to hold age.

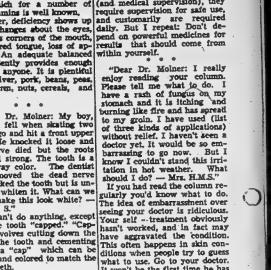
St. Lawrence. The Fenians were soon routed and the Belleville troops returned home.

Nevertheless, the role in guarding the St. Lawrence frontier was a crediting one.

Canadian and Provincial governments did not overlook the contribution made by the militia to this country's defence. Close to 200 Hastings and Prince Edward Raid medals received them, and it is reported that the Ontario Government gave a crown land grant of 160 acres to those participating in the defence of their homeland.

CONGRATULATIONS

The Hastings County Historical Society extends congratulations to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment on its decision to establish a military museum in the Belleville Armouries.



Military history is certainly one of the most fascinating types of history. Ever since the Biblical description of the Battle of Jericho and Herodotus' account of the Persian Wars against the Greeks, people have been fascinated with the stories of great generals and great battles.

By planning a museum to display the proud military traditions of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is preserving a valuable part of our heritage.

Congratulations!

Local Union Celebrates 15th Anniversary

FRANKFORD — The fifteenth anniversary of the formation of the Machinists' Union, local 1788, was celebrated by members at a dinner dance held Friday evening at the Queensway Hotel. One hundred and fifty guests, machinists and their wives, were in attendance.

The dining room of the hotel was decorated with red, white and blue streamers.

Following the dinner, Mr. Arthur Duncan, Public relations manager of the Bata Shoe Company of Canada Ltd., spoke briefly, announcing that this was "fun night" and urging everyone to enjoy himself.

Mr. Duncan introduced Mr. Daniel Dean, representative of the International Machinists' Union, who brought greetings from fellow members of the union. He stated the Machinists' Union was one of the largest in the North American union field.

Out of 18 members of local 1788 eligible for 15 year recognition, only nine were able to be present. These were: John Aquino, Harry Chard, Robert Kidd, Ivor Lahrash, Clifford Murray, Hugh Patrick, Len Howe, H. Van Hedegrn and John Williams.

Mr. Arthur Duncan was the speaker for the evening. He spoke on the subject of "Canadianism", urging his listeners to retain their own Canadian culture; while learning from the culture of new Canadians.

Mr. Duncan, then laughingly noted each man's success was due to the good influence of his wife and each lady attending was presented with a gift.

Mr. Duncan read a letter from Dr. C. N. Hertz, expressing his regret at not being able to attend the dinner, as he had just returned from an extensive tour.

Following the speeches, dancing was enjoyed by the guests to the music of Steve Choma and his orchestra.

Elect Area Orangemen To Office

RAWDON — The 100th annual meeting of Grand Lodge of the Loyal Orange Order of Ontario East convened in Memorial Hall, Napanee, April 15th and 16th.

The following Centre Hastings brethern were elected to office: Grand Chaplain, Rt. Wor. Bro. H. E. Beare of Springbrook L.O.L.; Jr. Deputy Grand Master, Rt. Wor. Bro. Lorne Eagerman of Tamworth L.O.L.; Past Grand Master, Rt. Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman of Springbrook and Sitting Lodge. ges was re-elected as grand auditor, along with Rt. Wor. Bro. George Reed, Belleville, of South Hastings district.

The highlight of the sessions was a banquet at the Aluminum Plant in Kingston in honor of Most Wor. Bro. T. A. Kidd, Imperial Grand Master of the Grand Orange Organization of the World. Bro. Kidd was the recipient of an illuminated scroll and the presentation was made on behalf of the lodges in Ontario East.

The next sessions will be held in 1960 at Kingston Ontario.

Several Orangemen from this area were in attendance at the sessions.

Collins Bay Escapee Still At Large

KINGSTON (CP) — No trace has been found of a Collins Bay penitentiary convict who walked away from a gang working in a cattle barn outside the prison Thursday.

Clovis Everett of Napanee district had less than two years to serve on a four-year sentence for car and truck theft.

FAR NORTH

The Boothia Peninsula, northern Saskatchewan, Manitoba boundary, noted for its deep, clear waters, covers 2,400 square miles.

WINS

Guy Bentley announced that Mr. Rollins had been named as new candidate for the riding.

And delegates also had a big hand for incumbent Lloyd Price as he went to the platform to congratulate the winner and to offer his support to the candidate.

Platform guests included Senator George S. White who brought greetings from Parliament Hill in Ottawa and the 208 Progressive Conservative members."

Others on the platform included W. Elmer Sandercock, M.P. for Hastings West, who extended appreciation to the guest speaker; Mayor Gerald B. Hyde of Belleville; Mrs. Douglas Atkins and Mrs. Kenneth Vivian and Dr. S. R. Beatty, president of the Madoc village parity association, who extended a welcome to the delegates.

LETTERS READ

Party association secretary treasurer Harold Varty read letters from Mrs. Sidney Smith and Mrs. Arnold Gaebel in reply to messages of condolence forwarded by the association following the deaths of their husbands.

Association president called on the convention to observe a minute's silence in honor of Hon. Sidney Smith, former Hastings-Frontenac member and Canadian Minister of External Affairs, and other party workers in the riding.

In his nomination address incumbent Lloyd Price referred to the experiences he had gained during the recent sitting of the Ontario Legislature and noted that completion of road development grants for Hastings county had now been confirmed.

He referred to the by-pass to be constructed on No. 37 highway and the proposed reconstruction of No. 62 highway from Madoc to L'Amable. Continuing grants would also be forthcoming for completion of the Madoc - Foxboro road.

Mr. Price of Mr. Rollins' reasons for asking the support of the convention was that not since the inception of the East Hastings riding had the north part of the county had a representative at Queen's Park.

He called for more action on the reconstruction of the Madoc-Foxboro Road which he said was the main north and south artery through the county "and should be taken over by the department of highways."

Lack of good roads in the north was losing county business to Peterborough, he said.

MINES MINISTER SPEAKER

Hon. James Maloney as the convention speaker declared that the Frost government had an enviable record behind it and had nothing of which to be ashamed.

With an honest and God fearing man such as Premier Leslie Frost at the head of the Ontario government, Mr. Maloney said it appeared that the only great danger lying ahead was the apathy manner in which the Liberal opposition party was facing complete disintegration.

He said the C.C.F. party was completely written off" for this election.

The Liberal party in Ontario "had never been so weak" and never had the government shown so great advantage," the speaker declared.

The new Liberal leader John Wintermeyer had done much criticising during the session but had offered very little constructive. Even with unemployment as Mr. Wintermeyer's chief attack, Mr. Maloney left one got the impression that the Liberals were hoping for more unemployment so their party might secure a few more votes.

SAYS GRANTS UP

Mr. Maloney noted how welfare payments and provincial contributions to the cost of education had risen since the Progressive Conservatives came into power.

Back in 1944 educational grants for public and high schools in East Hastings had amounted to only $136,000, while in 1958 grants had risen to $1,530,000.

Mr. Maloney said Mr. Wintermeyers claims that the entire cost of education should be borne by the province. However, he said, this would leave local government with no say in educational matters. "That's what they have in Russia", he said.

"It is easy for Mr. Wintermeyer and C.C.F. leader, Donald C. MacDonald, to criticize the rich and the mooch", he said. "It is safe because they know they will never have the opportunity to implement their promises.

Declaring that the C.C.F. party was "completely written off" for this election, Mr. Maloney said his only hope following the election was that Ontario would remain safe to the old two-party system.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bird, R.R. 3, Madoc, Ontario, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Lillian Mavis, to Donald Arthur Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Blackburn, Elzevir, Ontario. The wedding will take place on Saturday, May 16, 1959 at 2 o'clock in Cooper United Church.

Mrs. Alice Booth, 9 Isabel St., is a patient in Belleville General Hospital following a heart attack early Sunday morning.

Mr. Hugh Glynne Jones, 152 Bleecker Ave., is in Belleville General Hospital with pneumonia.

Colored Beads Mean Lot to Zulu Maidens

CALGARY (CP)—The language of colored beads means a lot among Zulus in Natal province of South Africa.

A girl in love wears red beads for the man of her choice. Blue beads stand for loyalty, black for sorrow and green for jealousy.

This Zulu lore was learned by Mrs. Ogden Powell during several years in the Rhodesias and the Belgian Congo as a Baptist evangelist.

The native women of Africa intrigued Mrs. Powell.

Before the traders came, Mrs. Powell said in an interview, the women were not too concerned with gay fashions. They covered the lower part of their bodies with animal skins, or wraps fashioned of matted goats' hair.

Today they use cotton fabrics of the brightest possible colors and designs.

African men are lucky or unlucky depending on a person's view. They can have as many wives as they want — providing they can pay for them.

If a young man can afford only a ordinary girl from an ordinary family, he pays her father 10 cows for the privilege of marrying her. In addition he must give her mother an extra special cow.

If the girl's the daughter of a medicine man, the price is higher—maybe 15 cows. And if her father is a chief, her value may even reach 30 cows.

Ladies' Aux. Attend Quinte Leaders' Meet

Ladies Auxiliaries to the Boy Scouts held a session at Quinte Region Leaders' Conference in Picton District High School on Saturday. The chairman was Mrs. Lionel Baker, president of Belleville District Ladies Auxiliaries, and secretary Mrs. A. J. Fox.

The chairman introduced the guest, Mrs. G. Hodgson, regional representative to Ladies Auxiliaries of Boy Scouts and Mrs. R. K. Beemer, vice-president of Peterborough executive board.

Picton Ladies Auxiliaries performed the induction ceremony under the direction of Mrs. J.F. Coyle, vice-president of Picton District Local Association which was very impressive as each took either book or pledge and was inducted in turn.

The day separated for a 15-minute buzz session. Many interesting points were cleared up in the final report.

The Belleville Ladies Auxiliary then presented a skit entitled, "The Court of Honor in Session," which was quite humorous and informative. Mrs. A. Fort was narrator.

Mrs. G. Hodgson conducted a question and answer period which closed the Ladies Auxiliaries' part of the program.

Everyone agreed it was a most interesting and pleasant meeting.

Wedding

MAWER — WELLS

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, before a pink and white floral arrangement of gladioli, chrysanthemums, and snapdragons, on Saturday, April 18th, when Marjorie Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wells of Marmora, became the bride of Keith Barry Mawer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mawer of Marmora. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. R. G. Miller of the Free Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. B. A. Sutton, of Toronto.

Miss Donna Lee Steenburgh, soloist, sang "What Lovely Things" and "Through the Years", preceding the ceremony, and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register. Mrs. Orval Wells of Lindsay was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely princess styled gown of silk organza over slipper satin with chapel train, and featured a front lace panel outlined with seed pearls sequins, tiny buttons of self material in the back, and long sleeves ending in points over lace wrists. Her finger-tip veil of nylon illusion was caught in a crown of pleated net and seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Brenda Wells, cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honour, and she wore a waltz - length dress of pink crystalette over taffeta. Her headdress was of pink nylon net with box veil.

Miss Carol Caverly of Marmora, and Mrs. Fred Rodgers of London, Ont., were bridesmaids, and were identical waltz-length gowns at yellow silk organza over taffeta, with matching feather hats.

The flower attendants carried cascades of carnations, mums, gladioli cups, and sweetheart roses.

Little Miss Beverly Jean Wells of Lindsay, cousin of the bride, was a charming flower girl, strewing rose petals in the bride's path. She wore a bouffant style dress in mist green arnel, with matching headdress and carried a variety of spring flowers in a tiny umbrella.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Rodney Mawer, and the ushers were Mr. Robert Derry of Belleville and Mr. Ted Bonter of Marmora.

Guests were received at the reception in St. Andrew's dining hall by the bride's mother, who wore an aqua silk dress with bolero, matching picture hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a dress of floral green silk with white accessories and a mink neckpiece. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

For their honeymoon to Alton, Mich., the bride wore a white wool suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

The happy couple will reside in Peterborough.

Guests were present from Willowdale, Lindsay, Leaside, London, Wellandport, Peterborough, Oronto, Toronto, Long Beach and Madoc.

Prior to her marriage the bride was graduation, class of St. Joseph's School of Nursing, of which she was a member, tendered her a party and presented her with a pair of table lamps.

Club Activities

CONTACT CLUB

On Monday evening the members of Christ Church Contact Club held a business and work meeting.

The final arrangements were made for the "fashion show and coffee party being held next week.

On Sunday the members had a Corporate Communion followed by breakfast in the parish hall.

During the breakfast a cup and saucer was presented to Yvonne Matchett, who is leaving Bellville, by Pres. Mary Fletcher.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Betty Yates, Goldie Miller and Marilyn Warren.

LEGAL REASON

LONDON (CP) — American servicemen in British have been told that British anti-friends are barred from camp movie theatres. The cautionary word came as department explained: "Armed forces cinemas are free of entertainment tax as a consequence. If they want to take in British films they must pay the tax, the same as normal cinemas."

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

PRESBYTERIAN CLUB MEETS

IVANHOE — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Club held their monthly meeting at St. Andrew's Church West Huntingdon on Friday evening. Members of Fuller Mission Circle were present and presented a fine program.

The group was welcomed by president, Mrs. Harry Benson.

Mrs. Charles Irvine, president of the Mission Circle, presided. The meeting was opened by the singing of the hymn — "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," followed by prayers. The Scripture, Acts 4: 23-33, was read by Mrs. Burton Calvert.

Mr. Earl Wannamaker of Roslin, gave a fine talk, "Prayerlessness.

"This is something found in the church, the pulpit, and the pew. It is another word for unbelief and the Bible also calls it a sin — many times the Scriptures commanded Christians to pray. Man ought always to pray. Prayerlessness is not only a sin but opens the door to sin, "Watch ye therefore lest ye enter into temptation." Burning sand prayer will make a man cease from sin and sin will make a man cease to pray.

"We must all pray that God's work will be carried on. The disciples did not ask "Lord Teach How to pray, but Lord Teach us to pray."

The following program was presented: a duet, "It Took a Miracle," by Mrs. Howard Wannamaker and Mrs. Fred Smith; a reading, "The Storm's Warning," by Mrs. Harry Redcliffe; a quartet (male), "We'll Understand," by Messrs. Charles Irvine, Howard Wannamaker, Fred Smith, and Earl Wannamaker; a reading, "Let Us Be Kind," by Mac Wannamaker, and a duet, "How Great Thou Art," by Mrs. Borden Redcliffe and Mrs. James Wilson. A Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. Irvine, followed by refreshments.

TRINITY UNITED WA

MADOC — The Women's Association of Trinity United held their meeting at the home of Mrs. R. C. Jackson on Thursday afternoon with a large number of members present.

Mrs. Fred Rodgers, president, presided.

During the business period reports were received. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. L. Bennett.

A short memorial service was held in memory of Miss Ethel Richmond. a very interested member of the association. She took a great interest in the work. Mrs. Rodgers paid a fitting memorial and Mrs. Jackson sung a solo, "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. O. B. Jackson, who chose as her subject, "The Resurrection of Life." She was assisted by Mrs. F. Fleming who read the Bible story from chapter 24 Luke's Gospel. Mrs. Jackson gave the commentary. Mrs. C. Whyiock gave a reading, "Awaking Ourselves of God's Help."

The president, who was privileged to attend a W.A. pilgrimage to Five Oaks in February, gave a detailed and fascinating talk on the trip and their stay at Five Oaks.

Thanks were extended to the speaker and to the hostess.

A pleasant half hour was enjoyed with Mrs. Jackson and her assistants serving refreshments.

Author Finds Writing Books For Children Great Fun

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—British author Roberta Leigh, one of Britain's highest paid writers of romantic fiction, has swapped writing romances in favor of children's stories.

Miss Leigh, 29, author of 15 romantic novels, feels there are only so many romance plots a writer can use, and thinks she has employed most of them.

"In any event, it's far more fun writing for children.

"I can just let my imagination run riot and I love doing that."

In writing romantic fiction Miss Leigh says one is limited "and the endings are nearly always the same."

The red - haired, green - eyed Miss Leigh, holds highly individual ideas on writing for youngsters. Most children's writers, she says, go on writing the same sort of thing previous generations have written.

LIKE ADVENTURE

"Today's youngsters like their stories packed with adventure and action. Even on life as they know it.

"I can't bear talking ducks and prudite hedgehogs," she says hotly.

She thinks children are becoming slot-machine-minded — that television is here to stay, and that it has made a big impact on children's minds.

They don't want lots and lots of description with little action—they want the reverse."

Before Miss Leigh's publishers signed her up to produce children's books for the years, they brought it would be a good idea if she had a talk with a psychiatrist.

"I wasn't exactly psycho-analyzed," she says. "I was questioned rather intensively over the dinner table."

The outcome proved favorable and the contract was completed. Her second book, Torchy the Curly Boy, is due to come out this fall.

ALSO WORKS IN TV

When she changed her writing medium two years ago she started doing television programs for children. Now she is at work on her third TV series.

Thinking up the ideas and writing the scripts aren't Miss Leigh's only activities. She composes the music, writes the lyrics and also produces the shows. She says she thinks not just that her best method of working is to dictate her stories to secretaries.

Miss Leigh was educated in a convent and wrote the draft for her first romantic novel at 15.

For relaxation she likes cooking, and a couple of times a year goes over to the United States to stay with friends or looks up relatives in Canada.

In private life she is the wife of a businessman and the mother of an eight-year-old son.

Her ambition now is to add a daughter to her family and to "just go on writing."

PLUMION — WALKER

Tall standards of mums and other spring flowers formed the setting for a pretty wedding in Picton United Church on Saturday, April 18, when Eleanor Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Walker of Demorestville, was united in marriage to Gene Raymond Plumion, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Plumion, of Frankford. The Rev. Whiteley of Picton, officiated.

The bride looked lovely in a dress of blue crystalline with draped bodice, matching shoes and headdress, and she carried a bouquet of white mums and roses.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Grace Walker, wearing a similarly-styled dress in yellow crystalline, with matching shoes and headdress, and carrying a nosegay of bronze mums.

Mr. Gordon Terry of Toronto was groomsman. Ushers were Mr. George Gould, cousin of the bride, and Guy Austin of Wooler cousin of the bridegroom.

Traditional wedding music was played by the church organist.

A reception was held at the Rickerton Castle where the bride's mother received, wearing a dress of blue crepe and lace, with lace hat, and corsage of red roses.

She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a rose lace jacket ensemble with floral hat, black accessories and a corsage of tinted mums.

For a wedding trip to New York state and points south, the bride's travelling costume was apple green wool, with white accessories and floral corsage.

Upon their return the happy couple will reside in Demorestville where the groom is employed with the Bell Telephone Co.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP

Good manners are always "at your service." All you have to do reach out for them . . . and let them your own.

SHOULD HUSBAND RETURN OR KEEP WEDDING PRESENTS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

After my wife and I had been married only three months, she died very suddenly. Her wonderful parents had asked us to make our home with them while we were waiting for the small house we had bought. We had not used any of the wedding presents we had received, had stored some of them in her parents' house, and some in the attic of my parents' house. I have no idea what I should do with these presents, and I am asking you because I hesitate to ask either my wife's parents or my family. It would be difficult for them if I bring up the subject. (I am now living at home with my folks.)

Do you advise that I return these presents, or, if you don't, should I perhaps give them, or at least some of them, to my wife's parents? I would be very grateful for your advice. — H.

There is no question but you should return these presents to the givers, and I am sure they would not expect this. However, you may do this if you feel it would make you more comfortable in your thought that these gifts do not entirely belong to you. Or you would like to return the presents sent by your wife's family and relatives to their own special friends, and keep those sent by your family and relatives and your special friends. This would, it seems to me, be fair and tasteful procedure on your part, and would be so regarded by all concerned.

ADDRESSING ENVELOPE TO UNMARRIED SISTERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm assembling the lists for my wedding invitations, and planning the addressing of the envelopes. In quite a few cases I'd like to send one invitation to two or even three unmarried sisters. What is the correct way to address the envelope to — H. E.

It is quite correct for you to address the envelope to:

The Misses Graham

But I like best the method of the individual names, the name of the oldest sister first . . . this, in my judgment, is the most personal compliment to each. Like this:

Miss Mary Graham
Miss Edith Graham
— Miss Grace Graham

(In either case the inside envelope would be addressed to: The Misses Graham.)

HOW BOY INTRODUCES FRIENDS TO HIS MOTHER, NOW REMARRIED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My father died five years ago, my mother has remarried and last September we came to live in this town where I now attend High School. Just how should I introduce my mother to my new friends, particularly my schoolmates? — Jim.

First, remember this very important introduction-rule: you always introduce your friends to your mother (not your mother to your friends). That is, mention your mother's name first. Since your mother's name is now different from your name, add her name, so that your friends will know how to address her. For example: "Mother, this is Arthur Hall — my mother, Mrs. Allen." Or: "Mother, this is Dorothy Clark — my mother, Mrs. Allen."

THE WOMAN, THE MAN . . . AND THE DIFFICULT-TO-OPEN DOOR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please settle a discussion we are having about the question of opening doors? For example: Who goes first through a revolving door, the lady or the gentleman? (The answers to this one certainly vary!)

Also, what about those doors that have springs on them, open hard, and have to be held open? Who goes first then? It's very difficult to reach over a lady's head to hold the door open, or to reach around her. — Fran

At a revolving door the customary and most practical procedure is for the man to start the door off with a push (not too vigorous a push, just strong enough to get the door going) and then wait for the woman to proceed through.

In the case of the difficult-to-open door, it makes sense that whoever is nearest should open the door and hold it open for the woman. In this door-procedure the real point is how to be of most help. If the man thinks it might help the woman for him to precede the woman, he can explain, "I'm afraid I'd better go first and hold the door open for you."

SHOULD SPOUSES OF ATTENDANTS BE INVITED TO BRIDAL TABLE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In our wedding party, two of the bridesmaids are married and two of the ushers are married. Is it a "must" that we invite the husbands of the bridesmaids and the wives of the ushers to sit at the Bridal Table? — Bride-to-be

Although the Bridal Table is primarily for you and your bridegroom and the members of your wedding party, you likely, if you wish . . . and this is certainly a gracious gesture, and is often done . . . invite the spouses of your attendants to be seated at this table.

WHERE IS THE SALAD PLATE PLACED?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When I serve a salad as an accompaniment to the meat course (lettuce-and-tomato salad, for example, with steak or roast beef), on which side of the dinner plate should I set the salad plate? — H. R.

The salad plate is then set to the left of the dinner plate, to the left of the forks.

HOW TO ASK FOR A DANCE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What's the really correct way for a man to ask a girl to dance? Is there a standard form?

— E. L.

The simple, direct question is today's standard form . . . none of the stilted silliness of yesterday. "May I have this dance?" or "Would you like to dance?" is quite customary, and so is the couldn't-be-simpler "Dance!"

W.I. Elects Slate at Annual Meeting

RYLSTONE — The annual meeting of Rylstone Women's Institute was held in the Sunday School room of Knox United Church with President Mrs. Clarence Wednesday afternoon.

During the funeral service in the community hall the meeting was called at 3 p.m. and refreshments dispensed with. There was a small attendance as there is still a lot of sickness.

Mrs. Stanley Kerr, president, was in charge and opened the meeting. Mrs. Carl Linn was appointed secretary-treasurer for the day. The roll call was answered by paying of fees. Correspondence was read, and "thankyou" notes from Chester Meldrejohn, Fred Barnum, Mrs. Ellis Jones and Mrs. Lawrence Meldrejohn were received. The report of the year's work and the financial report was given by Mrs. Carl Linn.

Mrs. Kerr then declared all officers vacant and Mrs. Ernest Irwin conducted the election of officers for the convenor for the coming term. Following is the slate: president — Mrs. Donald Meldrejohn; first vice-president — Mrs. Jack Watson; 2nd vice-president — Mrs. Gerald Barnum; secretary-treasurer — Mrs. Lindsay Anderson; district director — Mrs. Stanley Meldrejohn; standing committees: Mrs. Don Stewart, Mrs. Percy Reid; agriculture and Canadian industry — Mrs. Gordon Meldrejohn; citizenship and education — Mrs. Percy Reid; historical research — Mrs. Clarence Irwin; home economics and health — Mrs. Ross Mumby; resolutions — Mrs. Don Stewart; girls' club leaders — Mrs. Alfred Akins and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer; public relations representative — Mrs. Stanley Kerr; press reporter — Mrs. Ellis Jones.

Irma T. — I am a single woman in my 30's living with my widowed mother. We have a nice apartment and get most of what we need through my income plus Mom's pension.

Recently, my bachelor uncle died and left Mother about $1,000. She wants to take this money, or a good part of it, and give it to my sister who was recently married and hasn't yet been able to furnish her home.

I feel that Mother should keep this money for herself. It would be nice for her to take a long vacation at a summer resort or to buy some nice clothes and get out more. She has very little to serve in the bank. She may need it. My sister has a steady, healthy husband to take care of her.

Mrs. L. R. — Vacations and clothes mean nothing to me. My only desire is to be of help to my children. My married daughter contributes to the family when she was single and that is one reason she may not have been able to save anything for her home.

Irma has always been a little on the jealous side. Now that she sees her sister married, she seems to feel that maybe I want to do for her. Rita never asked for anything. I want to give her the money. I will put a little aside for Irma if she gets married.

I know another thing that annoys Irma is the fact that my own furniture is a little old and shabby. But it is good enough that

The Family Council

Everon's Norm: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with locally by municipal agencies and councillors.

[Newlyweds need a nice home for entertaining and all.

The Council: It is most unkind to accuse Irma of jealousy in this matter.

Irma is in the very difficult position of being forced to take a back seat in a situation that really concerns her. From one point of view, she has no right to tell her mother how to dispose of her own money. From another point of view, she has a right to be very strong voice.

Irma is now sharing a home with her mother and together they form a family. She is an adult, yet she is treated as a child who can't have the privileges of making decisions on important matters.

The way Mrs. L. T. states her case, only marriages will give Irma the right to some of the things she has in life. The cold and shabby furniture is good enough for now because as you have stated, Money will be put aside for her "if she gets married." Irma isn't married, but she is alive, and desires a good life now. She should not have to be treated like a second-class citizen.

Irma undoubtedly feels resentful at the way she is being treated. We think she is justified and should be given a voice in matters and definitely. In all probability, if her mother is ill the whole responsibility will fall on Irma. Shouldn't Mrs. L. T. consider the possibility of keeping this money as an emergency fund for such an eventuality?

There may be a bit jealous, but Mrs. L. T. should ask herself whether or not her point is fair and consideration is responsible for Irma's attitude.

No Wizardry To Change Gas Into Fine Laces

EDMONTON (CP)—There is no wizardry involved in changing wood, gas and air into lustrous threads that can be made into synthetic laces, silks and wool, says Dr. Paul E. Gishler, director of research and development of the Canadian Chemical Company.

"Medicine men don't do anything you want them to by speaking magic words over them," Dr. Gishler told the Women's Canadian Club. "What you have to do is discover all their properties, and arrange things so that they behave the way you want them to."

Dr. Gishler outlined the chemical steps that turn wood pulp into cellulose acetate. To form filaments which make up the thread, he said, a gummy liquid is pumped through tiny jets, and filaments produced are finer than spiders' webs.

"A pound of this material is enough to weigh one pound," Dr. Gishler said. "It takes 20 miles of these tiny filaments, twisted together, to make a strand of thread—and it is all done in less than one second."

The filaments travel down from the jets at 20 feet a second, said Dr. Gishler, who worked for the National Research Council of Canada before joining Canadian Chemical in 1946.

"The industry has reached a stage where it can produce fibres with pretty well any quality it desires. The processes are not always known, but research is heading in the right direction."

DESERONTO UNITED EA.

DESERONTO — The April meeting of the Evening Association of the Deseronto United Church was held in the Sunday School room with the president, Mrs. H. VanVleck, in charge.

The theme for the devotional was the Sacraments of Communion and Baptism. Those taking part were Mrs. Knapp, Mrs. G. Burley, Mrs. Carscallen and Mrs. VanVleck.

Mrs. Ross Randell read a letter from Miss M. Merriam, missionary on prayer, from Mrs. Snipes, outlining her work in Mission Church in Winnipeg.

During the business period the program it was decided to hold a home-cooking sale in May and a strawberry social in June.

At the close of the meeting an auction sale of home-cooking and other articles was held with Sid Brown as auctioneer. This provided amusement an added profit for the society.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

WHITE'S W.A.

WHITE'S MILLS DISTRICT — Mrs. Casey Ketcheson opened her home on Thursday afternoon for the April meeting of the White's Woman's Association with a good attendance of members.

The president, Mrs. Jack Glydon, presided, and opened the meeting.

Mrs. W. Jeffery was in charge of the devotional service. Scripture was read. Mrs. A. Skaarup, Mrs. W. Yeiman and Mrs. Jeffery read the story of John the Disciple. All joined in singing "I Need Thee Every Hour." Mrs. Richard led in prayer.

Several paid dues and made donations to the birthday box.

It was decided to have a pie social at White's Church in June. Miss Kay Homan will show slides of the British Isles.

Mrs. Walter Jones was in charge of the program. Contesting of readings and a candy guessing contest won by Mrs. Verna Waldron.

The hostess served refreshments, and a social time was enjoyed.

QUESTION:

The Church group of which I am president has been asked to provide a supper for a group of teen-agers, the main course to consist of turkey on a bun. I am at a loss to know the quantities required for 200. We do not want them too juicy, nor dry cut up turkey, seasoned . . . I would appreciate any recipes you have on quantity working. Mrs. W. H.

ANSWER:

I think this will be a nice item for the baked goods table.

NUT SPICE LOAF:

One egg, 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 1-3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 2 cups sifted, all-purpose flour, 1-3 teaspoon baking soda, 2-4 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 each salt, nutmeg, cinnamon, cloves, allspice, 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk, 1-2 cup chopped walnuts. Beat egg. Add sugar gradually, beating with spoon till light. Add melted butter and blend well. Sift all dry ingredients together. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture alternately with buttermilk an stir until mixed. Add chopped walnuts. Pour into greased loaf pan about 9 x 2 3/4". Bake at 350 degrees Fahr. for approximately 1 hour. A few whole walnuts placed on top of batter before baking would add an attractive decoration for serving.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

FRIDAY

Mixed Vegetable Juice; Baked Fishcake Fillets; Tartare Sauce; Tomato Timbales (see Thursday); Tamale Corn Bread; Apple Pie with Cheese Slices in Sour Cream Dressing; Lemon-Cake Pudding; Coffee.

ANSWER:

I think of Turkey on a Bun being small slices of turkey on a toasted bun with a highly seasoned gravy. But since you want quantities of the turkey my suggestion follows:

TURKEY ON A BUN

(To serve 50). Seven and one-half lbs. cut-up turkey, 1-4 cup minced onion, 2 cups finely chopped celery, 1-2 cup butter or margarine, 1 3-4 cups chili sauce, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 4 cups turkey gravy, 4 cups crushed potato chips.

Gently saute onion and celery until tender-crisp but not brown. Stir in flour until well blended and add the remaining ingredients except the crushed potato chips. Cook over a little mustard may be added. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add potato chips. Serve 1-3 cup each on a Hot Toasted Bun: Split buns down one side, leaving a wide hinge so that the buns do not come apart. Brush with melted butter and toast about 3 to 10 minutes in oven at 400 deg. Fahr. Spread with Turkey Mix. Quantity releases have been checked by me.

QUESTION:

. . . We are having a Daffodil Tea . . . can you give me a recipe for a Nut Loaf.

Mrs. R. A.

ANSWER:

Here is a recipe:

The Experts Say

Smelt, Perch, Sardines Good Eating at Low Cost

By CAROLYN WILLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The old saying that good things come in small packages is borne out by experts in the federal fisheries department.

At this time of year the department's home economists are emphasizing the good eating at low cost in three small fish—smelt, perch and sardines.

Smelt, says the department, get their name from the old Anglo-Saxon word "smoult," meaning smooth and shiny.

SHINE ON TABLE

They can shine on the dinner table, too. Marketed by the pound in both fresh and frozen form, smelt have a delicate flesh and an almost sweet flavor. Some cooks regard smelt as the finest panfish there are.

Smelt are caught on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and in the Great Lakes. On the Pacific coast, if the housewife asks for smelt, she may be directed to eulachon, or colichan, that coast's principal variety, which reaches a length up to 12 inches.

Then there are ocean perch, once thought to be worthless and tossed back into the sea when they turned up in fishermen's nets. Now ocean perch landings mark fifth in quantity among food fish. They're also called redfish, or rosefish.

Caught in the deep waters of the North Atlantic, ocean perch have a delicious, mild flavor, say the fish-cooking testers.

Most ocean perch are marketed as frozen fillets, tasty pieces that can be identified by a reddish skin and baked to make a delicious dish.

Then, of course, there are sardines, the little fish in tin ovals that are one of the world's most cosmopolitan foods. France, Portugal and Norway, as well as Canada, are among countries that catch and can the small fish with the rich flesh and soft bones.

A housewife can find them packed in thinner olive oil, or smoked, or in tomato or mustard sauce.

A tasty, low-cost high-protein food, sardines are ideal for salads and sandwiches, and combined with other foods provide nutritious . . . even main courses, say fisheries experts.

ROOMY, CONVENIENT WARDROBE, with twice the storage space formerly available, was created by transforming the old-style closet (see left) with the narrow doorway into the double-doored unit above. This is a striking example of what can be accomplished with imaginative planning, good organization of space and the addition of fir plywood built-ins and storage doors.

How To Help Cooling System Provide Greatest Comfort

IDEAL SOLUTION to both the cooling and the heating problems in the converted porch or play room in an upper story is this double-duty unit that can be installed through wall. G-E All-Weather Thinline.

ALL MEMBERS of the family keep cool around the clock during the hottest days and evenings, when an air-conditioner goes to work. This one has a reverse cycle that cools in summer, heats in winter. G-E All-Weather Thinline.

The normal activities in a household can — and too often do — unwittingly contribute to the heat and humidity that an air conditioner is expected to eliminate from the home. That's why it's important to give the cooling system a co-operative assist when the day is hot and muggy.

If you can't answer "Yes" to each of the following questions, it's time to mend your ways:

1. When you cook on a hot day do you use the kitchen ventilating fan? (A range with all burners going releases more heat into the house than a cooling unit could remove, even if it had no other heat to contend with.)

2. Is the automatic clothes dryer vented to the outdoors? (The discharge of moisture into the air in a laundry makes the air conditioner work overtime; many discomfort complaints can be traced to the dryer.)

3. Do you do the ironing on a cool day or late the evening? (At these times the cooling system has reserve capacity and can remove this extra heat without difficulty.)

4. Are filters cleaned periodically? (Dirty ones affect the operation of equipment by reducing the amount of air that can move through the unit.)

5. Are windows kept closed throughout the sweltering season? (To open them lets in warm and often highly-humid air, particularly at night.)

6. As the sun shines on the east, south and west sides of the house, are venetian blinds, shades or draperies drawn? (Blocking out the rays of the sun can help lower the temperature of a room.)

7. Do you pick a cool day — or at least the coolest part of a warm day — to mop floors, wash furniture or perform other cleaning operations that require water? (As wet surfaces dry, moisture is released into the air to cause unnecessary discomfort.)

8. Do you set the thermostat controlling the cooling system at a level agreeable to the family — and do you leave it there? (You don't gain anything by shutting off a thermostatically-controlled unit on a cool day for the control will operate it only as necessary anyway.)

Getting a New Kitchen

From the financial point of view, one of the best things kitchen modernizing projects is that "everything doesn't have to be done at once."

Thus, if the current state of the budget will not permit an overall remodelling job, there are many individual improvements that can be made at relatively small cost. Each will make its own immediate contribution to the homemaker's convenience and well-being, and at the same time, be an important step toward the ultimate realization of her "dream kitchen".

Just re-covering the counter surfaces can often work wonders in perking up the appearance and stepping up the efficiency of the kitchen. Most commonly used materials are ceramic tile, linoleum, plastics, stainless steel or wood.

Equally pleasing results can be obtained by re-doing the flooring or the walls.

In choosing a new floor covering, make sure that it is both dirt and grease-resistant. Linoleum, rubber tile, asphalt tile and vinyl plastics are all good.

When it comes to new wall coverings, you can choose tiling, thin gauge linoleum or washable wallpaper. To give your kitchen a refreshing "new look."

COLOR WORKS WONDERS

Even a fresh paint job can change the whole appearance of your kitchen, if you use colors judiciously. Darker shades bring walls "closer"; pale tones "push" them out, make the room look more spacious. Whites, grays, blues and greens are cool and restful. Reds, yellows, pink and beige are warm and cheerful.

The introduction of more adequate and convenient cabinet space need not await the complete "re-doing" of the kitchen. On the unlikely-unit replacement plan, you can start your improvement program at once, with the assurance that when the project is completed, the overall effect will be one of perfect harmony and functional co-ordination.

Wall and base cabinet units can be arranged in many different ways to create a kitchen "individualized" to your own needs and tastes

MODERN APPLIANCES

One or more modern appliances may go a long way toward making your "life in the kitchen" less burdensome and more pleasant.

Typical of the way in which a single new appliance can transform a whole kitchen is a "refrigerator centre" that combines the wall refrigerator with cabinetries, base cabinets (or even another major appliances). This you can use in many different ways in your kitchen: as a modern room divider, recessed in an alcove or set against a wall.

Or if eye-level cooking is prominent among the features you envision in your "dream kitchen", there is the easily installed "stack-on" gas oven.

Many Owners Installing Air Conditioning

The enervating discomfort of simmering through the hot days and nights of summer has happily become but a memory for millions of American families. So rapidly has air conditioning spread to homes of every size and type throughout the land that it is no longer in the "luxury" class, but rather is more and more being taken for granted as a necessity of modern living.

One of the important reasons for the growing popularity of air conditioning is the fact that it has become available in such a variety of installations adaptable to almost every conceivable need — and pocketbook!

All have in common the essential characteristics of cooling the air, reducing humidity to a comfortable and healthful level automatically, and purifying and filtering the air.

FOUR BASIC METHODS

There are four basic methods of air conditioning:

(1) Installing an independent central cooling unit system.

(2) Making an existing forced draft warm air heating installation do double duty by employing its ducts and registers as part of a central air conditioning system.

(3) Integrating the pipes of a hot water heating system into a central air conditioning system.

(4) Installing individual room air conditioners in the windows or through the exterior walls.

Essentially, a central air conditioning system consists of a basic unit, containing a compressor, condenser, cooling coil, air filter and blower along with a duct system to rooms and room registers.

In a house already using a warm air heating system, the cost of air conditioning can often be kept at a minimum by using the existing duct and register system.

ALL-YEAR SYSTEMS

In both the above cases, central heating and cooling air-conditioning can be combined into an all year 'round indoor climate control system, automatically regulated by a thermostat.

The house that is heated by hot water may sometimes be cooled by installing the existing hot water pipes and running chilled water through them. A central refrigerating unit must be installed and the radiators replaced with dual-purpose units.

In cases where the existing pipes are not accessible for insulation, small pipes to carry the chilled water can be installed without expensive alteration.

Room air conditioners are a simple matter to install. They come in a wide range of B.T.U. (cooling) ratings, and when strategically located, two or three can make even a large home much more comfortable.

Recently introduced is a dependable reverse cycle model that both heats and cools. It is especially useful in such areas as sun porches, etc.

WOOD FENCING

Besides protecting property a wood fence can serve as a shield against sun and noise.

CEDAR SCENT

When the odor of a cedar closet or chest has gone, you can restore it by lightly sanding the inside cedar surface. This will actually create new surfaces and thus permit the wood to breathe once more.

Canadian Garden Service

By GORDON LINDSAY SMITH

Most of us, after we grow up, think wistfully of the things we used to enjoy when we were young and occasionally pretend to think that there is nothing so good today. That may be true of certain pleasures but it is definitely not true of vegetables or flowers or almost anything else connected with gardening. Indeed very few of the flowers and vegetables in our grandmothers' garden can compare with anything available now. Modern varieties of corn, beans, carrots and scores of other vegetables, are earlier, tenderer, sweeter...There are no strings in the beans, no corn in the carrots, no tough dry kernels in the corn.

Flowers, too are brighter, bigger, earlier and come in far more shades. In the old days, one had to wait weeks and weeks for the first fresh vegetables and many of the flowers — only got started to bloom just as the first frost came along and wiped them out.

Now thanks to the plant breeder, the modern garden is planted with modern varieties, starts producing from early June on and keeps producing right up to October or later.

In most Canadian seed catalogues there is special mention of the very latest varieties, flowers and vegetables, new flowers and vegetables that have just been proclaimed in All-America trials and that are especially recommended as an improvement over older varieties. The wise gardener will always look over these new selections and will add two or three to his list every year. In this way he is continually discovering valuable additions to his garden and adding interest to his hobby.

SHORT CUTS:

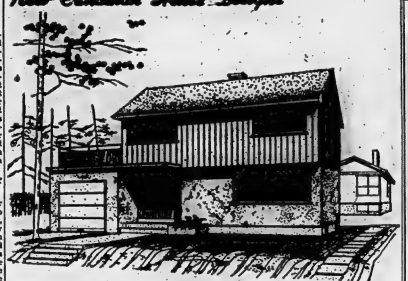
Using new and earlier varieties as already mentioned is one way of extending the gardening season. There are several others. One standard way, of course, is to use some well started plants, or bedding plants, as the professional calls them. These are either bought or one can grow them from seed in flat boxes or pots in a bright window. They are started a month or so ahead of the regular seeding time and transplanted to permanent quarters in the garden after all danger of frost is over. In this way we gain or add to the eating or flowering season two weeks to a month for such things as tomatoes, peppers, cabbages, petunias, stocks, snapdragons, and all sorts of other things. Sometimes we use only a few started plants for extra early blooms or meals and the main run depend on sowing seed outside at the regular time. Another short cut is to sow seed a week or two early or even to set out started plants while there is still danger of frost and protect with sheets of glass, or miniature tents made of waxed paper or transparent plastic. In this way one can add at least a fortnight to the season.

BONFIRES AND COMPOST HEAPS:

Where the garden is of fair size it is an excellent plan to have some secluded corner, screened off by vines, shrubbery or lattice work where we can locate a spot to burn refuse and diseased plants and also have a compost heap. This with a little bit of real planning does not have to be messy, in fact it can be kept almost as neat and attractive as any other corner. For safety sake the bonfire site should be roughly paved with stones or brick and perhaps built up an as incinerator.

For the compost heap all that we need will be a few rough boards nailed or better still concrete building blocks or bricks sufficient to make a box-like affair four feet by four and two feet deep or larger. If we are going to compost vegetable refuse it is also advisable to provide the box with a screened and hinged top to keep out flies, dogs and so on.

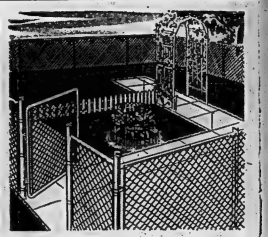
Into the compost box goes anything that will rot, grass clippings, leaves, weeds, clean garbage like coffee grounds, orange rinds, banana skins, egg shells etc.



Among other things, next week we will discuss shrubs and vines and other nursery stock, and their place in the average garden.

RELIGION BY TELEPHONE

STOCKHOLM (UPI).— Religious counsel is being offered over the telephone throughout Sweden as part of a campaign by the Swedish Lutheran Church to meet modern-day requirements.



Larger cities have a special alarm number — "S-O-S-O-S" — to summon police, firemen or an ambulance and now such calls can also be connected to a religious counselling service, where a minister is on duty 4 hours a day to aid anyone who asks.

Hotel Will Offer Executives An Escape From Suburbia

This is Chicago hotelman Morris R. DeWoskin and in the background under construction is the 40-storey apartment hotel his firm is building. The hotel is designed as an answer to an executive's desire for escape from the suburbs to the city.

CHICAGO (AP) — Suburbanite Joe Suburbia is the kind of guy who ventures where angels fear to tread.

He readily takes on a long-term mortgage, fusses and fumes over a new lawn, pays ever increasing property taxes, and commutes to work daily, although the hour's trip each way leaves him exhausted.

He would like someday to escape to the city again, but right now he finds the village a good place to raise a family.

EXECUTIVE'S ESCAPE

For one type of suburbanite, the executive who can afford two residences or whose children have grown, escape is near.

Executive House, Chicago's first new hotel in more than 28 years, will be completed next November. Its 40 stories will contain 448 living units.

The executive will be able to drive his car into a 200-car garage. As someone parks it, he will take an elevator to his 38th floor apartment.

He will have air conditioning the year around. He will be able to dial a telephone call direct to any city in the United States. His utilities will be furnished. His laundry will be picked up and delivered within 24 hours.

While his former fellow suburbanite is mowing the lawn, he will step out on his 9-by-20 foot terrace for a view of the Chicago River and Lake Michigan. He will live near banks, libraries and theatres An airport will be only a half-hour away.

OTHERS PLANNED

The hotel is the brainchild of Morris R. DeWoskin, president of the Condado Caribbean Hotels, Inc., which will operate the 7½-million-dollar investment. Similar hotels are planned in St. Louis and Detroit, although work on them has not begun.

"We want to see how it goes here before we go ahead elsewhere", says DeWoskin.

Companies are taking apartments and their executives will use them to save on income taxes", he says. "Where the firm can't give a man money to pay for his home, it can say: 'You can use our suite".

ECONOMICAL MATERIAL

Polyethylene plastic film — the material that many fresh vegetables are wrapped in—is claimed to be the least expensive moisture barrier on the market today. Enough polyethylene to seal the ground area in a crawl space under a house of 1,100 square feet would cost a little more than $15.

Wood Has Good Insulating Quality

Wood can help you keep warm in winter and cool in summer. Building experts say a wood wall of 2 by 4 inch studing with lath and plaster, 1-inch wood sheathing, building paper and bevel siding has about 25 per cent less heat loss in cold weather than an 8-inch furred brick wall with lath and plaster.

Wood windows also can assure less loss of inside heat in winter and less penetration of outside heat in summer, experts add, because wood frames provide a tight fit and do a better job of insulating than frames of other materials.

Gas Fuels Outdoor Lights, Barbecues

This year there not only is a wide array of attractive post-mounted gas lights on the market, but more are coming in ranging from streamlined modern to elaborate period models. They're being joined by growing numbers of gas barbecue grills designed for outdoor use. Some are of a type that can be built into a fireplace fixture, others stand by themselves. All spare the backyard cook the trouble of making a fire, and the responsibility of putting it out.

It's a simple matter for the qualified installer to connect lights and broilers or grills to the house gas supply. Often inexpensive copper tubing is used for this underground connection. Just as the lights add a mellow, hospitable touch at the front entrance they can impart a happy glow to "backyard living," say the manufacturers. These lights are reported not to attract insects as other lights do. As for the gas grills, they've a special advantage in that cleanup jobs are minimized.

Make Your Heating System Produce

HOW DOES YOUR HEATING system work? If your forced air furnace is set for intermittent blower operation, you are likely to have layers of hot air at the ceiling and cold air at the floor (left) when the blower is off.

When it comes on (centre), cold air is drawn toward the return air registers causing drafts along the floor. If the furnace is adjusted for continuous air circulation (right), you will have even heat.

The heating system, the hearth of the modern home, plays a great part in a family's health and comfort.

For this reason, it is wise to know what a properly designed heating system should provide and to make sure the system in your home measures up.

Here is a check list, provided by the Oil Heat Institute of America:

TOO LITTLE HEAT

Ample heat: This seems almost too obvious to mention, but surveys have shown that many American homes, including some built in recent years, have heating plants that lack the capacity to keep the family warm during long cold spells.

The amount of heat required to heat a home properly is calculated in terms of what is known as "heat loss." Heat loss is measured in British Thermal Units (B.T.U.s). Heating experts use well defined formulas to calculate heat loss, taking into consideration such factors as cubic footage of the house, areas of glass in windows and doors, insulation and exposure.

Furnaces and boilers are manufactured in various B.T.U. capacities. The size of furnace or boiler should be of sufficient capacity to offset the calculated heat loss and should be capable of maintaining an interior temperature of at least 70 degrees during the coldest weather likely to be encountered in the area.

Various fuels also have known B.T.U. contents. Properly installed oil or gas burners each deliver about 80 per cent of the best content of the fuel.

Uniform heat: The heating system should be properly balanced to deliver uniform warmth in all parts of the house. Properly placed thermostatic control should be provided to insure house-wide uniformity and to keep interior temperature fluctuations within 1 or 2 degrees from floor to ceiling.

In warm air systems, experts agree, the warm air outlets should be placed under windows to counteract instantly the effect of external cold, before it can get inside and create drafts. Registers should be mounted in floors while ceiling mounted in inside walls.

Today's hot water and steam systems are generally of the baseboard units running all around the room, or the radiant type, with heated water circulating through pipes in floor or ceiling. Convectors and radiators can also be used in place of baseboard radiation.

HIGH FUEL BILLS

Quiet operation: A properly installed heating system is free of excessive noise.

Economy: This means low fuel half-bills month after month. It is well to have a good preventive maintenance program to avoid heavy repair bills. Check the availability of an annual service agreement from your fuel supplier. Such agreements are usually good buys.

Cleanliness: Regardless of the fuel you burn, your heating system should be spotlessly clean and free of odors. If it isn't, something is out of adjustment and should be corrected. Frequently, a householder will blame dirt or dust on his heating system when the actual culprit is some other source. Because of the action of heating convection, dirt which gets into the air currents from these other sources often settles above radiators or heating registers, leading to the erroneous impression that the heating system is dirty.

If your heating plant is causing trouble, it's a good idea to check first with your fuel supplier. He is familiar with your set-up and may be able to advise you how to achieve satisfaction with a relatively inexpensive modification.

Govt. Will Not Interfere In Threatened CNR Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is not inclined at this point to interfere with the threatened strike of 5,200 firemen on the publicly-owned Canadian National Railways.

No decision has been reached by the government, it has been learned, but it became known that there is no enthusiasm among key cabinet ministers to step in.

"I have nothing definite formulated in my mind," Labor Minister Starr said Thursday in an interview.

He added:

"If it is a necessary to bring both parties together, we will try to bring them together."

But there were no moves in that direction as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) declared a strike for May 1 against the CNR on the issue of the use of firemen on the freight and yard diesel locomotives.

The CNR proposes to institute on that date a program that will result, over several years, in eliminating firemen from these types of trains, though retaining them on passenger runs.

Indications are that the cabinet —which on occasion has intervened participants in big rail disputes to Ottawa as strikes threatened — will not step in immediately.

It appeared probable that the government, despite its direct stake in this CNR dispute, will wait for a move from the Canadian Labor Congress.

Top officers of the CLC, to which the firemen's union is affiliated, are expected to meet here today with officers from Montreal headquarters of the firemen.

Before taking action, it appeared likely, the CLC leadership would wait for a decision next week from the 1,000,000-member congress' 22-member executive council, governing body of the CLC between biennial conventions.

This meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—winding up the day before the date of the strike.

Meanwhile, Congress officials here were silent on the firemen's strike call.

Informants in segments of railway labor apart from the firemen have indicated a strike would get scant support from them.

This will put the Congress officers in a dilemma if the firemen ask the CLC to bail them out of a tough spot, with the CNR advertising that it is going to run trains, strike or no strike. Most rail unions are CLC affiliates.

Bank of Canada Interest Rate Again Increased

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada interest rate, climbing for the sixth consecutive week, rose Thursday to a record 4.97 per cent, up .11 per cent from last week and more than quadruple the record low of 1.12 per cent of August last year.

And there were reports from Montreal that the chartered banks would raise their prime lending rate for the second time in two months Monday, sending it to the high of 5% per cent from the current 5½. This prime lending rate is the basic charge to the banks' most credit - worthy borrowers. It was boosted to 5¼ per cent from 5% last March 9.

EXPLANATION GIVEN

In the Commons, W. H. McMillan (L—Welland) asked for an explanation. Finance Minister Fleming, touching only on the rise of yields on 91-day government treasury bills, said the rise was attributable "directly to the tremendous demand for commercial loans which are being made today on the commercial banks, reflecting the very great expansion in the economy of this country which is under way at present."

Average yields on this week's offering of $150,000,000 of 91-day treasury bills rose to 4.72 per cent from last week's 4.61. The central bank's discount rate, set at one-quarter of one per cent above this average yield.

This means the chartered banks and other institutions have to pay more for cash loans from the central bank, but it also would enable them to charge more from their own customers if their prime lending rate goes up. Profits of chartered banks rose to $52,700,000 last year from $46,600,000 in 1957.

Many of Soviet Upheavals In Recent Times Inspired by Nikita to Get Self on Top

Editor's note: Harold E. Mikes, Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow since 1956, concludes today a series of four uncensored articles on the Soviet scene.

By HAROLD E. MILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Westerners who regard political shunings in several Soviet states as signs of trouble for Nikita Khrushchev are apt to find they have been engaged in wishful thinking.

Most of the upheavals were inspired by the Russian chief himself, rather than resulting from any possible criticism of the man or his program. Khrushchev is simply building up his political forces and weeding out men he regards as weak either in performance or personality.

Latest of a series of upheavals among the Soviet states came in Byelorussia where a new premier was named and shifts made in the party lineup. Most veteran observers in Moscow said the move strengthened rather than weakened the man who replaced Stalin.

KEEN ON SUMMIT

"Khrushchev has his eye on the summit meeting," said one neutral diplomat in Moscow. "He wants to make sure that the summit is keen is completely on his side."

Khrushchev approaches the summit in a series of foreign ministers on German problems in by far the most personal negotiation among leaders from either side of the cold war barrier. Each has staked out full governmental as well as party powers. He has ruthlessly eliminated all possible opponents. He used the attack on the "anti-party group" to get rid of several, including such old-line party stalwarts as Molotov, Kaganovich —and Bulganin.

He skillfully split the outstanding military leaders to pave the way for ouster of a national hero, Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

BACKED BY FRIENDS

He mended personal fences throughout the Soviet Union, drawing heavily on his closest and oldest pals to fill key jobs. Promoting Komsomol (Young Communist League) leaders into the party.

Veteran diplomats in Moscow scoff at the possibility of any election.

Liberal Leader Pearson Honored On Birthday

OTTAWA (CP)—In an atmosphere of goodwill, the Commons wished Opposition Leader Pearson good health and best wishes on his 62nd birthday Thursday.

On Mr. Pearson's desk was a big bouquet of red roses, one of which the opposition leader offered to Prime Minister Diefenbaker for a boutonniere. The rest came from the Liberal members of the Commons.

In a brief exchange, Mr. Pearson "warmest felicitations" and the hope of health and happiness in the coming year. Mr. Diefenbaker noted that red roses generally are associated with St. George's Day, which was Thursday.

Replying later, Mr. Pearson said he was aware of the connection and also that "St. George in his day slew the dragon."

trouble for Khrushchev at home at this stage.

"Nikita Khrushchev doesn't indulge in threats these days to keep other members of the so-called collective leadership in line," said one top envoy. "He does not have to. The performance in the ranks of the anti-party group and later with Zhukov was too convincing."

Khrushchev has nothing to worry about today," was the way one Western diplomat summed up the situation. "He is the boss. He makes the rules and the others follow them. I don't think even a major political setback or failure in the Virgin Lands would shake him much these days."

International C.C. Rebuff Of Gold Mining Industry Met With Fighting Comeback

WASHINGTON (CP)—The gold-mining industry made a point of attention at the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, got a rebuff, and came back fighting.

The industry presented its views, and its spokesmen seemed satisfied that they had struck one more blow for a higher price for gold.

The meeting of business men from more than 40 countries also heard an address of welcome by President Eisenhower, met three Senators and six members of the House of Representatives.

The industry faced a battery of 19 prepared questions from nearly as many countries—all loaded with the well-known criticisms of the United States, including her methods of disposing of surpluses, her restrictions on certain imports, and the various clauses she uses to avoid the strict letter of trade agreements.

FREE ENTERPRISE POLICY

Her congress representatives denied that the United States is essentially departing from the freer-trade policy she has followed since the 1930s, but said that for the coming period at least her tendency would be more towards protectionism—of hard-hit industries—than freer trade.

Reaction of Canadian delegates was that they did an outstanding job of outlining their policies.

WIVES ENTERTAINED

The delegates wives—immediately after the president's address—left for the White House where they were entertained at tea by Mrs. Eisenhower.

The Canadian delegates were shown the hospitality of the Canadian embassy Thursday night as guests at a reception given by the Canadian Ambassador, Arnold Heeney, and Mrs. Heeney.

GOLD CASE

The gold industry's case is that at the present price of $35 an ounce there isn't enough gold to support the vastly - increased amounts of international currency.

So far, the United States is pretty well in the driver's seat the steady market for gold at the fixed price. Her declared policy is against any increase.

This is hard on the gold industry—which must operate under a price fixed in the early 1930s despite the increases in production costs which have once on the question, been shortcurred since.

Representatives of South Africa and Canada presented the gold case.

South Africa was on the program, but the Canadian representation was a surprise. The Canadian council of the ICC has not considered the gold question and so has no policy on it.

However, Robert. A. Bryce, president of Maracaya Mines Ltd., is a member of the Canadian delegation.

And, when the Canadian gold mining industry heard that South Africa was going to make a representation, it apparently decided it was an occasion to add their word too.

BRYCE SPEAKS

So W. B. Dix, vice-president and treasurer of McIntyre Porcupine Mines Ltd., one of Canada's big gold producers, and V. J. Wansbiough, managing director of the Canadian Metal Mining Association got a place on the congress program and Bryce spoke for them.

He said in part: ". . . Many of our best economists agree that gold is not in sufficient supply to perform adequately its function in the vastly-expanded trade of the free world, and further, that it will never, in modern conditions, be able to perform that function adequately as long as its price remains pegged at few fish.

Subventions Aid Coal Situation In Maritimes

OTTAWA (CP)—New government subventions on coal are aimed mainly at changing Nova Scotia Cape Breton's record stockpiles to provide a year and holding up employment there.

The subsidies, announced Thursday by Finance Minister Fleming, throw in an additional $4,200,000 towards putting Maritimes coal into Central Canada markets, with about $500,000 coming from the Nova Scotia government.

In this first entry of a provincial government into subventions, the federal and Nova Scotia administrations have teamed up in an effort to alleviate a crisis in the Nova Scotia mines, mainly in Cape Breton, where up to 4,100 men have been laid off recently.

A major aim of the new provisions — transportation subsidies to get as much as possible of Dominion Coal Company's stockpile of 1,200,000 tons into Ontario markets enlarged by the federal-provincial help.

SUBSIDY DOUBLED

To do this the maximum subsidy is doubled—to $4.50 a ton—on trans-shipment of water-borne coal into Ontario from St. Lawrence ports.

Expert opinion here is that with the help of the subsidy the stockpile can be brought down to manageable size, between 400,000 and 600,000 tons, by about next March 31. This is about normal for Dominion Coal Company's Cape Breton operation.

The new subsidy—the over-all figure of which was made known about six weeks ago—runs for a year, mainly to help the coal situation in the Cape Breton mines. For the long term Mines Minister Comtois said:

"The second stage in carrying out the government's policy will be a meeting in the near future between provincial and federal authorities to lay plans and make arrangements for a long-range study of the Nova Scotia coal situation which, it is hoped, will put the coal industry on a permanently stable basis in that province."

Later, he added:

"We cannot accept the thesis that an increase in the price of gold is merely a devaluation of the dollar; rather, it is a necessary step to acknowledge and halt the depreciation of paper dollars which has already taken place. As to inflation—one of the principal causes of the abandonment of gold as a basis of currencies and the regulator of the money supply. We have thrown away the gold brake. Properly used, gold is the best safeguard we have against the danger of runaway inflation.

"As for Russia, there are good reasons for believing that her gold supplies and gold production have been much exaggerated, and, in any event, we should not be deterred from any course of action which we believe to be correct."

FINE TROUT

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Lake Tarawera in the North Island of New Zealand is known for its famous 14-pound rainbow trout in a little 10-mile stream. Government statistics say this is because of a vast food supply and comparatively few fish.

Child Adoption Ad Appears

TORONTO (CP) — "Child for adoption."

These words topped an advertisement in the Globe and Mail.

The advertisement described the child:

"Roger is an attractive, healthy seven-year-old boy with fine features, blue eyes, blond curly hair, small in stature.

"He is of French-Canadian parentage, is Roman Catholic and speaks only English. School work somewhat below average.

"Roger was born with a slight palsy in his left arm which is gradually responding to normal use. He is not hindered in normal activities.

"This young lad needs adopting parents who are warm-hearted, affectionate and who will accept him as their own."

The advertisement concludes by saying any couples interested should write Ontario's minister of public welfare in Toronto.

OTTAWA SOUND

During the next two months, dozens of similar ads will appear in Ontario newspapers as part of a scheme to find homes for 11,000 homeless children being cared for by 56 agencies in the province.

Conceived by Deputy Welfare Minister James Band and endorsed by Welfare Minister Cecile of Dominion Coal Company's stockpile of 1,200,000 tons, mainly to help the coal industry, Mrs. Casgrain, the scheme will remain anonymous until the advertising has evoked serious interest from prospective parents.

Fort William H.S. Teachers Given Boost

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—A second pay increase in little more than a month has been granted to teachers here because of a "critical situation" in staffing the city's two high schools.

Under the latest pay schedule basic minimum salary for high school teachers has been increased by $400 a year to $5,000. The new maximum is increased by $600 to $8,200.

Until March this year, the basic minimum and maximum salaries were $4,400 and $7,200 for non-specialists. These were about par with other Northern Ontario school boards. The last double - raise resulted from increases made by a school board in Metropolitan Toronto.

In a bid to meet competition the Fort William board of education increased their basic minimum to $4,600 and the maximum to $7,600.

However, the board has been able to attract only three qualified teachers while 11 resigned for more attractive positions.

A letter explaining the "seemingly high jump" in salaries has been sent to seven other Northern Ontario boards whose schedules were previously used by Fort William's. The letter said that with 300 or 400 more students expected to enroll at secondary schools next September, the board considered its position critical. They would have to offer a schedule at least equal with other Ontario towns.

The most recent increase was agreed upon earlier this week.

MINIATURE TWISTER

OTTAWA (CP) — A miniature twister paid a fleeting visit to west end Ottawa Thursday, tossing debris and dust 100 feet into the air. A weather expert described it as a "dust devil." It lasted only a few minutes, sweeping through a lumber yard and tossing sheets of plywood around. There were no injuries.

Castro Getting Across Plain Talk in Visit to America

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fidel Castro's English is something baffling, but he's managing nevertheless to get across some plain talk in his visit to the United States.

Perhaps he will find him a vividly colorful personality when he visits Montreal Sunday. The bearded Cuban premier apparently prefer is not the type to inspire enthusiasm.

He demonstrated his particular charm and wit Thursday when he appeared before a meeting of the Overseas Press Club in New York. Club president Edwin P. Whitney said the audience of more than 1,800 in the Hotel Astor Grand Ballroom was the biggest in the club's 20-year history.

Police and Secret Service agents were sold on the streets with banners headlines proclaiming that Castro would be here to slay the Cuban leader. He joked about the reports, a paper in the gratefully amused and confident.

At the luncheon head table he carried on an animated conversation with a boy scout who was led forward to be presented. It wasn't a chat between premier and youngster but a man-to-man affair—or so it seemed to boy.

Castro caused consternation among a small army of escorting police by insisting on mingling with the crowds that thronged the ballroom. One of the more unfortunate incidents of the visit occurred when a New York's finest arrested in their zeal the chief of the premier's bodyguard.

Despite his beard and shaggy locks, Castro, 32, has a distinctly youthful mien and bearing, responding to verbal jibes with a boyish mischievous smile. But he has developed a paunch since coming out of the hills to topple the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista.

"My English depends on morning, noon and night," said Castro with a smile at his speech writer. "Sometimes it's better sometimes it's worse. In school they told me how much I would need English."

SERIOUS THOUGHTS

At other times his words were sermon-like. Stressing the role of the press in preserving freedom, the premier declared:

"I'm doing here what I do in Cuba. I meet the people and I answer the questions of newspapermen. People must be boiled. To know the truth is good for you and good for us.

"I have a map of more faith because I have found there is no difference between you and the Latin-American people. You feel like us. You love like us—you love ideas, ideals.

"We won our war through texture of the people and the strength of arms."

In Washington, Castro declared:

"We didn't come here to get money. Many men come here to sell their souls. We want only understanding and sympathy."

He followed up this in New York by denouncing Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic as an "international gangster" and urging the press to invite the Dominican dictator to New York to address reporters and answer questions about his regime.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

What appears to be a cozy little financial deal between the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and A. J. "Bunny" Ahearne, British travel and hockey impresario, came to light the other day with the CAHA announcement the 1959 Allan Cup winners would make an exhibition tour of Europe next November.

With the Rangers-Bruins tour already booked for almost nine years, there is nothing to be gained by the "amateur" crip except a good-time vacation for a hockey club, and silver linings for the exchequers of the CAHA and his enemy-termed "Sandii from Britain."

Surely Mr. Ahearne, who had a sizeable take from the $1,000,000 gross of the recent world tournament, and will deduct a man-size portion from the upcoming National League teams' junket, is not broke.

For the uninitiated, Mr. Ahearne is the president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, and boss-man of a large British travel agency. Nothing hockey-wise of a tournament nature moves without Mr. Ahearne's guiding hand and teams do not budge unless he has the transportation say-so. So he mulls the hockey over at his desk.

Mr. Ahearne is an astute man. He knew Czechoslovakia was in the throes of hockey fever when he named Prague the site of the 1959 world tournament. He knew European fans would be ripe for the picking if two Canadian pro teams toured that part of the world. As of now every arena where the Rangers-Bruins will play has been sold out solid. But that is Mr. Ahearne's business.

If the Whitby Dunlops win the Allan Cup and the overseas tour there will be a mighty howl of protest from at least two Eastern Ontario senior "A" league managers.

Managers Drury Denyes of the world champion McFarlands and Reg Walton of the Kingston Merchants, did not mince words in their disapproval of the Dunnies going overseas.

Their consensus was that with senior hockey practically dead in the west, and slowly expiring in Eastern Canada, the CAHA might better put its efforts to curing its ills than entertain at the expense of a British hockey promoter and a useless junket of European centres.

Both managers were emphatic in their statements that if Whitby was selected, it would be three years in a row that the Eastern League has been effected through championships.

"We are not trying to take any tours from the Dunlops," Denyes said, "but after all the fans have to be considered. Three years ago Whitby played a shortened schedule. Last year it was the Mees. Now it will be Whitby again. There is nothing at stake, in fact whatever team goes has everything to lose and nothing to win."

"We have the only senior league in Canada that's shown signs of survival, and taking away one of its best drawing cards for half the season, would put us another step nearer the grave," he said.

Walton was equally emphatic. "With teams doing their best to get fans back into arenas along comes Dudley and his overseas gimmicks. I wish him best on the tour, it could very well mean the end of the Eastern league. World tournaments and exhibition tours were did Canadian senior hockey in and this one will do it harm. Dudley might better look after his own family and set his own hockey home in order than go hand-in-glove with European interests for what means nothing but a shot at the Ben Hur type players and gold for the CAHA and Ahearne exchequers."

The fine Ahearne hand in the deal is quite perceptible, at least to this reporter. Following the almost phenomenal box office success of the McFarlands pre-tournament exhibition tour, the British sports czar and Manager Denyes if he would bring a team back this fall for European exhibition purposes. He was met with a prompt refusal.

"And I haven't forgotten," Denyes said, "that Ahearne refused to alter a McFarland to set foot on the Queen Elizabeth until the club had paid him $1,000 alleged charges for aircraft overweight during the exhibition tour."

Financially we do not know if the European tour will be "on the CAHA house" for the winner, or if it will be expected to pay a share of the costs. Last year when the CAHA sent the Kelowna Packers to Russia, the appliedcators had to cough up $16,000.

Whitby, if they win, might be able to underwrite their share but where would the Vernon Canadians get the wherewithal? They were sent east for the Allan Cup finals on municipal and government funds. They claim the Okanagan Valley will fold next season because of non-support.

One cannot blame the players for taking advantage of a six-weeks' free vacation in Europe. But we go along with the suggestion that with Canadian senior hockey in a near-death-bed condition, "Team" CAHA might better confine his activities to the betterment of the family rather than send a member gallivanting all over Europe on a useless wild-goose puck chase.

Tribe Tames Timid Tigers As Senators Nip Champions; Phils Cut Milwaukee Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

In this the year the American League has gone mad-race crazy? Could be. New York Yankees haven't been in first place yet, and fact is, they're tied for second and trail Cleveland Indians by three games.

What's more, Bob Turley, the Yankees' right-handed ace, has won but once in three decisions, and the world champions' pitching staff has produced just three complete games (two by Whitey Ford) in nine starts.

This is hardly enough to suggest that the league is going to have a new champ for the first time since 1954, when another band of Cleveland Indians the Yankees. But it is enough to have manager Casey Stengel grumbling.

WORTH GRUMBLING

At the moment, it looks as though he might have something to grumble about. The Indians, made it nine out of nine once more thumping Detroit's timid Tigers, 10-5, Thursday. The Yankees, meanwhile, were defeated 3-2 at Washington as the Senators beat Turley for the first time in four years. Chicago's silo White Sox shared a share second with New York, while Baltimore took fourth place by turning back Boston, 4-3.

Turley, who had won 12 in a row from the Senators since May 30, 1955, was handed his second loss of the season. Turley's only other defeat had no-hit the Senators for five innings then had a six-hit shutout until the seventh, when Bobby Richardson's error gave Washington two unearned runs. Windsor's Reno Bertoia got a single for the Senators.

Russ Kemmerer won his second start for Baltimore, although up eight hits including Mickey Mantle's second homer.

The Indians made it five in a row over the Tigers by sweeping the three-game set at Detroit.

Billy Martin's two-on homer off reliever Jim Bunning put it away for the Tribe in a five-run second inning. Wisleys Ray Narleski lost his fourth.

Dick Brodowski (2-0) was the winner in relief of Jim Perry, who was making his major league debut.

Willie Tasby, a favorite for rookie-of-the-year honors, homered and drove in four runs for Orioles, singling home the winning run as Baltimore completed a comeback with three runs in the eighth. Erale Johnson, the Milwaukee castoff, won his second in relief. Leo Kiely (1-3) lost it in relief.

Tribe Tames Timid Tigers As Senators Nip Champions; Phils Cut Milwaukee Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

For the past few seasons, Cincinnati's Reds have been all pitching. And it was that same problem that haunted the Reds again this spring, although new manager Mayo Smith admitted "it might be we have the pitching, but just can't find it."

Smith "found" one of his long list pitchers Thursday night as Brooks Lawrence, the big man of the staff, beat Pittsburgh 5-2 with a five-hitter. It was Lawrence's first complete game since the middle of last July, and his first victory as a starter in 10 tries since he blanked Milwaukee 4-0 last July 30.

It was the fourth complete game by the Reds' staff (Bob Purkey and Joe Nuxhall were the other) and the third full-game victory. This one lifted the Reds into an even split for 10 games. They're tied for fifth, two games behind the Phillies and seven from Milwaukee.

The Braves, who more or less live on homers, were beaten 4-3 by three Philadelphia home runs as the Phils slid into fourth place over idle Los Angeles to a half game. The Dodgers dropped into St. Louis 6-1.

Lawrence, 34, a big right-hander who had two good years before failing to an 8-13 record last year, limited the Pirates and allowed only three hits until the ninth. The Reds scored in each inning and Dick Groat's two-out single in the second inning then teammate Don Hoak drove in Groat and a sacrifice fly.

The Reds, who drove 6-2 against George Witt when he won seven straight as a rookie last year, beat the veteran lefthander in a two-run sixth inning. The Reds then added two more in the seventh.

ALL ON HOMERS

All of the runs came on homers. Ed Bailey started it with the Phils coming from behind on three runs in the ninth. Gene Freese's second pinch-hit home run—the other was a grand-slam last year—tied the game and Gene walks given up by loser Juan Pizarro. Then Stan Hasmer put it away with his first homer of the year. Bob Bowman hit the Phillies' fourth homer in the sixth off Pizarro (0-1), who gave up eight hits and struck out 11, but walked six.

Eddie Mathews hit his fourth homer in the Braves' sixth with a man on in the third, and Hank Aaron hit third in the ninth as Ray Semprock gained his second victory with an eight-hitter.

Walt Moryn and Dale Long homered for the Cubs in the ninth run sixth inning against loser Lindy McDaniel (1-2). Moe Drabowsky (1-0) was the relief ace blanking the Cards on three hits until Bill White put his first home run leading off the ninth. Drabowsky finished with a five-hitter.

On the Tracks

LEXINGTON Ky. (AP)—Tony Lee, the eighth-ranked money leader at the turn today, held off a challenge by Dunce, a mare, to a head victory in the $32,250 Bluegrass Stakes at Keeneland.

Five furlongs before the finish Dunce was W. M. Ingram's Scotland, who held on for third place in the field of nine Kentucky Derby eligibles.

Tomy Lee, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner Jr., was clocked in 1:48 and change for the mile and an eighth race, a furlong less than the Derby.

The winning Derby weight of 126 pounds, returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.20. Dunce paid $3.40 and $2.60 while Scotland's backers picked up $2.50 to show.

Leafs Drop Four in Row To Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jimmy McKnight of Rochester Red Wings has only two hits in nine trips this season. But one of them was a grand slam homer Thursday night that kept the Red Wings in first place in the International League.

McKnight came up as a pinch hitter with the bases loaded against Havana and slammed his home run to give Rochester a 4-0 11-inning victory over the Sugar Kings.

McKnight's only other hit was a triple Wednesday night.

Last season, McKnight, playing with Houston of the Texas league, hit .285 with only seven home runs. But the native of Bee Branch, Ark., drove in 76.

BIG JOB

It had to be a Yeoman job indeed for Red Wings ahead of the Columbus Jets, who won their fourth in a row, 11-2 over Toronto Maple Leafs. The Jets are only a half game behind Rochester.

In other action, Miami edged Buffalo 3-2 and Richmond demolished Montreal 5-2.

Bob Miller, who won his third for Rochester at 1-0 on 1-hit, outdueled Havana's Ted Weiand, giving only five hits, striking out seven and walking four. Luis Arroyo relieved Weiand with the tieing single in the seventh and the 11th, and promptly served up McKnight's home run pitch.

HOLDS LEAFS

Lynn Lovenguth gained his third victory without a loss as Columbus limited Toronto five hits, over-powering the second inning. He struck out three and walked three and gave up Dave Pope's first home run of the season.

Don Johnson was chased when Columbus scored five runs in the second inning. They added three in the fourth against Bob Chakales.

Jack Fisher won his first for Miami, giving only five hits and striking out nine as the Marlins scored a game-long winning. He gave only two hits in the last seven innings in relief over Ed Keegan who gave four hits.

One of the big guns in Albert Hamrick's triple followed by Woody Smith's sacrifice fly which made it 3-2.

THREE-RUN HOMER

Fritz Richmond's three - run homer in the ninth inning propelled Richmond and Jim Post to their fourth victory. It climaxed a four-run inning that overcame a 3-1 Montreal lead.

Richmond got four of its six hits in the ninth, driving out loser Babe Birrer with one out. The decisive blows came off reliever Hoyt Benedict.

Allan Cup Series Failing To Attract Toronto Fandom

TORONTO (CP)—The ghosts of hockey games past are haunting the Maple Leaf Gardens, scene of the Canadian senior hockey champions.

The first two best-of - seven Allan Cup series, which open so close that Toronto Maple Leaf's tremendous stretch drive into the Stanley Cup finals, have drawn a total of 6,800 patrons to the more than 14,000-seat Gardens.

Torontonians, basking in nice spring weather, are staying away in droves. One reason seems to be that Whitby Dunlops who lead Vernon Canadians 3-0 going into tonight's third game in the series, is one of the strongest senior teams ever. It was the Allan Cup in 1957 and the world champion-ships last year.

AN ANTI-CLIMAX

But the main reason seems to be that the series is an anti-climax to the Stanley Cup play-offs and the games immediately preceding.

Whitby coach Wren Blair said today hockey ended end with the Stanley Cup. "Now it's too late to keep people interested in hockey."

And Globe and Mail sports columnist Red Burnett says this series will achieve neither of the two objectives of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in putting the series in a big centre in a big city—catch the public imagination and make money.

He suggested it be played in a smaller city or town "where it might lose more money, but could not possibly be quite as dismal as this series has been, so now."

EXPRESSES OPTIMISM

However, Blair expressed optimism Thursday night.

"A good effort by both clubs tonight will get us 8,000 tomorrow."

Whitby won both games by identical scores of 3-2.

Meanwhile, Blair is still hot over what he calls "dirty play" by Canadians in Monday night's game. He says "in senior hockey you expect to keep the lid down. After all, our guys have to go to work the next morning."

"This isn't professional hockey where you can rest your wounds until the next game. We'll never complain about hard, tough body-checking, but this high sticking is unnecessary."

STILL HOPEFUL

And Vernon's coach George Agar does not feel defeated.

"It's not that they're so good, we've been playing terrible hockey. Dunnies now have seven retreaded pros in the lineup, and five more who turned down pro bids at one time or another."

On the high sticking business Agar says:

"What are they crying about? We didn't carry our sticks any higher than they carried theirs. Besides, we had a perfect goal disallowed while Whitby were credited with a goal, although there were three players in the net."

He said several of the nine of 14 penalties Vernon received Monday night should have been double penalties and others should not have been called at all.

"But I have no beefs. We were down two games before and we managed to come back. We'll do it again."

Fourth game of the series will be played Saturday night and no dates have been announced for future games.

Mike Souchak Paces Select Golf Field

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A select array of 36 golf professionals swing away in the second round of the $66,000 tournament of champions today, with Mike Souchak firmly in front.

The big fellow clipped six strokes off par 36-36-72 as he toured the Desert Inn Country Club course in 34-32-66.

Two strokes back was unheralded John McMullin, who slipped in virtually unnoticed with a par of 34's for 68.

Two other dark-horses, Ernie Vossler and veteran Pete Cooper were tied at 69, while such pre-tournament hotshots as Gene Littler and Art Wall Jr., were down the line—though hardly out of contention.

Littler, who has won this event three times, rallied after a shaky start and landed in a five-way tie at 71, while Wall, in steady but unspectacular fashion, was even par 36-36-72.

Deadlocked at 70 were Arnold Palmer, whose case was improved by a hole-in-one on the 613-yard 16th hole, and Julius Boros, each with 35-35 for the round.

Eleven players managed to better par. Rounding out the list in the 71 bracket were last year's winner, Stan Leonard, Ken Venturi and Paul Harney.

Jordan, Akins Fight Tonight Pay Your Money, Take Pick

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Don Jordan, a young champion on the way up, pits his speed and skill against Virgil (Hinegeber) Akins, a veteran slugger who may be past his peak, in a twice-postponed welterweight championship fight tonight.

The oddsmakers call the fight even—5 to 6 and take your pick. This might be because half of them saw Akins destroy Vince Martinez for the title a year ago, and the other half watched him badly outclassed by Jordan in Los Angeles Dec. 2.

The fight will start at 10 p.m. EST, and will be nationally televised.

The 31-year-old Akins and his handlers must be haunted by the fact the St. Louis fighter has looked bad in all three of his fights since he blasted Martinez for the crown. The question is, can he return to the form which brought him the title?

Akins could gain a match with ex-champ Carmen Basilio if he wins and looks good doing it. St. Louis promoter Sam Muchnick is talking of an Akins-Basilio outdoor fight in Busch Stadium.

Jordan, a 24-year - old part-Apache Indian who was one of 19 children was come fast in the last year. Only a year ago he was regarded as merely a big lightweight but is anxious to crash on his crown.

Sugar Kings Will Stay In Havana

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Maduro, president of Havana Sugar Kings, says his International League baseball club will stay in Havana "permanently."

Maduro, after a 2½-hour conference with Fidel Castro in the Cuban prime minister's hotel suite here, said:

"A plan had been evolved whereby Havana will be able to not only maintain its International League franchise but will proceed with plans for possible participation in major league baseball if a third league comes into being."

Maduro had arrived earlier Thursday to confer with Castro on ways and means of keeping the financially-harassed club in Havana.

Castro had promised to do everything possible to keep the club in Cuba's capital after Maduro had announced he was planning to renew negotiations for a transfer of the franchise to Jersey City.

Maduro said the club had lost $132,000 in the last five years.

Maduro's statement said:

"A non-profit baseball administrative council will be formed in Havana. The council's chief job will be to assure the ball club of the revenue necessary to keep it in operation and also to raise the funds necessary to obtain high calibre ball players to make the team an interesting one.

"The council . . . will work from zandlot to top flight baseball."

GOVT. CHANGES

other five months. The floor price will be cut to 19 cents a pound from 25 for the spray-processed type with similar adjustment for the roller type, now supported at 12 cents. On this basis, the support on the roller type would go down to eight cents a pound, though continuing criticism by producers may force a slight boost of this latter figure.

4. Farmers shipping milk to factories making cheese and manufacturing milk products will get a federal subsidy, paid every two weeks, of 25 cents on each 100 pounds of milk delivered. But any farmer who sells a portion of his milk to the bottled milk trade will be barred from the subsidy. Informants said this may stimulate a lot of farmers from the deficiency payment.

5. Those able to get the subsidy will be cushioned from the impact of the lower support floor. And they will get a little more money from shipments to cheese factories. The rate they will get for their milk from cheese plants will amount to a three-fifths price of 34 9-10 cents a pound, up 9-10 cents from the existing basic rate. On shipments of milk for other manufacturing purposes, the subsidy will range on the farmers' loss to 13 cents for 100 pounds from 40.

REDUCE PRICES

Mr. Harkness maintained that the lower floor prices will mean that consumers of cheese and dry skim milk "will be able to secure these products at reduced prices."

Milk powder was the government's biggest surplus headache, he indicated. At present the price mechanism hasn't had to be used on pills of 62,000,000 pounds. Some 28 months ago it stood at 100,000,000 pounds as gifts to international relief agencies; so far only 18,000,000 pounds have been accepted.

"In view of the impossibility of selling any considerable quantities of skim milk powder on commercial markets, any limited amount which can be disposed of as gifts, it is apparent that our production of skim milk powder must be reduced."

GRAHAM TIRED

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham looked tired as he addressed a crowd of 34,500 at Sydney showground Wednesday night. The Sydney press has drawn 215,000 persons.

Teen-Agers Fire Barrage At Sports Panel

MONTREAL (CP)—A panel of sports figures, under fire of teen-agers and adults had such questions tossed at them as "did you have been-aging" or "did you have been-aging on your day?"

The program, held in St. Thomas Anglican Church hall Wednesday night, was called Top-Notch Teens meets Night. There were more than 80 questioners.

Coast panellists were hockey stars Doug Harvey of Montreal Canadiens and playing coach Floyd Curry of Montreal Royals; football star Sam Etcheverry and Ted O'Quinn of Montreal Alouettes, and Danny Gallivan, sports announcer.

The teen-agers in Thursday question was tossed first at O'Quinn.

"Well, yes. We were just about the same in my day as you are now. We had fights and some scrapes and trouble."

Ted Curry: "Yes, but we weren't organized like they are today. Everything is organized. For Saturday night hockey I think we had to do a lot of it for ourselves."

Harvey: "We weren't any different, but today teen - agers have been placed in a different category. We did the same things."

Etcheverry: "Sure there were teen-agers in my day. We lived to dance, and by Saturday night dance was the big thing in our home town. We used to get around 500 kids out at a time."

The next question was: "Are we becoming a nation of spectators and not participators?"

Harvey: "There used to be plenty of teams for older fellows. There aren't any now. I guess golf and TV have taken the place."

Etcheverry: "People are more interested in hunting, fishing and golf than in playing team sports."

O'Quinn: "It's the older people who are becoming the spectators. They want to relax in front of their TV set or on the golf course. I guess it's our measure of living."

Curry: "Over the years teenagers have become disinterested in sport. There's a lack of coaches, not as many young leaders. Harvey and me coach TV. We are spoiling the teen-ager; he hasn't any desire left."

Should the government subsidize athletes?

The panel agreed it should.

TIBET'S PUPPET

and the Red Chinese, already strained by the widespread Indian sympathy for the Tibetan rebels and the Indian government's publication of the Dalai Lama's statement denying Chinese Communist charges that the rebels forced him to leave Lhasa.

"We don't want to invade the Dalai Lama," said Nehru. "At the same time we expect him to keep in view the difficulty of the situation and to act accordingly."

PANCHEN HOLDING POST

The 21-year-old Panchen Lama is the highest ranking Buddhist leader. The Chinese communists installed him as head of the Tibetan government but said he was only holding the fort until the Dalai Lama returned and accepted Communist domination.

The Reds claimed the Dalai Lama left Lhasa under duress from the rebels and was forced into India against his will. The young fugitive denied this in a statement last weekend, declaring that the communists had broken their promises of Tibetan autonomy.

REBELLION FLARES

A Calcutta newspaper's correspondent said the Tibetan border reported today that rebellion had flared up again in Lhasa and that the Chinese had been using heavy artillery in the capital for the last few days.

The Assam correspondent for the Amrita Bazar Patrika said the new outbreak had sent a sizable number of Tibetans fleeing toward India.

RAINBA MEN FLEE

PINAR del RIO, Cuba (AP)—A former soldier who escaped from a military prison while under the death sentence for war crimes was killed Wednesday in a gun fight with government troops. Three others also under death sentences escaped with him. One, a lieutenant in the Batista regime, was recaptured and executed.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

Family Fetes Bayside Lady On 93rd Birthday

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. Sarah Acker celebrated her 93rd birthday on Monday with a few callers including Mr. James Sandercock and Mrs. Donald Mauricette from near Stirling and relatives; also grandchildren, Mrs. Harold Reddick and family and her children from Belleville.

Mrs. Casey Ketcheson was a Saturday afternoon caller. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scott, of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hagerman, of Ashburn, were Sunday evening callers.

On Sunday evening a dinner party was held in Mrs. Acker's honor with her daughters, sons and other relatives in attendance. There were three birthday cakes and Mrs. Acker had a happy time blowing out the candles.

Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Scott (Nellie) of Frankford, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiley (Florence) of Oshawa; Mrs. Will Parcels (Addie) of Norwood; her sons Harry of Trenton and George and Clifford at home; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pearson of Aiken's district; Mrs. Avery Martin and Ross of Frankford; Mrs. Max Meyers of Trenton; Mr. George Reichert of Trenton; Miss Luella Colling of Toronto who is remaining for some time, and Mrs. Vera Sine of Bayside.

Mrs. Acker was the recipient of many gifts including cut flowers, potted plants, artificial flowers, chocolates, aylona cups and saucers and pillow cases.

Mrs. Acker has lived in this district nearly all her life. She is still quite active and enjoys her many visitors.

Her husband died at the Bayside district wish her many more happy years with her family.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER

Friday, April 24

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — See that you do nothing now to decrease the prestige you have already gained. Also, take care you do not fall into usual failing of giving back - talk to high executives or officers else you get into trouble. Be courteous and clever.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A private worry has you fretting today and very much in the mood to, fly off somewhere. But you would only be taking it with you, so keep calm and look at your trouble objectively, then you solve anxiety properly. Poise means so much.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — A very opinionated pal tries to tell you what to do concerning one in authority on whom you have wisely depended for some time. Do not permit this, but be loyal and steadfast, and even show gratitude for wise and thoughtful friend—.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Argument going on between an associate and a higher up must not be entered into by you. Impress upon them that you are perfectly neutral. Keep busily occupied at own labors and you can later benefit by this flare-up.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Although you are faced with many dull tasks to perform, keep on higher ups with your ability to lay them aside while you concentrate on bigger and better ventures that will mean real success for you. Be very broadminded.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Do not endeavor to change your way of doing things today simply because one who has a fetish for doing things too methodically is about. Stick to own tried trek on bigger and better ventures that will mean real success for you. Be very broadminded.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Seek the advice of brilliant associate now in your dilemma instead of paying attention to close family tie who goes around in circles. However, see that you change your usual taciturn ways a good deal first.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Stop a while today and figure out how you can accomplish more with less hard work in the future. See what shortcuts can be taken. Today's thought will mean a great deal to you. P. M. go about socially and get more ideas.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — The best way to get away from that money worry today is to get together with authorities and discuss good ideas with them. Then you will soon know how to increase abundance and make the future more secure. Commercialize your talents.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Instead of angling to get you an ear to the advice of kin and let them help you with hard work, also. Then you make new headway. P. M. is ideal for having a nice time socially and relaxing. Be charming.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Fine day to combine efforts with progressive people and put across some of your own good ideas. But be sure first to inspect any worries or problems that have been benefiting you for some time. Be full of vim and vigor.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Seek good comrades who can give excellent advice and suggestions now. No expenditure of money is necessary, since it will be freely given. P. M. have fun and meet interesting new people.

If your child is born today .. The intelligent child born today will in later life indulge in much research that is very clever, since the mind is most alert. So it behooves you to give your progeny a training in dramatics that will bring out this rare streak of comedy. But take care that this does not descend to the guilefully argumentative. Fine chart also for forging new links to old established businesses, conditions.

Wants Canada Council Grants Clearly Defined

OTTAWA (CP)—Auditor - General Watson Sellar has called on Parliament to clearly define the boundaries under which the Canada Council may make grants to universities.

He told the Senate finance committee that existing legislation is somewhat ambiguous. Out of the council's 10,000,000 fund, it can provide $50,000,000 for such university construction as would aid in studies in the humanities, social sciences and arts.

Some universities had used funds to put up student's residences. There, I appeared, might possibly be used no only by students of he are, social sciences and humanities but also here in engineering, medicine and other faculties.

Sunday School Lesson

Meanest Sin of Small Souls

By ROY L. SMITH

A wise old country preacher, watching the devastation that was being inflicted on an otherwise good neighborhood by two rival leaders of the community, said, "Jealousy is the meanest sin of small souls." And he might have added that it is also a sin that is capable of shrinking the largest soul.

TEMPTATIONS OF POWERFUL

It is a fact of common observation that those who stand in high places are under the necessity of facing temptations that never beset the little people. More of this world's great have been made small through jealousy than through any other weakness to which human nature is heir.

King Saul, the first of the Hebrew kings, had every reason in the world to congratulate himself. He had been blessed with a towering figure, a commanding presence, and vast physical strength. At the outset of his career he had exhibited a very commendable modesty, and during those years he had won notable victories. But there came a time when he became terrified lest some rival might undermine him, and when the young man David began to arouse the enthusiasm of the nation, the older man could not endure it.

One of the insidious temptations to which all powerful men are subject is the danger of identifying their personal fortunes with the welfare of the nation, the corporation, or the Church. They seem to think that nothing is good unless good for them. Many a nation has been sacrificed on the altar of a proud man's vanity or jealousy.

ANOTHER WITH SAME SIN

In an engineering department of a great corporation a department head was afflicted by the same terrible disease. He could not endure the sight of an undertaking succeeding.

One of the engineers was an inventive young fellow, whose mind was always blossoming with ideas. He made it a rule to deposit descriptions of those ideas on the desk of his "boss." Some of them were bad, of course, but occasionally one of them was actually brilliant. But the boss was quite incapable of admitting that one of his "help" was capable of solving problems he could not solve. At first he gave grudging admission that he had received the suggestions. Then, as time went on, he accepted the folders and "placed them on file."

> The Uniform Sunday School lesson for April 26: "THE RISE OF DAVID," 1 Samuel 16:1 through 18:16.

Then came a time when he submitted a series of the best suggestions to the general manager of the corporation, typed on his personal stationery—and re-drawn on his own drawing board. At least two of the ideas proved to be exactly what the firm was looking for, and the department head was publicly acclaimed. Meanwhile, the producing engineer was ignored. And the boss was never able to understand why his departmental organization fell apart. He got the credit, but he lost his own soul.

NO WORRY ABOUT PHILISTINES

The most powerful and resourceful of the enemies the Children of Israel faced during those early years were known as Philistines. Comparatively little is known of their origins, their racial strain, or their exact heritage. It is known, however, that they were competitors of the Hebrews for the Land of Promise, and at one time secured about on the point of throwing the sons of Abraham back into the desert.

But, strangely, the most dangerous situations from which the people suffered in the course of their conquest of the land was the jealousies and rivalries of the various tribes and leaders. If they could ever have been able to unify, and to command, the issue might have been quite easily settled.

The evil forces of any community can take it easy if the good people of the town are divided warring groups. Vice is never more content than when the forces of righteousness are warring on one another. The Philistines had matters about their own way while Saul was making war on David.

It is to the jealousy of this kind in the case of David, that the downfall of his house must be traced. Had Saul been able to govern himself, he might have been able to govern his people. Failing with himself, it was inevitable that he would fail with the kingdom.

Jesu once said that the city who could rule his own spirit was greater than that one who took a city, and it may have been that he was thinking of Saul and David.

N.Y. Police Seize Man With Bomb At Castro Rally

Cuban Premier Was Talking to Huge Crowd

NEW YORK (AP) — Police seized a young man carrying a homemade bomb Friday night as he tried to climb a barrier 200 feet from where Fidel Castro was addressing a huge rally in Central Park.

They quoted the young mah as saying later that he intended to touch off the bomb "for excitement."

"It was just for kicks, I didn't intend to hurt people," he said. Police said police specialists defused the bomb had an effective radius of 200 feet.

The Cuban prime minister was addressing a cheering crowd of 30,000 from a band shell in the park. A wall of police separated him from the crowd in front, and behind the shell police had set up barriers to keep the area clear.

It was here, unknown to Castro and the crowd, that a blond, crew-cut young man wearing a pale blue windbreaker and cotton slacks was taken into custody after into the enclosed space.

Police said they found a bulky metal tube, sealed at both ends. Police later reported it was filled with a powder known to clean chrome, which had been mixed with bits of sulphur and zinc, and sealed at one end with plaster.

FINALLY SEALED

The other end had been partly sealed with plaster, and contained a fuse apparently made from a cigaret, which police said probably was to be lit at last.

Police quickly buried the bomb deep in the sand. Then the bomb was detonated.

Later the man was identified as Gregory Feller, 24, former army sergeant, who lives in a furnished room in downtown Manhattan.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said Feller told police he had twice before set off bombs in the park. The first, a year ago, he said, was a small bomb in the ground. The second, two weeks ago, was more successful because of better plugging.

NO COMMENT

Castro had no comment when he heard of the incident.

Police had begged him to cancel his appearance at the end with which an assassin could use the crowd and the cover afforded by the surrounding woods.

The bearded 32-year-old revolutionary only shrugged, and commented, "I will not live one day more than I am going to die."

Seaway Opened To Shipping Traffic of World

MONTREAL (CP)—A veteran of polar seas, the icebreaker D'Iberville, sloped majestically into the St. Lambert Lock at 9:10 a.m. today, to open the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The tough, 5,678-ton ship, loaded with government officials, parliamentarians and newspaper men, inched into the 766-foot lock to be raised 35 feet into Laprairie basin canal.

"Thank God it didn't rain," said Transport Minister Hees, waving to hundreds of onlookers lining the concrete walls of the lock, first of seven in the big ditch leading to the Great Lakes.

Car horns honked, ships sounded their whistles and youngsters rode bicycles along the dyke walls as the D'Iberville moved into the seaway.

"It's a great thing to have a deep-water canal going right to the centre of the country," said Mr. Hees, who led a party of 120 MPs and senators on board for the opening.

"It's a little bit of history," added S. S. Roberts, president of Canada's St. Lawrence Seaway authority. The D'Iberville had a slow, stately parade of ships—55 ocean vessels and 23 inland — sailers—lined up from Montreal harbor to Lanoraie anchorage, 36 miles east.

The opening took place in dull, cloudy weather.

The seaway, a project debated by politicians for half a century and completed by 15,000 workers in five years, is to be used by the shipping traffic of the world.

Margot Fonteyn Says Little to Explain Arrest

LONDON (CP)—Dame Margot Fonteyn answered questions with graceful features naturally enough for the first ballerina of the Western world — but said little to explain her temporary arrest or her husband's activities to reporters Friday night.

Her Panamanian husband, Roberto Arias has been accused of plotting against the Panamanian government and Miss Fonteyn was questioned and held for 3 hours before flying — by government car — to her home.

Arias was reported to be in the Brazilian Embassy in Panama City. Friday night Miss Fonteyn insisted she had no idea of his whereabouts. She discussed briefly her stop in New York.

"I stopped over in New York only because I thought he might get in touch with me," she said. "I have no idea what his plans are now."

Asked if she feared he might be shot if the Panamanian authorities caught him, she said "I don't like to think about that."

VETOES QUESTIONS

She vetoed all questions about her husband's politics and the purported coup.

"When did you last see your husband?" she was asked.

"That," she said, "is precisely the sort of question I will not answer."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Cooler air edged southward into Southern Ontario Friday and was ushered by cloudiness and some light rain. The advance of the cooler air has been halted temporarily by the development of a low pressure system now centred in the west of the Great Lakes. This disturbance is expected to move across Southern Ontario early Sunday morning and will be followed by a much pronounced outbreak of cold air.

PCs Will LEARN FOLLY BREAKING WORD -- MARTIN

Says Farmers Are Given No 'New Deal'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal party's agriculture spokesman says the Progressive Conservatives in the next election will learn the folly of breaking election promises.

Paul Martin, MP for Ontario's Essex East and former Liberal health minister, said Friday in the Commons the Conservatives have given the farmers no "new deal" as they promised in the 1957 and 1958 elections.

He said the millions of dollars spent on agriculture by the Conservatives have flowed for the most part from acts introduced by the Liberal party when it was in office. All the government had done was to "refine" existing measures.

"You are quite wrong," said Agriculture Minister Harkness during debate on his department's spending program for the current fiscal year. "That is not what the last election proved."

Mr. Martin said Mr. Harkness was right about the last election.

"But when the next election comes he will know differently," he added.

Mr. Martin said Mr. Harkness brought down on his own head the farmers' protest march on Ottawa last month and the subsequent debate on farm problems.

At another point, Mr. Harkness outlined some of the government's intentions in connection with proposals for a $20-million fund, in the hog price support from which the Canadelgist, basis Montreal and Toronto, to $23.65.

"The idea is to maintain the support price by means of deficiency payments," he said. his proposals would be put into effect as soon as possible, perhaps within two or three months. At present the government buys hogs itself when the market price goes below the floor level.

HOG SUBSIDY

He said the new system, of providing a subsidy to make up any difference between the market price and the floor price, will be "a new deal" as far as a small hog producer is concerned. He said details as "what number of hogs will be covered" are worked out. A limit on the number of hogs eligible for support would collect were necessary "to prevent contract farmers from stealing the system."

Mr. Martin said the agriculture minister has increased by 40 Harkness admitted the Conservatives had promised more than they "delivered" are worked

PRICE SUPPORT

During the day - long debate, Hazen Argue, CCF member, made and only opposition MP among the Commons' Prairie members, said there appears to be an impression that whenever a government farm support is paid it goes to the western farmer.

Mr. Harkness said that type of statement raised sectional difficulties. Payments were paid with equal benefit to all farmers growing products qualifying for aid.

He outright statements by Mr. Argue that the government's 1 helped western farmers. They were

Crude "Death Ray" Kills Monkeys But Radio, Radar Not Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government scientists reported Friday that at least 10 monkeys have been killed in recent experiments with "death ray" beams coming from certain ultra-high frequency radio.

But Dr. Pearce Bailey, who made the report, indicated a belief that it would be unlikely that such a thing could happen to a person working in a radio or working a radar set.

However, he also said that while "we are not certain radio and radar are not dangerous . . . we have had mysterious airplane accidents."

"It was always assumed that with the higher frequencies these things could not happen," he said, "but we have been told that if you use a certain frequency and have the head in a certain place that this can happen."

Bailey reported what he termed a remarkable phenomenon in testimony before the House of Representatives appropriations committee released Friday. He is director of the National Institute of Neurological diseases and blindness.

Describing one experiment, the doctor said the waves that killed a monkey emanated from a radio antenna pointing toward the monkey's head and in line with his brain stem, the central and vital part of the brain. In the case of the monkey was killed in five minutes.

The particular radio frequency employed, Bailey said later, was 425 megacycles.

Radio experts said a reporter misunderstood. Such high frequencies used in ultra-high-frequency line-of-sight radio communications 1 to 2 miles, unlimited and is also used in some types of specialized television and radar.

In contrast, commercial radio broadcasting is in the frequency band ranging from six-tenths of a megacycle to 1.6 megacycles. Frequency Modulation (FM) band radio and everyday television are in the band of spectrum of approximately 100 megacycles. Most radar sets are in the range of several thousand megacycles.

Bailey reported that the deaths of a number of monkeys were apparently related to something other than the heating effect of the radio waves.

Several scientists have reported in the past that radar beams can be dangerous, from the standpoint of their heating effect. Dr. John R. McLaughlin of Glendale,

Gen. Macklin Flails Govt., Liberals on Defence Policy

SUDBURY (CP) — Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, retired adjutant - general of the Canadian Army, said in a speech to the Conservative government has followed the "same muddled and wasteful" defence policy as the Liberals'.

"In the realm of defence, Canadians have allowed themselves to be hamboozled, befooled and flim-flammed by pseudo-strategists and military quacks," he said in a speech to the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Other comments by Gen. Macklin:

"The taxpayers of Canada have been mulcted of about $500,000,000 on the abortive and deplorable Arrow interceptor undertaking."

"It is promised government will be paper on defence will likely to be filled with the same bortz platitudes as were those that came before it, and after we have read it we shall be less well informed about the real state of our defences than the Russians are."

"We Canada - U.S. defence partnership resembles the partnership in the bed and rabbit pie that was made in the proportion of one steer to one rabbit."

"We have the astounding spectacle of the airmen coming down to ground level to load rockets which have no more future than the jets they are discarding."

"We shall soon find that military flying in Canada has been left to the birds and the Americans and the proud RCAF will have about as much air power left as a flock of hens in a barnyard."

CNR and Firemen to Meet Labor Minister in Ottawa

MONTREAL (CP) — Labor Minister Starr is to meet the president of the CNR and the head of the Canadian Labor Congress Monday to try to avert the firemen's strike called for May 1.

Mr. Starr was learned here Friday night that Mr. Starr proposed the meeting to CNR President Donald Gordon and W. E. Gamble, Canadian vice-president of the union, after broaching the subject Friday in the Commons.

Earlier in Ottawa, after a meeting between Mr. Gordon and Claude Jodoin, president of the parent Canadian Labor Congress, it was predicted Mr. Jodoin would ask the federal government to get the union and the railway back into negotiations to settle the dispute over wages and working rules pended on the CNR's yard and freight clerks.

However, a statement issued by Mr. Jodoin said only:

"We have a very complete report from the representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) with regard to their dispute with the CNR. We are pleased to have this information for presentation to the executive council of our congress, which will be meeting in Ottawa next week."

The two groups, which make policy for the 1,000,000-member congress, have scheduled meetings Monday and Tuesday. Thursday. The strike deadline is midnight Thursday — the moment when the CNR says it will institute conciliation machinery calling for postponement of firemen on the yard and freight runs as well as wage increases and other concessions.

The firemen's union apparently did not suggest new avenues toward settlement. "They just wanted the CLC to help get collective bargaining started," an informant said.

Arias in Brazilian Embassy, Wants Safe Passage Into Exile

PANAMA CITY (AP)—Aristocratic Roberto Arias, who slipped to government troops hunting him and then, found asylum in the Brazilian Embassy, appealed for safe passage into exile.

The 41-year-old Arias showed up in the heart of the capital Friday and asked about his wife, Britain, the famous ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn.

The dancer learned of her Panamanian husband's safety in London. She was expelled from Panama Wednesday and flew home after 24 hours in jail.

President Ernesto de la Guardia, Jr., told reporters Friday that new evidence links her with the revolt and Panama may seek her extradition "if the evidence we are collecting against her proves sufficient."

LARGER FEDERAL SHARE FOR CIVIL DEFENCE SEEN

Ottawa Will Pay 75 Pc. of Cost

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial government representatives have approved a federal offer to finance a larger share of their civil defence plans.

Following a one-day conference here Friday Health Minister Monteith said there is "general agreement" on the proposal to increase to 75 per cent from 50 the federal cost share of provincial and municipal civil defence projects.

That arrangement, together with a plan to have the army take over sole responsibility for some civil defence jobs, will be put into effect immediately, Mr. Monteith said.

ANOTHER MEETING

The main conflict appears to lie in Britain's continued insistence on proposing some kind of central European arms control plan, not necessarily linked to progress in achieving German reunification.

PRESSING FOR CEILING

The British are understood to be continuing to press for Western agreement on a plan to ask Russia to reduce the number of troops and weapons in a small demilitarized zone in parts of East and West Germany.

American, West German and other Western delegates have been insisting that any such plan be tied to the Soviet Congress for merging the Western and Communist zones of Germany into a single democratic nation.

Diplomats representing the four allies, however, appear to have agreed on these main points:

1. Any new arrangements governing the allied position in West Berlin must be negotiated only with the understanding the arrangements in no way alter the allies' existing legal right to be there. The British are reported to have accepted the view that any new international status would be no safer than the one now existing, based largely on their wartime right of conquest.

2. No detailed draft peace treaty will be offered the Soviets. State department officials had proposed this, but the British said the time is not ripe for proposing a set of about a dozen principles which would be later translated into a detailed treaty.

Fifty Families Accommodated In Housing Plan

WHITBY (CP)—Labor Minister Starr, federal member for Ontario riding, said Friday that he has been reached between provincial and federal officials for the erection of 50 low-rent self-contained houses in adjoining Oshawa.

Mr. Starr and Public Minister Green were speaking Friday night at a meeting of the Progressive Conservative association here.

The housing will provide accommodation for 50 families. Cost will be shared on a 75 per cent - per cent basis, with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to provide the 75 per cent amount.

Mr. Green said the government recognizes the need of providing price stabilities for farm products to assist farmers in the conversion from imported products.

They were speaking on behalf of William Newman, provincial candidate in the area.

Two Killed At Georgetown

BRAMPTON (CP) — Two youths from nearby Georgetown were killed today when their car crashed head-on with a truck on Highway 10 about five miles south of the Toronto area town.

They are Daniel Smith, 18, driver of the car, and passenger Charles Walker, 19.

Harry Middleton, 35, of Toronto, the truck driver who escaped injury, told police the car came out of the fog and headed straight for him.

Western Allies 50 PC Agreed on Berlin Proposals

Ministers Meet Russians In Paris on Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western allies are reported 50 per cent agreed on what their approach to Soviet threats should be when they meet with Russia in two weeks to discuss the future of Berlin and Germany.

Diplomats are confident, however, the remaining 50 per cent of differences will be resolved and a united negotiating front forged at a Western big three meeting beginning in Paris on Wednesday.

The main conflict appears to lie in Britain's continued insistence on proposing some kind of central European arms control plan, not necessarily linked to progress in achieving German reunification.

Princess Margaret Again Visits Prince's Home Before Going Home

ROME (AP) — Princess Margaret left her private villa for an hour today to say a private goodby to the ailing German Prince Dowager of Hesse, who has been her most frequent companion in Rome. Police hedged off the villa entrance in secret. One Italian newspaper speculated on a new romance for the princess.

The princess and Queen Mother Elizabeth flew to Rome on Thursday morning to see the great Italian opera singer Tebaldi, in his stables outside Rome.

They left in separate cars, Police, hedged off the villa entrance to prevent photographers or reporting reporters, who were following the royal visitors, for five minutes.

When reporters caught up, the Queen Mother was on her way home. She returned to the British Embassy. Margaret stayed behind to pay a private call.

A policeman of the escort said that Queen "came to say a private farewell to a friend." A police official, who asked not to be identified by name, said that the friend was Prince Henry, whose name has been linked to Margaret's in reports of a new romance.

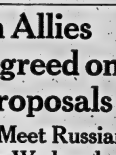
"They had lunch together," the official said.

The newspaper Giornale d'Italia says it heard reports that Princess Margaret had been invited to visit at the British Royal Family's estates at Sandringham and Balmoral.



The newspaper also reports:

Princess Margaret's visit . . . we have also learned that the English court would look with the most favorable eye upon the eventual union of the princess and Prince Henry, but only because there would be no problem of difference in religion since both are Protestants.

"Margaret is 29 and Henry 32. Both are members of the royal family, but, if Prince Henry is not, Margaret would renounce her rights to the throne."

Turn Ahead Those Clocks And Like It!

You're going to lose an hour's sleep — but there is nothing you can do about it until next fall.

Tonight at midnight, or any time later during the night on when you hit the hay, don't forget to advance time one hour in flight.

For, it is decreed, daylight saving time comes into effect sometime after midnight tonight.

If you're winning at the fall-out shelter building game, you will welcome it. If your wife makes you go to church Sunday morning, you'll do it your way.

In any event, turn ahead the family timepieces.

And close the mouse and say you were not told about it.

Deny Report

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet officials today categorically denied Western press reports that Nikita Khrushchev is ill and said the Soviet prime minister "is in very good health."

Asked about the reports, a spokesman for the government said: "Mr. Khrushchev's illness is a clear invention. He is in very good health — in such good health that everybody would envy him. In reality everybody has such good health it would be wonderful."

30-Pound Laker Seen Taken From Buck Lake

Hazen Stalrs, who never misses an opportunity to fill his fishing luck, travelled to Buck Lake, north of Kingston, this week with some friends to "see how they were running".

As far as Hazen was concerned they were not running too well but he can't say the same for another lucky fishing in the same lake.

The local angler watched as a gentleman in a nearby boat landed a 30-pound lake trout! Needless to say, Hazen himself he had one bite all afternoon and didn't even empty handed. But with hopes that the 30-pound fellow has some brothers in the same weight class you can bet he will be back for another try before too long.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to everybody who helped us in our loss from fire. There are so many to thank individually that we cannot, but from them we extend our heartfelt appreciation. We would like to thank the nurses and nurses' aides of the Belleville General Hospital, and Dr. John B. Stock for the best of care given to Mrs. Ethel Hamilton, who is in hospital, Toronto.

—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fehmanner.

In the midst of my sorrow I wish to express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to my relatives, friends and neighbors for the many cards and floral tributes sent to me in the loss of a beloved husband, Sam Geddes. I especially wish to thank Mrs. Ida Peterson of the Church of the Nazarene, Deseronto, for her kindness during several visits. Also Mrs. Ida Doral otterings; the pallbearers and the Wells Funeral Home for their kindness and efficiency. Special thanks must go to Dr. D. C. McVicker for his kindness and devotion.

—Marion Geddes.

We wish to thank the nurses and staff of 3rd South, Doctors William Cook, Clark, Hart, Ferguson, Dr. J. J. Buckley, Rev. Mr. Ferguson, Dr. J. J. Buckley, Rev. Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Ed. Hall, Mr. Ed. Hall, Jr., and friends and relatives for flowers, cards, letters and treats and also those who visited me and made my stay a pleasant one while a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

—Mrs. Ambrose Pitt.

We wish to express sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and relatives for their expressions of sympathy, floral tributes and many cards received during the death of our beloved father, Joseph Hall, also for kind thanks to Rev. E. P. Smith, Dr. Ferguson, Dr. Buckley, Dr. Cook, Dr. Clark, Dr. Hart, the staff of John R. Bush Funeral Home.

—Jack, Rhea and Nets.

Calif., reported in 1957 that a man died in 1954 as a result of exposure in a radar manufacturing plant in Los Angeles.

Although Dr. Bailey described the frequency of radio waves used, he did not say at what power the beams were employed. A scientist at the U.S. Bureau of Standards here said the power used "must have been tremendous" in order to produce such an effect.

Later, however, Bailey told a reporter that the power used was "not very large" — about 500 watts.

Bailey said the most important scientific finding to date from the experiment is this:

Of 32 out of 91 monkeys given sufficient exposure to kill them, pathological examination of their brains after death showed "very few abnormalities." And the 11 others all had a "quite complete recovery."

This shows that science now has "an instrument that can change the physiology of the brain without doing any permanent damage."

"Thus," he said, "this should prove to be quite a valuable experimental tool for use in research on diseases of the brain. Up to now, other research techniques, such as lobotomy, have caused destruction of brain tissue."

The government accused him of landing in a striking force of 25 armed bond land Sunday night after porting at sea with his wife. They had been cruising in his yacht Nola when the government ordered Arias' arrest on charges of plotting a revolt.

Drury Denyes, Macs' Mgr. Tells of European Trip at Father and Son 'Y' Banquet

Yesterday evening was a big occasion for some 230 boys and "dads" as the Bellleville YMCA held its annual Father-Son Banquet. The "Y" gym probably hadn't seen so many grown and aged "youngsters" since at least a year ago.

Drury Denyes, manager of the World Hockey Champions, was the guest speaker for the evening. He gave an interesting account of the trials and tribulations of those who would journey forth from this fair city to do battle on the ice rinks of Czechoslovakia and return triumphant, although perhaps a bit bewildered, from the air shuttle services of various air lines, which seemed to result in the conclusion by a few of Mr. Denyes' party that they who take off first is not necessarily the first in that order. A brief rundown on the various games played by the Macs during the world hockey tournament and several interesting sidelights and observations on the tournament, the leagues, the players and the country were given by the speaker.

Several other persons spoke as well. Alderman Jack Ireland, president of the YMCA, brought greetings from the Board of Directors. He also commented on the favorable progress being made in locating a site for a new YMCA building. Some half dozen locations were under consideration and plans were going along thoroughly and well on schedule.

CITY WELCOME GIVEN

Mayor Gerald R. Hyde spoke briefly in bringing greetings from the City of Bellevville and commented on the excellent service which the "Y" was rendering to the community.

Mr. B. G. MacKenzie, chairman of the Youth Program Committee of the "Y" spoke on the anticipated expansion of this program. Some thirty programs are now under contemplation by his committee for integration into the regular YMCA activities during the next few years. He noted that leadership from the ranks of the community were instrumental in implementing many of these projects and asked for suggestions from the fathers or local citizens re possible activities which might be considered by the committee.

A special presentation was made to Ron McBride in appreciation of his work as gym and swimming instructor at the "Y" for the past few years. A local high school student, he will be going to Queen's University this coming fall. Hank Ireland made the presentation.

THIRTEEN OPENINGS

Mr. John Fletcher, president of the Y's Men's Club thanked those present for their attendance and saluted the fathers that there were thirteen openings in the Y's Men's Club for new members. Mr. Fletcher was chairman for the evening's program; the event being sponsored by the Y's Men.

Besides the speeches there was some special entertainment highlighting John Foley, the "Charlie Chaplin of Magic", who gave an interesting exhibition of legerdemain which was well appreciated by the audience. His dexterity in this field was probably most appreciated by Mayor Hyde, who found no hole out in his handkerchief, and guest speaker Drury Denyes who found the issue of a local publication was not full of water. Mr. Foley is a student at the School for the Deaf and has been engaged in the hobby of magic for the past several years.

A special gymnastics display on the still rings was put on by Robbie Blaker, Rod Turner, Dave Fisher and Bill Burley, four of the local "Y's" leading gymnasts.

A sing-song was conducted by Messrs. L. Blaker and L. D. Read. Others participating in the evening's activities included Mr. Gerald Whitsett, who thanked the guest speaker; Memo Ten Hoope, who proposed the toast to the fathers; Mr. A. McLean Haig, who responded to the toast; Mr. D. G. Diamentides, who introduced the head table guests; Messrs. Charles Cawker, Jack Bernhardt, who presented the athletic awards to the boys; Ricky Loynes;- who gave the thanks to the Y's Men's Club for putting on the dinner; several smiling shirt-sleeved serving men of the above club who served the guests quickly and efficiently; and Bill Lynch, who gave grace.

Those who received awards included:

sided in the extent of $100,000,000 in the last year, including $41,000,000 in grain acreage payments, $22,500,000 in grain storage charges and $22,500,000 in subsidies.

A food surplus disposal board was proposed by Mr. Argue to handle surplus food crops. The board would have power to use barter in disposing of surplus food crops.

Mr. Martin said reduced price subsidies for cheese, and skim milk powder, announced Tuesday, were not warranted by any substantial increase in production costs in the last 12 months. The lowering of prices would not be in compliance with the terms of the Agricultural Prices Stabilization Act, Mr. Martin said. But the support price bear a fair relationship to production costs.

SOYBEAN SUPPORT

He urged that soybean price support be increased to $2.25 a bushel as requested by the Ontario soybean marketing board. Current support price is $2.10. Higher interest and this would mean that 50 per cent of the money soybean growers received would be provided by the taxpayer. The request was unreasonable.

He also described as "not a practical possibility" a suggestion that there be price support for poultry. Poultry raising was a factory than a farm operation and a price support would be "absolutely unlimited production."

Charges Press Adverse To Russian Ballet

MOSCOW (AP)—Isvestia says the New York Times and Time and Newsweek magazines are trying to dampen the American public's enthusiasm for the Bolshoi ballet.

The Soviet government newspaper's New York correspondent, N. Karev writes that the three publications are trying to "weaken the interest in the performance of the Bolshoi Ballet by adverse criticism in contrast to the rapturous public reception."

Karev charges the U.S. state department had a hand in the criticism because it "does not like the successful cultural development."

The Russian dance troup, now in the first week of its North American tour, has created the biggest demand for tickets of any attraction ever to play in New York. The critics generally have found the dancing superlative but there has been much complaint that the ballets themselves are old-fashioned.

Awards Dinner For Shell Dealers At Peterborough

Eight local Shell dealers and their wives were guests of the Shell Oil Co. of Canada Wednesday evening at the dealer emblem awards dinner held in Peterborough at the Club Aragon.

A total of more than 300 attended the function. Those dealers present from Belleville were Mr. and Mrs. T. Fitzgibbon, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, and Mrs. A. Ousterhout and Mr. and Mrs. H. Adams.

Mr. Horace Ward-Whate welcomed the guests and introduced other company officials who were present from Toronto. Mr. H. Ross Dabell District Sales Manager spoke briefly predicting that 1959 will not be an easy year but with extra effort it could be one of the most prosperous years.

During the evening 64 dealers received recognition of their long association with Shell. Pins and gold lapel emblems honoring associations ranging from 10 to 35 years were presented adding to an impressive total of 405 years of Shell dealer relationships. Local dealers who received plaques were Melvin Courtelle, Deseronto, 25 years; Clayton Motors, Campbellford, 30 years; Bill Richardson Ross Motors, 10 years and M. B. Fenton, Cherry Valley, 10 years.

After dinner the guests enjoyed entertainment provided by Doug Nomains and the Skyliners.

Flower Bulbs Prominent on Local Market

A number of kittens were available at various prices and at various stands on the open market. This week'marking the opening of the rabbit season however with one young vendor displaying several in varying colors at 50 cents each.

Summer savory and sage were offered at 10 cents the bunch or three bunches for 25 cents.

14-Day Jail Term Given For Contempt

A 14-day jail term for contempt of council was given by Magistrate T. Y. Willis yesterday to James Turcotte, of Belleville, who appeared in magistrate's court for preliminary hearing on a charge of breaking and entering with theft.

The accused was committed for trial by magistrate, his conduct during the course of the time of his committal being such that Magistrate Willis sentenced him to 14 days for contempt.

Turcotte is charged with breaking into Uptown Tire on Pinnacle St. several weeks ago and stealing a number of tires, some of which were said stolen from others given away. All the tires were recovered by police.

The accused has been on bail since his arrest and yesterday appeared in court without counsel.

Canadian Legion Will Assist Veteran Awaiting Extradition

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario command of the Canadian Legion has come to the assistance of a Canadian war hero who was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in Minnesota in 1919.

Charles Forbes, 63, who was awarded the Military Medal and decorated for bravery in the First World War, is in Guelph Reformatory jail and told the story of his life which included 36 years in jail and a long list of dodging police.

Forbes is awaiting an extradition hearing here next week. If he loses, he may spend the rest of his life in a cell. A legion hired lawyer will defend him.

BORN IN JAIL

The slightly-built war veteran who weighs less than 100 pounds and is about five feet tall, escaped custody in the U.S. in 1955. He was arrested last week in Sept. Iles, Que., and charged on information supplied by Toronto police.

He told the Ontario Forbes related this story:

His parents died a month after he was born in Saint John, N.B. He lived with relatives until he was 16 then left to join the army in 1914. Wounded at Vimy Ridge, he was made a sergeant in the Canadian recruiting centre in Minneapolis. He married after his discharge in 1919. A month later, while hitching a ride in search of work, he stopped at a U.S. soldier, they were picked up by a farmer near Glencoe, Minn. "We sat in the back seat. The soldier picked up a crank lying on the floor and hit the farmer over the head, knocking him out.

"I just sat there while the farmer was dragged into a corn field, tied up and gagged. I was told later he died of exposure."

CONVICTED OF MURDER

Both men were convicted of murder and sentenced to Forbes getting life imprisonment, the soldier 15 years.

While the Canadian War Veterans' Association in Minneapolis was working for Forbes' deportation to Canada, a gun was found in his cell after an attempted prison break in 1926. Because of this, nothing more could be done for him.

He spent the next 30 years at Stillwater prison until he was suspected of having tuberculosis. He was taken to prison hospital in St. Peter, Minn., and finally sent to Anoka State Hospital from which he escaped to Canada in 1955.

After jobs in Montreal and Ottawa, he came to Deseronto to apply for his war pension. He was taken in for questioning by police and released because there was no warrant for his arrest.

Last month, immigration authorities picked him at Sept Iles where he was working as a cook. He was released on $500 bail posted by the Quebec Legion until his arrest last week for the extradition hearing.

Seaway No Answer

Varying Great Lakes Levels Vexing and Costly Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE: With the first ocean vessels entering the Great Lakes via the Seaway, interest is focused on the Great Lakes. Here is a story about one important matter that still faces lake shipping.

By A. F. MAHAN JR.

DETROIT (AP)—Water levels of the Great Lakes are a vexing, yet sometimes profitable problem.

Damages to shore installations by high water in 1952 - 53 totaled $30 million, a figure now United States shores alone.

Some big freight operators were sued. Claimants contended beachwashers from ships knocked down breakwaters, smashed quay docks, undermined cottages or otherwise caused havoc.

Wind - whipped waters flooded some communities, particularly on the Canadian side of Lake Ontario.

But nothing like this is anticipated in 1959. This appears to be a below-average year. As of March 31, not a single lake was at its record high for that date since January, 1958. But weather is variable and engineers say any forecast beyond a month is just "a guesstimate."

WEATHER IS KEY

Varying levels vex both owners of giant freighters and little runabouts.

In low - water times a giant freighter must under-load up to 30 tons for every inch it sits has to give up. Conversely, in high water, a freighter can load up to 90 tons more for every inch of draft it can add. But owners never can tell what to count on and that still will be the case

Mr. E. Darling Gives Talk to H-S Assoc.

CAMPBELLFORD — There was a good attendance at Kent St. school this week for the April meeting of the Home and School Association.

Guest speaker was Mr. P. Darling, B.A., principal of Campbellford High School, who explained to the parents and grade 8 students the new curriculum for next September.

Mr. Darling said he was pleased to have the opportunity to meet the parents and students. He spoke of the inconvenience caused by the classes being held in two schools. He lifted the compulsory subject a student is required to take, and the options. He said he likes to see a student take all the subjects. This is a big step for grade 8 students from elementary schools to secondary school, and arrangements will be made to have the students come to the high school and visit the classrooms before the end of the term, he said.

The new grade 9 class will open a two-year terminal course. In September, all grade 8 students going into grade 9 will be of high capacity tests. Mr. Darling explained how which type of classes would be carried on. To make this curricula successful, the secondary school depends on the co-operation of the elementary schools.

The parents were given the opportunity to ask questions pertaining to the school.

In closing his address, Mr. Darling gave this advice to the students: "Not to sacrifice grade work, to work diligently, because competition today, be the best qualifications."

Mr. Darling was introduced by Mrs. B. Grills, grade 8 teacher, and thanked by Mrs. Bob Lillie.

A piano solo was given by Dwight Bonter, pupil of the direction of Mrs. I. Clark, the grade 8 choir sang "Somewhere a Child is Praying." Mrs. Bob Whitfield demonstrated the new film strip projector being used in the Kent School, by showing two film strips, one in black and white, and one in color. Audio visual is playing a big part in education today, he said.

Mrs. Grills' classroom won the attendance prize for Bridge St. school with 28 points; and Mrs. Bob Reynolds' grade 1 Kent school, with seven points.

Mrs. Reed Ellis, president of the association, presided at the meeting and Mrs. Lorne Watson was pianist.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Reductions in Subsidies Disappointing to Boards

TORONTO (CP) — Marketing boards of processing milk and cheese producers expressed disappointment and disappointment Friday when they learned of reductions in federal government subsidies.

The new support prices, announced Thursday by Agriculture Minister Harkness are: skim milk powder 10 cents a pound for spray process and seven cents a pound for roller process, both down five cents; supports to be dropped completely after five months; cheddar cheese 32 cents a pound in Ontario, a two cent drop; milk for cheese and other manufacturing 35 cents a 100 pounds, except for producers selling to the bottled milk trade who get nothing.

Officials of the Ontario Milk Producers Co-ordinating Board, which represents more than 90,000 producers, said the reductions will mean a loss of $1,000,000 a year in the case of concentrated milk shippers. It would also mean heavy losses in bottled milk shippers.

"EMBARRASSING PRESSURE"

Despite an unchanged butter support price of 58 cents a pound and the subsidy for milk produced for cheese, the board said the new policy will create "embarrassing pressure" on both industries.

It said the contention of Mr. Harkness that the increase supports will bring lower prices to consumers is not justified by past experience. In addition, on the basis of other food prices present prices for da and cheese have the consum favorable position.

NO GAINS

Wilfred Keayr, presi the Ontario Concentrat Producers Board, said th the concentrated mil ducers have been able in bringing the price product down "have been cut" by the federal ment's move.

The Ontario Cheese ers Marketing Board Ontario Cream Producer both said it is very do the consumers will ben the lowered supports.

SOME OBSERVATIONS ON SPORTSMANSHIP

The Montreal Gazette, in calm and measured tones lent to the atmosphere of its august editorial page, ses its voice to deplore the absence of ceremonies at e conclusion of the Stanley Cup finals.

"No formalities, no ceremonies, no protocol," it serves. "The teams didn't even shake hands. The anley Cup was carted, abruptly and unceremoniously, m rinkside to the Canadiens' dressing room."

This lack of ceremony, it explains, was not due any lack of sportsmanship on the part of the players it was the fault of the fans. "They have become so manageable that a ceremonial presentation on the has become impossible."

Audiences, in hockey and football too, are showing ad lack of good sportsmanship," it declares.

The Gazette has a case, but it seems to us that e lack of good sportsmanship by fans is too often ached by lack of good sportsmanship by players, that ese two interact upon one another and that any rt to determine which one first is likely to prove fruitless as the old argument as to whether the g preceded the chicken or vice versa.

Lack of sportsmanship on the part of players is ten blamed on professionalism. We suspect this gument is erroneous. It is true that the professional can an additional temptation to break the rules be use not only his prestige but his bread and butter ay depend on the outcome of the game. This, wever, would only result in professionals having a wer standard of sportsmanship than amateurs if the ter were generally able to withstand temptation - - d there is remarkable little evidence to support any gestion that this is so.

It is the fashion to blame poor sportsmanship on esire to win at any cost. This theory, too, is suspect. e sportsmanship is more likely to be the result of little pride in one's game than of too great a ire. The cheat is satisfied with a win by cheating, dgruly arrogant athlete not only insists on winning fy, but makes certain that his opponents have all e better of conditions. In all age when Frenchmen minated the chess world, the French champion uled to play the English champion unless the Eng- man accepted the handicap of pawn; even if the on Englishman had won, his victory would have been nted by the knowledge of the advantage he had been ced to accept from his opponent.

The modern theory is that sport is for everyone, to doubt it. Not everybody is a competitor. Compet- s fall into three classes, those who like others to lieve they are good (and many of these will cheat), ose who know they are good and like to prove it, eferably against odds, (few of these will cheat); and ose who would like to be good and are seeking to prove themselves they are (they never - - well almost never cheat because cheating would defeat the whole rpose of the game.

Paradoxically enough, the third class includes many ffers. But they are the duffers who always want to ay the champs. They keep on losing, but even at loosing are enjoyable, while if ever victory comes e is truly memorable, because it is victory over a truly rthy opponent. It is fun for the duffers, that we low; whether it is fun for the champs we cannot say, ce we have never been in the champ class. One perience, though, suggests that even the champs may t a kick out of it. This concerns a hunky-legged seven-year-old girl who persisted in hanging around tennis court where the town's No. 1 player was going thodically about the business of drubbing his most rsistent rival once again. That girl always wanted change the perennial singles match into mixed ubles. Finally she got her wish - - and a steady am of drives right at her feet, one of the backhands ots from which to make a return. If memory serves right, in a few weeks she acquired a black eye, the ckedest forehand drive of any fifteen-year-old in wn and a grudging welcome from No. 1 and his foe- m. Need we add that any doubtful shot on her e of the court was always called "in" by her, and se one in her opponent's court was always "out," she had her way.

Deseronto Days 1919-1932

Written expressly for The Ontario Intelligencer by HARRY M. MOORE

ARTICLE 15

From the very beginning the office of The Deseronto Post was to become internationally known as a port of call for "adventurers." That was because of several years before coming to Deseronto, and even to this day, we have been associated more or less with Adventure, a magazine published in New York first we may add as a fiction writer, then in charge of a question-and-answers department covering southeastern Ontario. When we left Deseronto numerous letters were to call, to register to seek information which of course was willingly given. (We regret to say that in our moving around since leaving Deseronto our registration book, giving all the names, has been lost. But we have a good memory.)

We recall Dan Leroux and his wife, all the way from Johannesburg, South Africa, and how we enjoyed the difficult task of trying to wheel a barrow bearing their belongings around the world. We took Dan Leroux out in a car, showed them tee country, learned much about them and the land they doted on. While Leroux had been born in Johannesburg, his wife had not. Born in England she had been a school teacher before moving to South Africa. Dan Leroux charming people. It was Leroux's opinion that the most dangerous animal in Africa was not a member of the "cat" family, but a bush buck, which when wounded, would lay in wait for the hunter. Of course we brought up the matter of Jack Moore and his canines and affects, but we were to get the story from a different angle, that it was not Paul Kruger's fault, but the doings of one Harney Barnes who set money above anything else. After a couple days' rest the Leroux's would buy an outboard motor and as it turned out we had much to talk about.

Flintoft had been overseas with an American battalion during the World War I, and on being an expert rifleman he was to be attached to the Sniping Section of the army. And it was while a sniper that he was to have an experience he would never forget. He had been caught out between the two lines, ran out of food, water, and the terrific heat passed out. He was not to know until later that he had been found, and had been sent out to bring him in had been killed.

Anyway when he returned to consciousness, the first realization was that the sound of barking came from a gramophone playing "Here's a Long, Long Trail Awinding." That song had been written by a young man of his neighboring town, before the war, had gone to England to attend Oxford. It was the song that got that song soaring to the top of the hit parade. And as you know it is just as popular today as it was when introduced back in 1914.

We gave Bob Flintoft and his companion a map of the Bay of Quinte and the Trent Waterway and saw them off. Weeks passed and then we heard from them. They had run into a severe storm on Rice Lake or it might have been Lake Simcoe and were rescued by a cottager who treated them royally. Then they skipped their canoe, motor and camping equipment to Toronto where they took a train home.

Two young New Yorkers turned up at Hebron in a cruiser and decided they must see at least part of Canada. That cruiser and they had gone all the work themselves, had everything but speed. Within an hour or hour on the water can be called at speed. Then they wanted to see the Bay, the Trent and who were we to say them nay. Since we never heard that they drowned themselves we take it that they made their way home somehow. We recall that one of these adventurers was a linotype operator who was much surprised to see a printer so far north. We told him that we had machines as far north as one could go.

IMPROMPTU MEETING

"Scotty," an old soldier, was still wearing the tartan, ran a tobacco store - - newsstand in Napanee, N.Y. He wrote to tell us that he would be along shortly by bicycle.

That week we had occasion to spend over Sunday at Cooks-town, north of Tweedle. Monday evening we left Toronto in an unheated railway car, suffered many discomforts, but a change was made at Trenton. It was then we fell asleep, awoke and some time later was awakened to see the lights word "Napanee" staring at us from a station building. We got off that train in a hurry, long after the trainman for not waking us and setting us off at Deseronto as he had agreed, and, matter-of-factly, "How are you going to get back to Napanee?"

Since there were no taxis in those days, there but one thing to do - - and that was to walk. We made that seven miles in two hours flat, or just between three and five o'clock, and turning into our yard, a short cut in the back door, we spotted near the garage a pump last and a rusty bucket, and in the act of preparing breakfast This of course was Scotty, the bicycle tourist. He wanted to be told him to save his food and to come and have breakfast inside.

Scotty was to recount his trip up the eastern States, the eastern townships of Quebec, a wheeling distance of 1,200 miles one thousand miles the route he had taken. But like most travellers Scotty was hungry for food and by noon he was on his way again, but only to return for a visit at Deseronto he had had a run-in with a truck and his machine was damaged, the cost of repairs. And so, he took a train for Toronto. We've never to hear from him again.

ANSWER TO PUZZLE

Of course we were to have other visitors from the USA, and not all were interested in hunting or fishing or fishing or even Adventure magazine. Frank Lillycrop was one of these and as it turned out, he was possibly the only man in the world who could give us the answer to a question which had been puzzling us since away back in the twenties or some twenty years before.

It was back in the early 1900s when Scudder by name, invented and built a typesetting or linotyping machine to be known as The Monoline. That was in Montreal. Scudder's plan was to pick up young printers, bring them to Montreal and train them on the machine and then as erector-operator to send them to various parts of the globe. One of the men working in the Ingersoll office at the time was sent by Scudder, to tell him to put our name on the list of subscribers. Agreement that he had done so soon reached us. After several months of waiting and wondering silly told, that since we might have been misled, better to return to the Ottawa Valley.

However that word to report to Scudder had been received. Nor was there any answer to our inquiries. However we were not standing still, there was work at our trade most anywhere and into effect on Sunday, April 13th, in some of the larger cities of Canada. Belleville will remain on standard time.

40 YEARS AGO

APRIL 25, 1919

"The Better Old" will be the attraction at Griffin's Opera House this evening.

Work on Victoria Park? For the past year there has been only a temporary bridge to entrance, neither rustic nor artistic. No time should be lost in preparing plans for a paramount structure and fixing up the park generally as a recreation place for the public. In its present state the park is not a good advertisement to strangers. Arrangements might be made for weekly band concerts. Zwicke's Island should also receive attention and it could be made an attractive place for citizens to spend afternoons.

After the regular meeting of Quinte L.O.L., last evening, a smoker was held and a pleasant time was spent. Bro. Charles Walters, financial secretary, and Bro. S. S. Finkle, recording secretary, were each presented with a handsome Jubilee Jewel. Bro. Hardy, Court Deputy, made the presentations.

50 YEARS AGO

APRIL 25, 1909

The ranks of the 15th Battalion, Belleville, Ontario Regiment, are about filled; there are only about fifteen vacancies according to Lieut.-Col. Thomas Stewart.

Lorne Price, a stranger in the city, found his brother here after making a search of the whole country, residing on McDonald Avenue, and the brothers had not met each other for twenty years. It was a happy reunion.

Mr. Sanford R. Burrows has returned home after visiting friends in New York City and Washington, D.C.

Mr. Frank Wallace, eldest son of Mr. Robert Wallace of this city, will please accept our congratulations on having received with honors the degree of B.A. at Queen's University.

SENTIMENT—GOOD OR BAD?

Years ago as one of the transcontinental trains roared across the prairies, a little boy used to run out each day and wave to the engineer. Then he went on for several years and then the child died. Two or more than fifty years after that the engineer made it a point on the little boy's birthday to drop the locket and the message on the grave which was near the track. Now the engineer's son-in-law runs the train and he is keeping up the custom.

A mere sentimentality? Yes, but things like that count in life. We may not think it is worth the two-legged animals which walk upright. Some, even among the cultured, would scribe to us a rather inferior origin. Yet there is something in the human heart which reacts pleasantly and contributes to sentiment which has sense and purpose in it.

Watch out for the people who have no sentiment about them. They can be dangerous to themselves and others. One might just as well fall into the habit of laughing at love as to laugh at sentiment. Sentiment, being a saccharine and disgusting; but there is such a thing as gracious-ness, thoughtfulness, kindliness, and a willingness to put self aside, which pleases any one of us whose heart and mind respond to the finer things.

When in doubt as to whether sentiment is good or worthless, examine your heart and mind, whether or not it thrills.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In my boyhood — and in my pocket I still carry it — was a bladed jack-knife I had then, so it can't be so long ago — you did not have to wash more than a dozen times at the end of the school car line until you were in the country.

Today, you have to drive fifty miles an hour for an hour and a half before you leave the city behind. And even then you don't really leave it.

Oh, sure, there are fields ten miles out, but they look as if they have already been subdivided and are merely awaiting the builders. Some of them are barren. But they are tidy and tail and have long avenues painted on them, and look as though they were owned by limited companies, not farmers.

As a matter of fact, it's impossible to get into the country any more. Just about the time you feel that you have left the city behind, you feel, in fact, come into the orbit of a town. And then a village, and then a ten back, and no vestige remains of the country. In fact, in fact, in tempo, that made it a village, a place to come to, with emotion, from the city.

What nonsense is this I write! Who will believe me when the country was like?

Why, hardly anybody carries a jack-knife any more. Safety razors more.

What do you want with a jack-knife when you've got a ball point pen, Eh?

The British Dental Journal says teeth will last longer if you keep your mouth shut, and that the more you do so the more likely you are to have diseased teeth. Constant chewing robs their teeth to greater erosion. In the same way people with prominent front teeth are especially susceptible; so are the mouth-breathers.

This looks like justice, because there should be some compensation supplied by nature on the surplus talkers and forever chattering orators.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

FOR EPILEPSY IN GENERAL, SURGERY IS NOT THE ANSWER

I've received several letters in regard to epilepsy; each one from a different state. But since epilepsy knows no state or national boundaries, I'm going to answer these questions hoping that they will help similar problems of other readers.

"In epilepsy caused by a brain tumor, after a convulsion is it possible to have high blood sugar? Is partial paralysis usual after such a convulsion? Is mental deterioration rapid after such a convulsion? Is surgery usually successful? — B. V."

The answers are the epilepsy may, occasionally, be the result of a brain tumor, but that is the exception, not the rule. Wide and wild variations in the blood sugar have been observed, but not always by any means. If there is "mental deterioration", it is the result of the tumor (if any) and not from epilepsy generally. And I would take a much longer than I am to say whether surgery is "usually" successful.

If a tumor is present, the effectiveness of surgery must be judged in the individual case. For epilepsy in general, surgery is not the answer. In a few instances is a tumor responsible, and in such cases your physician will be able to determine that.

Another question:

"Don't you think if the general attitude toward epilepsy could be enlightened, sensationalism could be found for many epileptics?"

The answer is: Yes.

Epilepsy has no more to do with intelligence, usefulness, skill or responsibility than hiccups. A genius can have hiccups. So can a dolt. The same is true of epilepsy.

"I have a sister-in-law who had her last attack of epilepsy many years ago. My husband says she has been nervous all the family before. My sister-in-law has a keen memory but has several peculiar traits such as continually raising her eyebrows, staring, headaches and a slur in her speech.

QUITE A PROBLEM

"Is this type of epilepsy likely to occur in the children? Our young son has always been healthy. We want another baby but I am afraid I've created a problem for myself."

Yes, you have "created a problem for yourself", because from what you tell me, I don't think you have developed any form of epilepsy at all. It's something entirely different.

"Epilepsy" is blamed for lots of things that have nothing to do with epilepsy at all. Brain injuries, tics, convulsions, and nobody knows how much else.

If in doubt — and you seem to be — talk to your own doctor or even pay the fee for talking to a specialist. It will set your mind at rest for the rest of your life.

Finally, I'd like to call attention to an excellent book published within the last year, "Epilepsy: What It Is, What To Do About It," by Dr. Tracy J. Putnam. It is published as a Keynote Book by J. B. Lippincott Co., costs just over a dollar, and is excellent.

Some have asked me if I have a leaflet on epilepsy. No, I don't. It takes a longer discussion than that to make much sense. Dr. Putnam's book (derived from some more technical books by him) is the sort of thing that gives you a clear picture. If you really care, ask your bookstore to get a copy for you, or write to J. B. Lippincott Co. in New York or Philadelphia, if you don't have a store in your vicinity.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me what causes cataracts to grow on the eyes? And if they form a film, are they ever removed? — M. T."

Injury, some diseases, and some factors not yet known cause cataracts. This is a cloudiness of the lens. They grow when the lens is removed, there is no way you see, for a cataract to recur.

Mrs. M. M.: Your doctors were perfectly frank and honest when they had cancer because they not be telling the truth to you now that you have whipped it? Just treat them. They've earned your trust.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my booklet, "Diet Control Chart", write me in care of the Chicago Southtown Economist, P.O. Box 138, Dundee Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cover handling.

DOCTOR JOHNSON'S PRAYERS

One of the most inspiring collections in the literature of prayers are those by Dr. Samuel Johnson. About a hundred of them were collected and published by the Wesleyan Brothers in 1843-7, with an introduction by Rev. Thomas Kitchin Chambers, who had buried his mother, his father, and his brother.

Requesting privacy, he knelt before the bed of the dying woman. "I then kissed her," he said, and expressed confidence in a later meeting. She told him that "to part was the greatest wound she had ever felt, and that she hoped to meet again in a better place." Then he prayed, which is one 'of the most beautiful I have ever read.

What a night it must have been — the greatest literary figure of the English speaking race, by the death-bed of his mother's, maid, expressing his faith in an after-life and in God's care of a child. As the editor of this small book says, the Doctor's prayers is essential. I have read them over again and again. The one that is unbelievable is the one he prayed at the bedside of Hester Lynch Thrale Piozzi, "on grounds." These prayers of Doctor Johnson indicate how simply the honesty and integrity of the great man that he was.

Men and women are greatest when at prayer in privacy. Then it is that we learn the measure of the soul, from which radiate kindness, helpfulness, service, and humility. God is always at home.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK — By R. J. SCOTT

A Lift for Living

What Is the Meaning of Life?

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Thoughtful persons crave a meaning for life. Meaningless existence is intolerable. We feel that our days and years are meant to add up to something. But what meaning do they add up to?

Think of the things that happen to a man. He is born, grows up, goes to school, gets the measles, breaks a leg. At 18 he is drafted into the Army, spends three years fighting his fellowmen. He returns home, is married, raises a family. He sacrifices for his children, works his farm or in an office or factory, saves for his old age. His children are then caught in another war. He loses a son. He begins to age, his health weakens, he dies, is buried. He is seen no more. What is the meaning of it all?

Or consider the events of man seen on the stage of history. I first became aware of the world's events at the turn of the century. Europe was the mecca of tourists. Or teachers went to study in the Old World, especially in Germany. Diplomats said smooth things. Nations pretended to be friendly. Then in 1914 war broke out and we were drawn in. Peace finally came, a just era followed, the booming 1920's boosted fortunes which the depressing 1930's destroyed. Then came a second world war, far more global.

VICIOUS CIRCLE?

What is history? The spectacle makes me think of something Hamilton Gibbs wrote after the First World War. One of his characters goes down across Europe and likens what he sees to blindfolded camels turning an Egyptian water wheel. In their blindness they imagine themselves travelling great distances, but in reality they are going over the same old mill ground. Is history just a vicious circle of recurring wars and calamities?

In the late 1930's a young man said to me: "My earliest recollections are those of cutting out war pictures from the papers as a boy during World War I. I was sent to school during the hectic Jazzy 1920's, graduating from Harvard in 1929 at the peak of what seemed financial prosperity. That fall my generation was tossed into the pit of a depression. I have never lived in what you would call normal times. What I need is something to believe in, something to hold to."

It is not surprising that youths are confused, that all too many become delinquent, that some are called "the best generation." In science and industry we are developing the "know-how," but we are not developing the "know-why." It is not enough for our schools to teach technical skills. We must give our youth meaning and purpose in life.

Chesterton once said that it is important for a landlady to know her boarder's financial standing but it is more important for her to know his philosophy of life.

Then Chesterton stepped up his principle and said that it is important for a general in a campaign to know his enemy's numbers and equipment, but it is more important for a peaceful to know his enemy's philosophy of life.

SOUNDEST PHILOSOPHY

This remark of Chesterton's is worth pondering in these days when we are matching weapons and satellites with the Soviet Union. The most decisive feature in this race is not which nation may be ahead in material at the end of any given month, but which nation has the soundest philosophy of life. And here is where my hope rises because I believe that the peoples of the so-called Christian nations like the United States and Canada have a more satisfying and sustaining philosophy of life than the Communists.

We have inherited the teachings and principles of the Judaeo-Christian faith. We believe that the Creator and Controller of this universe is a Heavenly Father whose purpose is to establish His rule of justice, peace and brotherly love. We believe that all men regardless of race or place are created to be the children of God and endowed with the inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We recognize that man is not strong enough or clever enough to save himself and therefore we worship a power higher than ourselves.

and pray to Him for help. We elect our leaders, not to be dictators but to be servants of the public welfare and the divine will. We make our laws but we open our legislatures with prayer, believing that our nations are "under God."

Individual life is worth more along the St. Lawrence, the Mississippi and the Ohio than along the Volga, the Yangtze and the Ganges. The Cross symbolizes a loving purpose and a spiritual power which the Kremlin does not possess.

Let us talk less about what America makes and more about what makes America.

Wedding

ANDERSON — PATTRICK

White chrysanthemums decorated the altar in St. Thomas Church, Belleville, on April 18, when Mary Grace Pattrick, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Clement Pattrick and the late Leonard Charles Pattrick, 228 Dufferin Avenue, became the bride of Allan Anderson, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anderson, Oakville, Ont. Canon A. E. McConnell officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Kjell Hardelden, the bride wore a full length gown of white imported peau de soie, with five-foot long train. The gown featured a fitted bodice accented with French lace and appliqued with seed pearls with arrangement of lace falling from the bodice to the end of the train. Her fingertip length veil was held by a tiara of buds of seed pearls, and she carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses and white mums, and hyacinth.

The bride's matron of attendant was her sister, Mrs. Kjell (Louise) Hardelden, of 28 Wareham Drive, Streetsville, as matron-of-honor, wearing a dress of Dior blue peau de soie, featuring princess line harem skirt, and bow back accented by a large flat bow. Her headdress was a large flat bow of matching material, and she carried a nosegay of white and blue-tinted mums.

Mr. William Anderson, Jr., of Oakville, a cousin of the groom, was groomsman. Ushers were Mr. Hugh Bertram, of Peterborough, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. Robert Anderson, Niagara Falls, a cousin of the groom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride, 228 Dufferin Ave., where bride's mother received, wearing a two-piece dress of delphinium blue miniature print silk, navy hat and shoes, and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a slate blue silk suit, with pink hat, and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was attractively decorated with white mums and pink roses, centred by a two-tiered wedding cake flanked by tall white tapers.

For a wedding trip to New York, the bride chose an avocado green bouclé dress. Featuring an empire waist accented by a large self bow and sheath-style skirt, a dress rather than boxy, colored shoes and suede bag, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Upon their return they will reside at 91 East Avenue, Kitchener, Ont.

Guests were present from Streetsville, Peterborough, Toronto, Kingston, Niagara Falls and Belleville.

Prior to her wedding the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Judy Fliegen, of Port Credit, and a kitchen shower of the Royal Bank of Canada in Streetsville. A trousseau tea was held April 11 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Kjell Haraldsen, 29 Wareham Drive, Streetsville.

Dr. Schreiner, Organist, Gives Outstanding Recital

By EUGENE LANG

Friday evening there were gathered in Bridge Street United Church hundreds of lovers of organ music, who had come to hear the renowned American organist, Dr. Alexander Schreiner. They heard one of the most enjoyable recitals of organ music that this city has been privileged to have in many years. Dr. Schreiner has been organist of the famous Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, Utah, since 1921 and has been broadcasting at the console of the monstrous organ in the Tabernacle on national radio hookup since 1929. Recently he accompanied the famed 400-voice choir on a concert tour which ended in its tour of Western Europe.

If one word could be used to describe the playing of this exceptional musician the dictionary can offer none more suitable than the word 'eloquent,' although others could be used the keyword of the recital. Here we have a man whose approach to every composition that he played was sane, dignified and reserved. There was no attempt to exploit the virtuosity of the theatre, the arena, or the circus — but one could never escape the recitalist guilty of trying to hold his listeners' attention by using various calisthenics or swooping mannerisms. Yet as far as technique was concerned Dr. Schreiner was fully equipped in this respect. It was also in reserve when needed and could be showered on the four manuals in full and beautiful tonal cascades of clarity, power and nave echoing grandeur.

RELAXED PLAYING

The program selected was one that showed to the best in literature for this 'King of Instruments.' The monumental Sir Ann's Prelude and Fugue in E Flat of Bach opening the recital. Here, the Dr. Schreiner sounded alone, Dr. Schreiner demonstrated his mastery of the pedal keyboard of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anderson, Oakville, Ont. Canon A. E. McConnell officiated.

A Robin Was Not Made to Hold

By Alma Mason

I have been reading today about the wholesale slaughter of meadow larks in Italy. No wonder the people of Germany and many other countries are protesting this practice indulged in by many Italians as wanton and cruel. The little birds — after they are caught—are roasted and eaten between slices of bread.

Birds seem to me a bit of Heaven itself. How very desolate life would be without a flush of wings in the sun, without the unsurpassed music of bird choruses in celestial harmony.

My blue birds return to me every October. They perch in the trees near our porch and call in their rasping and demanding way for the peanuts they have come to expect as their due in the fall season. They have learned to trust me and to come to them occasionally take nuts from my hand. I would miss them acutely if they did not return every season.

Once I held a downy baby chicken close to my heart. I was in ecstacy. The miracle of the pulsing beat of the tiny heart against mine caused me to hold my breath in sheer unadulterated happiness. Then I was young and knew not pain or the aftermath of pain. I would have crushed the little living toy to death had not my mother's hand reached out and intervened.

Have you not always wanted to hold a bird in your hands, a robin perhaps? A tame bird would not do for me. I am granted that delight as Timmy, my canary and I share a deep and abiding love. A baby robin safely tucked from a nest would not suffice. I must hold a bird familiar with mountain tops, one lured by the tallest forest sentinels, combed and brushed and washed by rain and wind and clouds, a flash of color darting out of a sunrise and skimming into a sunset.

I am as certain as I am of the very stars above that I would have a glimpse of the infinite portals of Heaven were I to hold a robin for a fragrant of a minute.

I'd love to hold a robin in my hands,
I yearn to stroke his downy head
His silver wings, his breast of gold;
But God knows best, for human hands
Have bondsman roots, are prison bred;
A robin was not made to hold!

Man lives and dies in cage of brick or stone,
His leaden feet to slavery born;
What knows he of the joyful wing
In mountain heights unscaled, unknown?
Or healing dew in warm grey morn?
Or fluid note to welcome spring?

A robin's note is lush with grateful love;
He pilies man in human chains
And floating, skimming, settles down
To ride a rainbow clothes-line above
Where color all the Heaven stains
And dawn puts on a rosy gown.

I'd love to hold a robin in my hands,
I yearn to stroke his downy head,
His silver wings, his breast of gold;
But God knows best for human hands
Have bondsman roots, are prison bred;
A robin was not made to hold.

This - - - and That

BY HARRIET STEVENS

There can be little doubt that "know-how" has received such sudden impetus in so great proportion over a short period that we find it difficult to adjust our thinking quickly enough to keep pace with science. Speed in communications, in transportation brings far away events to our doorstep before they have been completed or their significance asserted.

It could be that the impact is making us a confused people and in the welter of information about far away things which may be either unimportant, we cannot see the trees right around home for the forest of trivia. All this creates what is probably a new challenge to mankind. We are faced with the problem of recognizing the fact that the exile for instance of the Dalai Lama is not bet indirectly affects each of us in a shrinking world, and at the same time remembering always that the problems right around home cannot be neglected.

Never before in the story of man has he had the necessity flood over him that it is impera ve to ack e ge the world as one. Therefore t and T hastens to confess that it cannot for reasons of unavoidable circumstances take a boy or girl, but if our confession lends strength to the cause of our Children's Welfare, we shall be rewarded a hundred fold. It is because such organizations as the Children's Welfare exist at home that we can with renewed vigor and strength approach the many problems and agencies with international scope.

A weekend thought from Tennyson

"If time be heavy on your hands
Are there no beggars at your gate,"

Nor say poor about your lands!
Oh! teach the orphan-boy to read,
Or teach the orphan-girl to sew."

Over the past three or four years or so, a thought has occurred to us which has never found expression. Its source is the field of the ever increasing activity of women around the world. Not so many years ago, it would have been unthinkable let alone a fact that women from all corners of the world would be gathering in congress to formulate and discuss problems that influence all of us. Today such conferences are being held east and west, north and south. Seminars have become frequent and these conventions have become regularly established. Women have become recognized behind bribes its individual responsibility and awareness.

Late Queen Mary Worked "Every Stitch" of Carpet

OTTAWA (CP) — Set the record straight — the late Queen Mary worked "every stitch" of the needlepoint carpet now in the National Gallery of Canada.

Alan Jarvis, director of the gallery, Friday released a copy of a letter from the Dowager Marchioness of Cholmondeley, confirming a statement by Mr. Jarvis April 17 that Queen Mary completed nineteen and other personnel to help her with certain work on the carpet.

Published in The Times of London, the letter from Lady Cholmondeley said:

"I can state quite definitely that every stitch on that carpet was done by Queen Mary herself and that at a moment when she was ill and there were only five yet there proved to be finished on the border and I offered Lers, Lyn and hers alone, and we had to wait some weeks for the carpet to be completed because she was not well enough to do it at that time."

AIDED BRITAIN DRIVE

The dowager marchioness was chairman of an organization known as "Queen Mary's" contribution to the dollar drive."

"Her Majesty Queen Mary gave the carpet as a stimulus to people to help the dollar drive and I cannot feel that it is good that anything but the truth be known that everyone who should recognize the great feat of her majesty in completing the carpet herself.

Mr. Jarvis released the copy of the letter, with a request that it be publicized to correct the "unfortunate misinformation" he had given about the carpet.

QUEEN'S GIFT

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker says the cabinet is giving fullest consideration to the federal government will give Queen Elizabeth on her visit this summer. He was replying in the Commons to Opposition Leader Pearson who asked whether the gift might take the form of federal scholarships. The Prime Minister announced that Ontario's gift will be a $500,000 scholarship fund.

Ocean Cruising Is Much More Than Means of Transportation

By ASHLEY and BOB SLOANE

One of the more original travel advertisements we've seen lately is a steamship company's. It says: "Ocean cruising is something more than transportation."

No one is or out of his right mind would think of comparing the speed of air travel with that of being waterborne, so the ad asks you to think of yourself as a checking into a swanky modern hotel in, say, New York, and checking out a week later in a foreign land after having been wined, dined, entertained and pampered in a facethemost. Not only is getting there half the fun, but an integral part of your holiday.

And they've got a point there. Nothing matches the luxurious relaxation of a sea voyage, far from raucous telephones and special delivery letters, with nothing but the sun, air, water and what you've packed and bought for dinner to think about.

There are two important factors in planning a sea trip: (1) when you are going and (2) on what line or ship.

If you are planning a direct voyage or a cruise to ports of call in the Caribbean you better forget about this summer: most space has been sold out long since, at least on the larger lines. However, cruise space is usually mixed with passenger space is still available. See your travel agent about this.

SHIPS VARY

Unlike the airlines, which have practically uniform, mutually agreed upon standards of service, steamship lines and individual ships vary widely in their performance and atmosphere.

American ships are luxurious, efficiently run, modern and a bit impersonal, much like American hotels. French ships are, of course, noted for their gaiety and their food; the British for their dependability, service and quiet conservatism. Each country has its own first and distinct characteristics, and once again a knowledgeable travel agent is your best guide in choosing one to your taste.

Yes, there are freighter trips available but they are not necessarily cheaper. Just run through your bookstore or library has many sources of information on them, as do some travel agents.

You've heard a lot about classes when flying. Briefly, first class is expensive and formal, geared mostly to the well-to-do. Many newer ships have only a nominal first class section or none at all. Cabin (which used to be known as second) is the average traveller's class, more fun and considerably less expensive. Tourist (third) is mostly transportation accommodations and meal service reflect the budget fares.

So the line frequently give fancy names (Promenade, Veranda and such) to the decks they are technically labeled Hurricane, M, A, B and C in descending order, the higher the more exclusive. The only advantage of the lower decks is that they roll less.

Your travel agent has charts of accommodations and can steer you to the best available for your money. If you don't have a private bath, proximity to the public one is a prime consideration. Your agent will also advise you about necessary travel documents.

The ship's employees you will deal with consist of the purser and a gaggle of others, nearly all of whom are known as stewards. It is their job to take care of you while the captain, his officers, the deckhands and firemen get on where once you were going, may never see the captain and rarely see the purser after boarding.

The purser is the room clerk. He'll check you on board, direct you to your stateroom, deposit your valuables, answer your questions and listen to your complaints. He or his assistants are as high as you need to go with any usual passenger problem.

The chief steward is the head dining room steward. The head steward is the head waiter who assigns you your table for the voyage and theory, in effect, chooses much of your company. He may also be called variously the "chambermaid"; dining room steward your waiter; bar steward the barroom; smoking room steward the bar waiter; deck steward your errand boy and

Fashionable Sheer Silk

By ALICE ALDEN

Many of the most modish clothes make the skirt the focal fashion feature. Nat Kaplan follows this philosophy in this dark silk sheer dress, one that is destined for a busy spring. The roundelay skirt is a continuous round of tiers from lifted waistline to hem, the tiers studded with buttons and buttonholes. The round motif is repeated in the soft, detachable, white pique collar which tops the simulated jacket bodice.

Second Glance

By Viva Richmond Graham

"Everybody allows that the talent of writing agreeable letters is particularly female."—Henry Tilney to Catherine Morland.

'Tru, the greeting cards are attractive, but . . . "

"They're the modern way of keeping up with one's correspondence," says Mr. T. E. Schwab, who has been in the stationery business in Belleville for the past fifteen years.

We think of former writing desks, well stocked with stiff white stationery, the epitome of good social taste, be it of linen or satin finish. "Is letter paper no longer in use, at all?"

"Yes, some. Though six-line note paper has replaced the letter stationery, which now is only brought out, in gift boxes, at Christmas time. The preference for printed greeting cards which has mushroomed into a multi-million dollar Canadian business in the last few years is refined to such a degree it covers every conceivable occasion, from general friendship to congratulatory comments upon a divorce or a release from the penitentiary."

"Incredible!"

"A commentary upon our times, perhaps, but sad or not, letter-writing is fast becoming a lost art," admits Mr. Schwab.

Is the world the poorer for this? The essayist, Lord Cecil thinks so. For him, it is a great pleasure to delve into a volume of correspondence; especially by feminine letter-writers. Letters, he explains, are a private art (to open a fat letter and find it filled with dissertations on Dante, or Shakespeare or the gold standard is a dreadful disappointment) are woven with the intimate, the personal, the private strands of life, which is woman's domain. A domain very often complemptuously discounted (especially by the male worshipping English, he says), as being of less value as compared to the masculine world of public and professional life. "This is not so," he declares.

"Private life is half of life and in some respects the more important half," she continues, "for it has to do with intimate and individual traits of human character" which woman has an excellent opportunity to observe, for private life is her native and triumphant sphere of achievement. Here, she excels in the arts of private life; socials, domestic arts of dress and decoration, of love and friendship of entertainment and intimate talk.

Upon such matters did the queens of English letter-writers dwell, "with a sentence or so about books or politics or religion thrown in." Nothing is very startling, for normality is the key-note. They are never commonplace for the writers themselves are not.

"No wonder," he exclaims "that some of the best letter writers are women!" Taught as they were from childhood to be entertaining, perceptive and well mannered, until it was second nature and natural.

REPLYING TO INVITATION ISSUED BY "SONS AND DAUGHTERS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have just received a formal invitation to the Fortieth Wedding Anniversary of dear friends of ours. This couple have six children, three sons and three daughters, and they issued the invitations. Like this:

In honor of the Fortieth Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson their sons and daughters request the pleasure of your company on etc.

Since we know this couple so very well, must we send a formal acceptance to this invitation? If so, how should it be worded? S. G.

Yes, you must send a formal acceptance; that is, worded in the third person, as is the invitation. Like this:

Mr. and Mrs. George Clark accept with pleasure the kind invitation of the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson
For Saturday, the ninth of May at nine o'clock

(Space) (place)

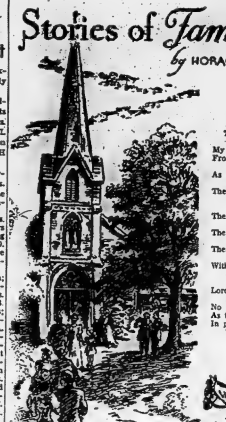
SIX USHERS IN SEARCH OF ONE WEDDING PRESENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are to be the six ushers at the June wedding of a fraternity brother of ours. Since we haven't too much "moola" to spend for wedding presents, we'd like to have you tell us if it would be correct for us to join forces and give the bride-to-be one consequential present rather than two not-very-consequential presents? Thank you for your advice. — The Ushers-to-be

By all means combine the gift-budgets and give the wedding present jointly. This is entirely proper procedure, makes good sense.

Stories of Famous Hymns



by HORACE B. POWELL

THE HOUR OF PRAYER

My God, is any hour so sweet,
From blush of morn to evening star,
As that which calls me to Thy feet
The hour of prayer, the hour of prayer?

Then is my strength by Thee renewed;
Then are my sins by Thee forgiven;
Then dost Thou cheer my solitude
With hopes of heaven, with hopes of heaven.

Lord, till I reach that blissful shore,
No privilege so dear shall be
As thus my inmost soul to pour
In prayer to Thee, in prayer to Thee.

Tribulation has a way of making those whose lives it touches more prayerful, more conscious of spiritual values. It had such influence on Charlotte Elliott, the young English woman hymnist who wrote "The Hour Of Prayer", "Just As I Am Without One Plea", and other hymns which are sung wherever Christians gather for worship.

Miss Elliott was a life-long invalid and in her prayer hymns, composed in 1836, she bore testimony to the comfort and the spiritual strength and peace which she received in her own life through prayer. It is apparent, if the verses are closely studied, that the young hymnist gave a good bit of her time each day to talking with God, that she had both morning and evening devotions. In these periods of communion, according to the song, the singer found her strength renewed, her sins forgiven, and her solitude cheered with hopes of Heaven.

"No words can tell what sweet relief
Here for my every want I find;
What strength for warfare, balm for grief,
What peace of mind".

Miss Elliott's most famous hymn, "Just As I Am Without One Plea", was written in 1834. Twelve years earlier, she found Christ through the persuasion of a family friend, Dr. Caesar Malan of Geneva, who was visiting her father and who, learning that Charlotte was not a Christian, made an opportunity to talk with her about religion. The young woman told Dr. Malan that she needed help in finding Christ. He replied: "You must come to Jesus just as you are". That day — early in May, 1822 — was the day of her conversion. Each year thereafter, as long as Dr. Malan lived, she sent him a "thank you" note on her spiritual birthday. And in 1834 when she wrote "Just As I Am" she recalled Dr. Malan's spiritual counsel in its title and message.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a gray-haired, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been sent in by readers, and counsellors

Mrs. F. S. — You should give him another chance.

Dorothy K. — This is one thing I can't forgive.

Mrs. F. S. — I am trying to help my 29-year-old daughter. I want to save her the heartache I experienced.

Dorothy has been married for years and has two children. She now separated from her husband and wants a divorce. The reason? His infidelity.

I know how she feels. I went through the same thing — and got the divorce. So what? After years of loneliness I finally married again. My second husband isn't interested in other women. With him it's horses. He's a terrific guy, but he's always spending my money as well as his own. Now I'm in my 60's and working like a slave.

What I'm getting at is that you have a long life ahead. It comes. Dorothy's husband made a mistake, but he is willing to try again. He loves the kids and he is a good supporter. She should give him another chance.

Dorothy K. — I don't know how my mother can compare gambling with infidelity. They are horses of entirely different colors.

I put up with a lot from my husband. He was always sneaking doing things behind my back. I suspected women, but later I learned I was wrong — until recently. He used to just hang around with a gang of bachelors, doing a little carousing. He always complained about having to work such late hours.

We used to have fights about every little thing. I could put up with the constant bickering, but once I learned there was another woman, that was the last straw. That's one thing I can't forgive — maybe because of my own pride.

As for his loving the children, that's a laugh. A man who loves his children doesn't bother with other women. His home is too precious.

The Council: We don't blame Dorothy for putting infidelity in a separate category from gambling. Aside from the serious violation of the moral code, infidelity is usually taken as a deep personal insult to the married partner.

But surprisingly, infidelity is seldom the real cause of the breakup of marriage. Sociologists today agree that infidelity is more often a consequence of a bad marriage.

In this sense infidelity is in the same category as gambling or other home-wrecking devices. The offending partner seeks and finds some childish compensation for some of his problems. Men indulge in this kind of compensation because it comes easier to them. But equally destructive is the nagging and criticism that is the only socially acceptable outlet for most women.

Dorothy recognizes that much of the mixture of the marriage before the infidelity. Her mistake is in putting the entire blame on her husband. It just isn't possible for one partner to be entirely right and the other entirely wrong.

Dorothy can learn much from her mother's experience. But she should recognize that mere is infidelity and that giving her husband "another chance." And more is involved than forgiving the infidelity. There must be a real chances go wrong because the individuals don't make an effort to understand and deal with the real problems on a more mature level. For this, it would be wise to seek help from a qualified source.

Readers' Saturday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

LETTER:

I remembered that I promised to send you the recipe for Lime Marmalade that I devised . . . and my sponge cake . . . Molly K.F.

Bake in ungreased tube pan 350 deg. F. till done — when brown and springs back when lightly touched.

LEMON FILLING:

One cup sugar, 2 1-2 tablespoons flour, grated rind 2 lemons, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 1 or 2 yolks slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon butter. Mix in saucepan and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly, using medium heat. This sticks easily. Boil 2 minutes. Cool. Note: The yolks give a deeper richer color — especially 3 of them.

ANSWER:

Thank you Molly for your extremely helpful letter. I will take most of the recipes you sent in the future in this space as time allows. I think our readers would like to know they can bake the sponge cake in layer or square pan or if in tube could be sliced when cold in 2 layers and then filled.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

SATURDAY

Barbecued Pork Chops; Potato Scallop (see Thursday); Broccoli; Grapefruit and Avocado Salad or Tomato Salad; Maple Custard (see Thursday); Assorted Cookies; Coffee.

LIME MARMALADE:

(Courtesy Molly E.E.) Note: This turned out quite well — a bit firmer than I really like but good flavor. For some funny reason limes were in the store this January, so I leapt to it. Six limes, 2 grapefruit, 1 lemon, water — 3 pints for every pint of rind and juice, sugar — 1 lb. for every pint of liquid at the end of the boiling period, grapefruit, lemon and lime rinds. Reserve any seeds. Pull out all membrane and add to the pulp with about 1 pint of water. With a thin sharp knife cut the rinds into very thin shreds, and let stand with the rest of the water overnight. Then boil till the liquid is reduced to about half. Add the strained liquid from the pulp and seeds which have been boiled together separately. Test for gelling by adding 1 spoonful of alcohol (methyl will do) to 1 spoonful of juice. When a good precipitate is obtained (Mary's note — liquid will form in small mass in alcohol) add the sugar and boil till 2 drops will hang side by side on the spoon and add any oil which floated to the top. Pour into glasses, hot jars and seal with paraffin.

CREAM SPONGE CAKE WITH LEMON FILLING:

(Courtesy Molly E.E.) Four eggs — yolks and white divided, 3 teaspoons cold water, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup pastry flour, 1 1-4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Beat egg whites fine and stiff but not dry. Beat yolks and water till thick and light, then add sugar gradually, sifting about 2 tablespoons over the surface, and beating each addition well. It should be creamy, light and velvety . . . beat until batter will not run when finger overtip is dipped in. Sift dry ingredients over, then sift over egg yolk mixture a little more at a time, folding in gently, alternating with the egg whites in 3 instalments, folding in gently.

Don't Let the Financial Squeeze Force You Into Retirement Move

By THOMAS COLLINS

"You may be right in advising retired people to cling to their homes. All things being equal, they may be happier that way. But it would be well for you to explain that a house can become a financial trap for a couple on a pension. And often does. . ."

This is a woman talking, the daughter of a man who retired two years ago from an industrial job on an income of $234 a month.

"My father wanted to sell the house. Mother wanted to sell it and go to Florida. Father won.

"The house is in a changing neighborhood. No racial problems — things are just running down. Roomers, new faces, partitioning of houses for apartments and that sort of thing.

At the time her father retired, she says, a real estate man appraised the house for sale at $12,500. A year later, when mother made another pitch to sell, the appraisal had dropped to $12,500. "Right now," says the daughter, "I doubt they could get $10,000 because they haven't had the money to keep the house in repair and it is in decline along with the neighborhood.

"And taxes on the house are going crazy. They were $178 in 1953; had risen to $290 when father retired and have now hit $340."

This, she explains, is almost $30 a month out of an income of $234. "Where will it stop? Where will the decline in the value of the house stop?"

BUILT-IN COSTS

Many parents, in that house, are at the mercy of built-in costs — at the drug store, the food market and the clothing store — and all those costs keep on rising. Their only asset lies in getting into small living quarters (to minimize house depreciation), in the south to cut costs of heating and clothing), and with a garden (to cut food costs). . .

This daughter, naturally, fears a situation where the parents' static income is no longer enough, and they turn to her for help. She probably sees also that what might be a $14,500 inheritance is wasting away. Maybe she is embarrassed that her parents don't live on the right side of town.

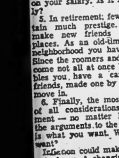
Whatever her thoughts, she has stated a situation that is common to retired people all over. I know that this kind of financial squeeze is going on. I know that some retired couples — because of and squeeze — should pick up and move.

But the squeeze, after all, is a clear-cut issue. It's a matter of being $30 or $50 shy at the end of the month. There can be worse problems. Before a retired couple moves — be they in a house or apartment — they should cogitate:

1. Taxes cut two ways on a house. If you sell it for $14,500, when you bought it 18 years ago for $6,500, you must pay a capital gains tax on it (usually). Plus a commission to the agent who sells it.

SELDOM COME BACK

2. If, after retirement, you sell your house or give up your apartment, you've had it. No matter how miserable you are where you go, you can seldom come back.



3. All neighborhoods change. All the time. Yours didn't just on your retirement day.

4. A good neighborhood was important to you as long as you had a job, and as long as your wife's social position depended on your salary. Is it now? Really?

5. In retirement, few people attain much prestige. And few make new friends in strange places. As an old-timer in your neighborhood you have prestige. Since the roomers and new faces come not all at once but in drabbles you have a carry-over of friends, made one by one as they move in.

6. Finally, the most important of all considerations in retirement — no matter how logical the arguments to the contrary — is what you want. What do you want?

InSeon could make a dependent of you. A changing neighborhood could make you an embarrassment to relatives. In either case, consider moving out. But just consider it. For a year, maybe two. Then decide.

BATAWA

Quinte Branch Of I.A.P.A. Hold Meeting

BATAWA — More than 100 representatives of the Quinte district branch of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association held a dinner meeting in the recreation hall at the Bata Shoe Company.

Twenty-nine industries in the Belleville, Trenton and Picton areas were represented.

Due to the illness of the chairman, Mr. Sam Coulterjohn, Mr. Fred Elmier of the Stewart-Warner Company, Belleville, presided over the meeting.

Head table guests included: — Mr. Harold Blow, of Cobourg, eastern Ontario secretary of the Association; Mr. Alex Grime, Mr. B. F. Pines, personnel manager of the Ltd., Mr. A. Wickerson, district Bata Shoe Co. of Canada, vice - chairman of district I. A. P. A., Mr. R. Johnston, district winner of the I. A. P. A. public speaking competition; Mr. Fred Ebbet, acting chairman for the evening and vice - chairman of the district; Mr. Howard Hanlon, director; Frank Vosnakis, production manager of the Bata Shoe Company of Canada, Ltd.; Miss Lockyer, public speaking contest winner from Picton, and Mr. Ron Durwood, Picton, manager of Bata Shoe Co. of Canada, Ltd.

As special guests of the Association, the two prize winning speakers, Mrs. Johnson and Miss Lockyer, addressed the gathering on the subject of industrial safety measures, and displayed the skill which has given them leadership in the art of public speaking.

Miss Lockyer was introduced by Mr. Ron Durwood, and Mr. Johnston, by Mr. Wickerson.

Mr. Alex Grime, former personnel manager of Bata Shoe Company of Canada, who is now on the teaching staff of Trenton High School, also addressed the meeting.

During the evening, the members were entertained by vocal selections by the "Singing Morrow Sisters", four youngsters from the Trent Valley who are very popular in the district for their fine vocal work.

The guests were welcomed by Mr. B. F. Pines, on behalf of Batawa, and Mr. Jack Allan expressed the thanks of all present to the Bata Shoe Company for its hospitality, to the Morrow Sisters for their fine entertainment, and to the speakers.

Purchasing Chief for Food, Agriculture Organization Said Most Courteous Bachelor

Written for The Canadian Press
By MOLLIE McGEE

ROME (CP) — A handsome years with the airline, in turn at young man from British Columbia spends $500,000 of other people's money every year. That's the job of Charles De Beck Lambly as purchasing chief of the world-wide Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

Every two years or so he takes off on a round-the-world trip. A member of the pioneer Haines family of the Okanagan Valley, he is 37, drives a red sports car and has a reputation for being one of the most courteous bachelors in Rome.

His department on the sixth floor of what was to have been Mussolini's imperial headquarters has a world scope that Mussolini would have envied.

VARIED PROJECTS

"We might have to equip teams of experts in the field working out the life cycle of the locust, transport 10 tons of tuberculin-tested cows from Sweden to Libya as bait for bacilli, buy fish-nets in Russia to send to Ceylon," he said.

"We might buy anti - snake serum from Brazil for Iran, or work out a system of pumps for Nepal—one of our major problems lately."

His aids to buying include a catalogue and price library that fills three rooms. Currencies are a major headache. FAO's 86 member nations pay their dues in their own currency and this has to be used to pay the bills. Some cash can be transferred, some cannot.

Amounts spent may vary from hundreds of thousands of pounds on a prefabricated textile factory to a few cents for the latest pesticide. Inventories listing what has been shipped and what is held in 62 different countries occupy more floor space and a staff of multilingual clerks.

STARTED IN NORTH

Mr. Lambly started in 1944 as an agent for Canadian Pacific Airlines at Fort St. John on the Alaska Highway and spent six Winnipeg, Vancouver and Tokyo. In Tokyo in 1950 he went to the United Nations staff as travel agent.

When the UN set up its Korean reconstruction program he was in charge at the Tokyo end, finding and sending supplies and personnel. Later he worked all over South Korea in the rural welfare division of the reconstruction program.

"I once spent 17 days in a jeep," he recalled. "Guerrilla fighting was still going on. If they waved a white flag, we went on. A red flag meant we took cover."

Millions were spent in Korean reconstruction, he said, but the result was worthwhile. In November, 1956, he was transferred to the UN at New York to clean up the work, and in March, 1957, he became assistant purchasing agent for FAO. A year later he succeeded the retiring chief agent.

On his current world tour he is fitting in two weeks in British Columbia, although he went to school in Penticton, he calls Fort St. John his home. His itinerary from Rome included New Delhi, Java, Hong Kong and Tokyo, and from British Columbia he will return by way of New York.

Govt. to Increase Benefits, Raise Contributions

OTTAWA (CP) — The government served notice today of legislation to raise unemployment insurance benefits and increase rates of contribution by insured persons and employers.

A resolution placed on the Commons order paper by Labor Minister Starr said a 67th day amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Act would provide that maximum benefits be paid over 52 weeks instead of 36 as at present.

The resolution gives no details of proposed higher benefits or rates of contribution. No indication was given of the date the proposed changes would be made effective.

However, reports in Ottawa state that the top benefit may be increased to $30 a week from $20. The existing $4,800-a-year income ceiling for insurance coverage may also be increased to $5,500.

SEASONAL BENEFITS

Besides normal benefits, seasonal benefits now are paid from Dec. 1 to May 15 for those whose regular benefits have been used up.

Rates of contribution may be increased by about 30 per cent. The existing maximum rate for each insured person is $1.20 a week, shared equally by the employee and employer. The federal government contributes 20 per cent of the combined total.

The unemployment insurance fund has been subject to a heavy drain during the last two winters of heavy unemployment. It has dropped from a peak of more than $900,000,000 several years ago to between $500,000,000 and $600,000,0.

SOVIET FARMS

LONDON (AP)—Radio Moscow reports a seven-year irrigation plan has been started to create farmlands in an area of Central Asia about twice as large as France. The project is a joint effort by the Soviet republics of Uzbekistan, Tadjikistan and Kazakhstan.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — The C.G.I.T. girls met at the home of Mrs. Douglas Harry on Tuesday evening.

The service opened with games conducted by Sharon Gilchrist, followed by the "Purpose." The worship service was conducted by Joan Vandervoort with the Bible reading led by Evelyn Harry and read responsively, followed by a sing-song. Prayer was given by Rosemary Bush. All sang "Oh, How Happy Joy, Joy, Joy Down in My Heart." Bible study was taken by Mrs. D. Harry. All were glad to see Darlene Harder back among them again.

The collection was taken, treasurer's report read and a treat of apples distributed to close the meeting.

The next meeting will be a sewing period on the layette at Mrs. D. Harry's home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Grant of Trenton, were Saturday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Harry.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp and family motored to Madoc on Sunday to spend the day with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hale.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brunt had supper with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brunt of Belleville.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

EAGLE TROUBLES

The national emblem of our neighbor to the south seems to be in trouble, though divided in opinion as to why, ornithologists are unanimous in stating that bald eagles are on the wane. Strange to say, it is a Canadian, Charles A. Broley, who is the best authority on this subject, for he, is a bird man who actually sees hears, and even feels what is going on. Having climbed many hundreds of trees to personally investigate nests, he tells us that from 1943 to 1946 (when he banded an average of 150 young a season) the bald eagle population in the west coast of Florida was at its peak, and since then has been steadily declining. He has a theory, too. In Mr. Broley's opinion, D.D.T. is the bottom of the whole trouble.

In 1950, 78 per cent of the occupied nests he visited failed to produce young, and just 34 nestlings were banded. By '57, seven nests raised eight eaglets, in 23 nests the eggs failed to hatch, and no eggs were laid in 13 other occupied nests. The climax was reached in 1958, when Mr. Broley found but 10 nests with adults and banded only one young bird.

Bald eagles on Florida's east coast though not in such dire straits are doing poorly according to accounts; in '56 about one third of the nests were occupied. Central Florida is not so hard hit.

REPORTS UNFAVORABLE

Mr. Broley also bands bald eagles in his own province of Ontario. These are probably among those seen in migration along the Mississippi and Illinois Rivers. In the last count for the district only one was identified as an immature. Reports from experts in various parts of the U.S. are received. The curator of Hawk Mountain Sanctuary says immatures bald eagles are rarely seen passing over his location. Only two years now reports from the Cheesequake State Park have been unfavorable. For the last six or seven years no young have hatched in certain districts.

A report comes from McClennan Island, Pennsylvania, that there has not been a successful breeding since '47. The custodian says, "Something is evidently organically wrong with the bald eagles."

Some ornithologists put all the blame on the rise in human population. Cypress swamps and pine forests, the eagle's preferred type of land, are being replaced by housing projects. There certainly is much truth in this. But Mr. Broley points out that the chief diet of the bald eagle is fish, and in the last few years fish are being given a diet charged with D.D.T.

JOHNSTOWN

76 Friends Neighbors Fete Area Couple

JOHNSTOWN — Around 70 friends and neighbors of Glen Miller, Johnstown and surrounding district, gathered at Glen Miller community hall on Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brunt, who have sold their store at Glen Miller and are leaving the community to live near Brighton.

Rev. G. A. Puttenham was chairman for the evening. There was no program, just an old-fashioned talkfest. Rev. Puttenham spoke briefly.

Mrs. W. Smith of Trenton read an address, signed by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Silcoke of Johnstown, Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith of Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Allen of Glen Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Brunt were presented with two lovely chairs and a beautiful table lamp. One chair was presented by Mr. S. Bush, the lamp by Mrs. Smith and the other chair by Mr. E. Silcoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Brunt thanked everyone for their thoughtfulness in remembering them at this time.

After refreshments were served the juke box was started and the young people enjoyed themselves dancing.

TURNS TO MECHANICS — Laszlo Pasztner, 23, works as an auto mechanic in a downtown Vancouver garage although he holds a degree in forestry. He is one of 28 students who graduated last year from the Sopron forestry faculty moved to the University of British Columbia from revolution-torn Hungary back in 1956. Most of the graduates have been unable to get forestry work because of a shortage of jobs and language difficulties. Mr. Pasztner sends food and money to his parents in Hungary. (CP Photo).

Hungary's Sopron University Now Situated in B.C., Having Trouble to Keep Operating

By NAT COLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Laszlo Pasztner, 25, earns a modest wage while learning to be an auto mechanic in a downtown garage.

One of his friends, Louis Nemeth, also 25, earns $1 an hour as a dishwasher in a coffee shop on the University of British Columbia campus. He will be out of a job when classes end for the summer.

Both are university graduates in forestry. Both are victims of an economic situation and a misunderstanding with possible political overtones.

Laszlo and Louis were among 194 students and 28 professors of the forestry faculty at Hungary's Sopron University who came to Canada in 1957 and re-established the faculty at UBC.

25 GRADUATES IN 1958

Twenty - eight graduates made up the Sopron school's first graduating class last year. Three now are doing postgraduate study on National Research Council scholarships; only four have jobs as foresters. Some others work as loggers or sawmill workers. Some are laborers or have part-time work. A number are unemployed.

All hope to land forestry jobs, but the outlook is not good. It looks a little better for some of the 70 students who graduate from Sopron this year.

Sixty undergraduates will be left at the school after the next graduation.

The fact that they have had to pay full fees at UBC is a problem with many who say Canada promised them free education. Thirty had to quit school in 1958 for lack of funds.

Dr. Kalman Roller, dean of the Sopron faculty, says the promise was made in Vienna by Liberal immigration Minister J. W. Pickersill. Not until courses began in September, 1957, he says, did the immigration department inform them they would not get free education.

"Since then, the students have paid regular fees of about $270 a year. The only assistance we got from the government was the $65-a - month subsistence allowance paid to all Hungarian refugees."

The promise, if there was one, has not been recognized by the Progressive Conservative government. In correspondence with Dr. Norman MacKenzie, UBC president, Immigration Minister Fairclough said she has been unable to establish that the Liberals made any definite promises.

Says Dean Geoffrey Allen of the UBC forestry department: "Nothing was put on paper. The Sopron people's interpretation of what Mr. Pickersgill said could be a little wrong. In any event, I think what attracted them to Canada was that they were invited as a group."

Dean Allen says the federal government made no provision for salaries in the first year the students were here.

"Recently they paid a certain amount towards the cost of staff. But the fees paid by the students account for only about 30 per cent of the overall cost of the school. The university had to make a substantial contribution towards costs."

THREE-YEAR COST

Dr. Mackenzie wrote Mrs. Fairclough that it would cost $283,250 to carry the group for three years until the last of the students graduated. Mrs. Fairclough advised him in March this year that the government had approved a "final grant of $84,000."

The employment situation is the main worry of Sopron graduates who say they don't want to complain too much about having to pay fees.

Miklos Kovats, 26, is one of four 1958 graduates who got good jobs. They work with him in the survey and inventory branch of the provincial forestry department, the other with a research institute in Ottawa.

Says Miklos, who married another Sopron student: "I think we have been well treated, although not all students have been able to get jobs where they can use their professional knowledge.

"Many work with their hands in plywood plants and sawmills. But they are making a good living in a free country."

HURT BY STRIKE

Dean Allen says a long strike in the B.C. pulp and paper industry at the beginning of 1958 hurt the Hungarians' job chances.

The language problem has also put the Sopron students at a disadvantage.

"This language business has been slower than anyone thought it would be," says Dean Allen. "However, their English is much better now."

Almost all the Canadian forestry graduates at UBC this year have jobs lined up and the provincial forestry service will take some of the Hungarians, Dean Allen reports.

"The Hungarians who have been working in sawmills and plywood plants will learn a lot from this work. And if they have what it takes, they'll find something more suitable.

"You can't expect results from something like this overnight."

Interviewed in Ottawa, Mr. Pickersbill said he gave Sopron University students no promise that they would receive a free education in Canada.

He said the former Liberal government agreed only to bring the students and faculty to Canada and to do its best to help the students get summer work to pay their fees.

In her correspondence with Dr. MacKenzie, Mrs. Fairclough said that when the group arrived it was expected that the cost of the federal government would be limited to the provision of transportation, to which it had never anticipated that the federal government would "have to pay out anything like the large amount already expended on this group."

The federal government has made a total contribution of $283,250, made up of grants of $452,000 and a final grant of $84,000 last month.

Of the $452,000, a total of $105,000 was absorbed by transportation. The balance and the final $84,000 were paid to the university to cover costs of the accommodation and maintenance of the students, salaries of professors and other costs, excluding student fees.

Growing Salvias From Seed

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

A week before Easter I received a "Punch and Grow" illustrating salvia seed. It was a small green plastic planter filled with what looked like sawdust and vermiculite. The seeds are glued to the clear plastic cover. This has fumes-like impression. Using a sharp pencil these are punctured and a cup and a quarter of water is poured on. Now two weeks later we have 32 tiny plants with the second leaves just beginning to show. At the end of six weeks, or when danger of frost is passed we will transplant them to the garden.

The sages are low shrubby plants that have two-lipped bracts. The colored bracts look like petals. The annual salvia, or scarlet sage splendens has several offspring, all with the bright red spikes of bloom. Some of the new ones are more compact and earlier than the older types. The fire, St. John's Fire and Ball of Fire are all good.

The herb garden claims two members of the family, the well known summer savory and the broad leaf perennial sage used for poultry seasoning.

GARDENER'S TREASURES

But the blue sages are the gardener's treasures. One will have to hunt for these, they are not so common. Silver Sheen is a good blue annual, also called Farinacea. S. Patens is called hardy annual by some authors and perennial by others. It has the lodgie blue flower spikes in summer to late fall. It is a native of Mexico. The roots form a thick tuber. Also in the store will be dahlias when frost blackens the foliage. You may be lucky enough to find others listed such as Vatican Sage, which has rosy purple bracts. Another border is S. Heamatodes.

Baby Sage would have olive green foliage, almost a black with lovely coral red blooms. A new comer is S. Horminum, Annual Clary. The old form had dull magenta pink bloom while Sundae is a brilliant rose pink. The plants are quite compact and ideal for bedding or borders and are supposed to be good cutting material.

All the sages like sun-blacksoil. Mrs. Fairclough said that is they will not stand soggy soil.

Battery Care Year-Round Job

By EUGENE MILMOE

Your car battery has an easy time of it. It fights its toughest battle in winter, but now it must also be ready to meet summer-time heat.

When the weather turns really hot, the battery is more inclined to gas — e.g., to bubble the electrolyte. The result can be excessive electrolyte loss and a ruined battery.

To avoid such troubles, have your service station test the voltage regulator to make sure the setting isn't too high, and water it a point to frequently check (weekly, at least) battery water level.

As always, keep the battery top, case, carrier and cable clamps clean and dry. You can also help by examining battery cables. Check terminal connections for looseness and corrosion, and look for cracked or worn cable insulation.

G. U. writes: "My left front wheel seems to be noisy and when I touch the rim or hub cap it always feels hotter than the other wheels. Is this a brake trouble?

(A) Either a dragging brake or insufficient bearing lubricant is the likely cause.

L. T. asks: "I recently had my engine overhauled because of varnish formation. The mechanics say that was caused by engine oil breakdown. Is this a normal thing?"

(A) No; only a top grade oils, and normal engine temperatures. Overheating plus poor quality oils are the usual causes.

K. Mc. writes: "Because I drive a good number of turnpike miles daily, I had the spark plugs of my '57 sedan adjusted to less than standard gap settings. Now the engine seems a bit rough at low and idle speed. Should I have the gap width changed again?"

(A) This is one of the penalties of a high-speed driving habit. The standard gap setting should be enough — unless you drive well above 70 m.p.h.

From M. H.: "My engine overheats and is hard to start except when it's cold. Gas mileage is poor, too. The cooling system has been double checked, and a good ignition tune-up was suggested."

(A) It may be the answer, but don't overlook the manifold heat control valve. These troubles will

Youngster Gets Mother in Fix, Gets Her Out

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP)—Jere Burkheimer, 2½, got his mother into a fix. And he also got her out of it.

The youngster marched into the Ephrata National Bank and stood on tiptoe to push a slip of paper across the counter. Mrs. Olene Kilheiner, a clerk, looked at the boy, looked at the note, and said, "Come in."

Jere silently led Mrs. Kilheiner to his home, around the block in back of the bank. He pointed to a door.

Mrs. Kilheiner managed to release Jere's mother, Mrs. J. Leede Burkheimer, from the bathroom where Jere had somehow accidentally locked her half an hour before.

Luckily, Mrs. Burkheimer had pencil and paper in her pocket at the time. She wrote out the message for help and slipped it under the bathroom door, instructing Jere to take it to the bank.

Why the bank? Why not? Mrs. Burkheimer used the back of a blank cheque for her message.

Foxboro

FOXBORO — Mrs. Harold Stewart has returned home after attending the past week in Peterborough with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Watson and new son Lynn.

Miss Shirley Kelly and Harold spent the weekend in Windsor with relatives.

Mr. Fred Prindle attended Grand Lodge in Napanee last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Armstrong and Darlene spent Sunday in Tamworth with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jamieson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Montgomery attended on Sunday their granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Montgomery, of Cobourg, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jack Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelly entertained a number of visitors to a birthday party on Saturday night in honor of Pauline's 6th birthday. They spent Sunday in Madoc with relatives.

Accuses PC's of Trying to Drown Complaints in Barrel of Booze

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF MP Frank Howard has accused the Progressive Conservatives of trying to drown Prairie complaints against the government in a barrel of booze.

The British Columbia logger agreed in the Commons Thursday that when the Prairie grain delegation marched on Ottawa last month looking for deficiency payments, the CCF met the delegation with bands and placards.

"But what we did not do was put on a party for them," he said the member for Skeena.

"We did not pour out the liquor; we did not cart them into a back room and try to push aside their complaints and say, 'Never mind about the problems of the farmers; have another drink; have another shot of scotch or rye' or whatever it was they had to offer."

Continuing an exchange that brought from W. C. Henderson (PC—Cariboo) a cry of "pretty cheap" and calls from the chair for retractions of statements on both sides of the House, Mr. Howard said of Mr. Henderson: "My honorable friend says 'cheap politics.' He ought to know about cheap politics; he is sitting in a government with over 200 cheap politicians."

Mr. Howard later agreed to withdraw this reference. But he charged in again, suggesting the Progressive Conservatives had tried to confuse the Prairie farm issue so that "John (Diefenbaker) will not have to live up to his promises."

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

In Toronto today, Ontario Hockey Association president Lorne Cook relinquished the reins of a two-year term of office with the huzzas and tributes of 200 of Ontario's hockey-minded best ringing in his ears.

Lorne Cook

The tributes to Eastern Ontario's executive contribution to the OHA were well deserved. While extremely loyal to his part of the province, President Cook never let that loyalty supercede his judgment. He was fair and impartial in his decisions and always worked toward the betterment of hockey as a whole.

Hockey was Lorne Cook's first sports love and he remained actively true to her from the time he signed his first scorer's card until he relinquished the presidential gavel. Nor will his love for the sport ever die.

As an OHA executive member and later its head, he never let his job down. He has logged thousands of miles by car and train, and once by plane. He has known the snow-blocked roads of the northland as well as the smooth highways of the south. He never sidestepped a meeting or important game. The rare occasions he "missed" was when ill-health forbade travel.

His official position took him to the far-flung places. He has visited Vancouver, Duluth, Winnipeg, Regina, Montreal, and other large Canadian centres. His most unforgettable "representative" trip was the European junket when he accompanied the Belleville McFarlands on their triumphant quest of the world title.

"Hockey has been good to me," was his simple statement. "I made many friends and friendships, something I could not have accomplished in any other phase of life. I am deeply grateful to all with whom I came in contact during my tenure of office, my executive, especially, and others in different capacities."

Like any Canadian youngster, Aultsville-born Lorne Cook had a natural love of hockey. But his ability, he says, never got beyond the "shinny stage." He came to Belleville in 1921 as a member of the Intelligencer printing staff, and immediately associated himself with Ed. Thomas, one of Belleville's hockey greats. He managed and coached a team called the "Maximites," but more about that later.

In 1920 he joined the Kingston Whig-Standard staff and ten years later was appointed chief printing instructor at the Kingston penitentiary, a position he still holds.

Hockeywise, he became secretary to the Kingston junior league and later was appointed the league convener. His excellent work drew the attention of Kingston's "Mr. Hockey," the late Captain Jim Sutherland, who recommended him for an appointment to the OHA executive. The appointment was immediately confirmed by the current OHA president Tiny McFadden.

His efforts as an executive member drew the attention of the OHA electorate and he was elected each year until 1953 when he was given the office of second vice. Two years later he took over the position of first vice-president and in 1957 was given the highest office the association can bestow. He will remain more or less active for the next two years as immediate past-president.

While hockey has been good to Lorne Cook, the outgoing president has likewise been good to and for hockey. The presidential path was not always honeysuckle and roses. It had its argumentative roadblocks caused by situational conditions, player grievances and club and league problems. Periodical press and public criticism did not add to the Cook peace of mind, but with careful study, executive co-operation and fair judgment, he weathered the storms.

In his native Eastern Ontario he put organized hockey on a firm basis. He replaced the tottering Trent Valley League with sections under OHA intermediate "C" supervision. He instituted an intermediate "A" division, also intermediate "D" and junior "C" and "D." He assisted in resurrecting the former junior "B" section of this part of the province.

Personally he convened the Eastern Ontario senior "B" league, and carried on when its status was raised to senior "A". He retires with the proudest record any OHA president-convener ever attained in the history of the association.

He modestly points to the fact that the Eastern Ontario senior "A" league in three years of operation has produced two (possibly three) Allan Cup winners, two world champion teams and one Memorial Cup winner.

And one of the proudest Canadians in the Prague, Czechoslovakia Winter Stadium on that memorable night when Canada was acclaimed 1959 world amateur hockey champions, was Lorne Cook, president of the Ontario Hockey Association.

This column salutes a grand fellow, an outstanding sportsman and an able executive for a job well and truly done.

Damages Right Hand in Third After Akins Made Last Bid With Couple of Shots to Jaw

By JERRY LISKA

ST. LOUIS (AP)—World welterweight champion Don Jordan, who one-handedly retained his title Friday night, is on the prowl for a match with abdicated welterweight king Carmen Basilio.

"I'm looking towards a non-title June bout, probably in Madison Square Garden," said Jordan after his comparatively easy conquest of Virgil Akins despite a damaged right hand.

"But I like the big gate and Basilio could really bring the big gate," added the 26-year-old boxing dandy from Los Angeles.

Basilio, of course, currently is playing ring-around-the-rosy with Sugar Ray Robinson, who divested him of the middleweight title last year and has been avoiding him ever since.

In the war of nerves, Basilio could give up on Robinson and try for a fat pay cheque in a return to the welter ranks.

Everything important in Friday night's fight before 8,428 happened in the second round.

It was then Akins, 31-year-old former champ, made his last bid to stay in boxing's big time with a couple of shots to the jaw which really staggered the youthful Jordan.

It also was then that Jordan's badly bruised his right hand in a poke on the top of Akins' head.

Although Jordan wound up with a badly puffed hand, you couldn't tell it by the efficient way he proceeded to belt Akins into comparative boxing oblivion the remaining 13 rounds.

Adding insult to injury for the blood-visaged Akins, the government tied up his purse contending he owes $22,599 in back taxes. The match, televised nationally, returned a net gate of $44,766. Each fighter received 30 per cent of the gate, plus $15,000 from TV, worth $28,423 apiece.

Jordan weighed 146½ for his first title defence and Akins 147.

Jordan's manager, Don Nesmith, said that although he would like the chance to fight an opponent yet to be named in Madison Square Garden in June, he owed a bit toOgilvie, Basilio also owed a fight to an Oakland, Calif., promoter.

"For several fights now, I have been promising the next Jordan start to Don Chargin of Oakland," said Nesmith. "I don't know who he has in mind as an opponent."

If Basilio declines to return to the welter division, Jordan has at least three potential opponents in line, Art Aragon, the perennial people's choice in Los Angeles; Donata Moyer of Portland, Ore., and the always-tricky Del Flanagan of St. Paul.

May Be Long Series

Peterborough Petes Grab First From Winnipeg 5-4

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two rival hockey coaches took a long, speculative look at their respective team's chances Friday night after Peterborough Petes defeated Winnipeg Braves 5-4 in the Memorial Cup final opener.

Peterborough coach Scotty Bowman was obviously pleased by the victory, sparked by a four-goal spree in the second period, but gave credit to his losing hosts.

"Braves are by far the best club we've met," he said after the game. "They're good offensively and can score better than any we've met."

He said the difference was in the goalkeeping.

DEJORDY THE DIFFERENCE

Dennis DeJordy outplayed Ernie Wakely in the Braves' net, Bowman said. Statistically, DeJordy, a pickup from St. Catharines TeePees, stopped 25 shots compared with 12 by Wakely.

Bowman and his Winnipeg counterpart Bill Allum agreed on the point. Both said "it's going to be a long series."

The second game of the best-of-seven set is here Sunday afternoon.

Bowman said the wider rink at the Winnipeg Arena would help the Petes.

"We've played at Maple Leaf Gardens this certainly won't hurt us."

Allum was philosophical in defeat.

WEREN'T DRIVING

"Our club wasn't driving," he said. "We weren't skating or passing the puck around. We folded in the second period. Why? I don't know.

"They've got fast men on the puck. They cover their mistakes. We'll go the same way next time," he warned. "But watch out for us."

Little more than 6,000 fans turned out to see the game, which developed into a fast, hard-checking affair after some feeling came out in the first period. A fight broke out with the final bell and Wayne Larkin of Brraves and Garry Darling of Peterborough were assessed majors, Peterborough's Barclay Plager was given a misconduct for joining in.

Larry Babcock, first - string centre, paced the Petes with two goals, both in the second period when the eastern champions overcame a 1-0 Winnipeg lead with four consecutive goals. Tom Thurlby, Bob Rivers and Wayne Boddy scored the other Peterborough goals.

Larry Langrell, with two, Garry Bergman and Al LeBlanc were for Winnipeg's scoremen. Bergman opened the scoring in the ninth minute of the game.

Braves pulled Wakely for a sixth attack with 40 seconds remaining in the game but DeJordy held his defencemen held the fort.

Toronto Snaps Jet's Win String; Rochester Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was pitchers' night in the International League Friday with Richmond's Bill Short, Havana's Vincente Amor, Miami's Harry Byrd and Toronto's Frank Funk sharing the spotlight.

Short, a Binghamton graduate making his first start for Richmond, felled 10, walked three and permitted only six hits in the Virginians 1-0 victory over Montreal.

Richmond got just four hits off loser Rene Valdes but bunched three of them in the first inning for their run. After a long single by Jack Reed and bunt singles by Bobby Deakin and Jerry Thomas had loaded the bases, Frank Leja scored Reed with a sacrifice fly.

HURLS FOUR-HITTER

Amor hurled a four-hitter as he pitched Havana to a 1-0 victory over league-leading Rochester. Teammate Tony Gonzalez helped the Cuban righthander to his third triumph without a defeat by doubling home Ello Chacon in the third inning. Chacon had drawn a walk off loser Marshall Bridges who had to leave in that inning because of an arm injury.

Byrd, the ex-American leaguer, scattered six Buffalo hits as Miami triumphed 5-1. It was Byrd's third victory. Third baseman Woody Smith paced the Marlins' 10-hit attack with a homer and sacrifice fly.

Funk, relieving starter Hal Woodeschick — the winner — stopped a Columbus rally and preserved Toronto's 6-5 victory which snapped a four-game winning streak for the Jets.

DOUBLES TURN TRICK

Lefty Joe Gibbon took the loss. Joe Hannah nailed him with a two-run double in the second, and Eric Rodin slammed another two-run double in the fifth, the inning Gibbon bowed out after three runs came across.

Two of the three errors by Spook Jacobs set up Toronto with what amounted to the winning run in the eighth.

At Richmond, the game ended with a near riot when, with Montreal runners on first and second base, the Virginians' championship), plate by the Royals' Tom Harkness into a double play that squashed a rally.

Harkness and Montreal manager Clay Bryant protested to umpire Harry Schwarts that the ball was foul. Bryant was ejected. Montreal players on the bench immediately began tossing equipment on the field and finally the Royals' bench was cleared.

Surprising Indians Pad Lead In American Loop

Belt 19 Homers in Eight Consecutive Games; Brave Still Hammering Home Runs

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Home runs or singles, they're all the same to Cleveland as the surprising Indians pad their lead in the American League race.

Their homer spree was ended by Chicago Friday night — after the Tribe had belted 19 in eight consecutive games—but the Indians won their fourth in a row anyway, coming from behind for a 6-4 decision in their first run-in with the White Sox this season. That gave Cleveland, twice only once in 11 starts, a 3½-game lead over New York's idle second-place Yankees.

It also dropped the White Sox four games behind in a third place tie with Boston and Kansas City. Baltimore, the Red Sox moved up with a 7-2 victory at Washington. Kansas City smashed Detroit 10-1, the Tigers' 10th defeat in 11 games.

SCORE WILD

The Indians, with a wild Herb Score going only three innings, trailed 4-1 until the seventh inning while getting two hits off Sox starter Dick Donovan. Singles by Jim Minoso, Russ Nixon and pinch-hitter Tito Francona, who drove in a pair with two out, tied it in the bottom of the seventh. Then Vic Power's infield hit, an error, intentional walk and a passed ball broke the tie in a run-on eighth capped by Woody Held's double.

Gerry Staley (1-1) was the loser in relief. Chuck Stobbs worked in his first league appearance with two innings of one-hit, shutout relief.

Score walked seven in his three innings. Then he gave way to Bell —Boone's solo home run in the third.

Vic Wertz, rebounding quickly from a bout with the flu, drove in five runs for Boston. He doubled home two in the first against loser Vic Wiatelnetzki, then counted three in the third with his second home run in two days. Ted Lepcio also homered in the five-run third, with both shots off left-handed rookie Jack Krallick.

The Red Sox managed just six hits off Ike Delock (3-0), who went all the way. Washington scored two on Bob Lemon's third inning single.

Bob Cerv drove in four runs for the A's with three hits in four trips. Ralph Terry gained his first victory and complete game with eight strikeouts.

The Tigers' Billy Hoeft, credited with their lone victory, was chased in a six-run fourth inning. Detroit has been smacked for 44 runs in its last four games.

After that startling slump in last fall's world series; Eddie Mathews is back doing what comes naturally — hammering home runs.

When Milwaukee Braves blew a 3-1 lead in games and lost the world championship to the New York Yankees last October, Mathews who had hit 32 home runs, batted only .180 in 25 at-bats and set a series record by striking out 11 times.

But if it left a mark, Mathews has clubbed it away. He shares the National League home run lead, swatting his fifth and sixth Friday night with his 4-3 pocket clout that carried the first place Braves to a 10-7 victory at Cincinnati.

FIFTH SLAM

Mathews' slam, his fifth in the season, not only gave him a tie with Los Angeles' Don Demeter for the league lead but also created Milwaukee's half a game edge over the second-place Dodgers, who won 4-2 in 13 innings at St. Louis. Third place San Francisco got a 4-3, 10-inning decision over the Chicago Cubs. Pittsburgh rallied for an 8-5 victory over Philadelphia.

Yesterday's Stars

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hitting—Ed Mathews, Braves, drove in five runs with two homers, the second an eighth-inning grand slam left Wally Post's Reds behind for a 10-7 victory.

Pitching—Ralph Terry, Athletics, scattered eight hits for his first victory, striking out seven and shutting the Tigers after the first inning for a 10-1 triumph.

DISCUSS CONSERVATION

TORONTO (CP)—Conservation along the St. Lawrence Seaway will be discussed by Ontario and New York State sportsmen at the first International Sportsmen's conservation Workshop to be held at the Kemptville Agricultural School May 21 to 24.

All Over Tonight?

Dunlops Near 2nd Allan Cup With 6-2 Third-Game Win Over B.C.'s Vernon Canucks

TORONTO (CP)—The Whitby Dunlops, on the verge of winning Canada's Senior A hockey championship for the second time in three years, are facing the event like a team of old pros which, in fact, some of them are.

There was an unmistakable air of professional confidence in Dunlops' dressing room Friday night after they trimmed the Vernon Canadians 6-2 to take a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven Allan Cup final.

Fourth and probably final game in the poorly-attended series will be played here tonight. A crowd of only 1,361, smallest of the series and perhaps the smallest in a modern Allan Cup playoff, watched Friday night.

Whitby outclassed Vernon by almost every score of 32 in the first two games and a clinching victory tonight would make Dunlops the first team to capture the Allan Cup the year after winning the Canadian amateur hockey championship.

NO SURPRISE

Hardly anybody doubted that Dunlops would do just that. Stars faced Sid Smith, Dunnies' playing-coach and ex-pro with Toronto Maple Leafs.

"I'm confident now that we'll win," Smith said after the game. Vernon played a darn good game for about two periods but I figured we had it clinched after the second period when we came back to go ahead 4-2."

George Agar, Vernon's veteran playing - coach, though dejected in defeat, agreed.

"I can't say very much. We're still alive and in the third period our whole club just seemed to quit. But I think our big letdown was before."

BLAIR COY

Whitby manager Wren Blair wouldn't predict the game but manager left little doubt that he was expecting it. "I just know that they're going to have to play a better game than us to beat us", Blair said.

"Our club hasn't been playing its best hockey but we've been getting the jump in the early games."

In fact, Blair pasted the word on his players to leave their cars at home today. The team will travel together to the game and return to Whitby the same way after tonight's game to ensure that they've secured the right to the first period.

Dunlops, however, got unbracked in the second period and scored three goals, two within 17 seconds, to pull away. Whitby cinched the game with three more goals in the third period when Canadians appeared to tire.

Right winger Sandy Alo and centre Jack Kane, got particularly prominent in the first two games, each scored two goals. Left winger Whitby marksmen were right winger George Samolenko and defenceman Ted O'Connor.

Right winger Jim Moor, a standout for Canadians so far in the series, gave Vernon a 1-0 lead in the first period and defenceman Harry Smith fired Vernon's other goal in the last period.

Al Gordon had another fairly busy time in the Vernon nets making a total of 30 saves. Whitby's Long John Henderson made only 14 stops as his teammates produced another fine checking performance.

Canadians received four of the seven minor penalties and none of the penalties figured in the scoring.

Mike Souchak Four Strokes Up At Midway Mark

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mike Souchak fired a two-under-par 70 to stretch his lead to four strokes at the midway mark Friday of the $46,620 Tournament of Champions.

One of the only five professionals to master par on a blustery but warm afternoon, the Grosminger N.Y. golfer toured the Desert Inn Country Club's 7,073-yard, 36-36-72 course in 35-35-70 for a commanding 36-hole score of 138.

Deadlocked at 140 were Masters champ Art Wall Jr., whose 72 was the low for the day; Julius Boros with a 70, John McMullen, 72, and Ernie Vossler, 71.

Alone at 142 was long-hitting George Bayer with 70 while Gene Littler, three times winner and the pre-tournament favorite, shot a 72 for a tie at 143 with Arnold Palmer, who had a 73.

Last year's winner, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, had a 73 and was tied at 144 with Paul Harney and Doug Sanders, who also shot 73s.

Bruins, Rangers Leave Monday For Hockey Tour

NEW YORK (CP) — Boston Bruins and New York Rangers of the National Hockey League leave by air for Europe Monday for a 23-game exhibition tour that will take them to six countries.

Muzz Patrick, Rangers general manager, announced today that the first two games will be played in London's Wembley Stadium next Wednesday and Thursday night. Both games were reported sold out.

Three games in Vienna May 23-24 will wind up the tour which will mark the second time in history that NHL clubs have toured Europe. Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings visited England and France 20 years ago.

SWITZERLAND PROMOTER

Othmar Delnon, a prominent sporting goods dealer in Lausanne, Switzerland, promoted the tour. He worked out details with Patrick, Bruins' general manager Lynn Patrick and Rangers' opponents.

The schedule:

London, April 29-30; Geneva, May 3-3; Paris, May 4-5; Antwerp, May 6-7-8; Zurich, May 9-10; Dortmund, Germany May 12-13; Essen, Germany, May 14-15; Krefeld, Germany, May 16-17; Berlin, May 19-20-21; Vienna May 22-23-24.

$75,000 in Till For Heavy Scrap Six Days Away

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Brian London, six days away from their bout for the heavyweight title, resume ball-scale workouts today.

Both skipped ring work Friday, satisfied that they were nearly ready for combat. London put in eight miles of roadwork, and Patterson ran an undisclosed distance.

Both fighters were guests at a reception Friday night given by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

Promoter Al Farb reported $75,000 in the till from ticket sales, with hopes of reaching the $100,000 mark this weekend.

THE OLD PHILOSOPHER'S COLUMN

FOR THE CONNOISSEUR OF FINE TOBACCOS

You may not have travelled very far from home, but if you speak English you more than likely smoke Craven. When you speak of CLOVES you are in the Orient, for the word is the Latin "clavus", or nail — from their nail-like shape. CLOVEHITCH, and you have America. RHUBARB takes you to Russia, where, on the banks of the Rha, now called the Volga (where those boatmen are) rhubarb was first found. GAUZE, as used for bandages, first came from Gaza, in Palestine, and the MATTRESS on which you lie down at night comes from an Arabic word meaning a place where it is likely to be laid down. So many of our words come from far-off places that as we use them, we may consider ourselves seasoned travellers.

Some day you may want to travel in a more LITERAL than LITERATE way! You may decide to move to another city, even to a distant Province. If that day DOES arrive, don't think of moving as a big, excessive ordeal. It need not be that at all! It all depends on who does your long-distance moving!

Allied Van Lines — probably the very top name on the continent — is made up of moving and storage companies in 100 cities from coast to coast. Here, that company is Fox Cartage and Storage Limited, in Trenton, Belleville, Picton and North Bay. There, full dependability is attested by the Good Housekeeping Seal. Here, you have its own KLEIN-PACK method of packing, the ultimate in protection and convenience. No dusty cardboard, no messy newsprint. Instead, clean, sanitary interleaved and special corrugation.

Like safe as! Specify ALLIED — FOX — a nationwide mover who can handle anything, from a Piano to a Pinto. Phone us at 96 Dundas Street East. Write, or phone 962-2455 — 24-hour service. Ask for "Moving You Move".

Les Miserables Off Banned List

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Les Miserables, the novel which Victor Hugo wrote a century ago, has been taken off the Roman Catholic index of banned books and will be published in full with ecclesiastic authorization.

Vatican sources said today this is the first time a banned book has ever been taken off the index and authorized.

Publications under church approval will contain footnotes explaining some of the passages to which there had been church objection. This footnote explanation was one of the conditions imposed by the church in authorizing the publication.

T-V TIPS
by JOHN WETTLAUFER

With the arrival of spring, thousands of our native birds return from wintering in the south and occasionally worry some people by roosting by the dozen on the TV antenna.

Don't be alarmed — birds do not cause interference in Television reception, nor will they be harmed themselves while resting on this ideal perch. Unless your aerial is extremely shaky you can forget about the bird problem.

Of course, when your TV aerial installation is in a neglected condition, even a summer breeze can wreck it . . . and your budget! CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 364 Coleman St., have the equipment and experienced men to put your antenna in tip top shape for much less than you probably think. See Khrushchev Letters As Move To Split Allies

Nikita Calls U.K.-U.S. Proposal 'Unfair Deal'

LONDON (CP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev has sent letters to Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower that are seen in some quarters here as a calculated move to drive a wedge between Britain and the United States.

Khrushchev has rejected as "an unfair deal" a recent Anglo-American proposal for a first-stage ban on nuclear test explosions within a 30-mile limit above the earth.

But he cordially welcomed a suggestion by Macmillan in Moscow six weeks ago for settling by annual quotas the number of visits to be paid by inspection teams to places where sneak explosions are suspected.

In letters made public during the weekend, the Russian premier revealed that the hitherto-secret proposal by Britain is supported by the Russian delegation at the test-ban talks in Geneva.

CONFIRMED IN BRITAIN

British government sources confirmed that Macmillan had broached the idea of limiting the number of inspections with the Soviet leader in Moscow but it later in Paris, Bonn and Washington.

President Eisenhower is believed to have been cool to the idea. So far it has not been brought up at the talks in Geneva.

A foreign office spokesman said Macmillan had been thinking aloud and his suggestion didn't constitute a formal proposal.

On the limited test ban proposal, Britain and the U.S. had suggested as a basis for initial agreement an end to nuclear explosions under water, on the earth's surface and in the air up to 30 miles. There are explosions which cause the most radioactive fallout, are the easiest to detect. They include those on the surface, ground and outer space tests for the present.

Khrushchev declared that his government's policy continued to be for a ban on all tests "in the atmosphere, under ground, under water and in great altitudes."

The New York Times said in a dispatch from Bonn that Britain is expected to put forward a proposal to limit arms and troops in Central Europe and proposed an aerial inspection zone extending from Paris to Moscow.

The zone, it said, also would narrow the zone — excluding part of West Germany — where restrictions on forces of East and West would be subject to aerial ground inspection teams. The remainder of the Paris-Warsaw zone would be subject to aerial inspection.

Prisoner Runs Out of Gas Trying to Flee

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Ella Edward Mead, serving his seventh prison term, got out a good start in his sixth escape try in 43 years.

But strength ran out for Mead, 62, years old and a tuberculosis patient, after he sawed out a third-floor window bar and climbed to the roof of the prison hospital. He carried a bedsheet carefully braided into a rope.

"I couldn't go on," Mead said. "I was pooped. I just ran out of gas."

He loitered for help in the darkness and prison guards rescued him from the roof-top.

Find No Trace Abducted Negro, Feared Lynched

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP)— The rape trial of Mack Charles Parker was on the circuit court docket today as federal and state agencies pressed a growing investigation into the kidnapping of the 23-year-old Negro feared to have been lynched by a mob.

A statement by the chief of the Mississippi highway patrol, William Hood, showed hope had vanished of finding Parker alive.

"We are here until every lead is exhausted and every clue run down," Hood said. "We are making the search for the body as well as for the perpetrators of this crime."

Parker was charged with raping a white woman here shortly last February. The woman, who was three months pregnant, said the attack took place in the absence of her five - year - old daughter.

LET INTO GROUPS

The FBI sent more than 50 agents into the area, combining forces with local police and the more than 50 highway patrolmen, they split into groups of two and three men to cover the area.

One group, on John Roper, 63, who owns a 40 - acre truck farm about four miles north of here. Reyer said he was about 25 feet away when the raiders left the Pearl river county courthouse and dumped Parker in a car and drove off. Roper, apparently the most important witness to the getaway, said two to five other cars left in different directions.

"Nobody didn't speak," Reyer recalled. "Nobody said nothing to me.

"I saw all the men were masks. I realized I was in the same place with them on. I didn't look back."

NO GUARD AT JAIL

Reyer said about five minutes elapsed from the time the men left the courthouse until all the cars were gone. The jail has no guard. The prisoners call over to the hospital when they need help.

Several items of stained clothing were plastered about 30 miles from here but there was no indication they were connected with Parker's trip. FBI took possession of them for chemical analysis. Police said that if bloodstains are blood, they were too old to have been involved in the case.

Water Safety Group Plans Future Projects

The Quinte Water Safety Council held a meeting recently to discuss further action in the promotion of water safety in this area. G. H. "Bud" Trill reported that the Belleville Harbour Commissioners would be placing warning signs at the various danger points within its area. This would be done at the expense of the Commission.

Lloyd Doreen, city recreation director, announced that four movie films had been secured by the education committee of the Council. These will be shown to students of grades seven and eight in the public schools about this area. Mr. J.C. Peoples reported that appropriate brochures and pamphlets would be distributed to school children in the near future. Dean Hinman reported that he approach the Retail Merchants Association to see about the possibility of inaugurating advertising for Water Safety Week.

The Belleville YMCA offered the facilities of its pool for teaching non-swimmers from this city and district within its area. A course is to be arranged. We take advantage of this offer.

The meeting was very well attended.

St. Joseph's C.W.L. Honors Rev. B. O'Neill

Many friends and relatives of Reverend Bernard O'Neill attended a reception in his honor on Thursday, April 19, held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, under the auspices of the Parish Council of the Catholic Women's League of St. Joseph's.

Father O'Neill and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Neill, greeted the guests as they arrived. Later, co-hostesses Mrs. F. F. Halloran and Mrs. J. C. Baker invited the guests to the tea room where delicious sandwiches and cakes were being served.

The tea table was attractively decorated and centred by a most unusual book-cake, complemented by bouquets of blue and white mums and blue and white candles in silver candelabra. Individual tables had been set up with floral centrepieces of yellow daffodils.

SPRING TEA

Those who poured tea were: Mrs. E. Bulger and Miss T. Donoghue; Mrs. J. Carr-Harris and Mrs. L. Hagarty; Mrs. E. Logan and Mrs. R. J. Burch.

Mrs. J. E. Poirier was responsible for the delicious cups of tea served.

Replenishing and serving were: Mrs. D. V. Cooper, Mrs. D. Stephen, Mrs. D. Mavity, Mrs. E. Hilbig, Mrs. S. Klazek, Mrs. S. Bankey, Mrs. J. Bankey, Mrs. E. Labelle, Mrs. H. Bone, Mrs. J. McIlmoyle, Mrs. J. Mc-Donald, Mrs. E. McKenna, Mrs. R. Chipman, Mrs. P. Mercier, Miss J. Thompson, Miss Dumoulin, Mrs. M. Panting, Mrs. D. Coates and Mrs. F. Walsh.

Of special interest to those attending was an exquisite cake given by his family to Father O'Neill. Other gifts were attractively displayed.

Father O'Neill, when graciously thanked the ladies of the Catholic Women's League for their kindness to him.

Canadian Ballet Performed In Opera House at Cobourg

By ROBERT TANNER

When a Canadian ballet company performs a Canadian ballet to music by a Canadian composer before the Governor-General in what is perhaps the Canada's oldest surviving opera house, this surely is an occasion for both historic and artistic interest. Last Saturday night, the National Ballet Company, under the direction of Celia Franca, danced "Ballet" by Grant Strate, set to music by Harry Somers, in Cobourg's Victoria Opera House above the town hall.

The action of this ballet is set in Spain and tells of the sad arrival of a stranger in a little prairie town. Two sisters both fall in love with him, but the stranger has eyes only for the younger and more beautiful, and after a shy beginning they exchange their vows in a haunting love pas de deux. The main climax is interrupted by the arrival of a bull, which the stranger splitedly brought the elder sister to see what is going on. The bull is a scuffle in which the elder sister kills the younger with him, but then stranger is slain by the younger sister, who denounces the stranger as a murderer, and the men of the village have no time in taking justice into their own hands. Left alone on a darkening stage, the two sisters and their mother mourn their dead sorrow, despair and resignation as the curtain falls. A powerful and moving ballet this, ranging from wild excitement as the boys of the village cavort, to gripping intensity at the dramatic peaks. Harry Somers' music, very modern in idiom, fits the action like a glove and contributes to make this work a very impressive whole.

The major work of the evening was supported by two familiar and attractive items from the National ballet repertoire. "Les Rendez Vous" and "Offenbach in the Underworld". Both were cheerfully cramped by the surroundings, a perennial problem in Canada's smaller centres, but the tremendous vitality of "Offenbach" and the gay music "Offenbach" and the gay music made a fitting climax to the evening's entertainment, during which the local professional dancers gave excellent performances.

This first visit of the National Ballet to Cobourg was sponsored by the Scriptomists Club and the Cobourg and District branch of the Ballet Guild will be formed with a view to making this a yearly enjoyable affair an annual event.

Obituaries

MRS. CHARLES HOWARD (Contributed)

TWEED — The death of Anna Mary Prudence Bentley, wife of Charles Howard, occurred at her home in Oak Leaf on April 16th, after a few days illness.

She was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley of Bancroft.

After graduating from high school she was employed for some time in the Bell Telephone office in Ottawa. She was married to Mr. Howard on September 15th, 1915, in St. Andrew's Church, Brockville. She was a member of Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Oak Leaf, and when her health permitted, took a keen interest in the ladies' guild.

Surviving are her husband, Charles, two sons, Eugene, Elmer and Charles Guy, 4; and two daughters, Helen, 9 and Phyllis Ann, 2; also five brothers, Guy, Bancroft; George, of Ottawa; Harry, M.P., (N.W.); Jules, Belleville and Henry Britton Columbia; also one sister, Amy Bentley, of Belleville.

The Rev. F. F. Downing officiated at the funeral and the service at Holy Trinity Church on the following Monday. The bearers were four nephews, Gary Howard, Soperton; Ronald Howard, Tweed; Harold, and Bruce Howard of Toronto.

Interment was in the cemetery of Holy Trinity.

CLARENCE E. WHITEMAN
Cooper

Stricken with a heart seizure at his home in Cooper on Sunday, Clarence Edgar Whiteman, well known farmer, died suddenly. He was born at Marlbank, 64 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whiteman and has resided in this district for the past 42 years. Mr. Whiteman took an active interest in community affairs and was a wide circle of friends.

A member of Cooper United Church he is survived by his wife, the former Lorey Ellen Watson, one son, Lloyd Thomas E. Whiteman; two daughters, Mrs. Ernest (Clayton Whiteman, at home, and Mrs. Ross (Louise), of Harry Whiteman of Cooper; Oscar Whiteman of Merriton. Two sisters and a sister also predeceased him.

Resting at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

ALBERT ELVIN DOWNEY

The funeral of Albert Elvin Downey, Imperial Oil Sales Representative, who died suddenly in London, Ont., was held from the Grant Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon. Bearers, immediate family there was a large attendance of friends and workers from all parts of Ontario. Varied and beautiful floral tributes filled the chapel to overflowing. Rev. C. W. Coleman conducted the service in the chapel with Rev. T. F. Downing, Tweed, committal prayers at Brighton cemetery.

The honorary bearers were: Ernest Best, Lloyd McColl, A. D. McKee, Jr., Fred Allen, Fred Wilson, Robert Harris, Wesley Hagerman, Stanley Franks, Robert Downey and Lloyd Sheilar.

The active bearers were: Ernest Wiggins, Morley Webster, Howard Sheilar, Gordon Sheilar, Carl O'Hara and William Hill.

At Brighton cemetery the members of United Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 29, held a memorial Masonic service, Wor. Bro. Frank Dunnett, master of the lodge, read the service assisted by George Little, Harker Morrow and Don Little.

Police Bullets Wound Brothers

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice Leveille, 20, and his brother Raymond, 18, were recovering in hospital today from gunshot wounds received in a chase by police in the north-end early Saturday.

The shots cut the pair down after they ignored repeated orders to stop, police said. The older youth was hit in the abdomen and the younger one took three bullets in the chest. Their condition was reported as satisfactory.

The chase started after a patrol car was called to investigate a report of a theft. A man was also arrested later.

Barbershoppers, Both Men And Women, Thrill Audience

By EUGENE LANG

The turned-up seats were few and far between in the Collegiate Auditorium on Saturday evening as hundreds of fans filled the harbour Harmony from the city and district, besides groups who had journeyed all the way from Ottawa, Kingston, Peterborough and other centres, to hear the Belleville chapter of the Eighth Annual Harmony Night presentation of the local chapter of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. (the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America). For those who like good old close harmony (and the ranks are steadily increasing), this was a memorable song fest that was diversified in its appeal both with the quartet singing the first groups and the ceremonies to the audience in the person of Mr. Phil Ziegler of WJBC, but the real highlight introduced each performing group that was to follow, and added immeasurably to the program with his own interspersings of gags, jokes and intimable golden bantam humor.

THREE QUARTETS PRESENT

As guests of the local chapter of the Barbershoppers three quartets from Western Ontario were on hand to add to the enjoyment of the program. The Mello-Men from Woodstock, the Four Chords from Peterborough and the Chord Criers from Brockton were all male quartets of outstanding qualities and did not hesitate in the least to demonstrate their versatility in individual skillities in the many numbers that each group presented. The Mello-Men harmonized cleanly and won added applause by their laughable rural antics and renditions of fun numbers. Their songs were Audrey's, their second appearance. The Four Chords were also well up in their stylings and seemed to excel in their full resonance of four-part harmony that was sung with gusto and warmth. The Chord Criers had a different approach in that in the majority of their selections they spotlighted the voice of their lead with the other three singers lined as background accompaniments, this lending a novel effect to their vocal outpourings. Their dramatic stylings were most effe.tively colored from soft pp's to vibrant ff's.

The four local singers of the Keynotes, our own Belleville quartet, were up to their usual fitness of form in each song given, and sang with clear precision and gauntleted from tender tones to firm formatas.

GUEST MAKES ill-starred

An added new attraction this year was the debut of the new Belleville Barbelles chorus, one of the local chapter, under the direction of Phil Squire. In their first appearance before us they showed much promise in their singing and with a competitive counter-balance of the men's chorus and that was to follow, and added can be culled from the ranks of the many fine voices of this new vocal sector.

Following this fine evening of Barbershop harmony, prizes, ribbons and all those participating in the Harmony Night appeared in the Plenula Centre where the usual Afterglow took place with refreshments and the opportunity to meet and mold their voices with anyone whom they had met in the evening, be it in duos, trios, quartets or any combination.

Distinctive keyboard stylings were played by Jimmy Corradi before the curtain started for this, the Eighth Harmony Night of the Barber Shoppers.

Two Havelock Couples Swept Over Dam, Motor Conks Out

MARMORA — Two Havelock couples, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howard, had a narrow escape from death in the swollen Crowe River Sunday evening when their light aluminum boat was swept over a 15-foot dam at the northern outskirts of Marmora village.

The two couples escaped serious injury although they were chilled and were allowed to go home after getting dried out at the home of Dr. R. Parkin at Marmora.

It was the light boat swept over the dam Mr. Davis managed to grab a projection at the face of the dam, but his wife was swept over with the boat.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard were in the boat when it overturned boat and were saved by grabbing the dam when the boat overturned motion and ran to their assistance. Mrs. Davis was swept downstream and was pulled from the water a short distance above No. 2 highway bridge.

The two couples had started their boat ride from Crowe Lake two miles upstream, travelling the river downstream to the dam where they planned turning around and coming to the lake.

But as soon as boat was swept over a short distance above the dam the motor conked out.

The party managed to get from the boat could do nothing to prevent the boat being swept towards the dam.

Claude Nichol saved Mr. Davis from where he was clinging to the top of the dam, while Mr. and Mrs. Howard were pulled in by Ed. Gillian and another Marmora resident who heard the commotion and the cries for help. The boat turned boat with Mr. and Mrs. Howard clinging to it, finally had been swept to the river-bank in a backwash a short distance below the dam.

Mrs. David was pulled in by Ed. Gillian just above the No. 2 highway bridge, nearly a quarter mile below the dam.

Fortunately all four occupants of the boat were wearing life packs and the three who went over the dam managed to save their lives to this safety precaution.

The overturned boat was hauled ashore below the No. 2 highway bridge. The outboard motor was torn from the craft a it went over the dam and was lost.

Princess Home After Holiday In Rome, Paris

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret arrived here by air today after a five-day Roman holiday with her mother and a quiet week in Paris.

She was smiling and showed no sign of the cold that kept her indoors Sunday.

The Queen Mother stayed behind in Paris to attend a fashion show and to lunch with President Rene Coty.

Today night the princess, radiant in an off-the-shoulder dress, appeared at the Italian embassy dinner.

The princess and her mother attended the affair which leading French government officials, including Premier Guy Mollet and his wife.

Margaret and the Queen Mother flew here for a weekend Saturday night after a five-day visit to Rome where they were the especially speculating about a romance between the princess and Prince Georgy of Hesse.

During her stay in Rome, Margaret visited a children's orphanage with Prince Henry, a 31-year-old surrealist painter.

IN MEMORIAM

DAFOE — In loving memory of a dear mother, Lillian May Dafoe, who passed away April 27th, 1958. Peacefully sleeping, resting at last, No worldly cares, no more troubles and trials are past;
In silent love we watched, in patience kept,
Till God called her home, so softer than we wept.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by husband, daughters and boys.

FISHERSON — In loving memory of Mrs. Ella Fitzsimmon, who passed away April 27th, 1958.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweet and dear as ever more,
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you.
—Inserted by husband, Edward, Ferrus, Goldie, Wilfred, Martin and Howard.

RINK — In memory of my husband, Ernest Rink, who passed away April 27th, 1958.
Treasured memories, softly stealing,
Like one who loved so dearly;
Your last words to me were,
"Meet me in the Land of Beyond."
Sadly missed by wife, Florence.

RINK — In loving memory of my husband, Ernest Rink, who passed away April 27th, 1958.
Dearest Ernest, in the family circle
We miss you so much,
A link gone from our chain.
Your last words to me were,
We'd rive it yes, and more
Then you left with a smile
And never saw it more.
We like to think when life is done,
Your greeting will be,
"Welcome home, my darling wife,"
As there to welcome us.
Then we'll be together and live
One in a million, that father, was Loved by friends, and all you knew,
Remembered by wife, daughter and granddaughter.
—Sadly missed by daughters and sons, daughter-in-law, son-in-law and grandchildren.

CARDS OF THANKS

We sincerely thank the staff and all of the Isolation Department of the Belleville General Hospital for the wonderful care given me while there, and to so many kind friends for flowers, letters, cards and good wishes received while in hospital and for Dr. Empson for their kind attention.
—Mrs. Ethel Sills.

We wish to express our deep appreciation to our relatives, friends and neighbours for their kindness and sympathy shown us in our recent bereavement in the loss of a dear husband and father. Especially we want to thank the Rev. M. Eastcott for his comforting words, the donors of the beautiful floral pieces, the pallbearers, Mr. Ross Fraser and Mr. Ernest Rink for their kind and efficient management.
—Mrs. A. H. Fisher and Marion.

OBSCENE LAWS—

LONDON (Reuters)—A bill to change Britain's ambiguous obscene publications laws to protect the serious author and publisher was passed by the Commons.

It also would give police greater powers to crack down on the sale of obscene books. The new law will be judged on their literary merit rather than whether they are the class of reader for whom they are intended.

REGENTS BYLAW

OTTAWA (CP) — W. Sterling McLeod says he will go to jail before he'll be forced to support by his wife for parking on a street where there is no bylaw of any kind. Under a traffic bylaw parking is forbidden on streets unless there are signs specifically allowing it. Mrs. McLeod parked on such a street and was ticketed for it. Her husband, chief of the pesticide testing laboratory at the Dominion Experimental Farm, called the law "stupid, unrealistic, unwieldy and impossible to enforce. He has received a summons to appear in court April 29.

Seven Drowned When Cruiser Capsizes

SEATTLE (AP) — "I prayed, oh how I prayed," stammered 18-year-old Janet Wicks after her rescue from choppy Puget Sound. "I kept asking God: 'Please save me; help me; I don't want to die like this'."

"How was the others?" Janet asked Sunday as she lay shivering beneath a pile of blankets. Then her recovery told her that seven of her boating companions died in the chilly waters when their pleasure cruiser capsized. Four others were saved with Janet. All are from Tacoma, Wash.

The tragedy occurred shortly after the 13 persons, seven adults and five children, started on a 25-mile trip from Tacoma to Seattle. When the 43-foot Lois Ann approached the south Seattle shoreline, strong gusts pushed waves across her stern.

"The boat began to fill and the boat went over on its side," Janet said.

SAVED BY HELICOPTER.

A marine helicopter rescued Walley E. Jones, master of the Lois Ann, by a hook with a rescue sling. Small boats and coast guard craft picked his wife, 46, and their son Rolf, 13, Rodney Taylor, 2, and Janet.

The body of Fridjah Taylor, 44, father of Rodney, was found floating near the scene.

Closer to shore skindivers retrieved the bodies of Mrs. Taylor's wife, Gwen, about 44; her five-month-old daughter; Lois Ann Johnson, 5, and Mrs. Johnson's son, Reuben Torgerson, 75, and his wife, Matilda, 66.

Still missing was Martin Taylor, 82, father of Tayet and Mrs. Johnson.

Hunt 30 Rebels After Landing On Panama Coast

PANAMA CITY (AP) — Government troops today pushed the search for 30 revolutionary invaders believed still at large on an isolated stretch of Pacific coastline.

Three members of the force were captured and three were reported to have been drowned in the landing.

Authorities said the three captives named Roberto Arias, husband of Panama's Margot Fonteyn, as their chief. Arias, former ambassador to London, is suspected by the Brazilian Embassy Friday night and was given asylum.

A communique gave this account of the invasion:

The 32 of 33 men and a woman nurse landed Friday night on Playa Rompio (red beach) about 60 miles northeast of Panama City, after sailing from Batabano, Cuba.

PLANNED REBELLION

Their goal was to launch a Castro-type guerrilla war in the mountains against President Ernesto de la Guardia.

Two of those captured were Cubans, the third Panamanian. The field commander of the landing force was Enrique Morales Bird, son of Panama's Chief Justice Ricardo Morales. He was one of the three who were drowned in the first landing attempt.

People in the area said the invaders said they came from Cuba with Fidel Castro's blessing.

Castro, in Montreal, denied any knowledge of the invasion and said his revolutionary forces had strict orders against having anything to do with such adventures in other countries.

Despite the invasion report, life in the capital went on as usual.

This calm was not reflected by Liberal Party World that a beached boat about 35 feet long had been found on Playa Colorado sent de la Guardia's cabinet into emergency session Saturday night.

FAIR DROWNED

BUFFALO, N.Y. (CP)—David Oakley, 22, of Toronto as a woman tentatively identified as Sharon Lee Walk, 18, also of Toronto, were drowned Sunday when their car plunged off a road into a 30-foot deep waterfront canal.

Kingston Dart Players Capture Major Awards

TRENTON — The Canadian Legion Hall was crowded with darts enthusiasts on Friday when the annual Ontario Darts Association playoffs and presentations took place.

The Association, which started operations about 10 years ago, now has 1 large following in every area where darts are played. This popular indoor sport shows signs of becoming even more popular.

J. Fitzpatrick of Kingston carried off many of the honors, winning not only the singles, but also the doubles in partnership with Joe Grey, also of Kingston. Fitzpatrick was also a member of the winning Kingston team, whose other members were Irene Hand, MacDonald, G. Grey (captain) and John Twiford.

The singles trophy, presented by L. G. McCaffery, Trenton, to Joe Fitzpatrick, was a unique tri-light lamp with a decorative symbol. The dart in flight. Table lamps, also decorated with the flight symbol, were presented by L. McCaffery and Nick Stephan, while the winning team received wrist watch trays from the hands of Mr. McCaffery and Mr. Stephan.

Going to Belleville to contest the Ontario Championship will be J. Winstanley, Belleville; and J. Goodall, Kingston, singles; J. Grey and J. Fitzpatrick, D. Weeks and L. McCaffery and and L. Zammit, doubles, and the Kingston United team and the Kingston Legion Association team from Oshawa, under the captaincy of George Parker.

Girl Guides Hope to Attend Summer Camp

By BRENDA BELLENIE

TRENTON — This year Trenton East Girl Guides hope to attend a two-week summer camp. The location has not yet decided as to what campsite they will attend.

Recreation plans have been previously made and approved. There will be two weeks of swimming daily, tennis, badminton, canoeing and target practice.

Each morning the leaders hope to have not yet decided as to what campsite they will attend.

Recreation plans have been previously made and approved. There will be two weeks of swimming daily, tennis, badminton, canoeing and target practice.

Each morning the leaders hope to have a parade for the raising of the flag and inspection. The Guides will then have their breakfast and a morning swim, after which there will be two periods each tennis, and then lunch. After lunch there will be tennis or badminton, games and canoeing or swimming. The evening will be spent singing songs and hymns around the campfire.

A meeting will be held at The Queen Elizabeth School at 8:00 p.m. May 17, 1959. All girls interested in attending the camp are welcome to be present at the meeting. It will be explained at that time the approximate expense of the two week holiday. The Guides will also be informed as to what clothing and equipment to bring.

Scouts Pleased With Donations

RCAF TRENTON — "Thank You!"

These two words express fully the sentiment of the members of both the town of Trenton and local Air Force Boy Scout organizations towards all the Trenton people that contributed during the recent joint food drive. In all $839 was collected.

Canvassed during the campaign were merchants, industrial firms and professional men, and canvassed residential "Web" Shier states "Their assistance will help make scouting a success in the Trenton area."

The campaign was held during the last part of February, and canvasser and members of the joint fund committee deserve praise for the way the drive was handled.

Speaking with Mr. Shier as canvass co-ordinator for the Air Force Scout movement was Group Capt. Ken St. Cyr. Mr. Arnaud who noted that the report to the public would have been made sooner but the committee waited to ensure that all returns were in.

Annual Meeting Of Hospital Hears Reports

TRENTON—The eighth annual meeting of the Trenton Memorial Hospital board was held in the crowded staff dining room of the hospital on Thursday evening.

S. O. Graham, chairman of the board of directors, was in the chair. The opening prayer was offered by the Rev. D. C. McLelland, minister of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, G. R. Wilham, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes of last year's meeting.

In a brief message from the board of trustees, Mr. Graham pointed out what a great benefit the hospital was to the community. He explained the new addition which is being planned for the building, and said that when the addition is completed, the hospital would accommodate 140 patients. Have double x-ray facilities and extended laboratory accommodation. He urged that the Trenton Hospital should be 75 feet on each feet, and not deepend on help from the Government, and added that a drive would be held for the financing of the new addition.

Mr. Graham also thanked Mrs. O. Moores for her efficient handling of the hospital administration. He also had words of praise for the Hospital Women's Auxiliary, for the RCAF Women's Auxiliary and for church and service groups and individuals for their great help and interest in the work done at the hospital.

Mr. Graham also gave the financial report. He said that income for the year came to $44,000 over the previous year. About $11,000 of this was unrecoverable, however. Amount of salaries for hospital personnel had cost $41,000 and a 5 per cent salary increase was contemplated in the near future. There were 124 full-time employees and 4 part-time, said Mr. Williamson. Wherever possible drugs are purchased and bought in Trenton, he added.

Miss Moores then spoke, enumerating the various benefits to the community from the hospital. She spoke briefly on "The Patient."

Dr. W. A. McDonald, chief of staff, spoke on volume of work done in the hospital last year. Several doctors had attended medical conventions, said Dr. McDonald, and had given a number of lectures to nurses. Ten post mortems had been performed during last year. Plans were also underway, added the doctor, for the provision of anaesthetical equipment for the hospital, and for the starting of a small medical library.

Mrs. Murray Dixson, retiring president of the Hospital Women's Auxiliary, then gave a thorough report of the activities of the Auxiliary during the past year. She was followed by Mrs. T. Murray of the RCAF Women's Auxiliary, who reported on the past year's activities of her group.

William Crookshanks, of the maintenance staff, then presented read a letter from the other members of the staff, expressing their appreciation for the co-voicing tion received.

Boyer and Murphy were appointed auditors of the books.

Nasser Renews Attack on Russian Aims

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters) — President Nasser of the United Arab Republics again has accused Russia of supporting Arab Communist parties in their bid to dominate the Middle East.

His renewed attack on Communism, another in a series of scheduled during April, is the months, came in a speech in the Cairo Officers' Club Saturday. Observers regarded the speech as especially significant in view of a 20-page letter received by Nasser Monday from Premier Khrushchev explaining Russian policies.

Nasser said the U.A.R. is the only stumbling block in the Eastern Communism or Western imperialism in the Middle East.

He added that Russia could place the U.A.R. under its influence only by "fighting us."

Nasser said he did not understand why Russia changed its policy toward the U.A.R. after the Iraqi revolution, and threw all its support behind the Arab Communist parties.

The only reason could be that the policy of neutrality does not coincide with the interest of the Soviet Union."

Burglar Uses Fish Hooks to Steal Mink Stole

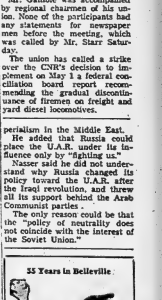
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Now police can tell the one about the burglar who fished for mink.

Sunday night, they said, a burglar went to a Wiltshire Boulevard fur shop armed with a toy pistol that shoots darts with suction cup tips.

He had fish hooks on the darts instead of suction. He aimed through a package drop, police said, fired one of the darts into a mink coat on a manikin. Then used a line to pull the garment out.

How did they figure it out? One hook - equipped dart—apparently a near miss—was found hooked in the manikin's dress.

Labor Minister Meets Firemen, CNR Officials



OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister Starr went into conference today with officers of the CNR and firemen's union which has called a strike for May 1 against the publicly-owned railway.

The minister met at 9:30 a.m. EDT in his office with CNR President Donald Gordon and W. E. Gamble, Canadian vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engiemen CLC.

Mr. Gamble was accompanied by regional chairmen of his union. None of the participants had any statement for newspaper men before the meeting, which was called by Mr. Starr Saturday.

The union has called a strike over the CNR's decision to implement on May 1 a federal conciliation board report recommending the gradual discontinuance of firemen on freight and yard diesel locomotives.

NBC Engineers Knock Programs Off Network

NEW YORK (AP)—Network television operations of the National Broadcasting Company were disrupted for 12 hours today by a strike of engineering personnel.

The shutdown began at 7 a.m. EDT. There was no immediate indication when operations would be resumed.

The major TV program affected was Today, which goes to 119 stations, between 7 and 9 a.m.

A company spokesman said the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians refused to put the program on the air because it had last week included an interview with Brigitte Bardot, French film actress. Master of ceremonies for Today is Dave Garroway.

The first network radio operation affected was a world news roundup at 7:30, Technicians, a company spokesman said, were drawing up a list of other grievances.

NBC New York TV outlet got back on the air at 9:08, showing some old films.

Local radio programming was not affected.

OOPS, OUR MISTAKE

One of the occupational hazards of publishing a Canadian newspaper is that many of the syndicated features are purchased in the United States and occasionally one gets by which, to a Canadian, is the height of absurdity.

Such, alas, appeared on this page the other day, when George Matthew Adams, in "Today's Talk" sang the praises of being an American.

Said Adams: "There is no honor so great as have been born an American."

It was a sentiment with which few of the readers of The Ontario Intelligencer would agree.

Even this mistake, though, should have its dividends. It ought to convince us that no honor accrues to a man from being born in any country. One can be proud of one's country, of its past achievements, present status and future hopes, but nationality confers greatness on nobody.

Adams quotes Daniel Webster: "I was born an American; I will live as an American; I shall die as an American."

This reminds us of a story about a discussion between a Scot and an Englishman. They were boasting of their countries. Said the Englishman, "I was born an Englishman and I shall die an Englishman." "Och mon," exclaimed the Scot in disgust, "hae ye nae ambeetion?"

And then there is the story of a certain early Governor General in Canada who was visiting the northwest territories and was being entertained by a Scot factor at a fur-trading post. The English Governor General commented on the number of half-breeds, then said pointedly to the Scot that these people appeared to be the offspring of unions between Indians and Scots, never of Indians and English. "Aye, weel," said the Scot factor, "ereen a squaw has to dress the same somewhaur as a man."

We hope Indians will pardon us this story, since it is told by an English-born Canadian.

LEADERS WITHOUT A LEADER

Ed Simon, a Canadian Press staff writer, writing an interpretative article on international affairs, used a striking, though inaccurate, phrase the other day, referring to "a leaderless Western world."

The Western world is far from leaderless, unless we think, as Simon may have been doing, of a leader as one man standing out above all others. It is the lack of such a man which probably accounts for the fact that, in Simon's phrase, the "Western world listened with nostalgia to the voice that rang out with its old authority from a single man, Winston Churchill."

The voice, of course, was that of Sir Winston Churchill. Yet, if there was magic here, it was more the magic of memory than of the content of the speech, for Churchill merely said what his successor, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, has said clearly and forcibly on several occasions — that the Western should not yield to unreasonable Russian demands but that it should take into account Russia's understandable fears of a resurgent Germany, fears which Churchill graphically described as "reasonable, even if they are not justified."

The reason why these words sound different from Churchill's tongue than from Macmillan is that the world remembers Churchill best for speeches of belligerent defiance. When he speaks softly, no one would dare to accuse him of being an appeaser Something of the same circumstances, though reversed, surrounds the speeches of Eisenhower. Though he was the supreme commander of allied forces in Europe, he won a reputation for his skill at compromise. When today he talks though, older people frame these words in his old reputation for sweet reasonableness and he escapes the charge of inflexibility which might be attached to Gen. de Gaulle or to Chancellor Adenauer for precisely the same words.

All these men are leaders of the Western world, yet among them there is none to lead the leaders, not Eisenhower who has lost patience and faith in the possibility of reaching a reasonable compromise, not Macmillan who retains both but whose role as a fighting Guardsman is forgotten, not the always stiff-necked de Gaulle or the rock-like Adenauer. Only Churchill with past performances and present words in the right proportions to win the faith of a West with divided opinions - - and he is too old to fill the role more than briefly, for a few moments on the platform of a town hall, at a meeting of his constituents.

THE GLAD FRIEND

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I'm glad that I am well and strong
And breathe the morning springtime air;
I'm glad that I can talk,
I'm glad that I have friends who smile . . .
A greeting when I come,
And I am glad that I can be
Each day a friend to some.

I'm glad that I have work to do
And useful books to read;
I'm glad that I can sleep at night,
I'm glad that I've a creed
Sustaining me in times of woe
That soothes me when I grieve;
And I am glad that there's a
God
In Whom I still believe.

I'm glad that I can laugh and sing.

I'm glad that I am I;
I'm even glad that I can set
Three hearty meals a day.
I'm glad that life is as it is,
I'm glad my wants are small;
I'm glad for, oh, so many things
I cannot name them all.

Smallwood Splits Liberals

By Arthur Blakely in the Montreal Gazette

Premier Smallwood's war against two international unions in Newfoundland and the passage by the Newfoundland legislature of legislation directed against those unions and their activities has caused a rift in the Liberal party ranks in the House of Commons.

Just how wide and deep is the gulf that has developed however to be determined.

Opposition Leader Lester Pearson, has spoken for himself and for his party in these terms:

"On the basis of the information I have received I would be unable as leader of this party to agree with certain of the provisions that have been followed or with specific provisions of the new laws."

He has emphasized repeatedly that he has attempted to form a judgment after a sympathetic and understanding examination of the difficult problems with which Premier Smallwood is confronted, but that he has been forced to conclude he cannot vote or agree with all of the steps taken."

But a very different view of Premier Smallwood's actions was taken by the five Liberal M.P.'s representing Newfoundland constituencies. Led by former Immigration Minister Jack Pickersgill, they have issued a statement outlining their own views.

"The Newfoundland Liberal Members of the House of Commons," at Ottawa the statement reads in part, "have from the outset supported the emergency action of the Premier the Government and the Legislature of Assembly of Newfoundland in their determination to uphold law and to preserve the continued operation of the pulp and paper industry which provides employment and a livelihood for many thousands of Newfoundland . . . we wish to remove any doubt, both in Newfoundland and in Canada, as to our support of the Premier's stand."

And there the lines are drawn.

Mr. Pearson told reporters later that he had known in advance that the five Newfoundland Liberals headed by his colleague Pickersgill planned to issue a statement in support of Mr. Smallwood's position.

He had not the slightest intention, he added, of taking issue with his own position. The "differences of opinion" between himself and the Newfoundland Liberals was "regrettable." But he said Mr. Pearson, there was "nothing tragic" in the situation.

Mr. Pickersgill, however, has taken a rather different line since that rift developed.

Appearing on a CBC "press conference" broadcast, he said that there was really no gulf or rift between the Newfoundland Liberals and Mr. Pearson. Apart from other parts of Canada at all times, he thought the Liberal leader Mr. Pearson was perhaps guilty of slight exaggeration when he had referred to "a party with two opinion" that had developed.

In fact, he said, there is no position and that of his Newfoundland colleagues was virtually identical with that of Mr. Pearson. Mr. Pearson did not like the way Premier Smallwood's Newfoundland legislature. Neither did the Newfoundland Liberals. But that hardly made them out of Mr. Smallwood himself. It was emergency legislation, he said, directed against a labor racketeer and they fully supported it.

But in spite of Mr. Pickersgill's efforts to reconcile the irreconcilable, the rift is wide and deep on this issue.

The Liberal Council has referred publicly to the "strong differences" of opinion that have developed.

A good many of Mr. Pearson's supporters believe that he feel that the party should have been more critical of Premier Smallwood and his labor policies. They feel that the compromise he personally adopted when the issue was at its height may hurt the party in industrial ridings where the labor vote is heavy.

But Mr. Pearson has had to remember that a more critical stand by the federal party could cost the Liberals every one of its Newfoundland seats that they now hold. And these represent more than one-fifth of all Liberal seats in this House of Commons. The five Newfoundland seats are not to be written off lightly, especially since each of them is held by the Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, one of the few remaining Liberal Parliamentarians of note.

Letter To The Editor

Admits Error In Identification

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

In a letter, appearing in Friday's edition of this paper, the Sandwich Fire Chief was erroneously identified as the City Engineer.

The City Engineer did nothing whatsoever to result in the submission of that letter and was not responsible, or consulted with the case mentioned.

I, therefore, apologize to the City Engineer sincere apologies for all inconvenience and embarrassment suffered as a result of this error.

Electronic Voting Device

Montreal Star

Mr. Diefenbaker is quite an inventor. It was he who had the Commons debates piped into his Centre Block office, thus he could listen with half an ear, and be ready to rush down into the chamber if one of his ministers fell into an Opposition ambush. And it was he who introduced wiring in an electronic voting system like the one they have in India's legislature. What did all this mean?

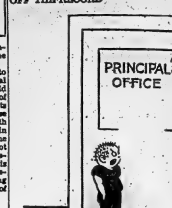
Well, for one thing, it will save time. Voting is a tiresome business that may consume half an hour. All MPs have to turn in turn while a clerk with a phenomenal memory calls 265 names, faces and ridings intones the yeas and nays. With an electronic voting system, it would be a matter of a minute or so.

Then again, it may save embarrassment at times. Many an Opposition member has vilified the government in the course of a vigorous piece of legislation, and then admitted that he voted against it because half a loaf was better than no bread. This often has to be done to conceal the philistines in the Government benches from the more delicate and finer shades of political principle. Each member's vote will eventually be made public, of course, but at least he will be spared that public humiliation of standing up at the moment of truth.

On the other hand, it will reduce the number of votes cast for the benefit of the visitors' gallery. For example, in 1954 the Tories rose triumphantly one by one and voted with great piety against the Liberal budget and salaries. It was a brave and wonderful gesture, and it would be too much to ask that the Liberals wouldn't let them suffer the consequences of violating this sincerity.

So how will skullduggery be done? Won't there be a strong temptation for an M.P. to indulge in "telegraphing" his vote of an absent colleague, by sneaking a hand across to press the button and cast a bit of communal deak? No doubt there is some means of avoiding this political larceny. Mr. Speaker will have to make sure that those who sit down to be counted don't sit in two seats.

THE PACKSACK



By GREGORY CLARK

An old schoolmate of mine who returned to be a doctor has specialized in bringing babies into the world. But he is also something of a psychologist. He finds that first-time mothers of this generation know far too much and think too much. When he started practise thirty years ago, the only information expected mothers had was what they could get from their mothers, grandmothers, maiden aunts and friends; a small and intimate source of supply, and naturally full of the scars of old wives' tales, folklore, weird old wonderful remedies and tradition. But the modern first-timer can make her selection from a dozen books, she can visit clinics, the magazines she reads are full of feature articles on her condition, governments will shower her with mimeographed advice and instruction.

"With the result," says the doctor, "that she becomes self-conscious. She eyes the jittery, Dr. Spock-like baby with old-fashioned routine of motherhood, in which the expected milestones through more about the expected baby than about herself, I have made a chart with one of the nursery schools in my neighborhood. There, every year, forty small children three and four years of age, at what, in my opinion, is the most fascinating age of all, are to be found in the full fury of infancy. And I send the expectant mother to go and sit among them for a morning so that she can go home and start dreaming about which of the things she wants here is the like. It works like magic. It's a preview."

A fine building is all very well, but it is not so important as the workers who use it. Strength for The Day

By DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HIGHWAY OF HEALTH AND JOY

One of the hardest things human beings have to do is to face the necessity of surgical operations. Millions of these operations are performed throughout the country and the world every day. Nobody wants to have to go through them. They appear horrifying.

But they seldom are horrifying. Without any doubt more good is done by any group in modern life has been done by the medical profession than by almost any company of mistakes, for they are human. They make them almost every day, every few years. But, taken all in all, the modern scientists, physicians, and surgeons have done more to relieve human suffering than has any other group that has appeared upon the planet. They can forever entirely relieve human effort from surgical operations, but they have succeeded in removing practically all the horror and much of the pain.

If you have to have an operation, just remember two things. First, remember that from human standpoint, your chances for recovery far surpass the possible recurrence of the many things you now fear. Best of all, remember that Nature is always at work trying to bring about recovery — and Nature simply means God operating in the physical world. Powers higher than your own will are at work to restore recovery. Skills greater than any human skills you know are busily at work preparatory to selling your best again upon the highway of health and joy.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

DRUG-DRIVEN OVER-STIMULATION IS HARMFUL

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am the engineer in an apartment house. Sometimes I realise that I can't get enough coal into the furnace to keep the building warm, so I then turn on a blower that forces air into the furnace and makes it burn a lot hotter. The furnace then gets the building hot in a matter of a few minutes. This apparently does no harm. What do you think?"

The above, of course, is my own paraphrase of some letters that come to my desk — only I've changed a few words here and there.

It might, for example, be this letter:

"Dear Doctor: Because I have so little energy of my own, I have begun to use 'pep' pills. They give me a great deal of pep, and I can work like a machine with no feeling of fatigue. However, I can't eat or sleep when I take one. I use them only when I have a lot of work to do, about once a week or 10 days. What harmful effects may these pills have on someone like me? I am by nature nervous and high strung. — S.D.B."

That second letter is real.

Both of these men want many "pep" pills have been taken by people, and they are still alive, well and kicking. (What they are kicking about is another matter.)

Some have the judgment and strength of will to take such pills only in rare and genuine emergencies. But others, finding that they can taken the pills and apparently "gotten away with it," start using them oftener and oftener, and finally all the time.

Then one of our more hectic professions, we have seen cases like that. People who feel on their nerve, or thought they did, starting the day with "pep" pills, and then if work time to sleep, they couldn't, so they took sleeping pills. Nervous systems, of course, finally rebelled, and then they indulged in expensive doctor's treatments.

To get back to the first — and fictional — case, you can use a blower on a furnace and get more heat per minute than usual. But you use up more coal, fuel, and you run the risk of burning out the furnace.

If you do the same sort of thing to the human body, you run the risk of burning out your body. You have to replace that energy by subsequent rest. And, as with the furnace, you run the risk of wrecking the machine — by which I mean the body.

Or, for instance, take a rifle. You can, perhaps, ram more powerful cartridges into the firing chamber, and shoot a bullet farther — but you risk exploding the barrel, and even if you don't do that, you wear out the rifle much sooner.

Above all, people who are nervous and jittery should be especially wary of using drugs to gain "pep." They are the very ones who will first suffer from the condition that comes from a drug-driven over-stimulation.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for someone to get cancer from using dishes, cooking utensils or a refrigerator formerly belonging to one who had it. — M.E.S."

This question (or one like it) keeps appearing in my mail periodically. The answer is a flat "no." There is all sorts of scientific proof, but one very convincing argument is this: Nurses, doctors who work in cancer hospitals are not endangered. In short, cancer (like) broken bones, heart trouble, stomach ulcers, baldness, red noses and fat) will not be transmitted by contact.

Note to Mrs. R.L.B.: The little girl as your neighbor has been a very lonely little creature. She "trills to herself, sometimes hums or sings to herself, or tells herself a story." I ignore it completely. It may take some time for her to feel safe in relating, but time will. A year or two from now you'll wonder why you ever worried with it."

Why suffer from sinus trouble? Much can be done to help you, and it is explained in my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." To obtain your copy, write to me in care of this paper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover handling.

TODAY'S TALK

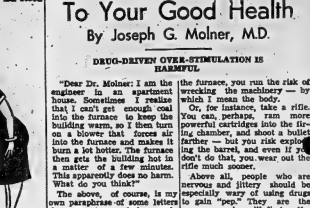
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A BOOSTER OF BOOKS

I have no interest in books other than boosting every good one that comes to my attention. Many of the most inspiring letters I receive are those from readers who have thanked me for some book I considered useful and helpful. I have discovered, to my great joy, that I have written about, hoping the same joy I have found in books may find take lodgment in the mind and heart of someone else.

I am glad to be known as a booster of books. Books are a human to me and have given me joy and comfort which cannot be duplicated by anything else. They are everywhere, any home, and at my office where I work from day to day. These books are there to talk to me, and I talk back to them. We are pals. I get a great thrill when I receive a letter telling me of the happiness gained from my suggesting a book that has inspired me.

I came from a book-loving family. My father, who was a minister, would often come to me with a book and tell me it was worth its weight in gold. That idea gave me the chance to name three of my published books of "Great Books as Friends." Books are better than gold to me, and I know they are to many readers. Some of the most inspiring books in the world. Many a good book is the only one I have met with an invisible smile, each day of my life.



"It is never too late to start," child's interest in books is never too soon. Give him good books and see that they are read now and then.

The attractive paperbovered books are a great idea too. Thousands have welcomed them, and I am glad to include a dollar or a modest luncheon.

Batawa Leads In Community Home Planning

BATAWA — Batawa is continuing to grow and expand as one of the finest planned communities in the Province of Ontario.

In fact, it is regarded as one of the leaders in that respect and numerous visitors from other areas visit the company community from time to time to get ideas which they may apply in their own municipalities, now that the town planning concept is becoming more widely accepted and applied.

Spearheading the planning program over the years has been the vice-president and managing director of the company, Dr. C. K. Herz. Widely regarded as one of the most progressive industrial executives in Canada and known for his public spirit, he has made the development of Batawa one of his primary objectives. To that end extensive arrangements have been made to enable Batawa residents to own their own modern homes and these have been erected in accordance with a plan prepared by Dr. E. G. Faludi, generally regarded as the leading town planner in all of Canada.

With the advent of spring a number of Batawa people are now making plans to build their own residences in the new subdivision there, now known as Sidney Crescent. In making their plans they are receiving the active assistance of the company's property manager, A. Storey.

While no accurate figures are available at the moment, it is anticipated that the new home building during the coming season may be well in excess of $100,000.

Turn First Sod for Church For Free Methodists Here

With services for the three-year-old congregation currently being held in the basement of their parsonage on Herchimer Ave, a new $35,000 church, seating over 200 persons will be built on Avondale Road by the local Free Methodist Church.

Sunday afternoon the first sod for the construction of the new edifice was turned by Rev. G. W. Kemp of Warkworth, representing the conference superintendent. Close to 100 parishioners and other interested people were present for the sod-turning ceremony. The new church will be named Centennial Free Methodist Church, in recognition of the 100th anniversary of the Free Methodist Church movement in 1960.

Speakers at the sod-turning ceremony included Rev. Edith Mainprize, pastor for the local Free Methodist congregation; Mr. W. L. Smith, Oshawa, president of the Canadian Light and Life Men's Fellowship; Rev. H. A. McLeod of Picton, and Mayor Gerald B. Hyde.

Construction of the new church on the west side of Avondale Road, in the centre of a new residential area in the Sidney township annexed area, will be commenced immediately. The building will be 36 by 65 feet with full basement to be divided into Sunday school class rooms. On the main floor of the church a nursery will be provided where young parents may leave their small children while attending church services.

Members of the church building committee included Rev. Edith Mainprize, Louis Greatrix, A. E. Smith, George Cummings, Fred Kemp and K. L. Harpden.

Railways' Operating Loss Is Reduced

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian railways had a net operating loss of $3,687,000 in January compared to a loss of $4,838,000 in the corresponding month last year.

The bureau of statistics said today the railways' operating revenues rose in the month 1.8 per cent to $89,690,000 from $88,098,000 and operating expenses increased 0.5 per cent to $93,378,000 from $92,936,000 last year.

TAX INCREASED

CHATHAM (CP) — A general tax increase of three mills has been approved by Chatham city council. Basic rate on residential property owned by public school supporters will be 60 mills, compared to 57 last year. Other rates will provide 61 mills on residential property held by separate school supporters; 63.2 for commercial public school; and 66.2 for commercial separate school. The budget will provide $3,465,546 for city costs.

Another Thirteen Smelt Fishermen In Police Nets

OSHAWA (CP) — Another 13 smelt fishermen were charged with liquor offences during the weekend as provincial police patrolled nearby Lake Ontario beach areas.

Friday night the patrol nabbed ten men near Ajax and 18 at Newcastle. Most were from the Oshawa and Toronto areas.

The 41 fishermen face charges of having liquor in a public place and illegal possession of liquor. Fines could run to a total of several hundred dollars.

Police said the patrols followed complaints about property damage and bottles littering the beaches. They said unless the damage ceased police would seek a ban on fishing along the Ajax and Newcastle beaches.

LEAVE RESERVATIONS

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Fairclough says that 1,069 Indians have left reservations since 1951. In a Commons return she said the number enfranchised in 1958 dropped sharply to 394 from 718 the previous year. There were 622 enfranchised in 1952, 809 in 1953, 668 in 1954, 629 in 1955 and 870 in 1956.

ment about the warmth of the welcome he received from Mondrealers — "I thought I was in Cuba."

That welcome brought repeated headaches to security police as the rebel leader pushed them aside and waded into crowds at the airport and his downtown hotel, shaking hands with all comers.

Then he said that although Cuba still has economic problems to overcome, his regime has taken drastic measures to end them.

OUTLINES PROGRAMS

He cited farm and construction reforms enacted to try to pull the country out of financial shambles. It was left in by the flight of former dictator Fulgencio Batista with much of the treasury's dollar supply.

The honesty of the revolutionary government, he said, was resulting in more tax revenue "because people are agreed to pay them." This honesty was a guarantee to industrialists thinking of Cuba as a market.

"We still have labor problems, but (they) . . . are the result of unemployment.

"I tell you these are our problems so you won't think I come here to promise something wonderful. But social and labor problems will disappear."

Mr. Fresquet briefly outlined Cuba's economic policy. In Canada, he said, "you have realized one of the economic miracles of the century. We hope Cuba will become the Canada south of the United States."

RECEIVE TRACTOR

Then Ralph Charles Tees, vice-president of the Cockshutt Farm Equipment Company, presented a diesel tractor to the Cuban government.

The prime minister kept up a torrid pace from the moment he arrived, at 1:34 p.m. After the reception at the airport by Mayor Sarto Fournier and president Claude Dubras of the junior chamber he sped to the hotel in a 20-car caravan escorted by motorcycle police.

His bushy beard split by a wide grin, he shook hands and hugged thousands of well-wishers in front of the hotel and spoke to them about the revolution. Security police fretted but the prime minister stayed with the crowd.

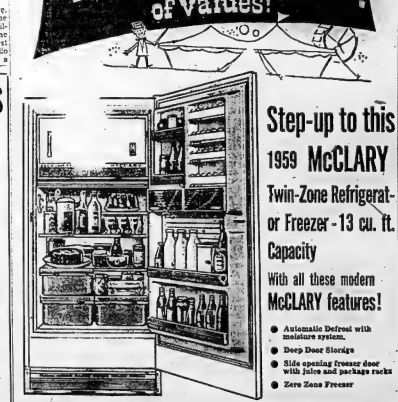
In the hotel lobby some 200 spectators, joined by hundreds more who pushed in from the street, overran police rope barriers to swarm around him. RCMP officials and local police finally formed a flying wedge to get him through the crowd and on to an elevator to take him to his suite on the 29th floor.

VISITS HOSPITAL

He paused only moments there, returning to his black limousine for a visit to Justin Martin Children's Hospital. Then he came back to his suite for a brief rest before meeting newspaper, radio and television reporters in a press conference that lasted more than an hour.

Also on the night schedule were brief visits to a downtown armory where the Chamber of Commerce collected a quantity of toys for Cuban children and to a chamber dance at the hotel.

Take-off time for the 75-member party, including Cuban newspaper men, government officials and army and air force officers, was not definite. Officials said it likely would be about 7 a.m.



MOTHER OF ABDUCTED PRISONER — Mrs. Eliza Parker, 43, mother of prisoner taken from jail by masked men, breaks into tears at her home. She was posing for photographers with two of her children, Timothy, 2, and Delores, 18, who also breaks into sobs. Her son, M. C. Parker, 23, held on rape charge in unguarded cell at Poplarville, Miss., was beaten and taken away by the masked men early Saturday. She said she heard of the incident on the radio. (AP Wirephoto).

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mrs. Helen Large is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

'The Three F's' Topic at Bridge St. W.A.

The guest speaker at the April meeting of Bridge Street United Church Women's Association was Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton, whose address was an inspiration to all.

Basing her remarks on "The Three F"—Food, Fun and Fellowship—Mrs. Middleton noted that food is more than just something put on the table to be eaten. Behind every loaf of bread is God's loving care. "They saw God and then did eat and drink." So thanks are acknowledged to God by giving thanks at each meal.

A native of Aberdeen, Mrs. Middleton demonstrated the love of fun inherent in each one, by telling stories with Aberdonians as central figures.

"Food and fun need fellowship for complete enjoyment. In the early Christian church where all were brothers in Christ, the Christians were known for their fellowship. To us is given the responsibility of extending the unbroken line of fellowship which has existed ever since the days of the early Christian church, by making our church and its meetings a place where lonely people may find the fellowship for which they crave. This hunger of the soul cannot be satisfied by a greedy clutching at "things." Life's high moments, days of transfiguration, when it is easy to believe in God, come to all and must be treasured as gifts from God to provide inspiration for the routine of daily living."

Mrs. Middleton closed her address with a prayer of benediction.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. J. M. Parrett, who with her co-convener, Mrs. F. Anderson, was in charge of the program. The thanks of those present were expressed by Mrs. H. J. Andrews.

DEVOTIONAL SERVICE

The devotional service for the afternoon had as its theme, "Love Thy Neighbor." Mrs. P. A. Parker read the story of the "Good Samaritan" from St. Luke 10.

Miss Helen Sulman, in commenting on the story, pointed out that Jesus' teaching was new to the people of His day for whom "neighbor" meant only one of their own race and creed.

Mrs. Parrett played a piano solo, variations on the hymn "He Leadeth Me."

The business portion of the meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. W. Dallas, who reminded the members of the "Spring Tea" at the parsonage in June and of the meeting of the Belleville Presbytery Women's Association in Bridge St. Church on May 28.

At the close of the meeting the group in charge were hostesses at a social hour.

Women Enjoy Social Life In Washington

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

WASHINGTON (CP) — For a week about 500 women visitors from home and 60 countries have been made a part of the social life of Washington.

They were the accompanying wives of delegates to the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, which ended Saturday. Washington turned on a combination of old-fashioned hospitality and charm for them.

Mrs. Frank Sherwood of Montreal, wife of the president of the Canadian council of the ICC, said "The members of the ladies' committee and the Washington hostesses must have worked a long, long time to make such arrangements."

One socially-prominent Washington woman was assigned to the wife of each head of a delegation and was her companion for a week. All the women were made to feel they were part of a big family circle.

Aside from larger functions, the women were invited in small groups to individual luncheons given by Mrs. Eisenhower at the White House was a high point.

A reception given personally by Mr. and Mrs. Bisenovo to some 300 delegates was one of the notable events of the social activities of the congress proper.

PRAM-PUSHING RECORD

CHELMSFORD, England (CP) — A team of 70 senior pupils at a grammer school in this Essex town claim a world pram-pushing record for a 190 - hour nonstop push.

SPARKLING PRINCESS — Princess Margaret of England, who flew to Paris after four-day visit to Italy, again stirred comments of budding royal romance that grew to national headlines at home. Shown adjusting her stole as she prepares to go in for dinner in Rome, May has been linked romantically with Prince Henry of Hesse, 31, said to be her constant escort in Italian capital. Buckingham Palace maintained discreet silence —neither confirming, or denying, that Prince Henry had been invited to the royal family's country home in Sandringham this summer as reported in Italian press. Begins Work As Teacher Now a Doctor

OTTAWA (CP) — Missionary Constance Jackson began her work as a teacher. She will retire as a doctor.

A petite, white-haired woman, Dr. Jackson has spent the last 28 years in educational and medical work among the people of India's Kangra Valley near the Tibetan border.

Born in Quebec City and trained as a teacher, she started her teaching career in an Anglican mission school. Her work took her into Indian homes where she saw sickness and was invariably asked to help.

"They thought most while people knew all about sickness and how to treat it," she told a reporter.

BECAME A DOCTOR

So she studied medicine at Ludhiana Christian Medical College in India, an institution supported by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada. She was in Ottawa to address an Auxiliary meeting.

Of her studies at an Indian school she said:

"It was in the early 1930s, anti-British and anti-missionary feeling ran high in India. Later on I became accepted as one of them."

From hospital duty Dr. Jackson moved out of rural clinic work. To serve the villages she set up seven rural clinics with a nurse, pharmacist and Indian girl she had trained as a technician.

She said the problems of illness, illiteracy, poverty and language differences still beset India.

But headway was being made against disease and illiteracy.

"The people are beginning to realize they can do something about being sick instead of just accepting it.

"It's a slow process but a lot of the parents are sending their children to school now. Before they couldn't see any sense in it."

Now of retirement age, Dr. Jackson said she doesn't expect to return to India when her furlough is over.

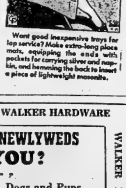
A.N.A.F. Veterans' Aux. Plans Events

The Army Navy and Air Force Veterans Auxiliary held its monthly meeting in the clubrooms on Front Street, April 20. The meeting was called to order by the president, M. Hall with two minutes' silence, followed by business which included both old and new and reports of committees.

The entertainment chairman reported a busy period coming along in the month of May with banquets on the 4, 5 and 6 with several to follow later. The Auxiliary was pleased to accept several new members.

Comrade A. Browning was presented with her life membership certificate and pin.

A gift basket, donated by president Ford, was won by J. Pukancik, 278 MacDonald Street.



Several members were back after being ill.

The meeting was adjourned until the 3rd Monday in May.

The social hour was spent in dart practice

In India, Dr. Jackson said she hadn't been bothered by loneliness.

"You don't have time. There's always something to do—visiting, teaching. And somebody's always sick."

Girl Guide Leaders Enjoy Second Annual Guiders' Dinner

Friday evening was an enjoyable time of relaxation and fellowship for approximately 50 adult leaders of the Girl Guide movement of Belleville and vicinity when the second annual Belleville Division Guiders' dinner was held at the Kiwanis Centre. The 1st Belleville Lead Rangers served the delightful dinner that had prepared under the guidance of their captain Miss Mary Doyle, and their Lieutenant, Miss C. Lynden.

Mrs. D. G. Diamantides, Division Commissioner for Belleville, as chairman for the evening, welcomed the guests and Guiders and directed the programme. Mrs. J. E. Nutter, District Commissioner for Belleville North-east, introduced the head table with its special guests, including Mrs. W. Spear, Quinte Area Commissioner; Mrs. Eva M. Smith, Area Camp Adviser; Mrs. D. D. Acnoti, Area International Adviser, and Mrs. W. M. McCormick, Badge Secretary for the District of Belleville west.

Mrs. H. F. Ford, District Commissioner for Belleville Southeast, graciously thanked the Rangers for the decoration and preparation which made the dinner so enjoyable, complimented them on the success of their efforts.

Mrs. Diamantides presented Miss Doyle with her warrant as Ranger Captain, an event which resulted in a spontaneous and heart-warming burst of applause from the floor, from the table of guests where her Rangers were busy with their duties of the evening.

CLOSE WORK BOND

Miss C. Lynden, Ranger Lieutenant, led the Guiders in a much enjoyed sing-song which proved to result in at least one new song going back to the Packs and Companies. Mrs. Diamantides then introduced Mrs. Spear, who brought greetings from the Area Council and on behalf of the Guiders that it is they who work more closely with the Brownies, Guides and Rangers, and experience both the work and the results of Guiding. For this reason the thoughts, ideas and suggestions of Guiders on any phase of Guiding are sought and appreciated by those whose duty it is to plan and put into them this close contact.

They followed a film "You're It,' dealing with public relations which, judging by the reaction it received, struck a responsive chord. This film was put out by and for the publicity boys to the south — the Girl Scouts, but the problems it depicted and the suggestions it made were applicable to Guiding in Canada in every way, was a unanimous opinion of those present, and that even the youngest Brownie should be made aware of the public relations open for Girl Guides to go to international events — for their promotion is a wonderful goal which she, when she is a Guide, might well attain.

Mrs. R. Settle, District Commissioner for Belleville West, next spoke briefly to the Guiders on the details of the forthcoming Girl Guide Church Parade, and then the singing of "Taps" brought to a close a pleasant Guiding event of the year.

Club Activities

FRANKFORD C. A.'s

FRANKFORD — The C.A.'s of Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle met on the evening of April 23rd. President, Gail Walker, welcomed everyone and turned the service over to Miss Hedy Payne and Miss Carolyn Reichert.

Miss Carolyn Reichert read the Scripture and the Reverend G. Sharpe led the announcements. Usherettes Sandra Purvis and Lois Wright received the offering.

Miss Helen Patrick led in choir testimonies and several Bible Quizzes followed also a Bible spelling bee, with the teams' leaders, Carl Andrews, and Gail Walker. Gail's team was the champion winner; and the individual winner — with highest points, Patsy Patrick.

Mrs. D. Flood closed the meeting in prayer.

Parkdale W.I. Holds Coffee Party, Bazaar

Under the convenership of Mrs. Lola Downs, the Parkdale Women's Institute recently held its first successful "coffee party" and bazaar.

Mrs. L. Brown, Mrs. A. Robinson, Mrs. C. Dewolfe, Mrs. R. Ralston, Mrs. P. LaVerne and Mrs. B. Lewis greeted the guests at the door.

Mrs. N. McKibbon received the guests at the door and poured the coffee room through a trellis decorated with mauve and white lilacs.

Mrs. G. Priest was in charge of the coffee table, which was attractive with a centrepiece of deep blue and yellow tapers flanked by crystal candelabra. Each small table was decorated with dainty yellow "mum nosegays.

PRESIDING

Mrs. C. Keeble, first president of the Parkdale Women's Institute, and Mrs. D. Palmer, past president, poured coffee.

Serving the guests were Mrs. B. Lewis, Mrs. J. Wilson, Mrs. J. Fudge, Mrs. A. Revoy, Mrs. E. Lucy, Mrs. H. Fralick and Mrs. H. Hodgson.

Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Fudge, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. L. Street, Mrs. C. Stratton, Mrs. J. Arbuthnot, Mrs. R. Palmer and Mrs. S. Miller and Mrs. L. Gray.

The bazaar tables were decorated alike with blue and yellow lanterns and streamers and yellow jonquil flower bouquets.

The candy table, with its cups of ready chocolate and divinity fudge, was convened by Mrs. A. Robinson, assisted by Mrs. D. Palmer and Mrs. A. Rodgers.

DELICIOUS CAKES

Mrs. R. Ralston and Mrs. A. Bowden had a home baking table filled with delicious looking cakes, tarts, pies and a variety of cookies.

Aprons, dollies, pot holders, a variety of knitted articles and small articles made the handicraft and fancy work table a success for Mrs. A. McAuley, Mrs. L. Calles and Mrs. W. Prentice.

Selling tickets on the floral centrepiece was Mrs. L. Weslan.

Winners of the door prizes were: Dianne Walsh, Belleville; Mrs. G. McLaughlin, Belleville, Mrs. B. Sharpe, of Consecon; Mrs. B. Sills, Roslin. The draw on the angel food cake went to Mrs. J. Empson of Roslin. Mrs. Windsor of Canniffon won the box of candy; little Janet Bowden of Belleville won the doll's bed and Mrs. Riendeau, of Belleville, won the floral centrepiece.

FIRST INSTALMENT

UNITED CHURCH W.M.S.

FRANKFORD — The Women's Missionary Society of the Frankford United Church met on Thursday afternoon at the United Church parsonage. The president, Mrs. Fred Charlesworth, welcomed everyone.

The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Carscadden who read from "Quiet Talks On Service," by S. D. Gordon.

The supply secretary, Mrs. George Spencer, gave thanks for the gifts to the children at Bonnie Ville, Alberta.

The roll call showed 22, including visitors, present.

The president expressed sympathy of the W.M.S. to Mrs. J. M. Dafoe who lost her husband, and read a poem, "We'll Garner There," in memory of the late Mrs. R. Read.

The devotional part of the program was taken by Mrs. Milton Grills and Mrs. Joe Morris. Mrs. Grills sang "Let Your Light Shine."

A reading was given by Mrs. Joe Morris entitled "Invalid Christie Elliott," and "Mission Fields" by Mrs. M. Grills. A vocal solo by Mrs. T. J. Riddall, "When I Come To the End of the Road," sung in memory of Mrs. Ella Read. A temperance reading was given by Mrs. Joe Morris. Mrs. George Spencer read an article from The Christian Intelligencer by Miss Elva Locklin, of the Holy Land.

The "Study Book" was taken by Mrs. Arnold Stickle, who expressed that the hope of the future lies largely in the university graduates.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. T. J. Riddall.

UNITED CHURCH E.A.

FRANKFORD — The evening Auxiliary of Frankford United Church was held on Wednesday evening, in Rose Lowery Hall. The president, Mrs. Charles Bennett, presided and opened the meeting with a poem.

Mrs. Bennett welcomed all the members and visitors.

Business was conducted. The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Garnet Powell from Isaiah 6 and a comment by Mrs. Roy Cook.

GUEST SPEAKER

Guest speaker of the evening was Miss Hazel Furley of Trenton, who also showed films of her tour and gave an interesting talk on Japan.

Mrs. Bennett thanked her for coming.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Bennett, Mrs. R. Cook, Mrs. Garnet Powell and Mrs. H. Caldwell.

'Hawaii, Our Neighbor' Topic At Evening Aux.

The regular meeting of the Bridge Street Church Jubilee Evening Auxiliary was held in the Sunday School auditorium. Members and guests enjoyed a delicious supper served by Miss Eva Colclough, Mrs. Florence Moon and their group.

Mrs. Grace Anderson presided. Christian Stewardship secretary, Miss Grace Kenny, was unable to be present and Mrs. Betty Colden read a letter received by Miss Kenny from Mrs. Elsie Day. Mrs. Day was formerly Miss Elsie Lee, missionary for prayer.

She and her husband are carrying on their great work in Northwestern Canada. Mrs. Nellie Anderson, literature secretary would like all books returned for the use of other members. Supply secretary Miss Joy Nichol, asked the members to bring their gifts for the Christmas allocation to the May meeting, also toys for children 6-12 to be sent to Miss Ratz, port worker and missionary for prayer.

Mrs. Grace Anderson was extended to all guests and members a special welcome to some members who had been absent for some time through illness.

Mrs. Sherwin gave an interesting report on the Belleville Presbyterial annual held in Picton on February 18th.

Mrs. Olive Elson and group was in charge of the program, "Discovering Neighbors." Mrs. Irene Morden delighted all with her reading "The Alabaster Box".

Miss Elson gave a vivid picture of "Hawaii Our Neighbor," describing the islands, their weather and products. Mrs. Gillis told of the various missionary and educational programs being carried on by the Methodist, Mormon, Lutheran, Baptist, Anglican, Roman Catholic, Salvation Army and Protestant churches of all denominations. Miss Kay Daly's tour of the islands described all the temples and the oriental faiths, Miss Elson spoke briefly on the problems of Hawaii and challenged the Protestants of their interest.

Mrs. Anderson closed the meeting after thanking all who made such an interesting evening possible.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: "HAVE A HEART"

It's inspiring to remember that the word courtesy is derived from the old French word coeur, meaning heart. Have courtesy . . . have a heart!

WEDDING INVITATION POSTED ON OFFICE BULLETIN BOARD

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to invite office personnel to the wedding of one of the office workers by putting an invitation on the bulletin board? I don't think this is proper, but my sister says it is very much accepted. Please settle our argument about this. — R.

A "blanket invitation" to all the office personnel is an invitation impersonally posted on the bulletin board, is not, and cannot be, really correct. It is a crude and impersonal and lay way of extending invitations that should have the grace of being personal. Each person to be invited to a wedding should be asked personally . . . and this gracious rule naturally should apply to coworkers just as it applies to personal friends.

If her wedding is to be formal, and she is sending formal invitations, the bride-to-be should send a formal invitation to each co-worker she wishes to come to her wedding. She may send invitations to the ceremony to a fairly large group, and perhaps invite only a few of her closest friends in the office to the reception. If it's to be a semi-informal wedding, she may give her invitations verbally or by notes.

The bride-to-be who knows what's what, who has a right sense of courtesy, just doesn't post one of her wedding invitations on the office bulletin board and let it go at that.

SHOULD BEAUTY SHOP PROPRIETOR BE TIPPED?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please set me straight about tipping in the following situation. At the beauty parlor to which I go, it is customary to have more than one operator work on me. There are usually three when I get a rinse; the first operator puts the liquid on my hair; the second does the shampoo; and the third gives the set and combs out my hair.

The first two are employees, but the third one is the proprietor. Generally I tip both of the first two, but I do not tip the proprietor. Is this correct? If not, please tell me what is. — Reader of Formerly, and not so long ago, there was a definite rule that one should not tip the owner or proprietor of a beauty shop. But today this rule is certainly not always abided by, and very often the operator of the shop is tipped on the same scale (sometimes even more) as are his or her employees.

The only way to find out if this tip is expected or welcomed is to offer the tip, discreetly. If it is refused, let your gracious "Thank you, very much, for your service" suffice. Or of course, if you wish, you may simply take for granted that the proprietor is not to be tipped, and not offer one.

VICTORIA W.A.

CARRYING PLACE — Mrs. J. W. Knox was hostess for the April meeting of Victoria W. A. on Thursday evening with 21 members and one visitor present.

The president, Miss Audra Brickman, presided and Mrs. H. Montgomery was pianist. A poem "Jesus Never Fails", was read by the president.

A bacon and egg supper was planned and other matters of business were dealt with.

Mrs. Hockstra was in charge of the devotional on "Brotherhood". The Scripture was the story of the Good Samaritan from Luke 10. Hymn, "Jesus United by the Grace" was sung, and readings on "Brotherhood" were given by Mesdames Vanclief, Dempsey, Fox, Lott and Hockstra. Prayer brought a thought provoking devotional to a close. Thanks were extended to Mrs. Hockstra for her fine leadership in this devotional.

The remainder of the program consisted of humorous readings, and a contest on musical terms, led by Mrs. Melvin Pulver. The evenings offering was $3.30.

Mrs. Knox and committee served refreshments and a pleasant social time was enjoyed. Thanks was expressed to Mrs. Knox for her kind hospitality.

Mrs. MacIntyre of Bloomfield invited the May meeting to her home.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Frank B. — He makes a fool of herself.

Adele B. — I make out better than he does.

Frank B. — I am 28 and my sister, Adele, is 18. She is very immature for her age and I am trying to help her grow up.

One of Adele's problems is that she is very shy. She won't open her mouth at parties, but you can't shut her up at home. I have tried to make her understand that she has to learn something about sports and world events so she'll have something to talk about with boys. She'll rehash all football games, but when I try to explain something to her she doesn't even listen.

Adele complains to my parents when she hasn't any dates, but she doesn't do anything to help herself. She wears her hair in a way that makes her look like a nut — real long and stringy — and won't do anything about that either.

Adele B. — Look who's talking! He's the one who looks like a nut. He thinks he looks like Rock Hudson or somebody and spends hours trying to comb his hair with a certain wave, but he is afraid to let anyone cut it and doesn't get a haircut until it drips over his collars.

I'm doing all right without his help. I have more dates than he had at my age. I also make better at parties. One of his stupid friends told him I'm too quiet, but this particular boy was just impossible to talk to. He kept acting like a clown. I like boys who have a little dignity.

The worst of it is that my parents pay attention to Frank. They believe everything he tells them about me. Then they nag me, but everything he does is okay.

The Council: It is a characteristic fate of adolescents to be terribly critical — basically of themselves. This self-criticism is often so overwhelming that the immediate family is forced to share it.

Two or more teenagers in a family can make hash of one another when they get started. They see every fault in the world in one another and they are not objective enough to see any assets.

Parents are sometimes inclined to pay a little too much heed to such criticisms. Perhaps they give the older child a hearing because they feel he has more judgment and they want to help the younger with any social problem — particularly if she is a girl.

However, this is an error. The girl or boy should be encouraged to talk directly with the parents if she or he has problems. The older brother or sister should be kept out of the picture. Frank, for example, may be projecting some of his own difficulties on to Adele. It certainly confuses the picture.

Frank and Adele are so close in age that it is hard for them to find separate circles of friends but they should make an effort to do exactly that. Each will have a greater sense of freedom now, will be able to develop socially in his own individual way.

When they are older and less critical of themselves they will find that they have fewer faults in one another. They will also be more tolerant of the shortcomings they do see, for they will recognize that others aren't perfect either. At that time they will be able to be helpful to one another in broadening their social relationships.

Hot Rolls — Cheese Flavored

by Mary Moore

During the recent Easter school holidays Betty Mallory and her precious brood of three, Frankie now 14, Blythe nearly 12 and Margaret nearly 8, paid me their semi-annual visit.

Every mealtime was a party time with different guests invited and we were all invited out for lunch at the Bridgewood's one day. Blythey said we were in a social swirl.

MONDAY

Beef Stew with Vegetables and Dumplings; Pickled Beets; Fruited Jelly with Cookies; Coffee.

One night we had eleven in for bridge and scrabble games, and I whomped up an avocado ring filled with lobster salad and some hot rolls made with part whole wheat flour and lots of cheese which you could taste. It is these latter little numbers which I am describing in detail today for they stole the show.

Somehow it tickles my Scottish fancy when such an inexpensive item creates such an expansive air.

CHEESE WHEAT BUNS:

Two tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 1-4 cups hot milk, 1-2 cup grated sippy Cheddar cheese, 1-3 cup sharp spready cheese (orange coloured — sold in brown colored, cylindrical packages) ¼ cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 package granular yeast, 2 1-2 cups sifted white flour and 1 cup unsifted whole wheat flour. In a large saucepan (in which you mix this whole batch) melt the butter, stir in the flour, (3 tablespoons), add 1 tablespoon sugar and the 2 teaspoons salt until well blended. Stir in the milk and stir until thickened. Add the cheese and stir until melted. Remove from heat. Allow to cool to just a few degrees above lukewarm. To the 1-2 cup lukewarm water add the 1 teaspoon sugar and sprinkle the granular yeast over the top and let stand 10 minutes, then stir. When the sauce has cooled to a little above lukewarm stir in the yeast liquid and the white flour and beat until smooth. Now add the whole wheat flour. When it is too stiff to stir mix with bare hands. Turn out on wholewheat floured board (using about 1-2 cup in all) and knead until smooth and elastic. Shape into a big ball. Replace in the scraped down saucepan, butter the top lightly, cover with a tea towel and let rise until well doubled in a warm place. Punch down and knead for 3 to 4 minutes. Cut in half. Shape each half into a long thin roll by rolling on board with palms of hands and cut each roll into 12 even pieces. Shape these into little balls and place on buttered baking sheets. Cover, let rise in warm place until doubled and light. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 12 to 15 minutes. Serve hot. If some are left over reheat to serve them again — although I must say they are delicious cold too.

NOTE:

This dough may be baked in a loaf pan if you want a loaf of delicious cheese bread.

Plans will be completed for the sectional Presbytery W.A. rally to be held at Carrying Place at the end of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Little of Belleville, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Steen.

ORDER RESCINDED

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Fairclough announced Friday that a controversial immigration order narrowing the list of sponsored immigrants from certain countries was rescinded Thursday.

"Canadian citizens and legal residents of Canada who are in a position to receive and care for their relatives abroad may continue to sponsor them," she said in a statement.

She announced in the Commons Wednesday that the order would be revoked.

Common Market Will Help Remove Trade Barriers

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Rome Treaty establishing the European Common Market is basically a constructive instrument towards removal of trade barriers, R. C. Berkinshaw of Toronto told the 40-nation congress of the International Chamber of Commerce Saturday.

Berkinshaw was chairman of final discussions at the six-day meeting.

The immediate past president of the Canadian Council of the ICC gad chairman of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada, he said the recession reduced world trade; a decline is economically more especially affected less - developed countries; and there had been moves towards "economic regionalism," including establishment of the European Common Market by France, Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

WOULD LOWER DUTIES

The latter's set effect would be lowering of customs duties—with higher protection for the 90,000,000 people of the Benelux countries, but lower protection for the 95,000,000 people of France and Italy.

Regarding the possibility of trade with totalitarian countries, he said:

"Personally, I have repeatedly urged in Canada that we seek a better trading relationship with the U.S.S.R. and China.

"In our economies, prices normally bear some relation to cost of production. This need not be so in a state-trading economy. The problem of quoting fair, equitable and truly competitive prices, therefore, becomes of paramount importance."

He also said that "business in recent years has tended to resist any reduction in prices, thus interfering with the natural forces of supply and demand. Such resistance to price trends also hampers the free flow of trade, and here is a field in which the businessman might do well to re-examine his responsibility."

Allan Cameron Adjudicates Art Club Exhibit

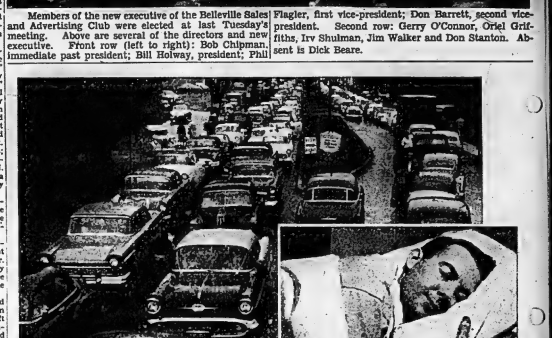
MADOC — The Madoc Art Club held their annual exhibition on Monday evening in the high school auditorium. An interesting variety of art was displayed.

During the adjudication of the exhibit, the members of the art class served refreshments to the guests. Mrs. T. Nicol poured tea and Miss Lamoine West provided music for the evening.

Mr. Allan Cameron was the adjudicator. After graduating from the College of Art he pursued further art and studies in London, England. He has had a portrait hung in the R.A.C. Gallery.

Mr. Cameron chose four exhibits to be entered in the eastern Ontario travelling art display. "The Storm" a painting in oil by Lou Barker; "Madoc High School" by Margaret Connor; "Dahlias" by Xenia Edson; "A Higler Street" by Vera Burnside.

Besides these four, other pictures were chosen for honorable mention as follows: "Beeches," by L. Barker; three paintings by Xenia Edson, "Hydrangeas," "Spring Flowers," and a still life group; three paintings by M. Connor, "Doug and Keith Sailing", "The Old Tavern," and "My Old Home"; "Harvest Scene" by Edna Wood; "Old Railway Pier," by M. Wright, "Ice Storm" by Getha Burns; "Winter Scene" by Mrs. T. Nicol; "Swamp Pasture," by M. Allchurch; "Hydrangeas," by Vera Burnside, and a still life by Marion Livingstone.



Mr. Cameron gave constructive criticism to members of the art class on how to improve their painting in texture, coloring and form.

He congratulated them warmly on the great improvement in their work each year. This is a credit to Miss Mary Moult who has conducted the art classes here for the past five years.

Mrs. M. Burnside expressed appreciation to Mr. Cameron and presented him with a gift on behalf of the club. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Miss Moult.

CAMPBELLFORD

Fish and Game Club Executive Holds Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD—A meeting of the executive of the Campbellford District Fish and Game Club was held on Wednesday evening in the council chamber with president Barry Penhale, presiding.

Plans were discussed for the annual activities of the club. It was decided to write the department with regard to having fish fingerlings and fry put in the Trent River.

The president brought up the matter of erecting directional signs on highways leading to local resorts. The government will not allow any signs on the highways for this purpose. After considerable discussion, it was decided to contact J. Cowing, in regard to having two signs made with maps of the area on them to be placed on each side of the river, subject to members' approval at the next meeting.

It was decided Mr. Reg McCulloch, Conservation Officer of this area, be an honorary member of the club.

Charles Wilcox suggested members of the club go to Healy Falls where so many fish are killed each year at the Weir Dam and try to save as many as possible. Mr. Reg McCulloch is to be asked for permission to act in this regard. It was also decided to interview the Department of Hydro in an effort to rectify the conditions which cause so much havoc on fish during the low water period at this particular point.

The secretary was instructed to secure buttons for members of the club.

Subject to approval of the club at their next regular meeting, it was suggested a fish contest be held this year.

The question of trying to eliminate the carp in the river was also brought up. The co-operation of Mr. McCulloch, Conservation Officer for this district, and the department, is being sought in this matter.

The next regular meeting will be held in the parish hall on May 11th, at 8 p.m. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Horned Owl On Protected List Democrat Finds

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) He's stumped, Democrat Clarence Mason of Washington County said today, so he's going to ask the Maryland attorney general the $67 question about great horned owls.

Mason successfully sponsored a bill in the 1959 legislature to let Washington County pay a $3 bounty to hunters for each owl they killed. The predatory bird were killing too many young wild turkeys and rabbits, spoiling the season for hunters of that game.

But now, says Mason, he finds that the legislature also enacted legislation setting a $70 fine for killing certain birds. The great horned owl is one of them.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of 19-year-old Robert Arthur Chapman, B.C., who had been scheduled to be hanged Tuesday for the shotgun murder of his brother, John, 23, following a fist fight at the family farm home near Chilliwack last fall.

Belgium Will Pump Billion Dollars Into Congo Economy

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Belgium plans to pump more than a billion dollars into the economic and social development of this sprawling colony, riots or no riots.

And the economic planners who for years have presided over the exploitation of the Congo's mineral riches and raw materials are placing their main emphasis on helping the 10,000,000 natives in the huge rural areas.

Having promised the Congolese Independence in a form not yet specified—and with no date given—the Belgians cautiously hope to see the new state emerge as a close partner of Belgium. Millions of dollars in investment and 50 years of hard colonial work in a hot, unpleasant climate are at stake.

BELATED EFFORT

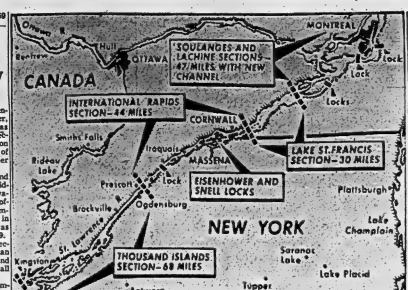
The nationalist riots that broke out here in January have not deflected the Belgians from the plan. And they are making a hasty, if belated effort to supply some university-trained African leaders for the evolving colony.

After withholding higher education from her black subjects for nearly half a century, Belgium now has established two multiracial universities, one at Leopoldville, the other at Elizabethville.

The current Negro leaders who have been agitating for independence are said to not look kindly on the graduates of the new universities, fearing they may develop in the pattern of Belgian rulers and take over political leadership.

One theory held by some observers here is that the independence campaign with its fatal rioting in January began prematurely because of fears that a new educated class of Africans was being developed to sway the people of the Congo.

This view doesn't fit the generally - accepted idea, however, that the independence drive was born of long neglect, political, economic and social discrimination and the almost magic stimulus of nationalist movements in other African territories.



Through their ambitious second 10-year developmeqpt plan providing for an outlay of the equivalent of $1,122,000,000, Belgian officials are hoping to cure a number of serious maladjustments in the territory. Somewhat less was spent on the first plan, 1950-59.

Nearly 14 per cent of the second plan's funds will go into an effort to make life easier and more prosperous for the small African farmer.

Belgians hope that the community effort represented by its expanding universities, coupled with accelerating economic betterment, will forge a stronger bonds between them and the Africans than colonial rule based on power has done in the past.

Thirty Persons Die in Mishaps Across Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thirty persons died accidentally in Canada during the weekend, 17 of them because of traffic accidents.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Saturday local time until midnight Sunday showed that 10 of the total died in Ontario, four in fire.

Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan reported no accidental fatalities.

The totals with highway deaths in brackets: Nova Scotia 1) Quebec 7 (5); Ontario 12 (7); Manitoba 1; Alberta 3 (3); and British Columbia 6 (2).

Thirty - one persons were reported killed last weekend, 22 on the highways.

Ontario deaths:

Alfred Lamothe, 38, of May Township, was killed when struck by a car near Massey, 26 miles west of Sudbury.

Mrs. Mary Crapo of Buffalo, N.Y., Sunday in a fire that destroyed her summer cottage on Lake Erie, 18 miles southwest of Welland.

Patricia Levesque, a drowned Saturday in a creek near Sprague 85 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Daniel Brown, 18, and Charles Walker, 17, both of Georgetown, Saturday when their car crashed head-on with the car driven by Edgar Higley, 20, about two miles south of the Toronto-area town of Streetsville.

Mrs. Ann Strutt, 75, fatally injured Saturday night when the car in which he "was riding collided with another at Oshawa.

TURIST RETIRES — Mr. Justice Ivan C. Rand finds he still s his books even though he retires from the Supreme Court of Canada April 27 on his 75th birthday. With crated law books in background, the most noted of Canadian jurists-in-residence and author of the Rand Formula which ended a labor strike at Windsor, Ont., knots string around last tomes as he cleans out his Ottawa office. He will become dean of the new law school at the University of Western Ontario, London, where these volumes are headed. (CP Photo).

Justice Rand Thinks It Bad Idea for Top-Flight Judges To Be Mixed in Labor Issues

OTTAWA (CP) — Mr. Justice Ivan C. Rand, the only Canadian judge to have his name indelibly inked on a nationally - known labor process, thinks it a bad idea for top-flight judges to be mixed up in labor disputes.

The author of the "Rand Formula" that ended one of Canada's biggest strikes in the immediate post-war era says that judges of at least those on the Supreme Court of Canada which he has served for 16 years—should stick to the bench.

If it sounds anomalous for this most noted of Canadian jurist-conciliators to take this view, he explains it this way in an interview on the eve of his retirement from the court:

First, it takes the judge away from his judicial duties, and many of the cases the court already are overburdened with hefty backlogs of undecided cases.

IMMUNITY IN DANGER

Secondly, in taking on an appointment as a conciliator or arbitrator in an industrial dispute, a judge loses a certain immunity from public criticism which goes with his judicial functions.

It does like bench good, Mr. Justice Rand feels, to have, for instance, judges criticized from labor for overcharging on conciliation fees. And this has happened on occasion in Ontario.

Parenthetically, this does not happen with members of Canada's top courts, who receive nothing but out-of-pocket expenses for extra-judicial work.

Mr. Justice Rand acted as arbitrator in a 1945 dispute between the United Auto Workers and Ford of Canada in a strike at Windsor.

The UAW wanted the "union shop"—all employees in the bargaining group would have to become union members on signing a contract. The union finally got up with a compromise formula which required employees not members to pay UAW dues but not to join the union.

Since then, the Rand Formula has won wide acceptance among Canadian labor and management.

47 YEARS AT LAW

In the strictly judicial field, Mr. Justice Rand's wide-ranging mind has a multitude of opinions about the bench, the legal profession and the law itself. He's reluctant to offer them, at 75 Monday a veteran of 47 years at law, 16 on the Supreme Court and possessor of one of the top intellects on the Canadian bench.

Mr. Justice Rand is ranked as one of the great "liberals" among modern-day judges, though he won't offer a definition of what makes up a so - called liberal judge.

However, he has his own personal formula for the qualifications of a good judge, it might surprise many people, who figure a judge's function consists mainly of making exact interpretation of the statutes, to know that he puts imagination close to the top of he list.

Imagination, that is, of the kind that enables him to reach into a litigant's mind and search out his impulses and motives; and also to give him an awareness of a changing society in relation to the law.

An open mind is another attribute — open enough to make him receptive even to arguments that would lead him to reverse his own decision.

The capability for analysis plus the basic element of a sound knowledge of the law would round out a good judge's essentials.

HAS BROAD MIND

All these, associates say, Mr. Justice Rand possesses in large measure along with a philosophical approach to judicial problems and a humanitarian outlook that gives him a feeling for the underdog.

These, with a command of trenchant language, have made him one of the administrative most notable in the court's history.

It is suggested—by others—that the country loses out when a man of Mr. Justice Rand's mental capabilities is dropped from the bench arbitrarily when he reaches his 75th birthday.

While he won't discuss the subject from a personal angle, he will agree that valuable service could still be rendered by judges after reaching that mark.

He favors the system of United States federal courts, where justices after retirement age are kept on as "collateral" justices and assigned to particular cases at the option of the chief justice and themselves.

UNIVERSITY POST

Mr. Justice Rand himself is going in for a new career. Next month, he goes to London to take over the job of organizing the University of Western Ontario's first law school, of which he will be dean. He'll do some teaching, as well as administrative work.

It will give him an opportunity to put into the new legal generation one of his precepts: There needs to be a more symbiotic relationship between lawyers.

"There is not enough love of the profession as a stepping stone to high-paid jobs in business. However, he does concede, in fact insists, that there is a key role for the lawyer in business and industry in helping executives to clarify their thinking.

NEED LEGAL MIND

"Nothing of these," he says, "can't think through an idea to its logical conclusion and that's the real job of a lawyer's trained mind to direct them."

He still thinks that the lawyer's primary function is the practice of the law, a role that itself can often use some clearer thinking behind it, Mr. Justice Rand says.

Some laws, he feels, are passed without their sponsors quite knowing what they want to accomplish. In others, the legislators may know what they want to do but not quite know how to put it into suitable form.

The hastily - conceived amendment in a bill—often on the basis of expediency in the midst of a debate—riles the Justice.

Changing one section of a bill sometimes will have an unexpected effect on another section, he says, because. Eventually, the courts may have to unsnarl it.

But by and large Canadian law is good law, Mr. Justice Rand says.

Royal Tour of Canada Only Third by British Monarch

OTTAWA (CP)—This summer's Royal Tour of Canada is only the third by a British monarch.

But royalty—including brothers, sisters, sons and daughters of sovereigns—have visited Canada many times since Confederation in 1867.

No ruling monarch had visited this country before King George VI and Queen Elizabeth spent four weeks travelling from coast to coast and back again in May and June of 1939.

The second visit by a sovereign was that of Queen Elizabeth in October, 1957, when she spent five days in Ottawa with Prince Philip and became the first monarch to open a session of the Canadian Parliament.

This summer's coast - to - coast tour is beginning at Port - aux - Basques, St. John's, Nfld., and ending Aug. 2 at Halifax, will be the longest by a monarch on Canadian soil. Prior to the visit is to open the St. Lawrence Seaway.

It will actually be Elizabeth's second coast-to-coast tour. In 1951, when Prince Elizabeth, she made one with the Duke of Edinburgh.

Philip became the first member of the Royal Family to visit Canada since when he came to Canada alone in August, 1954, and he was 32 days record. His visit to Ottawa when he attended Ottawa sessions of the English-Speaking Union was last October.

Princess Margaret, the Queen's sister, has been in Canada just once. She crossed the country last July and August to attend British Columbia's Centennial - celebrations.

ARTHUR WAS FIRST

The first royal visit to Canada since Confederation was in June, 1869, when Prince Arthur, third son of Queen Victoria, visited Ireland.

Canada was host to its next royal visitor for more than four years later when Princess Louise, fourth daughter of Queen Victoria, came as wife of the Marquess of Lorne, governor-general from 1878 to 1883.

Prince of Wales, Victoria's eldest son, visited Quebec City in July, 1860.

Prince George, later King George V, in 1901 made his second cross-Canada-to-use visit to Canada when he made an unofficial trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, Ont., in October, 1883.

Prince George was in Canada again in May, 1890, crossing the country on his way home from India. Prince George—then Duke of Cornwall—travelled from Quebec City to Victoria in mid-December, 1901, with his wife, who became Queen Mary, as they headed for October Tercentenary in July, 1908.

Then the Duke of Connaught Prince Arthur and his wife were in Canada for five years from 1911 while he served as governor-general.

In June of 1913 Prince Albert, later to become King George VI., made his first visit to Canada seeing Montreal, Toronto and Niagara Falls.

The present Duke of Windsor, who reigned as King Edward VIII in 1936, has been in Canada as Canada's most frequent royal visitor, having been here five times. Prince Philip is next in line, this summer's tour being his fifth visit.

The Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, toured Canada from coast to coast in August, 1919. In 1923, travelling incognito as Lord Renfrew, he visited Ottawa and his Alberta ranch. In August, 1924, he was again at the ranch and also visited Vancouver. With his youngest brother, the Duke of Kent, who died in 1942, he toured Eastern Canada in August, 1927.

As the Duke of Windsor, accompanied by his wife for whom he gave up his throne, he visited his ranch again in September, 1941. His last official visit was a fishing trip to New Brunswick in July of 1946.

The late Earl of Athlone, Governor of Queen Mary and grandson of George III, served as governor-general from 1940 to 1946. His wife, Princess Alice, now 78, is a daughter of Prince Leopold.

The Duchess of Kent and her daughter Princess Alexandra visited Ontario and Quebec in August, 1954.

McKee Tells Officials About Mining Venture

VANOUVER (CP) — James Harrison McKee, controversial figure in the raising of some $500,000 on promissory notes for mining ventures in British Columbia and California, met Canadian and United States government officials during the weekend to discuss the setup.

The promoter said in a dispatch from Seattle that Mr. McKee had talks with J. Stewart Smith, B.C. superintendent of brokers, Frank in Wood, U.S. postal inspector, and James E. Newton of the U.S. Currency Exchange Commission.

There was no statement on what happened at the meeting. It was understood Mr. Smith may release a statement today.

Mr. McKee's name sprang into the news last month when Attorney-General Kelso Roberts of Ontario ordered an investigation into promotions to raise funds for extracting gold from the sands of the Fraser River valley. The Ontario investigation is still in progress.

Members of several Baptist churches in Ontario and B.C. advanced money for the project. Commissioner notes to be redeemed last Oct. and April 1 were given to the contributors.

The Province said Mr. McKee told a reporter the method of handling promissory by notes was all right and he thinks he can start paying it back this year.

Mr. McKee's name first appeared in Australia, the Adelaide News quoted sources close to the Woodside rocket range as saying that equipment aboard the missing plane was of considerable value but not vitally important.

A foreign office spokesman said Britain is making no further inquiries of the Soviet authorities about the missing plane. He told a press conference Britain regarded the Soviet statement that it had no information about the plane as "exhaustive." If the Soviet authorities should find the aircraft, "they clearly know we are interested."

Staff planes resumed the search over mountainous eastern Turkey for the aircraft.

Plane Carrying 92 Persons Makes Forced Landing

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — An Irish Airlines plane carrying 92 persons made a forced landing here early today after developing engine trouble on a flight from Ireland to Boston.

The plane, carrying 63 crippled and retarded United States children, National Catholic Educational Cushing of Boston, 17 nuns and 11 other adults had the use of one of its four engines about 100 miles east of this central Newfoundland air base.

Most of the children, 6-13 years of age, were returning from a one-week pilgrimage to the Roman Catholic shrine at Lourdes, France, and were asleep when the engine trouble developed.

Dr. Richard Wright of Boston, travelling with the group, was advised of the engine failure by the crew.

Rev. John J. Grant, associate editor of The Pilot, a Boston Roman Catholic newspaper, said some of the children were aware of the change in altitude and change in noise. He added he believed a Pan-American Airlines plane was en route from Boston to take at least some of the group. A second Pan-American aircraft, also grounded here with engine trouble, is expected to take the others.

Included in the group were 22 children in wheelchairs who were taken to a hospital to rest.

Believe British Freight Plane Down in Russia

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union knows nothing about a big British freighter which disappeared in Siberia last week with 12 men and secret equipment aboard.

The Russian Sunday denied any knowledge of the four-engined Avro Shackleton had appeared over mountainous east Turkey Thursday. It said flatly that a plane with that foul weather had forced the aircraft into Soviet airspace in Armenia.

A supply minister spokesman said the British aircraft carried "certain classified items" for the British rocket range in Australia.

The plane was owned by a London charter firm.

Much Publicized Hunt for Bears Starts May 16

TIMMINS (CP) — The much-publicized hunt for bears to provide skins for Buckingham Palace guards' hats will start May 16 and last a month.

Mayor Leo Del Villano, undeterred by publicity which has amazed him, announced the dates Sunday.

He said the hunts will continue each weekend until the hunting licences expire June 15.

The mayor's objective is 300 bears whose skins will make 330 hats.

He said recently the guards need 330 hats a year and he suggested that the success of 60 volunteer hunters will determine whether the project will become an annual affair.

The hunts were organized after Mayor Del Villano read a report from London which said guards' hats are made from bearskins.

The mayor said the publicity he has received in mail from many countries and numerous calls from various news media.

"It seems amazing to me that so much interest would be aroused over something like this."

SOME PROTESTS

Not all the publicity has been favorable. There have been reports of protests about "mass slaughter" of the bears, which the mayor said will be coming out of their dens around the middle of May.

The mayor said officials of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests have told him the hunt will be a success because it will balance the bear population, which in recent years has been endeavoring to initiate a bear hunt for years.

There have also been offers to purchase parts of bears and to use skins which have been rejected by the mayor who said there is no monetary consideration in the hunt. These have been letters containing crackpot suggestions.

TRAIL OF HONEY

One letter suggests that the mayor smear a trail of something such as honey which the bear would follow. At the end of the trail two piles of rock would be piloted with a can of honey in each. The bear would sniff the pepper, sneeze and knock it-self out, the letter said.

The hunters will work in groups of four. The mayor said there was no way of telling how many bears they will kill.

"We don't have a quota in for each bear we do get it willbe swan by a new bear as a member of the Brigade of Guards. That's all I'm interested in."

Mr. Del Villano, salesman who covers Northern Ontario, said he received a 10-gallon stetson at Kapuskasing, Cochrane and Little Abitibi.

The official presentation of the skins will be made at Ontario House in London.

Portugal Premier to Observe 31st Year of Absolute Rule And Also His 70th Birthday

LISBON (AP)—Amid growing murmurs that he has been around too long, Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar marks his 31st year as absolute ruler of Portugal.

Yet, as Salazar also celebrates his 70th birthday, he has given no sign of choosing a successor. The anniversary of his long rule will be observed Monday. The day following is his birthday.

The twin anniversaries find him with twin troubles.

Accustomed to running Portugal without challenge, he faced unprecedented opposition last June when a former adviser, Gen. Humberto Delgado, senior air force officer, ran for the presidency on an anti-Salazar platform. Salazar vetoed re-election plans of his old friend, Gen. Higino Craveiro Lopes, and selected Admiral Americo Thomaz as the National Union candidate. Thomaz won the election, but Salazar took it as a personal affront that Delgado received 25 per cent of the votes.

HEALTH POOR

Slender, stooped and frail, the ailing dictator sometime yesterday professor also is reported in ill health. Last month he was confined to his quarters with influenza which later developed into pneumonia.

In the opposition there is fear the shy, often retiring premier may take a firmer hand and will follow with either the Communists taking over or the army establishing a military dictatorship.

On the other hand, Salazar supporters—those who want his National Union regime to continue—have begged him to give up the premiership for the presidency in order to train a successor before near refused.

His reaction to opposition and criticism which includes restlessness among some Roman Catholic leaders—is to order widespread arrests and increased security for his life and property.

Thus he seeks to secure his role as practically the longest-reigning one-man ruler. Moscow and Luxembourg have chiefs of state who rule. Ireland's governments longer than Salazar, but unlike him they are not active rulers.

Often called the "strong man of Europe" because many of the faces of his life are shrouded in obscurity, the real mystery is how this son of humble parentage has maintained himself in power so long.

The secret is no single answer. When he became minister of finance in 1928 with full control over the country's destiny, he seemed the indispensable man. He had created a chaotic in the hands of the military leaders who had overthrown the republic and can parliamentary regime two years earlier.

Salazar quickly brought order to the government's finances. At the same time he established political parties but formed his own National Union and imposed a constitution for the nation that made opposition to the National Union, Salazar, difficult, usually impossible.

He installed the instituted total censorship, banned free trade unions and outlawed strikes and developed the secret police.

Despite all this Salazar denies he is a fascist. He has declared that his regime is totalitarian.

"I believe dehocracy is a function," he says, "but not believe in universal suffrage. I do not believe that numbers count more but in hierarchy."

In his 31 years at the nation rolls he has given the nation peace, order and one of the most stable governments in Western Europe. As the world market for Portugal's traditional products—port wine and fish—began to fall 10 years ago, Salazar launched a program of industrialization. Still, Portugal has the lowest per capita income and the highest rate of illiteracy of Western Europe.

Experts Say Kentucky Derby Could Be a Wide-Open Race

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The 85th Kentucky Derby, America's most glamorous horse race scheduled for next Saturday at ancient Churchill Downs, is a wide-open scramble that could produce a miniature charge of the light brigade.

With at least two dozen three-year-olds, including a Winnipeg-owned hopeful, still listed as possible starters, a field approaching the record of 22 in 1928 when Reigh Count collected the roses is in prospect.

Old Derbytown has been humming for days, as the three-year-olds keep moving in on Churchill Downs. Stall space is getting harder to find, than a room in Louisville's hotels, which have been sold out since January.

Aside from Silver Spoon, C. V. Whitney's filly who beat the colts in the Santa Anita Derby to run up a six-for-six mark, this Derby crop has been whipping each other regularly.

FILLY WON ONCE

Only one filly in Derby history has come off with the big one—Regret in 1915.

It had been expected that the Wood Memorial at Jamaica a week ago would help clarify the Master, a 63-1 shot, but it only served to confuse the issue. Now even eligible for the Derby, defeated First Landing, Intentionally, Atoll and other highly - regarded colts. More trainers are quickly bought tickets to ship their horses to Louisville.

Previously Bayard Sharp's Trollius, the Flamingo winner, got his comeuppance in the Florida Derby where Jim Norris' Easy Spur won.

First Landing, owned by Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia and New York, was the class colt on two-year-old of 1958. He finished third in the Flamingo. First Landing wasn't disgraced in the Wood, for he cooled off Atoll and intentionally in a blazing early pace, but couldn't hold off The Mauler in the final yards.

Fred Turner, Jr.'s Tommy Lee, runner up for 1958 two-year-old honors, showed he was ready for the big test when he won Thursday's $32,550 Blue Grass Stakes at Keneland with a 1:48 3-5 clocking for 1⅛ miles.

WIDE OPEN?

The $15,000-added Derby Trial Stakes at one mile Tuesday may eliminate a few, but horsemen are prepared to look for anything when the horses parade postward for the $125,000 - added Derby.

About a dozen may start in the Derby trial, including First Landing, Trollius, Neil McCarthy's Pinnegan, the Calumet Farm's On-and-On, the Cain Hoy Stable's Hoist Away, Patrice Jacobs' Our Dad, Mrs. Jacques Braunstein's Royal Orbit, Canadian - owned Master Palynch, the Elkcam Stable's Open View, the Llangollen Farm's Mosby, and K. G. Marshall's John Bruce.

Master Palynch, owned by Sam Sair and Ben Hatzakis of Winnipeg, won the Louisiana Derby, but has shown little since. The Master ran third in the $116,400 Florida Derby early this month.

Calumet mustn't be overlooked, for on-and-on seems to be coming around after showing little in Florida. Calumet holds the reins, seven derbies, the last two in a row with Iron Liege and Tim Tam.

CALIFORNIA THREATS

Finnegan won the recent California Derby at Tanforan, and is one of what might prove a powerful California invasion force. Earl Sitze's Monk's Hood and Royal Orbit were 3-5 in that race. Tommy Lee is Texas-owned but raced mostly in California, while all of Silver Spoon's 1958 races were there.

Our Dad finished fastest of all in the Wood but was blocked along the rail and he might have won it all. Open View ran second in the Bahamas and Flamingo, but with stablemate Atoll finished out of the money in the Wood.

Eddie Arcaro, who has ridden in 19 Derbies and won five, rides First Landing, while most of the leading U.S. jockeys are lined up for the spectacle, including Johnny Longden on Finnegan.

If as many as 20 start, the race will have a record gross value of $165,000, with the winner hauling off $123,900.

Flying Bat Kills Player

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A flying bat that slipped from a teammate's hands struck John N. Merry, 17, of Pittsburgh in the chest Sunday. He was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

Merry was awaiting his turn at bat in a sandlot baseball game, police said, when the bat slipped from the hands of Allan Schiefl, 17.

Schiefl also was taken to the hospital and treated for shock.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

BRAVES FOILED — Howie Hughes (22) of Winnipeg Braves has his backhand attempt foiled by alert Peterborough Petes forward Garry Dunlop (on knees) during Memorial Cup hockey action at Winnipeg, April 24. O.H.A. Makes Rules More Concise Also Broadens Their Powers

TORONTO (CP) — An amendment to clarify the regulation barring players from leaving the bench to enter fights on the ice was among the 30 passed Saturday at the Ontario Hockey Association annual meeting.

The amendment makes the rule clearly state that it is an offence for a player "to go on the ice with an altercation taking place." Under the old rule a player had to actually take part in the fight before he could be penalized.

The association also moved to halt falsification of playing certificates as an amendment was passed allowing suspensions of as much as two years for a player or management found guilty of such an offence. Previously, only the player was suspended.

Most of the other regulation changes passed by the 80 delegates make the rules more concise or broaden their powers. They cover such subject as waivers, registration dates and the boundaries of the areas from which teams can draw players.

The rule covering group standings was changed so that, in the case of a tie on points, the team with the most wins is given the preference. Under the old section, this was decided on goal averages, which often left two teams have an equal number of wins.

The meeting voted to ask the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to change the icing the puck rule. The OHA amendment would force a stoppage of play if a player shoots the puck from his own half of the ice across the opposing goal line. At any time, except, of course, when a team is penalized. The rule does not apply now when a team ices the puck while shorthanded.

It was announced that the association has finished making a film which will be used to train referees. It will be ready for release later this year and prints will be made available to those interested.

Retiring president Lorne Cook of Kingston presented OHA's Gold Stick award of merit to two executives. Receiving the award while an absentee was Frank Selke, Jr., of the CAHA, and Ernie Goman, general manager of the Senior A Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

It was announced that two new trophies have been donated. Mayor Harry Jermyn of Whitby has presented a trophy to be given to the champion of the Eastern Senior A series and George Dudley, OHA treasurer, has given one which will go to the Senior A OHA-NOHA championships.

New president of the association is Ken McMillan of Georgetown, whose acclamation was announced earlier. Also elected by acclamation were the two vice-presidents, the treasurer and the secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were: Jack Devine, Belleville; Matt Leyden, Aylmer; T. O'Neill, Stouffville and C. G. Paterson, Brampton.

Sugar Ray Robinson Agrees To Battle Carmen Basilio

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, a former vaudeville hoofer, has danced away from a pair of fight-or-else ultimatums by agreeing to defend his middleweight title against Carmen Basilio at Los Angeles Sept. 21.

Announcement of Robinson's acceptance came from Roy Warner, a San Bernardino Calif., promoter, Saturday and was confirmed in New York by George Gainford, one of Robinson's managers.

Gainford said Robinson had agreed to a third—and long delayed—meeting with ex - champ Basilio for 45 per cent of the gate, Basilio, who would receive 20 per cent under current plans, had not agreed but Warner said he planned to go to Syracuse, N.Y., this week for further talks with John de John, one of Carmen's managers.

Basilio declared: "It sounds like another camouflage job to me. That Robinson's pretty cute. He's always scheming. If that promoter has Robinson all signed for 45 per cent, he'd better know that I'm not fighting for 20 per cent."

DOUBTS DATE

"The date is O.K. with me but I doubt if the commission will let (Robinson) wait that long to fight."

Robinson's agreement came exactly on the April 25 sign-for-Basilio deadline set by the National Boxing Association's executive committee and threatened to suspend Art Aidala after a similar edict, set by the New York State Athletic Commission for May 7, was upheld by the New York State Supreme Court.

In Indianapolis, Arch Hindman, executive secretary of the NBA, said Robinson's lawyer had notified him of definite and tangible negotiations for a Los Angeles fight and had asked the NBA to extend its deadline.

The NBA had ordered Robinson to sign to fight Basilio by midnight Sunday and "also or-

Schoendienst Confident He Will Be Back

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Veteran Red Schoendienst says he is confident he will be back in a Milwaukee Braves uniform this season.

The great National League infielder is recovering from a bout with tuberculosis which he fought with long rest and surgery.

"I think I'll be in uniform the last two months of the season and in plenty of action the last month, he said Sunday.

"That's just me talking. The doctors haven't promised anything, although they're very pleased with my recovery and general condition now."

Hindman said he ordered that the bout be held by June 30.

"Under the circumstances," Hindman said, "they (executive committee) might want to extend a few days . . ."

Robinson last fought when he regained the title from Basilio on a 15-round decision at Chicago March 25, 1958.

od blow can eradicate one of them completely. Without the services of an experienced guide, a man very well can find himself "boned." To be sure, he can get back eventually but he stands an excellent chance of spending the night fighting mosquitoes and rationing himself on water and food. Don't forget — Florida Bay takes in almost two thousand square miles of territory.

But that is only a fraction of the services of a guide. Not only do they know the short cuts to the fishing grounds; also they know where to find fish in mid-stie quantities. Only men who are on these waters, day after day, year after year, can have this information.

Once on the fishing grounds, it is then the guide's job to find fish for you. It makes no difference how good your vision happens to be; unless you are experienced in looking for fish you simply won't see them. Now and then you may happen to spot one but chances are that the guide will see ten to your one.

Last but not least, if you are going to enjoy a day's fishing, you certainly can't be handicapped by having to handle the boat. The guide does that for you, locates your fish, and places you in advantageous casting position.

Dr. Fred Bond, at whose camp we stay while in the Keys, is an enthusiastic fisherman when the work of running the camp will allow him to get away. I was talking with him about this very thing. This is how he feels about it.

"I would no more take my boat and start out for Nine Mile Bank by myself than I would try to fly to the moon. I've fished these waters for about 20 years but to fish them safely and know your way about you must do it every day. No, when I want to go into the back country I will take a guide with me who has been there last week, not last year. That way I stand a good chance of getting back the same day."

I hope that my critic in Pennsylvania reads this column. It may give him a new slant on the economy of hiring guides when fishing back-country waters.

Miami Takes Over Int. Lead; Leafs Split

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Someone forgot to look at the base - running potential of the lightly-regarded Miami Marlins when they were discounted as an International League power.

Thanks to Fred Valentine's three stolen bases Sunday, Manliss begin the week in the International top spot, after splitting a doubleheader 4-1 but saw the Wings come back with a 3-2 second game victory.

In other games Columbus gained but a share of second place with a 3-0 victory over Montreal, Buffalo swept a doubleheader from Havana 7-2 and 2-0 and Richmond won the second game of its doubleheader with Toronto 6-5 after the Leafs took the opener 4-1.

Saturday, Montreal edged Columbus 6-5 in 15 innings, Toronto defeated Richmond 8-4 in 10 innings, Miami topped Rochester 4-3 in 10 and Havana walloped Buffalo 9-3.

Miami paralyed four singles and a walk in a 3-0 first inning lead in the opener Sunday and Valentine iced it with his running. He scored from second base in the second inning on a wild throw and then, after singling in the seventh, stole second and third, and scored on Foster Castleman's sacrifice fly.

John Anderson set down Rochester with eight hits to win his first in three decisions. Bob Keegan (1-1) lost.

Cal Browning, damaged only by Leo Burke's two-run homer, allowed Miami four hits. Lester Virgil Trucks walked eight, and reliever Art Kay walked three. The Red Wings, behind 2-0, won it in the fourth inning when Kay walked in one run, and Valentine's double by Frank Verdi's single for the third. All the runs were charged to Trucks (0-1) as Browning won his first.

Columbus' Al Jackson won his second without a loss as he toured a four - hitter at Montreal. A three-run sixth inning marred Ron Negray's (2-1) six-hit effort for the Royals.

Al Eriksson (3-0) gave only four hits in six innings to get the first game victory for Buffalo. He needed an inning of relief in the seven - inning opener from Fernando Rodriguez. Buffalo scored three in the first off loser Wheeler Douglas (0-1). Larry Novak homered for the Cubans.

Warren Hacker (2-0) gave only two hits and struck out 10 to Buffalo's second game win. Bill Harrington's two - run single in the third inning gave him his decision as he outdueled Walt Craddock (2-1), who allowed only five hits.

Frank Leja's sacrifice fly scored Bob Martyn in the ninth inning for Richmond's second game victory after Don Johnson three-hit the Vees in the opener 4-1.

Jerry Thomas hit a two run

Bisons Whittle Hershey Lead

BUFFALO (CP) — Buffalo Bisons trounced Hershey Bears 9-4 Sunday night to stay in the race for the American Hockey League's Calder Cup.

The victory of the regular-season champions cut Hershey's lead in the best-of-seven final playoff series to 3-2. Hershey won 4-2 Saturday.

Parker Macdonald and Gus Mortson led the Buffalo attack with two goals each. Bill Dineen, Eddie Slasher, Bill Summerhill, Del Dea and Gerry Foley rounded out the Bisons' scoring.

Dunc Fisher, Willie Marshall, Olaf O'Brien and Len Haley scored for the Bears.

The sixth game will be played Hershey Tuesday night.

On Saturday, Kachur and Sweeney scored for Buffalo while Marshall, Bob Solinger, Ed Sandkiewic and Larry Zeidel were the Bears scorers.

London Has Eye on Million

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Some 3,500 boxing fans and sports writers watched Sunday as new heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson and British challenger Jean Le Grand in stages workouts for their May 1 title bout.

Patterson first sparred for three rounds in the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum where the fight will be held, and then Loosen climbed into the same ring for three rounds with his practice opponents.

About 40 sports writers covered the challenger later and asked him what he thought of his chances against Patterson.

"Any fighter's ambition is to win by a KO in the first round," London said. "I won't say I'll win, but I say here that I beat Patterson, I get a million dollars."

The challenger, guaranteed $60,000 for his appearance, is a 10-1 underdog in current betting. Patterson already has a June 25 title defence date set in New York against European heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden.

Johansson will watch the London-Patterson bout. He flew to New York from Boteborg, Sweden, Sunday night.

uled seven-inning nightcap, while Martyn and Dick Sanders clouted solo shots.

Johnny James (1-1) was the winner.

Sander's single in the eighth inning broke Johnson's bid for a no-hitter in the opener. Curt Roberts' double and Fritz Brickell's single scored the Vees' only run in the ninth inning. Eric Rodin homered for Toronto with none on.

Haney Benches Two Regulars After Defeat

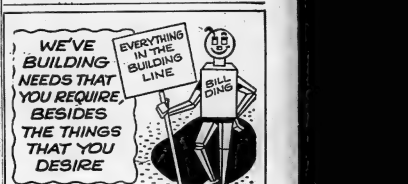
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The defeadling - champion Milwaukee Braves were bounced out of the National League lead Sunday for the first time this season and manager Fred Haney promptly benched two regulars.

Yanked out of the lineup were shortstop Johnny Logan and left fielder Wes Covington. Haney also said first baseman Joe Adcock may join them, depending upon what kind of pitching the Braves face here tonight in a series opener with hicago Cubs.

Logan is hitting only .171; Covington .229, Adcock, who shares first base with Frank Torre, has a .286 average.

Haney said veteran Andy Pafko probably would be in left tonight and that either Joe Morgan or Felix Mantilla would go to short, with rookie huck Cottier playing second.

Hooks Nine-Foot Sturgeon With Rod and Reel



BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Lumber worker Marion Woodyard, using a rod and reel, hauled in a nine-foot, seven inch sturgeon Sunday and claimed it is the longest ever caught.

Woodyard, a Boise lumber yard driver, said the big fish flailed more than two hours before he landed it. He was fishing in the Snake River below Swan Falls, about 25 miles south of here.

He used a 72-pound line with smelt for bait.

Woodyard said his sturgeon weighed 320 pounds. That's 40 pounds less than the listed world record sturgeon, a 360 - pounder caught in the Snake River just two years ago Friday by Willard Cravens. The Cravens fish was four inches shorter, however.

CONVENTION CUFFERS

Lorne Cook in his swan-song address as president of the OHA at the convention Saturday afternoon, paid fine tribute to the McFarlands, while Drury Denyes, "Red" Dugan, Mel Richards, Jack Devine and the rest of the Belleville aggregation swelled justifiably with pride. Said Lorne: "The Belleville McFarlands certainly proved goodwill ambassadors and were a credit to Canada and the CAHA as were the Whitby Dunlops before them. Having seen a Canadian club in action in Europe playing under international rules, living under different conditions and with very little support, I can now well understand the tension and nervous strain of Canadian teams playing in Europe." Cook also paid tribute to CAHA president Bob LeBel for the capable manner in which he looked after the CAHA at the congress meetings. "Stood alone on numerous occasions throughout the debates which at times were very trying. I would suggest that Mr. LeBel be considered for some job in the future on the executive of the International Ice Federation."

Gerry Goyer has signed a professional contract with the Seattle Totems of the Pacific Coast League . . . Bobby Hull and other National Hockey League players will collect $1,000, luggage and clothes for their efforts in the Rangers-Bruins junket . . . News story says a Swiss promoter is underwriting the tour. Wonder how he pried the amiable "Bunny" Ahearne away from that jucicy piece of financial fruit . . . Three of the Belleville McFarlands were rinkside spectators at the Dunlops-Vernon game Friday night. "Seen better hockey in the league down home," was the consensus. And we agree . . . There was a unanimous decision in the Canadiens' dressing room after the Friday night victory. No more enthusiasm than there would be at the annual quilting bee at Bobcaygeon, Arkansas.

Wren Blair who has been severely criticized for his criticism of the Vernon Canadians as a team that never ever played against," showed us a telegram from one of the famous Warwick brothers of Penticton, B.C. "I received 1,000 stitches while playing western hockey," said the wire, "and I got them from Vernon Canadians' Ivan Warwick . . . There was nothing dirty about the Friday night game. At times it looked as though the boys were going to apologize for scoring. Tommy Gorman's solo goal was one of the best we have seen since "Red" Berenson dipsydoodled his way through the opposition.

Ike and Helen Hildebrand were there. Ike should run for parliament, he is getting himself such a fine reputation as an after-dinner speaker, relating the humorous side of the Macs while in Europe . . . Sterzyk, Vernon defenceman has a head like a billiard ball. Nary a sign of a hair. Whitby was dubbed him "Billiard Ball" in earlier games. They changed it Friday night to "The Skull" . . . Russ Kowalchuk sat, a lone dejected-looking figure is one of the vast open spaces of Maple Leaf Gardens Friday night. He was benched for some reason or other and we never did get around to seeing Russ . . . Billy Reay with Billy "junior" was in the Gardens press room between periods. Said Billy, "they (the Dunlops) are not the same kind of hockey they played against the Macs . . . Mebbe it's because they don't have to. They certainly lacked fire and drive of league play. At times you could have covered both teams with a horse blanket . . . Even the goalies, Vezina, Dunnies, Go' or the Whitby fans lacked the old enthusiasm.

OHA prexy Cook said in his address that two players were suspended for a year for attacks on referees, while thirty odd suspensions varying from one to eight games were imposed in other cases. He said it may be that more severe penalties will have to be introduced to slow up rough play and players using abusive language. He claimed the OHA referees' schools under chief Referee Pat Patterson had been a success and suggested that in the future coaches and managers be invited to attend these schools . . . The president of the Ontario Baseball Association was on hand and Jack Carson reads this "the best to you, Jack," the man said. The OHA is doing very well financially, thank you. The treasurer's report showed $32,000 in bonds and bank balance of $32,075.

Vernon Blanks Dunlops 3-0; Braves Wallop Petes

Canadians' Goalie Standout In Surprise 4-th Game Win; Pegs' Checking Big Factor

TORONTO (CP) — Whitby Dunlops, many of them former professional hockey players, are getting their stiffest opposition in the Allan Cup finals from a sensational goaltender who has been born out of amateur ranks.

Hal Gordon played a superb game in Vernon Canadians' goal Saturday night to hand Whitby its first shutout in 83 games this season, a 3-0 defeat.

It seems everybody was surprised when Vernon won the game to leave Whitby ahead 3-1 in the best-of-seven series. The small crowd of 3,763 were predominantly Whitby fans who were prepared to celebrate their team's winning of the cup in four straight games.

Wren Blair, Whitby coach, had ordered a bus to take home his team in triumph. George Agar, Vernon's playing coach who didn't play, had made reservations for the Canadians to take his team.

CAHA CAUGHT BY SURPRISE

Blair said the Canadians Amateur Hockey Association had not even bothered to book the fifth game. Later it was set for Wednesday at the gardens.

Everybody seemed to have forgotten the 30 - year - old Gordon who has stopped Senior hockey with four games. A native of Yorkton, Sask., Gordon, 165 pounds, 5-11, with 1,000 shots in the third period and 45 during the game, long John Hendrickson in the Whitby nets stopped 20.

Gordon has been with Vernon five years and twice has been named to the Okanagan Senior Hockey League's all-star team. Before that he was with Kamloops of the same league and he played three seasons with New York Rovers and Atlantic City of the eastern amateur league.

The victory vindicated what Agar called a "key psychological move"—he benched himself for the first time in 90 games this season "to see if they would play better and I could coach better behind the bench."

Agar's lieutenant, Jim Moro and Bill Hyrchuk, still provided the most dangerous rushes by Vernon. Teamed with Sherman Blair, a 35-goal man during the season, the unit scored one goal apiece—and assisted on defenceman Tom Sterzyk's. Merv Sidoski scored the third.

Sterzyk, who played a good game, twice came within inches of scoring another goal.

AGAR JUBILANT

Jubilant Agar said after the game that he was sure "we were too good to go out in four games. Now we still have a chance."

Sidoski said one of the reasons for Vernon's good showing is that the team has finally mastered the Maple Leaf Gardens' rounded corners and keeps the puck behind the net, forcing players to go to the opposite side after shooting into corners.

"We got caught up-ice a lot in the earlier games because of that."

Blair was fit to be tied after the game, slammed at the team in the dressing room that they let the newspapers win the series for them before it was over. Sports writers have been predicting Whitby would win in four games.

"We thought we had it won before it was over. I hope my guys realize now that they can't win a game on what they read and hear.

You know, we underestimated this Vernon club, they played a helluva hockey game."

The Canadians, who lost four goals in the first two games because of penalties, took only five out of nine penalties Saturday night.

Sid Smith, Whitby's playing coach, vowed sadly that he would never make a prediction again.

"Sure I thought we'd take it four straight after winning Friday, but Vern threw through with that stuff from now on. The guys started taking it easy and that's the season over before they won. It's no good—and we just loafed out there. They (Vernon) outhustled us all night."

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Braves returned to the fierce-skating form that won them the Western championship to whip Peterborough Petes 5-2 Sunday and tie the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final at one victory each.

Third game of the Canadian junior hockey championship series is Tuesday night. The teams take tonight off to attend the annual Memorial Cup dinner.

"Forechecking did it," said elated Winnipeg coach Bill Allum after Sunday's win, which followed a 5-4 Peterborough triumph in the opener Friday.

"We're back to playing our king of hockey and forechecking its we did against Flin Flon in the western final. That's all there is."

Yet that hungry is spirit."

LAW OF AVERAGES

Peterborough coach Scotty Bowman admitted the law of averages the reversal of form from the first game, including the law of averages.

"We'd gone six games without missing before this one," he said, "and that's a lot of games.

"It was their third goal that did us. We were trying to catch up and went ahead 3-1, we had to open up and the rest of the game got away from us.

"We haven't been a team-effort all season. Only Bruce Gamble and Tom Thurlby scored for Peterborough.

GOOD CROWD

A crowd of 9,171 watched the speedy Braves leap into a 2-0 lead in the first period and repeat and extend it to 3-1 after the second. They made it 5-1 in the third before Thurlby connected on a blueline shot to wind up the scoring.

The rugged play touched off a series of fights in the Winnipeg end in the third period with Langrell and defenceman Bill Green of Braves tangling with Petes' Chuck Hamilton and Barclay Plager. Plager was assessed match penalties for his part in the mixup and a 10-minute misconduct penalty for drawing a Winnipeg player's stick across the ice. The other combatants received minor penalties.

Braves took 11 of the 20 penalties handed out by referee Lou Corriveau of Quebec City. Only one goal was scored with a man short-handed.

Thurlby's coming with his teammate Pat Casey in the OHA.

DeJordy was brilliant in defeat. After he was beaten by Langrell's deflection of a blueline shot after only 23 seconds of the first period, he turned aside 29 drives, many of them difficult. Braves' Ernie Wakely stopped 18 shots in workmanlike fashion.

Mike Souchak Wins Tourney Of Champions

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —(CP)—In a dramatic finale, big Mike Souchak came through with a five-under 67 Saturday to halt Art Wall Jr. by two strokes and win the rich-prize $50,000 Tournament of Champions.

High winds plagued the golfers and kept all but two scores over par. Despite his year-par performance Saturday, Souchak's 72-hole total was only 281.

Wall had 283 and Gene Littler, 286, for third place. Only Littler and Gary Player of South Africa, best par Saturday with 71s on the 7,075-yard Desert Inn Country Club course.

Tied at 289 were Stan Leonard of Vancouver, last year's winner, Julius Boros and Doug Sanders.

WINS $16,000

Littler won $3,000, Leonard who shot a final-round 73, Sanders who fired a 74 and Boros with a 76 pocketed $1,606 each.

Wall had $25 and with a 72-hole total of 301 and got $1,000.

Each of the golfers in the tournament picked up more than $1,000.

Souchak stood to win at least $12,000 in addition to the official $10,000 prize.

The purse was purchased for $14,500 in the Calcutta auction which preceded the tournament. He was bought by a group headed by Chauncy Needham of San Francisco.

His victory meant $122,500 of the $380,000 auction money would go to the lucky buyers. Souchak said he understood he would get 35 per cent of the winning share.

Auctions of this type are legal in Nevada.

Glenn Davis Breaks Record To Grab Win From Dave Mills

DES MOINES, Iowa (CP)—U.S. Olympic champion Glenn Davis, Ohio's gift to mankind, born Dave Mills Saturday but had to break a record to do it.

Davis, 400 - yard world record holder, smashed the Drake relays special AAU quarter mile mark with a 45.7 clocking as he defeated Mills by about four yards in the "dream race" before 16,000 fans.

The 19-year-old Mills, who was born at Glenville, raised at Galion and now is a freshman at Purdue University, had twice beaten Davis, Mills in the U.S. Olympic champion by five yards as he won the 400-metre and 800-yard dash events in the Ohio meet a week previous.

The second event in the Ohio meet was a sensational race with the two runners matching strides until Mills stared a terrific drive and pulled away at the finish.

As a result, Saturday's race here was billed as a dream race. Davis, whose world record is 45.7 for the 440, shattered the special race mark of :45.7 set in the Drake relays in 1934 by Ohio's Eric Wilson.

William Atterberry, East Lansing, Mich., was third and sprinting champion Bobby Morrow of Abilene, Tex., was fourth.

Mills was not exactly unheralded in his rise to stardom. He broke the 14-5 schoolboy 440 record last spring with a :46.4 mark—better than Davis' winning time Saturday.

Jack Smyth of Winnipeg, a student at University of Houston, placed second in the hop, step and jump with a leap of 48 feet 10¾ inches, compared with the winning distance of 49 feet ½ inch

Oriole Hitters Get Credit For Surge Into Second Spot; Dodgers Take Over Top Rung

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Now all bench-warming Duke Snider has to do is give Los Angeles a "play me or trade me" ultimatum and the Dodgers may make first place in the National League their permanent home.

They took over the top rung Sunday by defeating St. Louis Cardinals in a football score, 17-11, while Cincinnati was edging Milwaukee Braves in a pitchers' duel—14 of 'em—11-10.

Charlie Neal had a perfect five-for-five and Gil Hodges drove in five runs but another pair of Dodgers also contributed greatly.

You may remember that Don Zimmer, thinking he was being sidetracked for the regular shortstop berth at the start of the season, asked the Dodgers to play him or trade him. His three-run homer Sunday featured a five-run third inning that routed starter Vinegar Bend Mizell.

Only last week Carl Furillo, irked at being benched, made a similar demand. Returned to action Sunday, he whacked four hits and drove in three runs to assure rookie Gene Snyder of his first major league triumph.

SNIDER'S TURN

The veteran Snider, who has been the bell-cow in past Dodger pennant drives, has been sitting on the bench with Don Demeter taking over his centre field position.

San Francisco Giants climbed into a virtual tie with Milwaukee for second place, a half game behind the Dodgers, by defeating Chicago Cubs 3-2. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia split a doubleheader, the Pirates winning the opener 9-2 and the Phils taking the second 10-4.

In Saturday action George Crowe's eight-inning homer lifted the Cardinals to a 6-5 decision over the Dodgers. Bob Anderson won his second straight for the Cubs in Chicago's 5-3 victory over San Francisco.

Pittsburgh made it four of their last five as Harvey Haddix scattered seven hits for a 4-2 triumph over the Phillies while Cincinnati gained a 7-6 win from the Braves.

Manager Mayo Smith and his Reds accomplished something no Cincinnati team has been able to do since September of 1956 in beating the Braves for the second straight time—and for the second straight day the loser was Warren Spahn.

TEMPLE BRILLIANT

Johnny Temple, whose three-run homer caused Spahn's downfall Saturday, again was the brilliant southpaw's nemesis. With the score tied 10-10 in the ninth and Spahn working in relief Temple doubled for his fourth hit. He moved to third on Eddie Pinson's safe bunt and scored the winning run on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly.

Spahn was the Braves' sixth pitcher. Cincinnati used eight with Bob Purkey the winner, and eight pitchers for one club and 14 in two equalled a major league record.

Jack Sanford hurled a four-hitter against the Cubs for his third Giant victory. Glen Hobbie was the loser.

Dave Philley, subbing at first base for the ailing Ed Bouchee, drove in five runs with a home run for the Phillies. Pittsburgh won the opener with the aid of a six-run third inning against loser Don Cardwell and Jim Hearn, with Dick Groat smashing a grand slam homer off Hearn.

Baltimore Orioles, their—sheets expanded by four straight triumphs over New York Yankees, are only a game out of first place in the American League today and manager Paul Richards can give thanks to his prized pinch hitters.

Four of Richards' emergency batters came through Sunday to help the Orioles sweep a doubleheader from the Yankees 5-4 and 3-2. The two defeats dropped Casey Stengel's world champs into the second division for the first time in four years.

In 14 games this year, Baltimore pinch hitters have contributed 18 hits in 35 official times at bat. That's a .429 batting mark. They've also drawn eight walks, hit one sacrifice fly, one sacrifice bunt, and driven in eight runs. It's not surprising that the Orioles have won nine and lost only five.

Chicago White Sox stunned Cleveland three times—5-4 Saturday and 4-3 and 3-2 Sunday—trimming the Indians' first-place margin to only one game. Vet-erans Early Wynn and Billy Pierce were the winning pitchers as the White Sox remained in a second-place tie with the Orioles.

OVERTAKE THE YANKS

Kansas City moved past New York into fourth place with a 4-3 triumph over Detroit Tigers, who dropped their sixth in a row and their 12th in 13 games. Washington made it two in a row over Boston, winning 5-4 on homers by Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon.

Ninth - inning blues again chopped down Cleveland Saturday. Chicago, trailing 5-3, came up with five runs although pinch hitter Earl Torgeson's two - on homer was their only hit. Reliever Dick Stuart's two was the loser and Turk Lown won.

Elsewhere Saturday, Baltimore nipped the Yankees 2-1 in 11 innings on Chuck Estrada's pinch single. It drove in rookie Willie Tasby, who had doubled, to win for Billy Loes. Lonnie Richardson took the loss.

Washington coasted over Boston, 8-4, on five first-inning runs and the Tigers ran afoul of Dick Tomanek for relief pitching to bow 8-7 to Kansas City.

Ninth-inning rallies were responsible for both Baltimore's Sunday victories. Trailing 4-3, the Orioles scored twice in the ninth of the opener. Pinch hitter Jim Fridley's single scored the tying run and Brooks Robinson's single then scored Fridley.

Whitey Ford, who had taken over in the ninth, was the victim. The teams set a major league record by using 10 pinch hitters.

ONLY FIVE HITS

Hoyt Wilhelm permitted the Yankees only five hits in the nightcap, outpitching Duke Maas. Robinson's leadoff double in the ninth, followed by an infield out and Billy Klaus' sacrifice fly, won the game.

Chicago pitchers Wynn and Pierce helped their own cause against Cleveland Sunday with important base hits. Wynn doubled home two of his team's six runs in the fifth inning of the opener. Pierce allowed the Indians eight hits in the nightcap and got three himself, driving in two runs.

Bob Cerv clouted his second three-run homer in two days to give Kansas City's Bob Grim his third victory against one defeat. The Tigers collected 18 hits but left 15 on base.

Bill Fischer won his first game for Washington. The only run he allowed was unearned in the ninth after he had extended his shutout streak to 18 innings. He hurled 10 scoreless innings against the Yankees in his most recent outing.

MUFFLERS CAN BE DANGEROUS

A burned out muffler or a corroded exhaust pipe is not only noisy but dangerous. When these conditions exist you run the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning — especially during winter driving with closed windows.

Do suspicious of any hissing sound or deep throated roaring when you accelerate the motor. Better still, get beneath the car and examine the exhaust system for holes or heavy rust areas.

Western Boxers Win Over East

TORONTO (CP) — Al Chabot, 17-year-old bantamweight from Lumby, B.C., led a contingent of west coast boxers into the Canadian amateur boxing finals as he won a decision over Norm Hickey of Toronto in the championship preliminaries Saturday night.

It was the fourth win in five senior starts for Chabot who won the recent Vancouver Golden Gloves tournament.

Six of the winners of tonight's finals are to be named as Canada's boxing team for the Pan American Games in Chicago this summer.

Lindy Lindmoser, 25, of Vancouver, former United States open light heavyweight champ, decisioned Manish Quinney of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Only loser from B.C. was Bob Campbell of Vancouver who was decisioned by Gord Mullins of Toronto. Mullins gained a spot in the welterweight final by taking a close decision over Earl St. Louis, a Canadian Army private from Renfrew.

Don Archer of Calgary decisioned Gord Legault of Blind River in a welterweight bout.

Other results included:

Heavyweight: B. Lynch, Calgary, scored a TKO over G. Prawl of Little Lake at 2:00 of the second round of a scheduled three-round bout.

Lightweight: Pte. N. E. Cromwell, Yarmouth, N.S., decisioned Grant Neville, Oshawa.

Light welterweight: C. Lagonte, Quebec, decisioned Wally Nix, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Welterweight: St. Louis decisioned Peter Lopez of Niagara Falls, Ont.; Legault decisioned Bruce Clark, Orillia.

Semi-final:

Light Welterweight: Al Quinney, Niagara Falls, Ont., decisioned Charlie Smallface, Cardston, Alta.

Hunters Bag Four Tons Of Rattlers

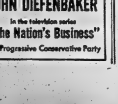
OKEENE, Okla. (AP) — This little northwest Oklahoma town sounded like a giant baby rattle Sunday as 1,000 hunters brought in more than four tons of rattlesnakes from nearby Gypsum Hills.

They were taking part in the annual rattlesnake round up sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The snakes sold alive for 50 cents a pound. Some hunters made their trip pay. C. L. Shotkoss of Longdale, Okla., sacked 445 snakes weighing a total of more than 700 pounds. Bill Allen of Okeene grabbed the longest rattler — a diamond back 73½ inches long.

Ranchers encourage the annual hunt because it results in saving many cattle from snakebite.

Only three persons were bitten and all were reported recovering. Their orders automatically entitled them to membership to the Order of the White Fang.



Some snakes are kept for exhibition. Others go to laboratories for snake venom or canning plants for rattlesnake meat.

SIGN TWO

EDMONTON (CP)—The WIFU Edmonton Eskimos have signed import Freddy Meyers and Canadian guard Roy Stevenson. Meyers, 26, a native of Enid, Okla., will try for an end position. He falled a year ago to make the club as quarterback. Stevenson, 27, a native of Drumbo, Ont., is a graduate of the universities of Toronto and Alberta.

One complete show will be presented tonight and Tuesday, beginning at 7.30.

Rangers, Bruins Leave Today For Europe

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League were scheduled to depart for Europe today where they will play 23 exhibition games in six countries against New York Rangers.

The Bruins planned to leave with the entire squad plus farmhands Dick Meissner and Don Brodie, a member of Whitby Dunlops. The group also included Bill Sterndren George Hayes and Bill Merrison.

The first game will be played Wednesday night at London's Wembley Stadium.

According to NHL rules, the Rangers will travel in a different plane from New York with referee Red Storey accompanying them. Storey resigned recently as an NHL referee.

Four members of Chicago Black Hawks also will be with Rangers — Ed Litenberger, Pierre Pilote, Bobby Hull and Eric Nesterenko.

After two contests in London, the players will compete in Geneva, Paris, Antwerp, Zurich, Essen, Dortmund, Krefeld, Berlin and Vienna.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Monday, April 27, 1959

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Give special attention in A.M. to matters of credit and keeping prestige intact. Also, be certain you avoid any altercation at residence and relegate to the background any problematical affairs in that realm of your existence.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Particular care must be exercised while out driving today, else an accident could easily occur. Nonetheless, it is a good day for seeking the data you need that will open new vistas of accomplishment for you. Work methodically.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Argument with close tie concerning material matters would have dire results today for both. It is better you get the ideas and suggestions for authority as to how to conduct affairs in abundance. P.M. be romantically inclined.

Moon Children (June 22 to Jul 21) — Once more it behooves you now to concentrate on assisting other persons and helping them gain their hopes and wishes, for the rewards will be great in the future. Obey all laws governing your life. P.M. be with dynamic and farseeing friend.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Excellent day to impress right people with your efficiency at work and put aside what is unimportant to concentrate on the important. In this fashion you can forget private worry and labor constructively toward some cherished goal.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Steer clear of upset comrade who endeavors to get you to do something which you feel is not right and would be very bad for everyone concerned. Join forces instead with happy and congenial mate for creative purposes. Expand.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Learn what it is your family activities desire that will help them to succeed and do your best to give it to them. Avoid that executive who is not in a good mood right now. Be magnanimous.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You will find it relatively easy to make those calls today, whether business or social, that have been impossible in the recent past. However steer clear of a person who appears fascinating but is actually not worthwhile at all.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Forget your inclination have a good time at all costs

The Quinte Reports

News of Your Local Sea Cadet Corps

Plans have been drawn up for the demonstration and display which the local Sea Cadets will put on for their annual inspection on the 31st of May. The officers of the "Quinte" spent some time after parade last Thursday discussing the possibilities of various facets of the issue for the inspecting officer and his party.

The past two parades have been utilized in getting the smaller boats out of storage, cleaned, and varnished by the local corps, Rigging and sails for the dinghies have been inspected and necessary repairs or replacements are now underway. This Sunday the cutter was brought out of storage and preliminary preparations to make it ready for the coming season have been started.

A precision drill squad has been undergoing training during the past two parades with W.O. 2 Bennett of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment acting as special instructor. A noticeable improvement has been made even during this short time. The precision squad, or guard as it is better known, will be putting on a special display at the annual inspection.

Special target practices have been held in order to give as many cadets as possible a chance to earn the Marksman's Badge before the inspection. Eight cadets have qualified now and about five more are expected to shoot their required score within the next few target practices takes place on the indoor range at the Hasty Pee's armouries on Bridge Street East.

The annual shipment of surveyed equipment has been received by the committee. The "Quinte's" Supply Officer, Midshipman R. Davis, with the assistance of Able Cadets Al Soldier and Art Horn. This expected to be sent to Area Headquarters within the next few days.

Sub-Lieutenant Douglas Bailey has been giving instruction to a special group of cadets in sailing. The two Morse signal lamps have been overhauled and refinished for use in the annual inspection.

NEW CADET OPENINGS

Following a careful scrutiny of the present roster of the corps it has been decided that a limited number of additions to the ranks of the "Quinte" will be allowed before the annual inspection. There are openings available for fifteen new cadets. A prospective cadet must be between the ages of 14 and 17, in good physical health, and at least 5'1" in height. Interested boys may find out more about the corps by attending the Tuesday parade in the Armouries at 7.15 p.m. or the Thursday parade in the RCSCC "Quinte" barracks, on South Front Street (just north of the Imperial Oil storage yards), at the same time.

Starting this Sunday the barracks will be open every Sunday between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 in the afternoon for the cadets to take up their sailing activities for the summer. Other summer activities that are proposed include formation of a baseball team and rifle team.

CBC COMMITTEE

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC Montreal producers' strike and the question of second television stations in major cities are two probable topics for discussion in the Commons broadcasting committee. Revenue Minister Nowlan, who reports to parliament on broadcasting, gave formal notice Friday of a resolution proposing the establishment of such a committee. The committee would "consider radio and television broadcasting" along with the CBC annual report, the operations, policies, aims, expenditures, revenues and development.

MADOC — Rt. Wor. Bro. F. Creeggan, D.D.G.M. of Prince Edward District, paid his official visit to Madoc Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 46 on Monday evening. A banquet attended by 85 members and visitors was held in his honor.

Head table guests were — D.D.G.M. Creeggan, Wr. Bro. M. R. Davidson, district secretary; Wor. Bro. J. F. Mastine, district chaplain; Rt Wor. Bro. Raymond Carmichal, Rt. Wor. Bro. Pringle, Rt. Wor. Bro. George West and Rt. Wor. Bro. W. Conner.

R. F. Dafoe, Wor. Master of Madoc Lodge, was chairman.

Following the invocation by Rev. R. Milley, dinner music was furnished by Miss Lamoine West.

The toast to Grand Lodge was proposed by Very Wor. Bro. E. T. Naylee and responded to by D.D.G.M. Rt. Wor. Bro. Creeggan.

Wor. Bro. K. Kincaid proposed the toast to the visiting brethren was responded to by Rt. Wor. Bro. R. Gunsolus.

Miss West was also thanked on behalf of all present by Bro. Rayburn McCoy. Bro. W. Derry thanked the cooks of the ladies who served the dinner, Mrs. Beverly Keller, Pattie Hurst replied on behalf of the members.

Following the banquet, lodge was opened and the first degree conferred on a candidate after which Wor. Bro. F. Dafoe briefly congratulating the members on the excellent work which work had been presented.

Short addresses by several visitors brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

GRANT FOR QUEEN'S

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal health grant of $10,500 has been awarded Queen's University for use in the study of the blood condition caused by lack of oxygen in newborn and unborn children — it was announced today.

2nd Sidney

2nd SIDNEY — Mrs. Earl Brooks and Mrs. Fred Meyers spent Thursday with their friend Mrs. Clayton Curtis.

Mrs. W. Hart and Mrs. A. Meyers called on Mrs. Sarah Acker on Thursday afternoon. They found this grand old lady very well. She would never think she was 93 years old on Monday. Twenty-eight of her friends and relatives had supper with her on Sunday and more called on her on Monday.

Mrs. Geert Vanschepen spent a day recently with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Westerhof of Bowmanville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hess of Trenton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hamilton on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Holmes nee Pooti are the proud parents of a baby daughter, Cheri Louise born on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pearson and Linda of Trenton spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patrick of Frankford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. McCormack on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reid called on their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lindsay of Picton, on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Cecil Harry spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Alva Meyers and Arnold.

The lovely ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lohnes burned down on Friday night.

There was no loss of life for which they were thankful. Ruby Lohnes was out for the evening. Her father is working in Ottawa and her mother and young brother were in bed at the time of the fire.

A taxi-driver going by woke them.

On Saturday and Sunday all the neighborhood turned out to help clean up and on Monday they started to rebuild with lots of offers to help for Mr. Lohnes. There was no lack of accommodation for these unfortunate people.

The house and contents were insured.

Mr. and Mrs. Lohnes are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Curtis.

URGES NEIGHBORLINESS

HAMILTON (CP) — Immigration Minister Fairclough urged Canadians to treat immigrants to this country as their neighbors. Speaking to the Canadian Physiotherapy Congress Sunday night, she said Canadians often lose sight of the fact that newcomers are more than statistics, more than consumers or producers or importers of capital.

7,000 Names On Petition For Dr. Lockhart

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. William Lockhart, principal of United College, Friday night was presented with a petition bearing 7,000 names urging him to remain as head of the institution.

He has announced his resignation, effective Aug. 31, as the result of a dispute with Prof. Harry Crowe.

The petition was circulated among members of the United Church Manitoba conference by a committee headed by Dr. Andrew Moore, a Winnipeg school trustee.

Dr. Lockhart said Friday night he would make no statement on whether he would reconsider his resignation.

The dispute revolved around a personal letter Prof. Crowe had sent to a student. It was converted into the hands of college authorities. The contents of the letter were never made public.

Prof. Crowe was dismissed but later reinstated. He also has announced his resignation, effective Aug. 31.

Dr. Lockhart, 53, came to the college in 1955 after serving as minister of Kingsway-Lambton United Church in Toronto.

Besides Dr. Lockhart and Prof. Crowe, 18 other members of the college faculty have indicated they will leave at the end of the academic year.

PLAINFIELD

Hold Party For Couple 29 Years Wed

PLAINFIELD — A large number of relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at Plainfield Hall on Saturday night to honor Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morgan on the occasion of their 29th wedding anniversary.

Guests were present from Toronto, Kingston, Arden, Harrowsmith, Stirling, Picton, Derland, and Belleville.

They were presented with a chrome table and six chairs.

Cards were enjoyed for a while; then dancing to an orchestra until midnight, after which a lovely lunch was enjoyed by all.

LADY BEVERIDGE DIES

HEXHAM England (Reuters)—Lady Beveridge, 82, wife of Lord Beveridge, the "father" of Britain's welfare state projects, died in hospital Saturday. Married in 1942, she received the Order of the British Empire after the First World War for her work in the preparation and administration of a plan for food distribution. Lord Beveridge, 81, is vice-president of the Liberal party.

Panama Charges Cuban Hired To Invade Land

Appeal Made for Help From American States

PANAMA CITY (AP) — Panama charged Monday night that 300 or more Cubans hired by Panamanian revolutionaries are preparing to invade this Central American republic.

The government of President Ernesto de la Guardia appealed to the other American states for help.

Minister of government Jose D. Bazan told the National Assembly that two or three more invasion attacks are being prepared in Cuba to bring to "about 600 the number of Cubans attempting to invade Panama."

Bazan indicated his information came from three captured members of a band of 86—including four Panamanians and 82 Cubans — who landed inside Cuba in the jungle of Panama's east coast Monday.

MOVE TOWARD PANAMA

Three were drowned in the landing, and the government claimed it was keeping a close air and sea watch on the remaining invaders moving by land. The invaders were reported moving slowly toward Panama City, more than 50 miles away.

Bazan said the main body of the invaders had occupied and sacked the town of Puerto Obaldia Monday after an advance of 35 miles along the coast. He gave no indication of the fate of the police, or people, but said National Guard troops were patrolling off the coast of the area.

Nombre de Dios is a town of about 1,000, a hillbound port on the port of entry for Spaniards coming to the colony. It is 50 miles northeast of Colon, the Caribbean terminus of the Panama canal, and 30 miles west of the capital.

Both the Panamanian and Cuban governments were trying to get the invaders to surrender without a fight. Cuban premier Fidel Castro's Cuban Army arrived early Monday from Havana to try to talk to the invaders. The Cuban charge d'affaires and the Panamanian government appealed by air-dropped leaflets.

One major skirmish was reported Monday, between national guardsmen by land and by plane and the invasion forces on the beach. The government said casualties were inflicted on the Cuban bos but that none of the guard was hit.

An emergency meeting of the 21 members of the Organization of American States was called for day in Washington to consider Panama's appeal for support in "resisting a foreign invasion." Panamanian Foreign Minister Miguel Moreno said the OAS might fly a group down to study the situation.

June 11 Appears Likeliest Date For Election

TORONTO (CP) — June 11 now appears to be the likeliest date for an Ontario general election.

June 4 went by the boards with no announcement from Premier Frost Monday — 37 days are required between the issuing of election writs and balloting.

A June 11 election would permit the premier to announce it next Monday, 10th anniversary of his term in office.

"I wouldn't argue with you," a senior cabinet minister said when asked about June 11.

Observers look for a Monday announcement because it means a Thursday election day — two general elections and 17 by-elections have been called on Thursdays during Premier Frost's ten years in office.

Little chance is seen of any announcement in the weeks following May 4 because it would mean an election too close to the Royal Visit.

A fall election remains a possibility — the legislature's current five-year term doesn't expire until the spring of 1960.

All three major parties are geared for an early vote with a total of 148 candidates already nominated. The Conservatives have 45, Liberals 45, and CCF 49. The Communist Labor-Progressive party has eight and there's one independent Conservative.

Standings in the legislature are: Conservatives 81, Liberals 11, CCF 3, vacant 1.

Two Men Perish As Inn Burns At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) —Two men were burned to death early today when fire swept through the Red Canoe Inn on Highway 8 near Chippawa.

The victims were identified as Nick Romanelli, 58-year-old widower who was employed as a chef and Frank Pascuzzo, 45, a janitor whose wife resides in Italy.

Their rooms were on the second floor of the inn. Hotel owner James Briand escaped from his room on the same floor, rushed to a home across the road and sounded the alarm.

Walter Ivraglione, 53, also escaped. He was admitted to the Greater Niagara General Hospital with extensive burns. There were no guests at the hotel when the fire broke out at about 4 a.m.

The fire destroyed the interior of the 2½-year-old hotel, patterned after English pubs and made of plaster and w ood.

PLANE HIJACKED

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban airliner was hijacked to Varadero Beach, Cuba, and diverted here Saturday night by four of its 32 passengers. The two men and two women were detained by U.S. immigration authorities after the men voluntarily turned over two pistols.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Rain spread into southwestern Ontario today in advance of a small but vigorous storm moving from Manitoba. The precipitation has arrows across the lower lakes today, snsetting weather will extend into all of Southern Ontario, reaching as far north as Georgian Bay and Bellewood.

Another area of low pressure will bring increasing cloudiness followed by a few showers in Northern Ontario. Wednesday will see at least partial clearing in all parts of Ontario.

'SALTIES' POURING THROUGH SEAWAY AFTER OPENING

Expect Congestion At Toronto Harbor

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The "saltie" are pouring through the St. Lawrence Seaway, easing congestion at Montreal, but the mixture of consternation and rejoicing in the lower Great Lakes harbors.

Some three ships an hour were pouring into the 183-mile, $470,000,000 seaway, opened Saturday at Montreal. Sixty or more ocean ships—called "salties" by lake seamen—and inland ships were expected to be in transit today. The port of Toronto the first major ship to arrive since the canal opened was greeted early Sunday. Dock officials expected some congestion by the end of the week as ships begin arriving to the canal.

The Prinz Willem George Frederik of the Netherlands Oranje line was the first of five ocean ships to arrive at Toronto.

SAYS SPACE NEEDED

The Frederik's Capt. Steve Aaldijk, guest at a luncheon where he said Toronto needs more berthing space to be a good seaport. Harbor authorities said later the city had 3,000 feet of dock space, almost all suitable for ocean ships.

Capt. Aaldijk nevertheless expressed anxiety over the crush of ships for the lakes.

The other ocean ships which arrived Monday at Toronto were the Norwegian ship Lukefjell and the Norwegian ship Lakatelin.

CSL's Beaverton and Batileford shipped in almost unnoticed, carrying grain.

FEAR WORK LOSS

Meanwhile, fears were expressed at Port Colborne at the Lake Erie end of the Welland Canal that the seaway may have an adverse effect on the national harbors board grain elevators there. The season's first lake ships would discharge grain there for transfer to ocean vessels. Bypassing of the elevators now are headed for ports from Kingston to Quebec City.

The 350-foot bulk carrier Ralph Misener Lee was the first lake boat to load from Port Colborne, the largest lake ship to reach the port this year.

The biggest lake ships, such as the Canadian Enterprise and Hochelaga, all owned by Canada Steamship Lines, are too big to get berthed at harbors in lower Lake Ontario waiting for seaway traffic to increase.

Authorities at Montreal say it will be a few weeks before seaway traffic is normal. Twenty-

Provinces Have Right to Permit Sunday Sport Supreme Court Rules

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today that the legislature of British Columbia has under the federal Lord's Day Act to permit commercial Sunday sport within the province's boundaries.

The court, in a unanimous decision, dismissed an appeal by the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada which had sought to have quashed British Columbia legislation passed in 1958. This legislation empowered the city of Vancouver to allow commercial sport on Sunday, between 1:30 and 6 p.m.

The alliance's main argument was that regulation of Sunday sport, for which "admission is charged and competitive sport" is a matter wholly within federal jurisdiction because it involved criminal law.

The alliance also argued that the legislature had no competence in within federal and not provincial jurisdiction.

The alliance's appeal against the B.C. legislation was heard by the court Feb. 25-26.

Senator J. W. de B. Farris, counsel for the alliance of Vancouver argued that Sunday observance involves civil rights and that a province therefore can legislate in that field.

He also said that in establishing the Lord's Day Act, Parliament included a condition that it was to be applicable in provinces that set up their own legislation.

W. R. Jackett, federal deputy justice minister, maintained that the B.C. legislature has the right to legislate on matters concerning Sunday observance within its boundaries.

Last Jan. 27 the Supreme Court freed the CBC of any limitation on broadcasting on its Sunday broadcasting activities by terms of the Lord's Day Act.

The court at that time upheld the publicly-owned corporation's appeal against Ontario court decision that the CBC could be prosecuted for breach of the act, passed by Parliament more than 50 years ago to ensure observance of Sunday.

During the Sunday sports case, Supreme Lawyer D. W. Brewin, counsel for the alliance, argued that commercialized Sunday sport since Confederation had been within the "domain" of criminal law and that it was beyond provincial jurisdiction.

He argued that "there is no such thing" as a criminal law domain as a province's Lord's Day Act prohibiting some action and providing consequences for contravention. Both, he said, could be construed as criminal law.

Ontario and Quebec were especially interested in the case as they both have legislation regulating Sunday sport.

Commercial sport on Sunday is prohibited in Ontario on a local - option basis and among centres where it has been approved are Toronto, Windsor and Cornwall.

Men Dominate First Day Of Liberal Women's Meeting

WINNIPEG (CP) — The men did the talking Monday and the women listened.

The scene: The annual convention of the National Federation of Liberal Women of Canada.

William Benidickson, Liberal financial critic in the House of Commons, said spending more money was a habit of the Progressive Conservatives, George Marler, executive vice-president of the National Liberal Federation, said it is "almost unbelievable" spending had increased by $950,000,000 since the Conservatives returned power in 1957.

National Leader Lester B. Pearson was to deliver the main address today.

Mr. Benidickson, member for Kenora - Rainy River, told a luncheon meeting the Conservatives in 20 years of government spending had produced a surplus of more than $1,000,000.

"In all other years they have added immeasurably to the public debt.

"This is an incredible fact. The Conservative government is the most expensive in history.

"One thing can be said for Finance Minister Donald Fleming. He does not suffer from sycophobia—fear of heights.

"He has provided enough record highs in spending, tax takes, peace-time deficits and borrowing and interest rates for a generation."

Mr. Benidickson said Premier Leslie Frost would like to hold an election in June, "but he is scared to after the recent inconsistent blows from Ottawa."

"There was the brutal fumbling over the Arrow; the reduced interest paid on Ontario Farmers; the abseace of a tax-sharing formula.

"Mr. Frost is a very worried man."

About 250 delegates from all parts of Canada heard Mr. Marler accuse Prime Minister Diefenbaker of failing "lamentably" in standing by his election promises.

The government's spending increased by $950,000,000 since 1957 on "not just social security, not only in the provinces," Mr. Marler said "very little of the increase is accounted for by unemployment."

Twice during the day delegates divided into study groups, to discuss "Canada and Peace Diplomacy" and Security ad Freedom. Conclusions reached by the panel groups will be presented later in the convention.

Communist Poland Settling Back Into Old Moscow Line

Editor's note: Stanley Johnson, AP correspondent in Poland, recently left Warsaw on vacation. He tells here the shifting of Polish politics back toward conformity with ideas of the Kremlin.

BY STANLEY JOHNSON

LONDON (AP) — Communist Poland, which rollicked joyfully for almost two years after the uprising of 1956, is gradually settling back into conformity with Moscow's line.

But Communist chief Wladyslaw Gomulka and his aides are directing the process so subtly that there's little drama in the change.

One result is that Poland is no longer a big story.

The flood of reporters who filed out of Poland previously has slowed to a trickle. After the almost newsless third congress of the United Workers' (Communist) party in Warsaw in March, it is doubtful if there will be another large influx.

A year ago a speech by Gomulka was often top news; today he merely echoes what Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said.

Of all the Communist-bloc countries, Poland is still the most liberal and the most desirous of close ties with the West, its policies of peasant land ownership, live-and-let-live with the Roman Catholic Church and relative intellectual freedom continue.

But fear is creeping in.

Some Poles who have had close contacts with foreigners are getting new jobs far from Warsaw. Others are being harried by the authorities with special devices to put microphones and a tap in many rooms, and telephone lines are tapped.

Airmailed letters from New York, which could arrive in Warsaw 48 hours, take from 20 to 30 days to reach Western correspondents. "Spies, news or instructions are not dangerous," an official remarked.

There is no direct censorship of news going abroad.

But coverage is increasingly difficult as those precariously holding their jobs become increasingly reluctant to take the responsibility for telling a Western correspondent.

Living conditions improve every month. But a Pole returned to me after listening to congress speeches on how much better things are.

"Better, better, always better this year, better than last year. Is it good?"

The confusing element in the Polish news situation is a group of men called "oilers."

Every time a high Polish official makes a strong anti-Western statement, the oilers rise to it among diplomats and correspondents to explain that the statement was intended only to please "our friends in the Socialist camp," and shouldn't be taken too seriously.

"Whom does one believe?

The only answer seems to be to treat each case on its merits, relying on the general context of the situation at the moment for guidance.

MONETARY POLICY OF GOVERNMENT DEBATE SUBJECT

Fostering Inflation Says Opposition

OTTAWA (CP) — Government mishandling of the national debt and money supply to foster inflation, says the Commons opposition, and Finance Minister Fleming has countered that their "destructive" criticism is pillorying Canada's credit.

A debate about bonds, interest rates, debt, new money and related financial topics dominated Commons proceedings Monday in the wake of a Liberal non-confidence motion.

Sponsor George McIlraith (L—Ottawa West) said "ill-conceived and irresponsible" government actions had nourished inflation, which "pure and simple" was the bedrock of government monetary policy.

Finance Minister Fleming had "failed miserably" to evolve sound policy, he said in presenting the five-point non-confidence motion. Debate on it continues today.

NO IDEAS OFFERED

Mr. Fleming, who had tried to get the Liberal motion ruled out of order on grounds it duplicated topics in the Throne Speech debate, replied that not "one single inkling" had been given of how the Liberals would meet the problems concerned.

The opposition had magnified and exaggerated the existing problems out of all proportion to the facts, Mr. Fleming said. It would assist Canadian credit or by-election tests her problems on better terms.

Mr. McIlraith's motion spelled out these criticisms:

"The conversion last year of $6,400,000,000 worth of Victory Bonds had been directly inflationary despite claims to the contrary by the Bank of Canada's interest rate was at a record 4.57 per cent; the largest expansion in the country's money supply since the Second World War occurred; there were record expenses in public debt interest charges, and the increase of $629,500,000 in the last fiscal year in public debt was due to no peacetime, leading to a total of $11,685,800,000 at March 31.

REJECTS CCF MOTION

Speaker Roland Michener ruled out a CCF motion as amendment to the Liberal motion which sought to express regret that the government had not assumed full control of credit facilities. The CCF motion had been moved and seconded by the Liberal motion.

Mr. Fleming said the Liberal plan said the effects of the government's bond conversion program will be felt in the next generation. It will be felt in the total cost over the next couple of decades in the interest payments and its effect on the cost of municipal and other borrowing which would make the cost of building a government printing bureau equal only to the cost of building a Montreal.

"Truly this government's greed for cash is insatiable," he said.

CGE Will Design Nuclear Station For Arctic Use

To Use Organic Liquid Instead of Heavy Water

OTTAWA (CP)—Atomic Energy of Canada Limited has awarded a $600,000 contract to Canadian General Electric Company Limited for the design study and development of a new-type nuclear power station suitable for use in the Canadian Arctic.

The Crown-owned company which operates Canada's atomic establishment at Chalk River, Ont., 135 miles northwest of Ottawa, will co-operate in the project. Known by the code name OCDRE — organic-cooled, deuterium-moderated reactor experiment.

The announcement means that Canada is using two types of approaches in an attempt to develop power plants which will produce electricity as cheaply as coal-burning thermal stations.

Up to now the Chalk River establishment has been concentrating on what is known as a natural uranium-heavy water reactor. In the new approach an organic liquid, rather than heavy water, will be used to transfer heat from the uranium fuel to the steam generators.

USES URANIUM

However, heavy water still will be used as the moderator or control agent in the fuel with natural uranium, of which Canada has abundant supplies. The moderator makes the atomic fission process possible.

There has been a growing interest in the use of organic liquids and synthetic materials to cut about 40 cents a pound, compared with $28 a pound for heavy water, in the cost of nuclear fuel.

"A nuclear power station using an organic coolant might be built in such locations, much work must be done in investigating new design problems and studying new materials and fuel costs.

The organic liquid proposed for OCDRE is a mixture of oil-like substances called terphenyls.

They consist of hydrogen and carbon atoms linked together.

The picture was among those accepted by the Queen.

Mr. McKague said he believed there was a chance she had letter but she accepted both the color and the subject while examining the picture. And "it caused the most talk" in palace circle.

He said the Queen on the day stay in the palace was a "delightful experience" and "24½ hours in which to take his pictures and had carefully selected the scenes and places beforehand. He said there was no question from the Queen or suggestion about the poses or locations he picked.

The picture, taken for ten years since being discharged from the Canadian Army, Mr. McKague was chosen by the government from a list of Canadian photographers.

He studied portrait painting before turning to photography.

Been out about two years, he says, he came to Toronto while very young. He is married and has a two-year-old son.

Labor Minister Trying to Avert Firemen's Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr and his advisers today resumed talks with the disputants in an effort to avert the CNR firemen's strike scheduled for May 1.

Before the talks resumed at 9 a.m. EDT, neither Mr. Starr nor CNR President Donald Gordon had anything to say.

But when union chief W. E. Gamble was asked whether there was any chance of a settlement being reached today, he replied:

"Your guess is as good as mine."

Day-long talks ended Monday without any official statement indicating progress. Discussions were to resume today at 9 a.m.

In Mr. Starr's East-Block office, a conference room had been set up between Mr. Starr and CNR President Donald Gordon and W. E. Gamble, Canadian vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC).

The strike by approximately 5,000 firemen was called by the union after the publicly-owned railway announced its decision to begin gradual elimination of firemen on freight and yard diesel locomotives effective May 1.

"We have been getting some proposals from both sides," Mr. Starr told reporters Monday night. He would not say what proposals had been made, and would not express an opinion as to whether there had been progress.

SETTLE WITH ENGINEERS

Meanwhile the labor department announced settlement of a dispute between the CNR and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (Ind.) in the central and Montreal districts. Some 2,200 employees are involved.

A settlement had been reached earlier in the western region.

Remi Duquette, federal mediator, reported the settlement includes a 9.3-per-cent wage increase effective on April 1. Two days later, on April 3, 1958, three per cent March 1, 1959, three per cent March 1, and 1.5 per cent May 1, 1960.

The engineers had requested a 21-per-cent increase.

6 White Youths Arrested After Negroes Injured

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Six white Richmond youths have been arrested in connection with the Washington wounding of six Negro teen-agers which grew out of an automobile - racing incident Sunday night.

Police said each of those arrested, Gerald Kenney, 17, was charged Monday with felonious assault with a deadly weapon for admitted firing the weapon from an automobile.

Police said the Negro victims, walking along the sidewalk when the shooting occurred, were in hospital with serious wounds. Four others received less serious wounds.

THOMPSON FUNERAL CHAPEL ADDS NEW FUNERAL COACH

A modern funeral coach has been added to the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Chapel fleet of cars which total five, with all the latest equipment. The new coach is a Landau model, with three-way loading and is three-tone grey in color, also features power brakes and steering.

The new addition to the chapel will include two modern, spacious parlors, which can be made into a large parlor by the use of a folding door, separating the two rooms.

Councillors Invited To Civic Banquet

Belleville city council members Monday night received an invitation to attend a civic banquet to be given by the city for visiting Kinsmen, attending the district service club convention here in May.

Among the correspondence read at last night's council meeting was a letter from the local Kinsmen Club thanking the city for sponsoring the civic banquet and at the same time inviting council members to attend the function.

Man Found Dead Beneath Car at McArthur's Mills

Crushed under the motor of his car when the vehicle ran back into him as he was repairing the emergency brake cable, Thomas Milton Cochrane, 65, of McArthurs' Mills, died instantly at his home Monday afternoon.

Mr. Cochrand was found dead beneath the car, his chest crushed by the motor.

Provincial police from Bancroft who investigated the accident said Mr. Cholnard had driven the front end of his car up onto a bank and had changed the engine oil, then apparently worked on a loose emergency brake cable.

The block of wood which he had used to block the rear wheels gave way, allowing the car to back onto him.

He is survived by his wife, Myrtle.

Coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson of Bancroft said there would be no inquest.

Council Takes First Official Step Toward Construction Of Sewage Disposal Plant

Belleville city council Monday evening gave its approval for a by-law for the city to enter into a preliminary agreement with the Ontario Water Resources Commission allowing the hiring of consulting engineers to prepare final plans and call tenders for a sewage disposal system which could cost up to four and a half million dollars.

The expenditure, if the full program of plant construction and trunk sewers was carried out, could almost double the present five million dollar capital debt of the city.

The work would be subject to the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

With the passing of last night's recommendation the city has now taken its first official step toward the construction of a sewage disposal plant which has been in the "talked of" stage for nearly two years.

The decision however was motivated by directions from the Ontario Water Resources Commission which has indicated in no uncertain terms that the city must end dumping of raw sewage into the Bay of Quinte.

A special meeting to discuss the sewage treatment plans was held by council last week but only six members of the 15 man council were present. No official action was taken at the meeting and the recommendation for the agreement with the Ontario Water Resources Commission was put through at last night's meeting.

Several aldermen not in attendance at last week's special meeting suggested that the matter be discussed at the public committee meeting to allow a full discussion.

Asking for deferment of the matter, Alderman Ben Safe noted that the present capital debt of the city was over five million and that the new project we would almost double that."

He added that the annual carrying charges would amount to approximately another 15 mills. "How can we add 15 mills and still stay in Belleville?" he asked.

Alderman Ralph Graham, while not calling for deferment suggested that possibly the matter was not properly on the night's agenda. He asked five or six members of council if attending a special meeting could bring in a recommendation to council.

Alderman Les Digby suggested that the question at the moment was not how the city was to pay for the sewage plant. He suggested that this would come later.

Before considering method of payment, he suggested it was necessary to secure detailed plans and call for tenders.

The motion to defer the recommendation was lost by an eight to four vote, and the motion to enter the agreement with the Water Resources Commission was ratified as part of last week's committee of the whole report.

Also passed as part of the committee recommendation was the motion to discontinue rush hour no parking on the south side of Bridge Street between Front and Pinnacle Streets. Alderman Graham asked that this recommendation approved at last week's committee meeting be deleted.

POLICE APPROVED CLAIM

He said the rush hour route had established a free flow of traffic and that the payment of 401 highway had helped to relieve traffic congestion. The rush hour no parking edict should be continued.

Mayor Platt felt the same way declaring that removal of the no parking ban would be a retrograde step.

He said the police were opposed to removal of the parking rule and noted that with parking again allowed there would be danger of its "backing up" across Front and Pinnacle Streets to block and snarl the north-south traffic.

Alderman Robert Temple, however, declared that parking would not interfere with traffic any more than it would on Front Street. He said that business was adversely affected by the parking ban and said that businessmen in this heavily taxed downtown area should be given wherever possible.

Alderman Jack Ireland and Mrs. Effie McCabe also spoke in favor of removing the no parking ban, Mrs. McCabe declaring that Argue claimed streets were for the movement of traffic, not for parking.

In metropolitan centres no parking at all was permitted in the downtown area. The campaign for no parking at all in the all-Belleville area while Belleville was becoming a bigger centre, he said.

The amendment calling for deletion of the parking recommendation was defeated by a 7-5 vote and the committee agenda from last week was approved with one exception. The vote was "yes" — aldermen Hyde Grandeame, Digby Graham and Argue; "no" — aldermen Ellis, Forrester, Ireland, Temple, Tice, McCabe and Wishart.

6-Year-Old Boy Killed by Car At Rednersville

Douglas Pickell, aged six, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Pickell of Rednersville, was fatally injured early Monday afternoon when struck by a car as he darted across the road near his Rednersville home to be with a playmate.

Rushed to Belleville General Hospital by Bush's Ambulance, he had died three hours later from chest and head injuries. The parents of the boy's bedside when he died without regaining consciousness.

"I had warned him at least 50 times about crossing the road," stated his father.

The accident occurred on a straight stretch of road about two miles east of Rednersville.

Driver of the car which struck the lad was Joseph Boyer, 1044 Midland Ave., Scarboro.

The injured boy was attended at the hospital by Dr. R. E. Donald. Provincial Police from Picton investigated.

Douglas Joseph William Pickell was born in Belleville, six years ago being the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Pickell and had resided on the Rednersville road for the past four years. He previously lived in Belleville. He attended St. Thomas' Church.

Surviving are his parents, two brothers, Paul, 18, Raymond, 11, and one sister, Rose Elaine, 15, all at home.

JOHN GILLEN McCAW

Following an illness of three years, John Gillen McCaw, retired member of the Lands and Forests Department, died at his home, 344 Bridge Street East, on Monday afternoon.

He was born at Queensboro, 91 years ago, June 24, 1866. After joining the Lands and Forests Department he was stationed at Deseronto and lived there for some years before moving to Bridge Street East. A retiring nature he was well known and highly respected in this community.

Mr. McCaw was an active member of the Masonic Order. He started his lodge career at Tweed where he was a member of Tweed Lodge A. F. and A.M. No. 239 for 59 years and probably one of the oldest members of that lodge. He was also a member of Madoc Chapter R.A.M. No. 161 and the Scottish Rite at North Bay. Mr. McCaw was also a member of Ramesses Shrine in Toronto. While a resident here he was identified with Bridge Street United Church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Sarah Ann Ketcheson, sisters, Miss Ida McCaw, Miss Ella McCaw, Mrs. Lydia Parsons, all of Queensboro, Mrs. W. H. (Lucy) Kells of this city and a brother, J. R. McCaw of Madoc. A daughter, Matthea, died in infancy.

Resting at the Grant Funeral Home, North Front Street. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Locomotive Engineers Told By Brotherhood of Firemen Reasons Behind Strike Move

A joint meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Lodge No. 1259 and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Division 139, CLC, was held yesterday evening at the Engineers' Hall on Pine Street. The purpose of the meeting was to advise the latter group of the reasons for their brothers in the B.L.F.E. taking strike action on May 1st, providing no settlement has been reached between that union and the Canadian National Railways Company by that time.

The contentious point arising between the CNR and the BLFE was not the decision to cease hiring new firemen but, rather the question of having written assurance that those who are presently firemen will remain secure in their jobs until such time as they may advance to the position of engineer or retire. Reasons behind this insistence that there would always be a sufficient number of firemen as engineers who have to revert to the position of fireman on occasion.

The particular portion of the condition report listed over by Messrs. Andre Montpetit, A. E. Matthews, and T. R. Meighen (Montreal) to Mr. Taylor, chairman of Lodge 66. It read: "We therefore recommend to the Engineers' Division that the Company's first proposal re: the "dieselization" be accepted by the Brotherhood to the extent of amending the said "first proposal" to the effect that any of any obligation to employ firemen-helpers in the freight and service, be being understood that for the duration of such dieselization firemen-helpers will not be removed from diesel locomotives in freight service and from steam locomotives in any service; and provided (Mr. Meighen's) Recommendation No. 2 to date "to protect the firemen against the consequences of loss of employment or seniority" be February 3rd, 1958 instead of April 1st, 1958, as mentioned in the "memorandum of understanding" filed as exhibit "H".

FEAR WORKING CHANGES

Mr. Taylor explained to those present that it was his Brotherhood's attitude that this clause was detrimental to the safekeeping of the jobs of the firemen now in the employ of the CNR unless the CNR would agree to the continuance of established working conditions in this area. What the B.L.F.E. feared was a repetition of the treatment which the firemen are alleged to be receiving as stated in a letter from J. Graham, Vice-President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen 199 and 1259, Divisions of Canadian Pacific Railway, addressed to Mr. W. E. Gamble, vice-president of the Brotherhood.

Mr. Taylor read this letter, which in part states: "If and when a settlement is made, the men down with an agreement in writing that whatever is agreed upon, with respect to the hiring of helpers, it will not interfere with established working conditions or other rules, unless by mutual agreement. The C.P.R. now has conditions up the men who only a few months ago were promised that there would be no change in their working conditions and no more firemen were hired. I believe it would be a good idea to keep all this in mind when an agreement is reached as I do not think there is much difference in the viewpoint of management on either property. Yours fraternally, (signed) J. Graham."

This letter, concluded Mr. Taylor, clearly indicates that the CPR settlement was a bad agreement and that Mr. Graham had admitted this fact by virtue of his letter. The CNR Brotherhood does not wish to place its members in a similar position to that of the CPR firemen and, therefore, desires to make sure that these circumstances will not occur through virtue of a written agreement. The Brotherhood members intend to stand firm on this issue.

OFFER TRANSPORTATION

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen have been assured that if they observed the BLFE picket lines, which was entirely a union and individual decision, and as a result they were stranded out of their home terminal the BLFE would provide transportation home for them. There would be no violence or intimidation on the picket lines, which would be conducted in a "gentlemanly manner" at all times, advised Jack Lundrigan, chairman of Lodge 66.

Ernie Goodman, local chairman of Division 189 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (CLC), advised the members of the legal implications, both civil and criminal, of refusing to cross picket lines without reasonable grounds for so doing. A letter was read from the Brotherhood's headquarters outlining the responsibilities of the union and the members and the laws to which they were subject in the event of a strike. Although Mr. Goodman advised that his Brotherhood could not legally support the BLFE's decision to strike there was a very evident enthusiasm among those engineers present that Division 189 was behind the stand of the firemen and engineers. A motion that the members of Division 189 of the BLE express their unanimous approval of the stand of their brothers in the BLFE, gained the support of all present.

The meeting was chaired by Dave Fisher, a past chief of Division 189 and a veteran engineer with many years of railroading experience behind him. When questioned as to the problems facing the BLFE, he commented that the strike was one though he was not in position to accurately assess the various aspects of the conciliation board's report he did know that there was the fear in the minds where the services of the fireman was vital to the safety of the train, especially under adverse weather conditions.

The strike headquarters of Lodge 66 will be set up at 329 Station St.

IN MEMORIAM

LAWRENSON. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Annie Lawrenson, who passed away April 23rd, 1954.

Just thinking of you, mother dear, Of days gone by that used to be. We miss your smile and kindly face And all you meant to us.

—Lovingly remembered by her son Ernest and family.

A special place for you.

In God's garden of love,
To dwell and lovingly remembered by Blanche, Dean and Herb.

LAWRENSON. — In loving memory of our mother, Annie Lawrenson, who passed away April 23rd, 1954.

Nothing can break the love we bore,
Loosing from a loved one sore;
None can heal the depths of our deep woe
Or ever bring you back;
But ever remember when others forget.

—Sadly missed by Blanche, Russell, Herbert and Dean.

STAPLEY. — In loving memory of a dear sister and aunt, Elizabeth Sarah Elizabeth Stapley, who passed away April 23rd, 1954.

We do not need a special day,
To bring our mind to you,
For the days we do not think of you
Are very few indeed.
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more;
To see you face to face, mother dear,
Come smiling through the door.
Those words have never been spoken,
Those words have never been true;
Dear Mother, we love and dearest friend,
Dear Mom, when we lost you.

—Lovingly remembered by the family.

STAPLEY. — In loving memory of a dear wife, Sarah Elizabeth Stapley, who passed away April 23rd, 1954.

Sadly missed, sweetheart and friend.

Loving memories will never die,
As long as I remember you I live.
Dear in my heart is a memory kept for ever
Of one I loved so true.

—Lovingly remembered by husband Albert.

Rotarians Hear Address on Collapse of Time

"The Collapse of Time" was the title of an address given to local Rotarians by J. C. R. Pumphrey at the weekly luncheon meeting in the Hotel Quinte yesterday afternoon. In the history of the were concensed into a fifty-year period, the speaker pointed out, nothing in the way of real progress would have been made until just a few years ago. A tremendous acceleration of technological progress is now taking place. Where not too long ago a man would be ridiculed, possibly locked up, for proposing such ideas as flying to the moon, people laugh at anyone for thinking to the point where this does not seem at all unreasonable.

Improved communications have contributed greatly to the ready acceptance of ideas and provides a feedback of technical information which takes up the speed of a rising spiral, stated the Varsity graduate. The increasing speed of world transportation is indicative of man's progress along technological lines. Whereas just over a century ago man's speed was limited by the horse to a speed of about 30 to 35 miles an hour, now there are aircraft capable of travelling 1,500 miles an hour, the speed of sound and experiments are being made in the region of 30 to 40 times the speed of sound.

ANSWERS OWN QUESTION

"What has caused the upswing in scientific progress since 1945?" queried Mr. Pumchard. Answering his own question, the speaker proposed a three-fold reply; democracy—which produced the free environment where a man like Henry Ford would build a car with the common man as his principal goal rather than the wealthy or the aristocratic; the development of mechanisms to replace the muscles of men which would allow greater productivity and the free enterprise system which would allow the application of the benefits of the preceding conditions. The year 1945 is considered as a corner where civilization has turned, by the speaker. Prior to that time the notion that technology had "arrived" Man will have to learn to live with technology if he is to survive together — and he will probably have to learn it the hard way, unfortunately, he concluded.

The general-manager of the local Northern Electric plant was introduced by Bob Cassan and thanked by Bill Morrison.

Attendance prizes were won by Ken Legate's committee on the Rotarian magazine. Court Miller fell before the onslaught of devious questioning by Art Francis, who represented the committee.

Birthdays were celebrated by Drury Downing and Ernie Casement, and a sing-song was conducted by the latter with the assistance of Ken Boyce at the piano. Art Francis introduced the guests. The carnation for the long distance visitor went to Lloyd Hicks, a former local Rotary president and a past president of the Belleville YMCA, who was visiting from Ottawa. Fred Wilson was chairman for the meeting and grace was given by Merv Jones.

Trial of Edwin Berry for Theft Of $259 Being Heard in Court

TRENTON — Six witnesses were called by the Crown yesterday as the first part of the trial in a break and entry and theft charge against Edwin Berry got underway in Magistrate's court here.

S. G. Robertson, assistant crown attorney, acted for the crown, and Robert Temple, of Belleville, represented the accused.

Berry was charged following break and entry and theft of about $250 from the firm of Williams and Williams on Bell Street. Berry had been working for a painting contractor at the firm prior to the theft.

The accused elected to be tried by a magistrate and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge, which had been laid following an investigation into the case by Inspector Bob Rutherford and Patrol Sergeant Bruce Westfall of the Trenton police department.

The investigation was discovered on Sunday, April 5, at about 2.30 p.m. by Constable Roy Miller while on patrol in the cruiser, when he noticed a broken window in the rear of the building.

The first witness called by Mr. Robertson was Raymond Regan, company secretary.

Under questioning by Mr. Carrigan told the court he was at work in the office on Saturday and on occasion to lock the petty cash box which contained about $10 in the drawer of his desk and that there had been no one in the painting crew at the office during the week as he was one of the painters, who left Wednesday and returned on Saturday and Wednesday he had been painting in the basement office. During the course of the painting the furniture in the office had been moved around and covered by them.

FINGERPRINTS FOUND

He told the court that he had not been in the office when the furniture was moved out from the walls but that he had been done before he came to work in the morning. He stated that the cash box was a new one and had been on top of the filing cabinet on Wednesday and Thursday and had not been put into use until Friday morning. He was on the desk last that three fingerprints of the accused had been found (identified.)

Mr. Carrigan informed the court that he had made a payment out of the cash box on Saturday morning and that there were about six employees of the firm who knew where the cash box was kept. He left the office about 12.30 p.m. Saturday and had not returned until Monday morning when he noticed the company safe had been painted and other parts of the office were normal. It was when he had returned to work that he noticed the papers from the cash box cluttered on the floor and the drawers of the desk opened and the cash box gone. He said that the cash box had been there when he left but had noticed no marks on the desk and the drawers which would indicate it had been forced open. He said that he was the only one who had a key to his desk by the name and added that the latter was not locked his desk had been.

Under cross examination he said the desk was about one foot wide and had been opened before and that nothing else of value was kept in the desk.

He told the defence lawyer that about $250 was the most kept in the petty cash box and normally it was around $100. Anyone in the office coming into the office would know where the cash box was and that on some days two or three payments were made from the petty cash. He explained that working force of the plant to be around 120. He said that at no time was there the painting crew and the cash box was on top of the filing cabinet and that accused was one of the painters in his office. He also stated that when he opened the top of the cash box to make payment it would be possible to see the money in the box.

DESK FORCED

Mr. Carrigan also testified under questioning by counsel that there had been other times when he had worked on one of these occasions his desk had been forced open and the money stolen. On other occasions the desk had been ransacked but no money was in the safe. He said the last time was about a year ago and that the company did not employ a night watchman.

Previous to this incident he had been satisfied for petty cash was normally kept in an envelope and put in the safe each night.

A. J. Richens, chief engineer also testified for the crown and told of checking the plant on Sunday morning and finding it in order after finding nothing amiss. He told the court that when he returned to the office on Monday he saw where the window had been forced open and noticed a screwdriver all over the desk and floor in two of the offices.

Under questioning by Mr. Temple he said the plant had been broken into on two occasions before this one. He told the court the building was constructed in 1954 and had been in operations since then.

James B. Webb, the painting contractor for whom the accused was working, testified that the accused was employed by him and presented a list of hours that he had worked for Messrs. Williams and Williams painting job. He said that on Saturday afternoon he was told that he had been working at the plant and had worked one week since 8 a.m. He gave an account of the places they were painting in the offices during that day and said he was only absent from the office for a few minutes in the afternoon when he went down town to get some more varnish. He said he was told he was working in the office where the theft occurred on Wednesday and he thought he had asked Berry to help him move the safe away from the wall but he had moved them.

Under questioning by the counsel for the defence he told the court Berry had helped him move the safe and that the Regan office away from the walls and had helped move the furniture back after the painting was finished. He said Reid moved the desk and filing cabinet.

NOT WEARING GLOVES

He also stated that Berry had not been wearing gloves at the time.

Neil McDonald, another painter working for Mr. Webb was called to the witness stand and told the court that on Saturday as that given by Mr. Webb. He was excused from the defence lawyer.

Cpl. Heckman of the O.P.P. fingerprint expert, took the stand and identified the fingerprints found on the desk as be identical with those on the card bearing the accused's name taken from the files of the Trenton Police Department. He also identified the cash box and that had obtained the cash box from and how he identified the two locks on the box.

Under questioning by Mr. Temple he said the prints were normal and there were some on the box which were unable to be identified as they were only partial.

Patrol Sergeant Bruce West fall told the court of being called by Constable Miller, who had found the window open and he had proceeded to the office. He told the court that after he examined the broken window they had found a door open on the south side of the building and they had gone inside.

Mr. Berry had made a search of the factory and upon entering the office portion of the building had noticed drawers open and papers lying around on the floor. He also noted in the telephone exchange office. In Mr. Carrigan's office he said the safe door had been found on top of the desk with the cash box and papers lying it beside the metal box.

He told the court he sealed the cash box in a cardboard box and had left it in Inspector Hutchinson's office at the Police Station. He also stated that after calling the manager of the plant he had searched the rest of the plant and found three windows open. He said no money had been found in or near the cash box and that after the theft was discovered by the plant they had left with the manager through the front door.

Under questioning by the defence, he said the doors could have been unlocked by any person breaking into the plant had succeeded in getting in.

The trial will continue on Wednesday and it is not known how many witnesses remain to be called.

Stones Break Car Windshield

TRENTON — Nick Cecchine of 1 Sulcliffe Boulevard had the windshield of his car broken yesterday afternoon when stones from the CNRR made way as he was driving underneath. According to the police report work train 440 was returning the CNR track over the subway with gravel when the heavy 53 near the Queenway Hotel when a freight going east struck it. It is believed the vibration from the passing freight shook the gravel off the work train and they fell down between the ties and onto the passing car, breaking the glass. Included some chipped paint. The accident was reported by Constable Sid Vickers of the Trenton police force.

CAR HITS DOG

Mrs. E. W. Green of R.R. 2 Carrying Place, reported to the Belleville Detachment of the Ontario Police that she had hit a dog with her car on the highway along Sidney Street and near the White Rose filling station. The dog ran out from behind a car and got out but the dog, although limping, and ran off. The mishap occurred yesterday.

WILL REPAIR BRIDGE

The town bridge in Trenton which crosses the Trent River on Dundas Street will be repaired by the province this spring but they will only be minor ones. The bridge however will not be put on the new cement deck as a protective cover as had been first thought as given several costs of paint. Last fall, a total of $10,000 was spent by the town and the provincial government, for repairs, and this year a similar sum will be amount of necessary inconvenience is anticipated. However, the work this year which is expected to get underway during the first week in May will not hinder traffic to any great extent and will only take a short time to complete.

SCOUTS PASS TESTS

Seven Boy Scouts in Trenton passed their tests for the Tenderfoot badge recently, the flying colors it was revealed Friday by Captain Gerald Lohnes of the Trenton Fire Department who gave the boys classes on fire fighting and safety. The boys, the exam consisted of 20 questions which cover many phases of fire fighting and what to do in the emergency caused by a fire. Three of the Scouts received a perfect mark of 100, three others were in the high 90's and the rest in the teens close to 80. The Scouts were from the First and Third Trenton troops and were Gerald Collette, Theo Bot, Douglas Bennett, Roger Lafleur, Gary Davy, Bruce Good and Stewart Kirpatrick. Cpl. Lohnes said the boys were very pleased with the results of the test and it was one of the best classes he has had to date.

4th Consecutive Son of Twins Born to Mother

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—We were kind of stuck for names for a while, as you can understand," said Joseph Volk.

It was easy to understand. His wife, Rose, stood wife, Vivian, gave birth to her fourth consecutive set of twins Sunday.

Doctors at the hospital said the odd on such a thing are one in at least 100,000,000 to one.

The Volks also have one child who is not a twin.

Arthur Godfrey Enters Hospital For Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Godfrey is in a hospital being prepared for an operation scheduled for Thursday.

The 55-year-old television and radio star was smiling but tense Monday as he entered the Harkness Pavilion of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Centre.

Asked by reporters if he was worried about his chest tumor, Godfrey replied: "Sure, I'm worried. Who isn't?"

The operation will show whether the tumor is cancerous.

Routine medical tests were scheduled for today and Wednesday.

Asked if he would retire, Godfrey snapped: "of course not."

Godfrey said his wife, Mary, will come to New York later from their home in Leesburg, Va.

George Chuvalo Held for Rape Of Young Mother

TORONTO (CP)—George Chuvalo, 22-year-old heavyweight boxing champion, was arrested early today and charged with the rape of a 20-year-old mother.

Chuvalo, 81, hasn't fought since he beat a negro named Ed Sutton of last October against Jim McMurtry. Until then he was ranked among the world's leading heavyweights.

The boxer was arrested on a west-end Dundas Street by two detectives shortly after a girl ran into a police station and reported she had been raped by two men who picked her up at a downtown intersection and offered her home from her job in a lowntown restaurant.

Police said the girl told them the men had warned her that she "might never see her baby again," she is the mother of a 15-month-old child.

Chuvalo was married here three weeks ago.

WANTED FRESH START

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A former Methodist minister who said he committed burglaries to raise money for a fresh start in life has been sentenced to five years in prison. Byrd Alexander Gelzer, Monday admitted he broke into 18 business establishments and schools. His 36-year-old wife Elizabeth pleaded guilty to participating in one of the break-ins.

Heavy Agenda Faces Members County Council

With decision on the erection of a proposed new county courthouse and registry office and the setting of the county tax rate for 1959 as two of the major items of business on the agenda, the annual spring session of Hastings county council got underway this morning at Shire Hall.

County Warden J. N. Brown of Bancroft, welcomed members to the session and opened the meeting with prayer.

The auditor's report for 1958 was formally adopted and sent to the printer for printing, although Warden Brown noted that was not good business for county council as the report withdrawn by members having a copy. He suggested the session should be ready at least three weeks earlier.

Possibly the biggest item on the session agenda will be discussion of the proposed erection of the new county court house. Architects' plans for the proposed new structure are expected to be ready for the session and council will then proceed to act to authorize the construction.

By-laws for county equalization and for setting tax rates for the county and also for setting the setting up of a retirement pension for county employees will be given first reading under which farmers losing assessment on account of land may be re-imbursed will be before the session.

QUINTE WATER SAFETY COUNCIL

Do you know what to do if you see a person in distress in the water, or if a watercraft which has gone out on by the lake fails to return within a reasonable time of its expected arrival hour, or which spots in this area are dangerous for swimmers, or how to summon emergency aid in case of a possible drowning? These are but a few of the problems of water safety which the recently formed Quinte Water Safety Council hopes to provide every local citizen with the answers to via a public education program.

In co-operation with many other agencies in this area it appears that this group should meet with success in its very worthwhile endeavor. The enthusiasm and direction given by Dr. G. H. Craig, chairman, and Mrs. Winsome Lewis, secretary, to mention but a few, seem to keep the council's activities moving at a good pace with much being accomplished within the short time of its becoming established.

A swimming program for all youth in the local schools who cannot swim at present is being undertaken by the council with the assistance of the local YMCA. It is the ultimate goal of the council to ensure that every student who enters the secondary schools in the area will be able to swim.

With the great number of lives taken annually by boating accidents and swimming mishaps the service which this new organization has undertaken to render the community is certainly needed.

Incidentally, for those who do not know the proper procedure for summoning assistance for possible drowning cases -- call the Belleville Fire Department at 968-5-4545. In the event of a boat failing to return from a lake excursion within a reasonable time of its anticipated return the proper procedure is to advise the Ontario Provincial Police at WO 8-5507. The council's plans include the provision of a telephone at the Government Dock for emergency calls twenty-four hours a day.

VETERANS OF THE LEGISLATURE

When Hon. George Dunbar, member of the Ontario legislature for Ottawa South, announced last week that he would not be a candidate in the coming Ontario election, the Ottawa Journal headed an editorial "Old Pro Still Is A Day." Mr. Dunbar has, indeed, served his constituency, and the province, ably and long, for 22 years.

Yet, a few days later, the news brought us a reminder that Mr. Dunbar's length of service, though outstanding, is far from a record. Farquhar Oliver, former Ontario leader, will seek re-election. Though only 53, compared with Mr. Dunbar's 81 years, he has recently semi-retired again as did Mr. Dunbar, having been first elected in 1926.

Another veteran of the Legislature is Harry C. Nixon, former premier of the province. Still representing Brant, he, like Mr. Oliver, dates back to the days when the UFO was still a power in provincial politics. And that is a long time ago.

HAS KHRUSHCHEV REFORMED?

Harold K. Milks, Associated Press staff writer, reports that there has been a change in Khrushchev's drinking habits, shown at a formal Moscow reception. At one time, he writes, these ceremonies were the scene of heavy and sometimes lively drinking bouts. Tables were laden with vodka, wines, American bandy, beer and even champagne from Georgia.

"The last Kremlin reception I attended - - in honor of a visiting Iraqi delegation - - was in sharp contrast," writes Milks. "Gone were all vodka bottles.

"Gone also were all table bottles of native wine, a collection of which, for drinks and several flasks of mineral water. The diplomats fared no better."

It could not be, could it, that the fact most Iraqi citizens are Moslems, and that Moslems are forbidden by their religion to drink alcoholic beverages, had anything to do with the change in style?

TASTY MEDICINE

Wine is a powerful germ killer says the French high committee of studies of alcoholism in the course of a report to Premier Debre. Wine, it says, will definitely kill the bacilli of typhoid fever, colon bacillus and staphylococcus. Two cubic centimeters of red wine killed 2,000 staphylococci in 15 minutes. Similar, in many, to the action of penicillin.- Oh, Garcon! Bring me a bottle of your best red penicillin, vintage 1955. (London Free Press.)

Communicating Difficult

New York Times

The wonder is, said the visitor as he pulled a pocket tin of tobacco from his coat and filled his pipe with pinches of dark and stringy leaf, that the people of the island get along as well as they do. The matter of communicating between peoples—or between individuals, for that most complicated thing in the world, even when these people speak the same language, the visitor continued. People in the next house, living in the same house, and who know each other well, frequently fail to communicate, he said. How often, he asked, does one hear the words, "But I thought you said . . ." in the family circle, suggesting a breakdown, temporary, if not in communication? He applied a kitchen match to the bowl of his pipe and for a moment the visitor —who was our man with the umbrella— disappeared almost completely behind a thick cloud of smoke.

One wonders, said Mr. Prawn, what Premier Khrushchev's interpreter will do with the word "muddle" the other day when Prime Minister Macmillan said he saw a new danger of war arising from "miscalculation or muddle" than from "calculated aggression." Mr. Macmillan certain, Mr. P. said, that the Russian interpreter had no difficulty understanding "calculated aggression," but one does not know whether or not the Russian has the precise equivalent of "muddle" in the Soviet lexicon, or how it to be used. Indeed, one wonders—said Mr. P.— if we will ever will be able to communicate with the Russians. Even if we all speak the same language — English, for example — communication would be difficult, Mr. Prawn said, for the Russian reason that although we both would be using the same words, they would not mean the same thing: "democracy" and "freedom" do not seem to the Soviet Union what they do in the United States, Mr. Prawn continued, they do not mean the same thing to all the people in all the parts of the United States.

However, said Mr. Prawn, perhaps if we wish to communicate with others we should begin by trying to communicate more clearly among ourselves. Here, Mr. P. said, pulling a clipping from his pocket, in a statement recently issued setting forth the purposes of a new arts of communications to be established at a large university: "The establishment is necessary for informed opinion and hence good government. The new program, he said Mr. P., consulting his clipping, says: "The ability to recognize the technicians of communication provided by the technology of our age for the rapid dissemination of information and the ability to draw upon the knowledge and arts of our institutions of higher education to reduce the incidence of semantic ambiguity and demagogic device require the existence of a skilled and educated profession of communicators". All that means, Mr. P. said, he thought, is that good teachers of modern speedy communication technology must also encourage clarity of expression.

It is evident, Mr. P. said, pulling briskly on his briar, that so long as we have all our wits when trying to communicate among ourselves we will have a hard time indeed to get our intentions to people abroad who either know English or who, if they do, understandably will fail to grasp what we are trying to say in English.

Mr. P. rose, and after colliding sharply with an overhanging door plainly marked "No Exit", made an unruffled departure.

He Defends Crocodiles

Manchester Guardian

Apart from the cult tribe which worships some of them, no one has much good to say of crocodiles.

The general feeling among ruling circles in Africa is that crocodiles to be found seems to be in treat them as vermin to be shot out as soon as possible.

The crocodiles of northern Rhodesia, however, has an able champion — Dr. H. B. Cott, a Cambridge zoologist, who has recently published a report on the extensive survey which he made of the species.

He is not impressed by the argument that crocodiles pay upon man. In fact, he says, these meals are rare, unprecedented attacks, the temptations offered by an accident or carelessness.

The crocodile plays a far more important role in the ecological and economic life of the territory, and Dr. Cott regards them as a natural asset. The adults take their toll of predatory otters, cormorants, herons and other fish eating animals while the young crocodiles mainly on various crabs, giant water bugs, nymphs of dragonflies and carnivorous water beetles, all of which share man's desire for fish.

Commercial crocodile hunting is relatively big business in northern Rhodesia, there is a lively franc and dollar trade in skins.

Dr. Cott does not want to deprive the professional hunter of his living. What he deplores and would ban — is the indiscriminate nocturnal shooting. The crocodiles, lighted by torches, are sitting targets — it is very difficult to miss them.

The hunters pick off the larger breeding stock for preference, but those nearing maturity and the crocodiles in their second or third year are not protected. Cott controls are few, profits high — anything up to £4 for a good skin.

Inflation Saves Heads

Cornwall Plain Dealer

Economists, politicians, people —all have some rather nasty things to say about inflation. But this adversity, if it is such, has its good side in that it cures conditions that appear black at first appraisal.

A chap who might be described as the "wild man of Borneo" has some good things to say about inflation. He is one of the dis trict of Sea Dyaks, or Ibans, on that famous island. Th-year-old Penghulu Nanta Anak Jalan is inflated name if we ever heard one.

Chief Jlar, as we will call him, will sit in his longhouse, blackened with smoke, and contemplate from the rafters of which rather ancient human heads dangle in baskets and say a word in favor of inflation.

Inflation, says the chief, has put head hunting out of bounds. Not that the Ibans wouldn't like to snatch a few heads and then but every time they do a great feast must be held and it costs just too much to stage such a display of merriment.

Before the coming of the Ibans can keep their heads on their shoulders, But in the old days there was not enough to be the enemy to lose your head. It was all part of a game, and the chief Jlar said heads were taken either to show bravery in war, as an offering to a god or to get a good seat at a feast, or to please the girls.

Not only inflation, but the fact that the Ibans have become Methodists has something to do with the bear market in crania luma. Somebody told them Methodists don't go head hunting.

The chief was reluctant to talk about the heads he took in his earlier days.

"Too few of 'em" commented a tribesman.

THE PACKSACK
By GREGORY CLARK

A reed gang was at work on the street with a huge crane and bucket, compressed air hammers and crunching dump trucks, when a mounted constable on a beautiful bay horse came by on his way from the park ravines he patrols.

Here was a test of man and horse. It has always struck me as miraculous that the few riding horses left in great modern cities can have been so schooled as to be unperturbed amid the rush and fury of traffic. In walk is horse straight up to and past these monsters, eyeing logging, roaring and chattering deafening by on the lower job was something. Afternoon Street sights have hesitated to do with Bucephalus.

Erect and easy in the saddle, the constable waited his hand some horse straight at the fur Only the slightest agitation showed on the animal. Its ears swivelled a little, then were still back to the master, forward to the thunderous engines. A little alertly, as if prepared for any action called for, it sidled very very slightly to the head. Incore of the racket. Then it ingly nudged, and proceeded lithely on its way.

When I got to the office, I telephoned the police station to ask the inspector what a masterpiece he had seen.

"It is mutual trust," said he, "between rider and horse, a thing familiar to all horsemen. They are stamped together in one organism, as it were."

"It was magnificent, sir," said I.

"Thank you, sir," said the inspector.

WITHOUT THIS — FAILURE

The Emperor Francis Joseph of Australia was leading in the church in Vienna where the bodies of the other members of the Hapsburg dynasty rested. Over the body of the Emperor reached his church [illegible], a voice cried from within, "Who is there?" They replied, "His Apostolic majesty, the Emperor of Austria."

Through the door came back the answer, "I do not know him."

A second attempt was made. To the query as to who shall entrance to the vault, the answer came that the Emperor of Austria and the Apostolic King of Hungary was seeking admission. Again there was a denial of the keeper of the gate of his knowledge of any such person.

Finally the word spoken by the leader of the funeral process: "Let there be then! A sinful man, poor humble, even brother Francis Joseph wishes to come here and abide." Only then did the portals open and the body of the Emperor of Austria find resting place.

This, of course, is a piece of imagery designed to fill the hearts of those who looked with a proper sense of their own sinful state and their humility. Jesus' declaration about the meekness, nothing about the lordship of the universe. His pride was in the fact that he could be humble.

Only the humble attain greatness. Others may appear to, but they are failures in God's sight — and eventually in their own.

EFFECTIVE PSYCHIATRY GIVES PATIENT A BETTER PERSPECTIVE

"Dear Dr. Molner: Your articles about the reluctance of people who need psychiatric care to seek it ha moved me to write to you, hoping it will help others.

"Ten months ago I was miserable. My marriage seemed to be a failure, and after 20 years I was at last thinking of divorce. However, I had some enough to realize that I was very inhibited in some ways and that part of the fault in our marriages failure was mine. But I just couldn't handle the problem alone.

"After months of soul-searching I decided we only had one life and it was just plain stupid not to seek help.

"In one week after going to a psychiatrist I was able to see the whole problem as objectively that things improved at home as if by a miracle.

"I have continued treatment as I could see I really was in need of it, and feel better than I have at any time in my life. My doctor is held in high esteem by me the world, and although it is very hard work--and requires a great deal of time--I count on my part to continue treatment, I can honestly say it was the most intelligent step I ever took in my life.

Sincerely yours, A. B."

Thank you. Your letter may help some people than you will ever know.

For one thing, it explains so clearly that psychiatry isn't just for the people we regard as "insane." It is for anyone with emotional problems that are making life into a snarl.

Maybe it's worth nothing, too, the fact that effective psychiatry is based on getting the patient a better perspective — helping him to sit back and look at himself from all angles. And there have been too many jokes about psychiatrists giving the notion that psychiatry is abstruse and abstract.

A DOWN-TO-EARTH SCIENCE

Real psychiatry is as down-to-earth as having your bloodstream or fighting with your spouse. It is a practical way of getting at the real problem of life.

Of course that doesn't mean that psychiatry is always easy or easy. The feelings or attitudes of people, when they get tangled, aren't simple or necessarily easy either to understand or change. Psychiatry is why it takes so long to train a qualified psychiatrist.

But the motives and accomplishments of psychiatry are very real and down-to-earth, and sometimes (not always!) the benefits of psychiatric help are visible very quickly after it initiates.

Finally, somebody is going to write to me and say, "Where should I go to find a psychiatrist to help me?"

Since I can't be familiar with the particular localities in which all my readers live, the answer is: Go to your own physician. He will help you find the right one.

Amnesty Day Is Criticized

Windsor Star

A Hamilton magistrate, reliably reported to become associated with the Canadian Citizenship Court, listed only two of 39 offenders and sent no one to jail on his last day on the bench.

"I guess you would call this Amnesty Day," said Magistrate Benjamin Bercovitch.

The magistrate may have a name for it, but there are others who will wonder at that kind of justice.

While ordinary people were being fined or sent to jail in other parts of the province for the same offences, leniency in the Hamilton court were granted an amnesty.

Surely the attorney-general will investigate to determine if drivers in that city have been punished were allowed to go scot free just because it happened to be the magistrate's last day on the bench.

Royal Tour, Seaway Opening, Break in Weather May Give Canada Record Tourist Year

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada may be heading for a record tourist year, given a break from the weather and more spending prompted by economic recovery.

The Royal Tour of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip and the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway are two major attractions expected to contribute.

Advertising programs and tourist facilities have been expanded generally.

A Canadian Press cross-Canada survey shows most areas sharing hopes of an improvement over 1958, when American travel decreased slightly from the record 1957 total of 28,600,000. Spending by U.S. tourists and those from other foreign countries also dropped by $11,000,000 to $352,000,000—but that still close to the record 1957 yield of $363,000,000.

RECESSION A FACTOR

Alan Field, director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, says 1958 tailed off despite the biggest advance indication of tourist interest ever noted. There was the recession in the United States and bad weather on both sides of the border.

"People didn't feel like holiday-ing," suggested Mr. Field. "The U.S. floods last winter put most Americans in the mood and make them start thinking of cool lake country."

The federal tourist agency's campaign in the American midwest has been spread over scenic charms, plus cultural and other attractions. Some key events are the Vancouver Music Festival, the Calgary Stampede, the Stratford Shakespearean Festival and the Gaelic Mod in Cape Breton.

A surge of interest in the Canadian North is indicated by requests received in British Columbia and Alberta, and by the Seaway and the Royal Visit are being "pushed" hard.

"American press coverage is going to be tremendous," he said. "U.S. publications are planning travel and publicity department. A typical advertisement placed in U.S. publications is pinned on that appraisal and shows the queen's photograph with the caption: "See history in the making."

Here's a rundown of tourist industry expectations across the country:

Newfoundland — Revenues of about $12,421,000 last year may increase with the help of an extended moose - hunting season. Road and accommodation work being improved to take advantage of scenery, hunting and fishing attractions plus historic sites.

Prince Edward Island—About 150,000 Canadians and Americans visited the little island province last year, spending $1,500,000. Officials say 1959 queries have doubled and that P.E.I. has 30 more listings of tourist accommodation than it had last year.

Nova Scotia — Hopes for a repeat of all seems indicated with more money and expectations of a season topping record 1957 statistics of about $90,000 visitors and "sure" of $17,000,000.

Ontario was the main contributor last year to the $1,000,000 advertising campaign. Premier Frost-ader's address was "teamwork" and he called on each worker to help his part individually.

A letter addressed to Mr. Frank Dominion from the Official Secretary of Canada, Colonel C. Wiseman, was read, in which the chairman of the Belleville appeal was commended for his untiring efforts on behalf of the Salvation Army.

The speaker was thanked by Alderman Lloyd McCabe and the meeting was brought to a close with prayer offered by Brigadier Glenn Gentery, the Divisional Commander of the Mid-Ontario division.

travel by car and each spends about $8.50 daily.

Ontario — The Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, Ottawa's tulip festival, the Stratford Festival and Timmins' 50th anniversary of the discovery of gold are some events expected to swell tourist business. About 6,000,000 visitors — nearly Americans—came last year but a booming start declined for a visitor decrease of two per cent from 1957. About 59 per cent and 24 per cent came for fishing, hunting or boating holiday. City sightseers and visitors who preferred resort loafing made up the rest.

Manitoba — Sparked by an advertising budget of $125,000 — up $50,000 on 1958—provincial preparations include salesmanship at mid-west U.S. sports shows, promotion of facilities for conventions and continued expansion of tourist facilities which will include 231 motels for Manitoba's "prestige" vacationland." Officials hope for 1,330,000 visitors spending close to $27,500,000, compared with some 1,133,000 who spent $33,161,000 last year.

Saskatchewan—Wide-open vistas are available, expectations are for a better year.

Alberta—Officials expect an increase of 19 per cent over 1958, which was a record season with an estimated 2,773,070 visitors who spent more than $42,000,000. Early signs are lagging well ahead of last year, including some from Canadians in the Maritimes and the Northwest Territories and other northern points. Both Jasper and Banff report heavy convention bookings. Calgary Stampede is planning one of the province's centennial celebrations in 1958 with a budget of $2,250,000.

British Columbia—Record visitors and revenues of $106,903,000—both records. Prospects for 1959 are excellent. There were 400,059 visiting cars last year, about 250,000 from nearby U.S. states.

Boxing Card Will Feature Local Fighters

Belleville's Jack Lucas will be looking for an early knockout over Peterborough's Al Reid here Thursday night in his home-town debut in the main bout of the Belleville Boxing Club show at Memorial Arena.

Lucas and Reid are in the 147 pound weight class and should provide plenty of fast action in the five-round affair.

JACK HUGHES

The semi-final pits speedsters Barry Parsons, amateur promising Belleville fighter, against Fred Milligan of Peterborough. This one is slated for four rounds. Both fighters will be trying to battle their way into main bout contention.

A special five-round event has Grant O'Reilly, the fighting lumberman from Oshawa, doing battle with Ontario lightweight champ Paul Daniels of Peterborough. This is the only bout on the card which does not include a Belleville fighter.

A number of three-round preliminaries will be fought. Belleville Lucas and Parsons cher-Belleville boxers taking part will be Gord Everett, Terry Bennet, Benny Hobbs, Bruce Pelkmeier, Jack Hershey, Terry Bennet and Bob Cole.

The opening bout will get under way at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Herter Meeting First Great Test Of Abilities as State Secretary

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With his own fellow-countrymen and the rest of the world looking on, Christian A. Herter this week meets the first great test of his abilities as secretary of state—the American foreign minister.

Now firmly established in the job once held by ailing John Foster Dulles, he arrives in Paris by air today and is to try to coordinate with the foreign ministers of Britain and France Allied strategy for the forthcoming East-West talks on Berlin and the future of Germany.

His first task will be to help hammer out some acceptable degree of unity among the Western three—Britain, France and the United States—before they meet with the Eastern ministers in Geneva May 11 in critical talks that may lead to a summit conference.

The degree of success the West hopes to achieve at Geneva may well depend upon how well Herter and his British and French allies do their job at Paris.

INSISTENT VIEWS

In seeking a united front they will have to take into account the insistent views of the Soviet government, as set forth, which yields fast on a form of policy and concessions to those in the middle, to achieve a solution to the problem of German reunification and European security.

While there is no real clash in Western views on the basic objectives of opinion do exist.

Britain, for example, appears more willing than the United States to make a practical approach with the Soviet Union, does not appear willing to make concessions. France and West Germany appear more rigid, not firmness and rigidity. Too U.S. is reported as less inclined to rigidity, though willing to attempt to reach some meeting of minds with the Western allies.

It will be up to Herter, representing the most powerful of the Western alliances, to attempt to reconcile those differences and bring the West into line to a common front as possible.

WILL BEAR FRUIT

Whether or not he is successful, Herter will bear the brunt again as the representative of the major Western power, of the west's presentation when the big meet gets under way in Geneva next month.

In the Paris talks, Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and France's Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will find the new U.S. secretary somewhat more flexible than his predecessor.

Herter long has opposed the cast iron determination that governed American foreign policy between the two wars of refusing to recognize, instead, the doctrine of interdependence of the free world. He is also said to favor U.S. foreign policy, while it must necessarily be formed in Washington, should take account of Allied interests as well as American.

Russia Adopts British Idea On A-Test Ban

GENEVA (CP)—In an apparent tactical move, Russia has taken over a British suggestion to end the deadlock on banning nuclear weapon tests by agreement on a limited number of inspections of suspicious disturbances.

If the move was aimed at splitting the Western Allies, there was no sign it succeeded. Both the British and U.S. delegations to the three-power talks made clear they are willing to explore the idea and not in disagreement.

Both insisted, however, that the test suspension program by stages proposed by both Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower also must be given serious consideration by the conference. Soviet Premier Khrushchev already has given it the cold shoulder.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin presented the limited inspection idea Monday after noting that Macmillan had suggested it during his talks with Khrushchev in Moscow.

Russia's insistence on a veto in inspection arrangements is a test of strength between the parley. The West contends that an inspection system must have no veto unless kept free from governmental tampering.

can national interests.

Both sides have a great deal of interdependence but, in the words used in the previous issue of his Christian Science style of one-man disarmament, he seemed often to bring the divided views and chart No-man course.

Retarded Children's Association Adds Six More Branches in 1958

Six more local associations for retarded children — Goderich, Lakefield, Pembroke, Cornwall, Kapuskasing and in Haldimand — were established during the past year following the combined membership of Ontario Retarded Children's Association over the 5,000 mark during the past year, Murray R. Finlayson, of Barrie, president, said in his retiring address at the sixth annual O.A.R.C. convention, Ontario Hospital School, Smiths Falls.

Four major workshop conferences held by provincial committees during his term of office had dealt with institutional problems, sheltered workshop programs, educational requirements and recreational opportunities for the mentally retarded.

Citing the $280,000 raised by 16 local associations in the province wide educational and fund raising campaign, Mr. Finlayson expressed Association thanks to Charles L. Gundy, who was general campaign chairman, and Harry E. (Red) Foster, honorary president of O.A.R.C. for their campaign efforts.

"Throughout the province there has been a surge of expansion in local activities, a development of new interest in these things as recreational programs, young adult programs, institutional activities, all indicating a broadening of concept and consequently a broadening of the horizon for the retarded," Mr. Finlayson told the delegates.

"But to thoroughly do the job that we have set ourselves as an association we must expand," he said. "We must increase our membership and thus increase our number of volunteer workers. There is still need for many more associations in this province. There are still areas not reached whom we have not reached and who need help. And let us remember that this association is composed of all kinds of people — rich and poor, parents of retarded children, friends of retarded children, farmers, factory workers, businessmen, clergy, doctors, educationists, all creeds. Whichever one of these individual people we are nothing."

Salvation Army Appeal for Funds Launched

The Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal was officially launched in Belleville yesterday at a meeting of the Advisory Board, when was addressed by Brigadier Morgan Flanigan now of Territorial Headquarters in Toronto.

Mr. W. T. Simpson, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, gave able leadership to the meeting.

A report on the progress of the campaign organization was given by the chairman, Mr. Frank Somerlee. The workers were urged to make an early start, and to give all their support to the effort. Introduced by the chairman, Brigadier Flanigan, formerly of Belleville, drew attention to the fact that from east to coast in Canada a great army of workers have set forth in a great campaign to help the Salvation Army in its work of helping others.

The appeal in Toronto, the Brigadier said, was also launched Monday by a civic service outside the city hall and was addressed by the General of the Salvation Army, Wilfred Kitching, from London, England. The theme of the Leader's address was "teamwork" and he called on each worker to help his part individually.

A letter addressed to Mr. Frank Dominion from the Official Secretary of Canada, Colonel C. Wiseman, was read, in which the chairman of the Belleville appeal was commended for his untiring efforts on behalf of the Salvation Army.

The speaker was thanked by Alderman Lloyd McCabe and the meeting was brought to a close with prayer offered by Brigadier Glenn Gentery, the Divisional Commander of the Mid-Ontario division.

Noted Historian Special Speaker

A noted Canadian historian, Prof. A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University, will address the annual meeting of the Hastings County Historical Society, to be held in Belleville on May 1.

Prof. Lower, who retires this year from Queen's to devote more time to studies of Canadian history.

For one of these, "Colony to Nation," he was awarded the Governor General's medal in 1947.

He is known to school children in the Belleville area as the co-author of the grade IX textbook, "Canada, A History."

His most recent book, "Canadians in the Making," has been the subject of articles in Maclean's and other magazines.

Prof. Lower has been interested in local history as well as national history. He is author of the Quinte Historic and Parkway Association, which seeks to preserve and promote historic local historical sites and to have Highway 33 developed into a parkway particularly between Kingston and Prince Edward County.

The Hastings County Historical Society is fortunate to obtain Prof. Lower for its second annual meeting.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting and hear a noted Canadian.

Scon Will Erect Entrance Signs For Parking Lot

Entrance signs for the municipal parking lot on the river bank at the centre of Front street will shortly be placed and arrangements are now being made for the provision of a pedestrian walk from the Simpson street lot to Front street.

This was noted Monday evening at a meeting of Scon Lodge. Ralph Graham, chairman of the parking commission in answer to a question from Alderman Jack Ireland as to when the parking lot would be fully completed.

Ald. Graham noted that $17,-923 of the $37,000 figure by downtown merchants as a loan to the city, to complete the parking lot, has now been turned over to the Chamber of Commerce committee and is now following through on the parking lot signs.

Observance of the parking lot regulations and that pay slips on both lots was well under control with parking spaces always available.

The council shooner can always find convenient parking and at a reasonable rate," he said.

Liu Shao-chi as President May Spell Bad News for West

The writer of this sketch of Liu Shao-chi is one of the few Western newspaper men ever to interview the new president of Communist China.

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—The election of Liu Shao-chi as president of Communist China may spell bad news for the West.

It could presage a new, tougher era of Chinese communism, both at home and abroad, particularly in Asia.

The Chinese could have picked a figurehead, such as 72-year-old Marshal Chu Teh, for the presidency, held for a decade by Mao Tse-tung.

Instead, they chose to give it new stature by reaching for one of the shrewdest, ablest minds they could find in the Communist hierarchy.

The object is to make sure that China speaks with two strong voices—Liu and Premier Chou En-lai's — after Mao has withdrawn from the public scene to work on the pressing problems of the party and the country as chairman of the Chinese Communist party.

TOUGH TEAM

Liu, Mao and Chou form a relentlessly tough, shrewd team, a match for any nation in future international horse-trading, either on the foreign minister level or at the summit.

Long a man of considerable personal mystery, Liu will emerge from the shadows of the Communist party headquarters to take a more prominent public place in China.

This is in line with his now-solidified position as heir-apparent to Mao, whose chairmanship of the party makes him still master of the world's most populous nation.

As president, Liu will become better known to the millions who only know him as a self-effacing, quiet man.

This writer first met Liu in December, 1945, in the Communist capital of Yenan in north China.

MEEK IMPRESSION

Dressed in a wrinkled, cloth-covered padded blue cotton uniform patched at the elbows, Liu at that time gave the impression of being an almost meek person.

During an interview, his eyes were downcast and he hardly spoke above a whisper.

He insisted then that Communist China wanted friendly relations with all the world and would give particular preference to Soviet Russia.

The impression he left was of a pert-particularly brilliant individual, but one endowed with more than the usual courage, dogged-ness and singleness of purpose. This quality emerged later when in 1951 he directed a bloody purge of the regime's enemies.

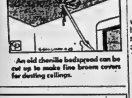
Content Only When Living Close to Nature

APSLEY, Ont., (CP) — Mrs. Bernice Wagner, one of the few women professional trappers in Canada, is content only when living close to nature.

The 35-year-old widow in this community 40 miles northeast of Peterborough has lived in the outdoors most of her life. She was at Burleigh Falls, Ont., when she met and married Albert Wagner of Cleveland. They built and operated a fishing club on Loveslick Lake, and in 1932 decided to try fur farming as well.

They bought 270 acres of marshland, built dams and stocked it with animals, then waited five years before taking the first pelt harvest. They waited too long, she says. By 1937 muskrat pelt prices had fallen.

When her husband died in 1944 Mrs. Wagner sold the fishing club and concentrated on trapping for an income for herself and the children.



She has filled many other jobs. She has cooked in boys' camps on Stoney Lake and on George's Bay, and at a YMCA camp in the Kawartha lakes. She also owned a bakeshop here, baking her own bread and pastries.

She now is recuperating at home after a stay in hospital following a heart attack. One of her sons carries on the trapping business.

A.F. and A.M. G.R.C. Sponsors Ladies' Night

The ladies reigned as "queens-for-a-night" on Saturday evening when Temple Lodge, A.F. and A.M. No. 666, G.R.C. held its annual "Ladies Night".

Approximately 225 attended the gala event held in the Masonic Temple, on Foster Avenue.

The ladies, as guests-of-honor, were dined, toasted, entertained and presented with corsages and gifts, during the evening.

The Massassaga Woman's Association served a bountiful turkey dinner. This was followed by an entertaining program which was highlighted by an address by Miss Hazel Farley of Trenton.

Miss Farley delighted her audience in the vivid descriptions of various aspects of her trip to, and her stay in, Japan during 1958. She was a member of a group from Canada that attended an East-West Cultural Mission for UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization).

Worshipful Bro. H. F. Mott introduced "the guest speaker and she was thanked by Worshipful Bro. M. R. Davidson.

The program was under the chairmanship of the Master of the lodge, Worshipful Bro. Eugene Rose, who gave a few brief remarks welcoming those present.

The invocation was pronounced by Wor. Bro. James Mastine.

Head table guests and other guests and their wives were introduced by Wor. Bro. R. S. Kirkconnell. Notable among these was Rt. Wor. Bro. Frank G. Creegan; District Deputy Grand Master of Prince Edward District, who expressed delight at being present and extended greetings to all.

A toast to the ladies was proposed by Bro. George Ellarby and responded to by Mrs. Arthur Clare.

Entertainment was provided by The Morrow Sisters of Stirling who sang and by Miss Judy McKnight who performed two Scottish dances in costume. She was accompanied by Mr. Douglas Burns on the bag-pipes.

The interesting program was arranged by the entertainment committee under the chairmanship of Bro. Robert B. Smith.

Fraud Detail Has Woman As Detective

TORONTO (CP)—False cheque artists and fraudulent operators will get a shock if they run into arrest by an attractive young woman.

The feminine fraud-stopper is Acting Detective Joan Coppin, 26, of the fraud detail, the first Toronto policewoman to be promoted to detective rank.

Miss Coppin on leaving school in Toronto worked as a physical training instructress at the Ontario girls' training schools at Cobourg and Galt, Ont., and later joined the Metropolitan Toronto police force.

She became a policewoman after completing the regular training course with the men, and began her duties as a member of the morality squad. She had three years in this before being offered promotion.

"I don't know why they chose me," she said. "I had a few lucky breaks in the morality squad with good arrests, and I suppose this might have influenced them."

Hypnosis Used To Aid Women Lose Weight

NEW YORK (AP) — A physician reports he has hypnotized 42 overweight women into losing more than half a ton.

The study, conducted by Dr. Lawrence B. Winkelstein of Mount Vernon, N.Y., dealt with women 10 to 60 pounds overweight. All weighed less at the end of the treatment period, usually 14 weeks, than they did at the start.

The smallest loss was 9½ pounds and the greatest 58½ pounds.

A report on Winkelstein's study appears in the May 1 issue of the New York State Journal of Medicine.

Only women who appeared easily suggestible under hypnosis and who showed no glandular basis for their excessive weight were used in the study. Most had had no success with other weight-control measures.

Avondale H-S Holds Annual 'Spring Fair'

Friday evening saw a majority turn-out of enthusiastic youngsters and parents to the annual Avondale Home and School "Spring Fair".

In addition to the delightful offerings in the various booths a diversity of entertainment was provided for children of all ages.

The tots enjoyed "cartoon films", shown by Mr. C. Berube, assisted by Mr. Vic De-Paul, followed by an excellent display of "Mystic Magic" by Mr. John Foley from the Ontario School for the Deaf, assisted by Mr. John Kennedy, proving the hand is quicker than the eye.

Through the kindness of Mr. John Wettlaufer in providing the record player and public address system, dancing was enjoyed by the older children and more youthful alike.

Imaginative planning by president, Jay Wonnacott and the combined efforts of executive members and booth conveners alike helped to make this a most enjoyable evening.

Court Sharron Plans Cancer Tag Day

The regular monthly meeting of Court Sharron 11882, Canadian Order of Foresters was held in St. George's Hall last Wednesday evening.

A short meeting was held to deal with the business on hand. Past president, Betty Sweet, is to be the delegate to the convention in London this June.

Tag Day for Cancer to be held June 26 and 27th was discussed and further arrangements will be made at the May meeting.

Margaret Rutan, convener of Marathon Euchre, announced that the schedule had ended for the summer and the winners would receive their prizes later in the evening. After the meeting closed, the rest of the evening was spent playing euchre. Members of Court Belleville No. 736 and friends joined in for the card party. Winners for the evening were: Florence McFarlane, Gilbert Ptolemy and Lavina Lalonde.

The Marathon winners were: 1st prize — Georgina Ptolemy and June S. Rutan; 2nd prize — Marie Murray and Thelma Crossin; consolation Helen Johnston, Lillian Stephens; most lone hands — Edna Sweet.

Refreshments were served by the social committee and everyone enjoyed a wonderful evening.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

SHE RECEIVED NO INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine is to be married next month, and I have been told that the invitations have been sent out. I did not receive one and I'm perplexed and disappointed that I didn't for she has spoken to me several times about her forthcoming wedding, and I just took it for granted that I was to be invited. Would you suggest anything I could properly do about it? Of course I would not go to the wedding without having received an invitation, but yet, if she sent me an invitation now it was lost, she would certainly wonder why I didn't reply to the invitation, didn't come to the wedding. — Wondering

If the bride-to-be is a really intimate friend, and you are sure it is to be a large wedding, I advise that you ask her about the invitation, whether it was sent and perhaps misdirected or lost in the mail. But if she is only an acquaintance, and it's to be a small wedding, I think you should not speak to her about the invitation, and certainly should not go to the wedding.

SOME QUESTIONS FROM THE GROOM-TO-BE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am going to marry a girl from another province. 400 miles from here, and our wedding is to be quite soon. We are to be married on a Saturday morning in a Roman Catholic church in her city. The members of my immediate family will come to the wedding. Her mother and father are going to have a wedding breakfast for the attendants and families after the church ceremony, and an afternoon reception for relatives and friends. What are my financial obligations, if any?

2. What type of attire would my best man, my father and I wear?

3. My mother and father are planning to give a reception for us in the evening of the day following our wedding (that is, Sunday evening). Is some city in the province of the bride at the bridal party? Is it proper for the bride to wear her wedding gown at this reception? Thank you for helping me with these questions. — G. M.

1. You of course pay for the wedding ring and the marriage licence. And you will, I'm sure, give your bride a wedding present the most popular gift for this occasion is a pearl (real or imitation) necklace for your bride to wear at the wedding. You pay for these flowers (though your bride-to-be may choose them and order them); bride's bouquet and her going-away corsage; corsages for both mothers; boutonnieres, for best man, ushers, and for both fathers. In some communities the groom pays for the flowers for the bridal attendants — ask your fiancee about this. You give presents to the best man and ushers. You supply the transportation for your best man and yourself, from where you are staying to the church. And if your best man or any of the ushers are from out-of-town, you pay for their hotel accommodations for the wives, too, of married attendants. And all expenses of the wedding trip.

2. Your mother should get in touch with the mother of your bride-to-be and ask her what type of dress she is to wear; your mother's dress should be of similar type and length, and of a color to harmonize with the dress to be worn by the bride's mother. And your father, who will be the main guest of honor at the wedding, should wear the same type of attire you and the bride's father are to wear.

3. At the reception to be given by your mother and father, it is entirely proper for your bride to wear her wedding gown; she should not wear her bridal veil, nor should she carry a bridal bouquet; and her attendants may also dresses they wore at the wedding.

Suit Lines

This black and blue checked woollen suit makes a fine spring showing. Bound with grosgrain at the collar and down the front, it is squared off at the waistline with a strip of the belting ribbon. It is semifitted, as are so many of the newest suits. A suit that can be dressed up or down easily, it should feel at home in town or country.

A Dinner For Food Fanciers

by Mary Moore

If you are on good terms with your butcher and he respects your wishes when he disappears into the cooler and does what you request then you can go ahead and make Veal Scallopini. If he does not pay attention and gets the meat steakthick you will have a dickens of a time pounding it thin enough for this dish when you get it home.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

TUESDAY

Liver and Bacon and Onions; Limas and Corn; Cheese Wheat Buns; Tomato Jelly Salad; Cake Squares Topped with Fresh Frozen Strawberries and Whipped Cream; Coffee.

This is not for budget watchers. Veal is hovering around the dollar mark per pound, so if it is payday and a heyday you may decide to splurge.

VEAL SCALLOPINI:

Two pounds veal steak cut 1-4" thick or thinner, 1-4 cup flour, 3-4 teaspoon, salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 bouillon cube, 1 cup hot water, 1 8-ounce can seasoned tomato sauce, 1-4 lb. cleaned sliced mushrooms. Pound each piece of veal with steak pounder until very thin. Dredge with mixture of flour and seasonings. Brown until golden in hot fat. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water, pour over meat, and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Pour tomato sauce over, top with mushrooms and continue baking 15 minutes. Serve this on hot buttered broad noodles and as an accompaniment make.

SPINCH SOUFFLE:

Wash and drain well 2 pounds spinach. Cook without adding extra water until it is tender enough to chop. Chop and drain. Make a sauce by blending over low heat 1-3 tablespoons each butter and flour, then stirring in 1 cup milk until thick. Add 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon each freshly ground nutmeg and black pepper. To this sauce add 2 egg yolks, stirring. Stir into chopped spinach. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff and fold in. Bake in greased baking dish at 350 deg. Fahr. (same as Veal Scallopini) for about 40 minutes. Serve this souffle at once.

This recipe for Spicy Orange Slices I do not want to forget to pass on to you. Helen Pollock made them to serve with wild duck and they were a hit. Now it is not every day of the week a wild duck flies over and gets into your freezer, so my next best is to serve these with ham or roast pork.

SPICY ORANGE SLICES:

Six navel oranges, 3 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup hot water, juice of 2 medium lemons, 12 whole cloves. Wash oranges but do not peel them cut into 1-2" slices. Boil together sugar, water, lemon juice and cloves for 5 minutes. Add orange slices and simmer about 30 minutes, until rind begins to get translucent. Serve chilled. These keep well so store leftover arrangements in covered jar in refrigerator until your next dinner party.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Eloise A. — Mother is unreasonable.

Mrs. F. J. — A woman should take care of her own baby.

Eloise A. — I am a woman of 39 who recently had her first child after 15 years of marriage. My husband and I believed that we were unable to have a family and we made our adjustments. I found a lot of satisfaction in my career and managed to go farther than I had ever believed I would. I am just beginning to reap some of the rewards and I would wreck my career if I took time out now to stay home. I have employed a nurse-housekeeper, but I also would like to have my widowed mother live with me — and that is the problem.

Mother has been living alone in the small town where she has spent most of her life. I could give her an interesting life in a large city. She would have no expenses and no work. I just would like her to keep an eye on things while I'm working. This she refutes to do. Isn't that unreasonable?

Mrs. F. J. — Maybe I am stubborn and set in my ways as Eloise says, but I do happen to like my home town where the people are friendly and like me. Eloise keeps telling me how wonderful it is to work, but I don't find much to do there. I don't like all that hustle and bustle and it's hard to get to know people. Eloise says I don't have much adventurous spirit and I guess that's true. Maybe I'm too old.

Anyway, I don't think it's right for a woman to retire to take care of her own baby. Eloise says this is just nonsense and that she is very awkward and could hurt the baby. It's true she is awkward, but I feel that she could learn if she'd try.

Another thing is that I just don't like that housekeeper. We have different ideas about things and if I stayed home all day "keeping an eye" on her we'd wind up feuding.

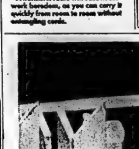
* * *

The council: The accusations that Eloise levels at her mother could be better applied to herself.

She is stubborn, set in her ways, unreasonable and lacks the spirit of adventure.

A new experience, the possibility for exploration of an entirely different way of life has opened before her, but she runs like a frightened animal from this unknown territory.

Rightfully guilty at her attempt to shirk her normal responsibilities she unreasonably seeks to place the burden on her mother.



We don't think Mrs. F. J. has to make excuses. Her position in Eloise's home as a kind of spy over a woman Eloise doesn't completely trust would be most unpleasant. Eloise reveals her gigantic self-centeredness when she fails to appreciate the fact that her mother's way of life is important to her and that she cannot possibly be an authority on the best way of life for another person.

It is fairly evident that Eloise's awkwardness and fear that she could hurt her baby are some of the signs of her rejection of the new life that has come to her. The least experienced woman in the world learns to take care of her own baby when she wants to.

Eloise now feels that she is too old to change her ways and her outlook. But this isn't true. Her own mental attitude has locked her into an emotional strait jacket. She can free herself from this bondage if she will allow herself to listen to some of the promptings of her own heart. These clamoring sounds are now being shut out by an irrational fear of change.

Smith, Attersley Below Par, Wren Blair's Latest Worry

TORONTO (CP) — The two men who according to Whitby Dunlop manager Wren Blair can be the difference between Dunnies winning or struggling for Allan Cup victory are giving the fiery manager trouble.

Blair, a robust little guy whose team blew a chance to take the Allan Cup series in four games straight when they dropped 3-2 to Vernon Canadians Saturday, says playing coach Sid Smith and Bobby Attersley are the big worry.

"Smith hasn't been going in the last two games and I'm really worried about Attersley," he said.

But Blair added that the whole team is determined to be back in shape Wednesday night for the fifth game in the best-of-seven set.

HELD SCORELESS

Attersley—a perennial scoring leader in the Eastern Senior A group—ran up close to 100 scoring points during the regular season but hasn't scored one goal against the British Columbia team.

"Every other year he was a marked man in playoffs because of his reputation," said Blair. "This year he hasn't done anything to scare anybody."

Centreman Attersley is partnered on the line by Smith and George Samolenko. During the season Smith and Attersley combined on almost 70 goals.

Whitby's top scoring line against Vernon is the tough back-checking trio Ray Edwards — Bobby Hassard-Sandy Alr trio with four goals and seven assists.

Blair also said that goalie John Henderson's netminding has been hindered by lack of work. "Vernon hasn't had many shots," he added.

CONTENDING B.C. HOPE

Vernon also has thoughts on goalkeeping. Canadians are banking on another sensational display by goalie Hal Gordon who turned aside 45 Whitby shots Saturday to cement the westerners' win.

Vernon manager George Agar is also concentrating on a stronger attack for the fifth meeting and is goading the team to razor-sharp efficiency. But he said he was happy with the showing of most of the players.

Predictions are that attendance in Wednesday night's game could be the best of the series. A particular many fans from the Whitby-Oshawa area will be in town for "Grand Maple Leaf" opening ball game here and will stay hoping to see the hometown team make the killing. The first three games went 3-2, 3-2 and 6-2 to Whitby.

Quinlan Will Play for Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Defensive end Bill Quinlan has changed his mind and will play with Green Bay Packers of the National Football League, Green Bay official said Monday night.

At his home in Lawrence, Mass., earlier in the day, Quinlan said he was considering a coaching position with Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League. He played with Hamilton in 1954.

Had he taken the post, it would have killed the trade which sent Quinlan and halfback Lew Carpenter from Cleveland Browns to the Packers for offensive end Bill Howton.

Packers business manager Jack Vainisi said he had talked with the 245-pound Quinlan by phone and reached the agreement.

The noise over the Stanley Cup playoffs had calmed to a whisper when Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-ats climbed out on a limb. He had better be right because football fans have long memories.

Trimble, writing in the "Tiger-Cat '59 News", a four-page tabloid-size paper published by the club, said:

"I am stating here that we want the Grey up back in Hamilton and to achieve this we must, and we will be the most improved team in the Big Four in 1958."

TI-CATS FOR CUP

There, in one sentence, the coach has just about wrapped up the Big Four title and the cup for the Ticats. It should sell tickets for Hamilton league games, which is the aim of the politician, but it certainly won't scare Western Canada football fans.

Westerners recall with great glee Trimble's prediction last November when he said Ticats would whip Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the cup final at Vancouver. Ticats slouched off the field, losers of a tight 35-28 game, and Trimble hasn't lived it down yet.

It Ticats are the most improved club in the Big Four when the players start knocking heads for keeps in August, Toronto Argonauts, Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes may as well give the Tabbies the title by default. Last year Ticats romped through the 16-game schedule and playoffs, winning much as they pleased.

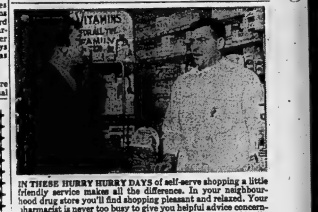
His two aunts also are named Betty and things were a little confusing, says Cam (Saskatoon Star - Phoenix) McKenie, until town folks hit on the idea of referring to the wives as Betty-Bev, Betty-Doug and Betty-Max. . .

With excitement high in Winnipeg for the Peterborough Petes-Winnipeg Braves best - of - seven Memorial cup playoffs, Jack (Winnipeg Tribune) Matheson recalls the last time a Winnipeg club won the cup. It happened in 1926 when the Monarchs, 6-1 underdogs, defeated Toronto St. Michael's College in a rousing set that went the full seven games.

The last match of that series at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens drew a crowd of 12,801, a record for amateur hockey in the Gardens. Remarks Matheson the clincher "is to read what Matheson says . . . "one of the most stirring sagas in Canadian sport."



TUDDED WITH STARS

St. Mike's that year were loaded with future National Hockey League stars. Included in the list were defenceman Red Kelly, who later went to Detroit Red Wings; and forwards Ted Kelly, who later went to Detroit Red Wings; and forwards Ted Sloan, Les Costello, Eddie Standford and Fleming Mackell—all with the exception of Costello — with NHL clubs.

Not one of the Monarchs players hit the big time. . .

Petes, Braves Play Big One Tonight

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Peterborough Petes and Winnipeg Braves, tied at one game apiece, meet tonight in the third game of their best-of-seven Memorial Cup final, a game which observers feel will be the tip-off as to the eventual winner.

Junior hockey followers here—and there are plenty since Braves host the tough Flin Flon Bombers in the western final—are wondering whether Winnipeg is as good as he 5-2 victory in the second game Sunday, or whether Petes got over confident after they'd built in the opener Friday night.

PETES' WORKOUT

Coach Scotty Bowman of the Petes is looking for better shooting from his players after a 45-minute workout Monday. Petes missed many good scoring opportunities Sunday.

Bowman also hopes Wayne Connelly, high - scoring right winger, will break out of his slump. Connelly has failed to score in the two games so far and has collected only two assists.

Bowman also believes that goalkeeper Dennis DeJordy can better his performance of Sunday, although he was well beaten on most of the five that got by him. DeJordy has stopped 54 shots in the two games, compared with 40 by a rival Ernie Wakely.

WINNIPEG RESTS

Winnipeg coach Bill Allum gave his team "a well-deserved rest" after Sunday's bruising game.

While it was a rest from hockey, several players had to go back to work, while the remainder attended school.

Both teams took time out Monday night to attend the fourth annual Memorial Cup dinner at a downtown hotel.

Four Teams Will Start in Softball League

The managers of the Belleville and District Softball league teams turned thumbs down on a proposed entry from Campbellford last night and at the same time invited another Belleville team to join the league.

Group definite starters, all returnees from last season are Belleville Bobcats, Point Anne Comedineers, Trenton Jaycees and Trenton. One of the representatives at last night's meeting stated that if Campbellford was allowed to enter the loop, his team would be out.

Travelling was said to be the reason for the thumbs down vote. The first man over the fence "no" said that he had consulted his players as to whether they would be travel to Campbellford and had been told no.

Another representative said that while he agreed that the extra travelling would be inconvenient he felt that the league should have more than four teams. He also agreed in feeling that another team should be admitted. However, it was stated if one team was going to be discontent with an entry from Campbellford, the others agreed to turn down the application.

An invitation was issued at this point to Bob Bialnd to enter his Sports Centre team from the city commercial league. Bialnd said that he had considered the possibility earlier and felt that he could field a contending team if he could obtain a little more pitching strength.

After a lengthy discussion Bialnd was given a couple of days to come up with his answer. He said that he would begin work immediately to try and get at least one more good pitcher. The Sports Centre team topped the Commercial loop last year and entered the OASA playdowns against the Bobcats, bowing out in a surprisingly hard-fought series. The team is alleged to be much stronger this season.

President Harry Morgan said that Campbellford had announced at the last meeting that they wanted to be included as a definite starter but that the other managers had not been there to vote on the matter. Campbellford was not represented last night and Secretary Bialnd said that attempts to contact the team about last night's meeting had failed. Cobourg, Point Anne and Trenton were represented and Bobcats sent word that the club was definitely an entry.

The league schedule will open with at least four entries and likely five, on Monday, May 18. The Bobcats will open at Point Anne on that holiday date. Point Anne announced that another tremendous fireworks display had been planned following the ball game.

Other games tentatively scheduled for opening week are: Thursday, May 21, Cobourg at Trenton; Friday, May 22, Trenton at Bobcats; Saturday, May 23, Point Anne at Cobourg. If Sports Centre enters another game will be scheduled for Wednesday May 20.

The entry fee was set at $25 per team, an increase of $5 from the previous season. All entry fees must be in the secretary's hands by this weekend.

The league will complete its schedule around June 18 with playoffs to follow prior to the OASA playdowns.

Cobourg and Trenton will play night games with the other clubs playing twilight affairs.

Trenton will use Belleville umpires for its home games while Cobourg will supply its own umpires until the playoffs begin.

Each team chose a favorite night for home games with Bobcats taking Friday, Trenton Thursday, Cobourg Saturday, Sports Centre Wednesday and Point Anne any nights except Friday and Saturday.

Bay of Quinte Umpires' Association president Al Kelleher was present to discuss matters which the teams want in effect as to starting times, late arrivals, the visiting teams' infield and other such matters.

Cushenan, Hay Back to Hawks

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens announced Monday that defenceman Ian Cushenan has been repurchased by the Chicago Black Hawks and that centre Bill (Red) Hay, with flashy last season, has been traded to the Hawks in another deal.

Amount involved in the cash sale of Cushenan was not announced. Cushenan was bought from Chicago last fall when Montreal defenceman Junior Langlois received a shoulder separation during training - camp workouts.

Cushenan was kept throughout the season. He scored one goal and two assists. He was with the National Hockey League Hawks in the 1957-58 season and for part of the previous season, going to Chicago from Cleveland of the American Hockey League. He is a 190-pounder and 25 years old. His home is in St. Catharines, where he played junior hockey.

Completion of the deal for Hay has made after the next trading camp period, when Canadiens will acquire one or more players. Hay is 5-foot-10, six feet, three inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. With Calgary of the Western Hockey League this last season he scored 24 goals and 30 assists in 52 games. His home is in Calgary.

Campbell Says Pay Television Could Be Close

TORONTO (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League says sports fans should relax and enjoy those sports spectacles which are now on television because "pay TV may be closer than you think."

Campbell told the Toronto Metropolitan Home Builders' Association increasing production costs in the televising of sport might well lead to subscription viewing in the near future.

"Closed-circuit television may be the final answer to the problem of costs which neither the sponsor nor the Canadian taxpayer is willing to pay," he said.

The amount the sponsors are able to pay was reaching its limit.

On sports trends in general, Campbell praised the NHL policy of what he called trying to maintain a balance of skill between teams. Uncertainty as to the results of games would produce a greater interest in the skill of the teams rather than victory at all costs.

Big Ontario Brook Trout Wins Another

NEW YORK (CP) — Erle Ziel's big Ontario brook trout has won him another prize in Field and Stream's annual fishing contest.

The nine-pounder from Trout Lake in the Algoma district, which placed first in the brook trout open division, also takes a spinning award in the final list of results announced in the authoritative outdoor magazine's May issue.

Ziel, of Muskegon, Mich., caught it last May 11 on an eggsinger daredevle.

The awards go to the biggest fish of each species caught on spinning tackle. A notable winner is a 23-pound, seven-ounce northern pike caught by Gilles Morin of Normandin, Que.

Many anglers consider the pike tough to land on spinning gear, but Morin used a wobbling lure to take his winner from Lac a la Carpe 60 miles west of Chicoutimi. No muskies made the spinning awards.

16 Bang-Tails Go to Post In Derby Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The boom or bust Kentucky Derby hopes of 16 three-year-olds were to go on the line today in the Derby Trial, final tuneup before Saturday's $125,000-added classic.

The top eight or 10 performers in the trial, split into two divisions for the first time in history, probably will be among those going to the post in the Derby.

Finegan, standard - bearer of California, headed the field of eight in the first division of the trial at early odds of 6 to 5. First Landing, last year's two-year-old champ from the East, was an even-money favorite to win the second division.

Both were to carry 122 pounds compared with derby weights of 126. Each division was worth $15,000-added money.

Chris Rogers, a native of Hamilton, Ont., was to ride Troilus, the Flamingo winner going off at early odds of 9-to-2 in the same division, as Finegan.

Port Vale 4th Division Soccer Champs

LONDON (Reuters) — Port Vale, cup semi - finalists five years ago, Monday night became the first winners of the English league Fourth Division soccer championship.

Port Vale defeated Millwall 5-2 in their last game to total 64 points from 46 games.

Coventry City, the nearest challenger, was defeated 2-1 at Hartlepools United and ended with 60 points.

Port Vale led Millwall by two goals but Millwall equalized in a great rally. A burst of two goals in four minutes made the championship of the newly-instituted Fourth Division safe for Port Vale.

Sheffield United took third place in the Second Division, behind Sheffield Wednesday and Fulham, by tying 1-1 at home with Cardiff.

London Winning Many Pals, Champ May Take $200,000

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Staff Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Floyd Patterson has been called the "unknown champion" often of late. When he hears about it he must laugh to himself. He probably would laugh out loud if he were the type.

For with his title defence against England's Brian London this Friday night, the heavyweight king's earnings in less than seven years of pro fighting will go over the $1,000,000 mark.

From that Sept. 12 night in 1952 when he collected $179 for his first pro fight right through his last effort on Aug. 18, 1958, when he slopped Roy Harris, the quiet, mannerly Patterson has earned $904,000 in the ring.

Of course Uncle Sam and manager Cus D'Amato got their cuts but it still left a good chunk for the once-retarded youth.

This city is doing its share to help the bushed-for - Patterson movement. The 24 - year - old champion figures to earn in the neighborhood of $200,000 including the television fee, against the lowly-ranked Britisher.

CITY'S FIRST BIG FIGHT

Indianapolis won this fight almost as an afterthought and is doing its utmost to make it a hit. They may scrom the fight is England and elsewhere, but here they're taking it dead seriously. It's Indianapolis' first championship fight.

In less than two weeks close to 480,000 has been taken in at the box office. Tids fight may draw $125,000, which would put it in the black.

London, a cliff-jawed, 24-year-old husky, has made a lot of friends here. He has gone out of his way do be pleasant, much to the astonishment of the big British press corps 'which followed him here.

The six-foot, 206-pound Briton has looked fair in his workouts. He has displayed fast hands but nothing much else in his drills with Dusty Rhodes. The latter, interestingly enough, used to be Patterson's sparmate. London and Rhodes went three rounds Monday.

Both London and Patterson expect to wind up their boring with today's workout. Patterson's punching was very fast Monday as he slopped Roy Harris, the quiet, mannerly Patterson has earned close to the form he showed in knocking out Archie Moore for the title in 1956.

FLOORS SPARMATE

The six-foot, 183-pound champion floored sparmate Ike Thomas in the first round with a leaping right hand that was followed by a sizzling left-right combination to the head.

"I feel fast and sharp," said Patterson.

Floyd wouldn't make any flat prediction. He doesn't low-rate London and the odds mean nothing to him.

"He was the British champion and he ranks No. 4 now," said Floyd. "He can be a good fighter and I am preparing to meet a strong opponent."

GOLFER'S WILL DISCLOSED

LONDON (AP) — Philip Scrutton Bulkley Walker Cup golfer killed in an auto crash last October, left £542,188 ($1,518,972) in his will made public Monday. Scrutton played on Britain's Walker Cup team against the United States in 1955 and 1957.

Warrior Suit Is Settled Out of Court

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League have settled out of court for $20,000 in their $125,000 suit against Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, it was learned Monday.

The western club sued the two NHL clubs on grounds they failed to live up to an agreement to provide Warriors with players of Western Hockey League calibre in the 1956-57 season.

It was learned that formal dismissal of the action will be sought this week in Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench, which ruled in favor of Warriors in February but set no damages.

Earlier, the court ordered the NHL clubs to return $12,500 which Warriors had paid to them, as a percentage of profits for the season.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Players from the Montreal Canadiens dominate the 1958-59 National Hockey League all-star team. Four of the six members on the First Team were members of Canadiens, while the other two positions were held down by players from the New York Rangers.

The First Team lined up as follows: goal, Jacques Plante, Canadiens; defence, Tom Johnson, Canadiens, and Bill Gadsby, Rangers; centre, Jean Beliveau, Canadiens; right wing, Andy Bathgate, Rangers, and left wing, Dickie Moore, Canadiens. Two of the players were re-peaters from last year's official First Team. They were Bill Gadsby and Dickie Moore.

Only three of this year's all-star team held down similar positions on the team selected at the half-way mark of the 1958-59 season. They were: Tom Johnson, Andy Bathgate and Dickie Moore. Plante, Beliveau and Gadsby moved up from the Second Team at the mid-way mark. Dickie Moore polled more points than any other player. He polled 276 out of a perfect 288.

Balloting for the all-star teams was carried out by a panel of hockey writers, broadcasters and telecasters and a unanimous choice for both the first and second halves would poll 180 points — 90 points for each half. Points were awarded on the basis of five for a first choice, three for a second and one for a third.

Each member of the First Team receives $1,000 from the National Hockey League while members on the Second Team receive $500 apiece. The First and Second all-star teams for 1958-59 and the number of points compiled by each player is as follows:

FIRST TEAM		SECOND TEAM
		Goal
Plante, Canadiens	(145)	Sawchuk, Detroit	(98)
		Defence
Johnson, Canadiens	(139)	Pronovost, Detroit	(95)
		Defence
Gadsby, Rangers	(106)	Harvey, Canadiens	(92)
		Centre
Beliveau, Canadiens	(133)	H. Richard, Canadiens	(55)
		Right Wing
Bathgate, Rangers	(152)	Howe, Detroit	(90)
		Left Wing
Moore, Canadiens	(176)	Delvecchio, Detroit	(36)

Voting for the centre position on the Second All-Star Team was the closest it's been in years. Richard second out Don McKenney of Boston by a single point. Richard polled 55 points to McKenney's 54. Fru Flamin and Boom Boom Geoffrion, members of the Second Team at the halfway mark, were supplanted by Doug Harvey and Gordie Howe respectively.

This is the first time that Tom Johnston and Andy Bathgate have made the National Hockey League First Team. Johnson was on the Second Team in 1955-56, while Bathgate was right wing on the Second Team a year ago.

The 1958-59 all-star team marked the fourth time that Jean Beliveau made the First Team in the last five years. Last year he made the Second Team. Bill Gadsby has made the Number One team three times in the past four years, and the year he missed the First Team, 1955-56, found him on the second squad.

Terry Sawchuk, goalie on the Second Team, headed Plante at the half-way mark in the voting. Sawchuk was All-Star goalkeeper on the First Team three times and twice on the Second Team prior to this season. This was the second year in a row that Marcel Pronovost has won a defence berth on the Second Team.

Doug Harvey made the Second Team this year but it was the first time he failed to make the No. One aggregation in eight years. He held down the First Team post for seven consecutive seasons. Henri Richard was a member of the First Team last year. Another player who has moved back to the Second Team after a lengthy sojourn on the First Team was Gordie Howe. The big right winger has been on either the First or Second Team for 16 of the last 11 years. He has made the First Team on six occasions and the Second Team four times. He missed both teams in 1954-55.

Alex Delvecchio, left winger on the Second Team, was named to the alternate team in 1952-53, but he was named as a centre that time. Delvecchio is one of four Detroit players to make the Second Team. The others being Sawchuk, Pronovost and Howe. Canadiens placed two men on the alternate crew, Harvey and Henri Richard.

Youngest player on this year's All-Star Team is Andy Bathgate of New York. He is 26 years of age. Tom Johnson and Bill Gadsby, the defencemen, are the oldsters at 31. The other ages are: Jacques Plante, 30; Jean Beliveau, 27; and Dickie Moore, 28. Average age of this year's team is 28.8 years.

Dodgers Rule Roost; Casey's 'Gotta Do Something'

Hand Pirates 9-3 Whipping To Make It One Game Lead; Yankees Rate Sub-Par .500

By ED WILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Virtually no one but the other players in the National League considered the Los Angeles Dodgers a threat for the pennant. And even the players would shrug when they explained that the Dodgers "were too good to be seventh last year."

So who's in first? The Dodgers.

They made it a one-game lead Monday night, whipping Pittsburgh 9-3 with a five-run first inning. That supplied all the cushion Don Drysdale needed to beat the Pirates for the first time since 1957.

It was the lanky right-hander's third consecutive victory after losing his first decision of the season and he did it with a six-hitter.

ONLY 4 GAME IN MAJORS

That was the only game played in the majors Monday. Only two others were scheduled, both in the National League and they were postponed by rain.

Manager Fred Haney's planned benching of left fielder Wes Covington and shortstop Johnny Logan was shelved when his defeating champion Milwaukee Braves had to call off their game with the Chicago Cubs. The San Francisco Giants, in third place but only a game shy of the Dodgers along with the second place Braves, also were idle by rain at Philadelphia.

The Dodgers' manager Gil Hodges the only holdover from the old guard in the lineup, chased without Less George Witt, the sophomore who figured prominently in Pittsburgh's pennant plans, before he retired a man. That left the young right-hander with an 0-3 record and put the Pirates seventh, four games off the pace.

Witt, who troubled by a painful elbow this spring, wirked the first two men he faced, then left after Wally Moon beat out an infield hit and Don Demeter lined a two-run single. Don Zimmer also singled home a pair and Drysdale singled home another before reliever Roo Blackburn retired the side.

Hodges tripled home a run in the fourth for the Dodgers, who had 11 hits, and they scouted another in the fifth on a single by Charlie Neal, his second of the night and the last in a string of seven he began Sunday in St. Louis.

That gave Drysdale a 7-0 lead before the Pirates bunched three hits for a sixth-inning run, on Smoky Burgess' double. They got their other two in the ninth, on another Burgess double, two walks and a pair of outs before Drysdale ended it by making Ramon Mejias his seventh strikeout victim.

In Milwaukee, Haney gave his pitching staff a vote of confidence as the best in the league after a three-game pounding at Cincinnati that saw the Reds swing for 41 hits and 25 runs and knock the champs out of first place by taking the last two games of the series.

It's the hitters, not the pitchers, who have Haney upset, though Braves collected only one less hit than the Reds in the three games while losing 7-6 and 11-10 after winning the series opener 10-7.

Covington, the slugger Haney terms "our big guy" is batting .229 and has yet to homer. Logan's average is a mere .171.

FEWER UNEMPLOYED

LONDON (CP) — The number of people unemployed in Britain dropped by 58,000 to 551,000 in February, says the ministry of labor.

Not since 1952 have the New York Yankees been a sub-.500 ball club going into their first meeting with the west in an American League pennant race. But that's the way the defending world champions stand as they open a 10-game tour at Chicago tonight.

With the Yankees having their troubles, the western clubs dominate the standings. And it's the Baltimore Orioles, still chirping after a three-game sweep at New York, who have the unfamiliar role of spearheading the invasion by the eastern teams.

The Cleveland Indians, holding only a one-game lead over Chicago after the White Sox swept the last three in a four-game weekend series, are at home to the Boston Red Sox, tied with the Yankees for fifth.

The Orioles open at Detroit and the Washington Senators play at Kansas City.

STENGEL CONCERNED

With his Yankees below .500 for the first time at any stage of the race since 1954, manager Casey Stengel conceded that "a lot of things are wrong, and I just gotta do something." One move might be the return of Gil McDougald to shortstop, with Tony Kubek going to the bench.

McDougald has been out of the starting line-up for more than a week, after being hit on the hand by a pitch. Kubek, whose batting order shakeup, Norman admits "nothing works. It looks like we are snake-bit."

Leafs, Royals Open at Home On Wednesday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two Canadian teams in the triple-A International Hockey League arrived in their bases, Toronto at Montreal, Monday and began preparations for their home openers Wednesday.

The Maple Leafs will play host to Havana's Cuban Sugar Kings in Toronto and Montreal Royals will entertain Miami Marlins.

In the only games played Monday, Miami defeated Rochester Red Wings 5-4 in 11 innings and Havana edged Buffalo Bisons 7-6. Other games are scheduled today.

Toronto manager Dixie Walker admitted his Leafs, who have a record of seven wins and eight losers, weren't exactly brilliant in their first swing around the southern circuit. Nevertheless, he says, they have an excellent chance to win the pennant.

Walker said the Leafs' hitting, weak at the start, is improving, especially that of Dave Pope, who hit .316 for San Diego of the Pacific Coast League last year. Their pitching would look better when the fielding improved.

CASTRO CAN'T COME

Captain Felipe Guerra, bearded sports director for Cuba and described as a right-hand man of Fidel Castro, was to arrive in Toronto by plane today, along with Bobby Maduro, president of the Havana ball club. Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, who was to have thrown out the first ball, was forced to cancel his visit because of a conference in South America.

Montreal Mayor Sarto Fournier is to throw out the first ball in the Royals' home opener, scheduled like the Toronto game for 3 p.m. EDT. Veteran Babe Birrer is Montreal manager Clay Bryant's pitching choice. The Royals arrived home with a 6-8 won-lost record, which puts them in the league cellar.

Rochester's Wings were glad to leave Miami after a disastrous series in which they slumped from first place to third. Marlin catcher Johnny Bucha singled in the team's winning run in the 11th inning Monday night, duplicating his 10th - inning effort against Wings last Saturday.

ROCHESTER PROTESTS

The victory, credited to Wilson Parzano, Miami's fifth pitcher, won't be official until league president Frank Shaughnessy rules on a protest by Rochester manager Cot Deal. Deal protested the fourth Miami run.

A four-run Havana sixth inning stood up against Buffalo as Ted Wieand pitched his first victory in three decisions. Tony Gonzalez' two - run double and Borrego Alvarez' two-run homer did the damage. Frank Herrera belted a three-run homer and Joe Caffie a bases-empty home run for the Bisons.

Trout Season

Southern Waters Ice Free But It's Different Up North

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Southern Ontario anglers will have plenty of open water for trout fishing when the season opens Friday but their Northern Ontario counterparts may have to stick to dry casting in their backyards for a week or so.

A Canadian Press survey shows lakes in Southern Ontario are mainly clear following two weeks of warm weather and water levels are average for this time of year.

But in the north most top trout waters are reported still ice-locked and anglers may have to wait about a week for a crack at hooking speckled, lake, rainbow, Kamloops, brown and aurora trout, splake and ouananiche. It is legal, though, to fish for speckled trout through the ice. The limit per day is one fish plus 14, provided the additional 14 weigh no more than 10 pounds. An exception is Elgin, Middlesex and Norfolk counties, where it is one and an additional nine, the nine weighing not more than five pounds. Minimum size is seven inches.

11 POUNDS TOPS IN '58

An 11-pound rainbow landed in the Nottawasaga River near Alliston, 30 miles northwest of Toronto, was the best catch '58 opening day last year. Forms were used as bait.

Ice fishermen recently hauled in a 45-pound lake trout near Geraldton. They haven't revealed where it was caught.

The season already is open for fishers in many areas with a five-a-day limit, any size, except in Lake Simcoe where the limit is two. Good catchers are reported in many areas.

Most anglers are expected to favor minnows and worms for bait when the season opens as the trout will be near the bottom in cold water and it is still too early for flies.

The trout season ends Sept. 15.

There are five-a-day limits for muskoops and aurora trout and a three-a-day limit for splake, a cross between lake and speckled trout. For rainbow, the limit is five a day and seven-inch minimum.

Reports from various districts include:

Peterborough — water clear, levels good, good opening expected. "The roads are better than usual and fishermen should have no trouble reaching their favorite spots," says government biologist Charles Weir of Lindsay.

Gall—Creeks clear and water levels normal.

Niagara Peninsula — Effingham and St. Johns tributaries of Twelve Mile Creek are in excellent condition. Brown trout can usually be found in hydro impoundments.

Owen Sound—Conditions excellent with Georgian Bay, inland lakes and streams clear. Fishing for rainbow trout is expected to be good in the Pottawatami, Sydenham, Leith rivers and in Meaford and Thornbury areas.

North Bay—Ice not expected to hinder fishing; Trout Lake, renowned for its ouananiche or land-locked salmon (limit, one a day) open and ice-free.

Sault—Ice covers most lakes and Michipicoten area not expected to be open for a month.

Belleville — water levels high and North Hastings lakes ice-bound; fishing expected to improve in a week.

Canadian Team Complete for Pan-American

TORONTO (CP) — Bob Pitsu, 29-year-old chemical engineering student at the University of Sherbrooke, who belies people around to his sports. He is becoming a veteran in international amateur boxing circles.

The dark-haired middleweight from Windsor Mills, Que., holder of the Canadian title in the 165-pound division since 1957, was chosen early today for Canada's lineman to the Pan - American Games at Chicago next August.

Last year he earned a spot on Canada's British Empire Games squad, but a face injury slowed up his training and he was sidelined early in the competition.

WINS BY TKO

Pitsu got his second free trawelling ticket in two years with a third - round technical knockout over Al Branch, Montreal-born fireman stationed at Cold Lake, Alta., in the Canadian championship and games trials Monday night.

Other team members are:

Featherweight Gaby Mancini and lightweight Raoul Sarrain, both of Montreal; bantam Al Chabot of Lumby, B.C.; lightheavy Lindy Lindmoser of Vancouver and heavyweight Gil Lynch of Calgary.

Officials said Col. Jerry Vanstone of London, Ont., and stationed at Dartmouth, N.S., would make the trip in place of Chabot if the 17-year-old westerner was unable to go. Vanstone lost a three-round decision to Chabot.

Officials said also that they had to pass up fly-weight champ Walter Henry of Orillia because the Hong Kong native didn't measure up to strict international citizenship rules.

Henry scored a technical knockout over 19-year-old Frank Fortino of Niagara Falls, Ont., at 1:37 of the first round.

Sarrain outpointed Pte. Andy Cromwell of Dartmouth, N.S., now stationed in Winnipeg, to take the lightweight crown.

36-SECOND KO

Lindmoser had an easy time with a 36-second knockout over Gnr. Jim McNeil from Glace Bay, N.S., dropping King with a short uppercut to the jaw.

Dave Mathew, 17-year - old high-school student from Niagara Falls, impressed the selectors with his decision over Rejean Bergeron of St. Jerome, Que., but was forced to decline the trip due to pressure of studies.

In the light-welter class at 139 pounds, Claude Labonte of Montreal outpointed Al Quinney of Niagara Falls to win.

British Bookies Clip Odds On a London

LONDON (AP) — British bookies have clipped the betting odds against Brian London taking the world heavyweight championship from Floyd Patterson to 7 to 1.

Previously the bookies rated the 24-year-old Briton a 10-to-1 betting underdog for Friday's title fight in Indianapolis.

The change in the betting has little to do with how the bookies estimate London's chances. It is purely betting business.

Many Britons have backed London at 10 to 1. Now the bookies have decided it's time to cut their losses—just in case London pulls off one of the biggest upsets in pre-fight history.

Patterson remained a 10-to-1 betting shot. That means a bettor would have to bet $10 to win $1. A better taking London would win $7 for a $1 bet.

Betting is legal in Britain, and those odds prove what little chance the folk at home think London has against Patterson.

Lucile Wheeler Is Winner Lou Marsh Memorial Trophy

TORONTO (CP) — Lucile Wheeler of St. Jovite, Que., Canada's first world skiing champion, Monday was named winner of the Lou Marsh Memorial Trophy as the outstanding Canadian athlete in 1958. She is the first skier to win the trophy in its 23-year history.

The five-man board of judges decided that Miss Wheeler, who won the world slalom and downhill ski championships at Bad Gastein, Austria, in February 1958, ranked above Toronto's world champion figure - skating pair of Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul.

The 24-year-old Miss Wheeler was also chosen Canada's female athlete of the year in the 34th annual Canadian Press year-end sports poll last year.

Nine other athletes from curling, hockey, football, horse racing, hockey and golf were nominated. They were:

Curler Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, who skipped three Dominion championship rinks; light-heavyweight boxer Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B.; football's Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders, Ron Howell of Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Gerry James of Winnipeg Blue Bombers; Jockey Johnny Longden; Charlie Burns of the world's amateur hockey champions Whitby Dunlops and Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League; and golfers Al Balding of Toronto and Stan Leonard Vancouver.

BUG-AIDS RESEARCH — Dr. W. F. Baldwin (left) and T. M. Salthouse of the biology branch of Atomic Energy of Canada are shown examining a South American "kissing bug" (insert) with a microscope. Dr. Baldwin and Mr. Salthouse discovered that the small, blood-sucking bug has characteristics suitable for study on the mystery of why insects are especially resistant to radiation. Their studies could lead to methods which would help reduce the effects of radiation on man. (CP Photo).

S.A. Blood-Sucking Insect Aids Scientists in Study of Effects of A-Radiation

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—A small, blood-sucking insect from South America is helping scientists here in their search for information on the effects of atomic radiation on living cells.

Its scientific name is Rhodnius prolixus, but it has been nicknamed the "kissing bug" because it finds the lips of animals a good source of blood.

Research with the insect may lead to methods to reduce the effects of radiation on man.

Dr. W. F. Baldwin and T. M. Salthouse of the biology branch of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited learned more than a year ago that the kissing bug might have characteristics suitable for solving the mystery of why insects are especially resistant to radiation.

HARDY INSECTS

Some insects can survive a dose of radiation two or three hundred times the amount required to kill a human.

Biologists at this Crown project were interested in the kissing bug's changing habits under certain conditions of food supply and exposure to radiation.

Researchers have believed that the resistance of insects to radiation might be due to the absence of cell divisions, but this has been difficult to prove with ordinary insects.

The Kissing bug, like other insects, sheds its coat or moults several times in growing to adulthood. But it is unique for two characteristics.

1. cells under the body wall must divide simultaneously when a new coat is being formed and cell division and moulting occur only after it gorges on blood sucked from an animal.

YEAR BETWEEN MEALS

After one feeding it can wait for as long as a year, with its cells in a non-dividing or resting state, before it must have another meal. In this state it is difficult to kill with radiation and small areas of its body can be exposed to high doses of radiation without any damage appearing.

Small spots on young bugs have been subjected to 2,000,000 — volts of x-rays. The resting cells have remained completely normal in function.

But the x-rays caused damage — in hidden form. When the insects again, parts of the body not exposed to x-rays moulted normally. However, the parts which had been exposed developed blisters due to the failure of the cells to multiply and produce a new skin.

"This cell behavior seems to explain why in man and other mammals a radiation burn often takes a few days to show itself—the cells can continue to function until the need for cell division arises," Dr. Baldwin said.

ADULT RESISTANCE

"It also explains why adult insects are so resistant to radiation for their body cells never have to divide once the insects are fully grown. While some control of radiation damage has been possible in Rhodnius, there is little chance that man can imitate the insects and make himself highly radiation-resistant by stopping his cell divisions, but he might be able to reduce the effects of radiation."

Much remains to be learned about the chain of events in the damaging of living cells exposed to radiation.

Dr. Baldwin obtained six insects from England. By breeding them in incubators he has increased the supply to 1,000 at any one time. This year 5,000 will be used in experiment.

Rhodnius is one-sixteenth of an inch long and pink when it emerges from its egg. It grows to one-half inch in length and turns dark brown.

Its body is oval-shaped and flat; its head elongated carrying two antenna and two bulbous eyes and it has six long legs. It has a beak through which it sucks blood. Its only food. An adult can consume 12 times its own weight of blood in one feeding and does not hesitate to "hijack" blood from another Rhodnius.

Gina Lollobrigida Unhappy Over Option Held by Hughes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gina Lollobrigida has finally made it to Hollywood for a movie—Never So Few with Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford. She has proved a delightful, interview subject, speaking without inhibition about such matters as:

Brigitte Bardot: "I like her very much. I think she is very sexy. But I could not do what she does—appear in the nude. I have never done it and never will."

Sophia Loren: "I know the journalists have tried to work up a feud between us. It is not true. There isn o feud."

Howard Hughes: "Howard Hughes?"

The mention of that magic name is apt to evoke a spate of Italian invective, plus some American cuss words she claims she learned from Hughes himself.

HELD CONTRACT

The reason for Gina's fire is a contract that she signed with Hughes when she was virtually unknown in 1950.

"Not a contract, but an option," she explained. "It was enough to keep me from working in Hollywood. All the big studios were afraid to combat such a powerful man as Hughes. They won't hire me. Even today, people here say to me, 'Gina, how can you work for MGM when you belong to Howard Hughes?' The option runs two years ago.

"He even tried to prevent producers in Europe from hiring me. But he could not scare them."

Happily for Hollywood, the Hughes phase of her career is over. She admitted that her career may have suffered because she had to pass up good roles. But she was able to consolidate her draw with U.S. audiences by appearing in such American-made projects overseas as Trapeze and the forthcoming Salomon and Sheba.

Tuesday, April 28

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — particular about completing overt acts and affairs that impress your superiors favorably, or their omission may be less of prestige and back for you. Be very civic minded and put your finest effort in work.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — have only to search in order to find the vital date you need at this time. But this is a real effort and a will power that perseveres doggedly. ve behind any dull-doldrum rk you may have and branch quickly.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — back awhile and concentrate on your relative position with others vital to your well-being and happiness. Then get in with experts for advice how to handle people and rs so that there is great success, harmony.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Fine day to have conferences with most intelligent and dynamic associates so that you can iron out any disagreement or problem and find a more efficient way of operating in the future. Then put wheels in motion quickly.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) — Determination will win out now in any labors that are important to perform. Give a pat on the back to fellow workers, too, and get priceless co-operation. P. M. get clothing in good order and take health treatments you need.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Use spare time to enhance your good looks so that you have a magnetic quality about you. Later, have conferences at lunch eon or dinner with those persons on whom you rely for support and uplift. Be charming and adroit.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 22) — Sit down and clear up any misunderstandings at home before making changes there that will bring about more ideal conditions. Be sure to get utilities in good running order first thing.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You can shop very wisely today, bring in the right supplies, accessories, etc. Also a good day for making lucrative deals, closing big deals, being very productive.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — See that you get your surroundings freshened up with new paint, paper, adding touches of charm here and there. Also, concentrate on how to increase present abundance through modern methods of expression. P. M. fix budget.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Another good day for increasing own personal scope in both social and business spheres. And particularly fine for artistic endeavors. Be sure you get your appearance and health improved at the hands of experts. Be happy.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Excellent day for quiet reflection that will show you just how you have progressed in recent months. Make plans for further advancement, then get busy cleaning, scouring, attending to all sanitation and hygiene tasks.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Best time to be with right people, whether in small or large groups, since you are feeling very magnetic and happy and they will support whatever ideas constructive nature you may have. P. M. be generous and sociable in nth degree.

If your child is born today ... The strong and healthy child born today will grow up to be a so-called pillar of the community, but it is important that you give good training in the spiritual and ethical principles of everyday living for best results here. Being too practical would spell an otherwise wonderful chart. Fine horoscope for the business tycoon, even though early childhood may be spent in rather stringent poverty.

barrassing to Castro and his government.

Castro, in Houston, Tex., again denied his regime was giving any backing to any Panamanian group. He summoned his younger brother Raul, commander of the Cuban armed forces, to Houston, raising speculation that he and Raul or the entire Castro brothers conferred for several hours. Fidel denied there was any disagreement between them.

MacDonald Says Full Gas Story Not Yet Known

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario CCF Leader Donald MacDonald said Monday night that evidence has yet been that at least three Ontario cabinet Ministers were involved in natural gas investments "and the full story is not yet known."

In a CBC provincial affairs telecast the CCF leader said:

"Premier Frost refused to bring former mines minister Phil Kelly before the bar of the House to explain his charge that others were involved because he is still desperately attempting to keep this mess covered up.

"Premier Frost is not interested in debating this issue, in Massey Hall, in Lindsay, or anywhere else, for a debate might show what his government is attempting to hide.

"The government has stated that if it is going to the people on its record in this election. Well, the greatest challenge facing the Frost government will be not to enlighten the people but rather to keep them in the dark regarding significant parts of its record."

Text of Mr. MacDonald's speech was given to the press before delivery.

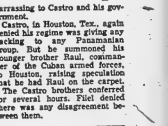
is supplying Panama's 3,000-man defence force with small arms. Under the U.S. Mutual Security Act, any member of the OAS is eligible for military assistance and supplies in an emergency.

The Panamanian government claims the movement to overthrow de la Guardia is organized and financed by Roberto Arias, son of ex-president Harmodio Arias and husband of British ballerina Margot Fonteyn. He slipped across the Pacific Coast into Peru 40 days with a small band. The band troops for six days and finally took refuge in the Brazilian Embassy in Panama City.

Although the Panamanian government specifically did not accuse Fidel Castro's Cuban regime of complicity in the invasion plot, the precedent-setting role of Cuba in the invasion force was highly em-

Ottawa Journal Has Been Sold To V. Sifton

OTTAWA (CP)—Majority ownership of the Ottawa Journal has been sold to Winnipeg publisher Victor Sifton and his associates, it was announced today.



Complete and exclusive direction of the Journal's editorial policies will remain with the present publishers, R. EMANIS Talaary, president, and Lt Norman Smith, vice-president.

Mr. Sifton said in a statement that The Journal shall continue as an Independent Conservative newspaper.

Mr. Sifton, publisher of the Winnipeg Free Press, and his associates paid $30 a share for a majority of The Journal's 100,000 shares. He said the same price of $30 a share will be offered to all shareholders up to and including Oct. 15, 1959. Shareholders who do not sell shortly where to present their shares for sale.

NAMES MANAGER

Mr. Sifton named L. A. Laplonde, The Journal's present general manager, as executive vice-president and general manager. He indicated there will be no changes in staff.

Clock Everyone Calls Big Ben Celebrating 100th Birthday; Had Few Mechanical Failures

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The big clock that everyone calls Big Ben is celebrating its 100th birthday this year.

Just to keep the record straight, the name of the clock towering over the Houses of Parliament is not Big Ben. The name belongs to the clock's 13½ - ton bell that booms around the world, courtesy of the British Broadcasting Corporation. The clock itself is nameless.

The clock, its bell and its chimes will soon complete 100 years of service—there has only been one mechanical breakdown—a good record for the amateur watchmaker who designed it.

If Big Ben seems to sound cheery, in a thunderous sort of way, it's because of its crack which is also 100 years old this year. But Ben's condition hasn't really changed.

AS GOOD AS EVER

The clock itself still keeps time to within one second a day and experts say the equipment is as good as ever. The only mechanical failure came in 1944 when the pendulum spring broke after a severe shaking by German bombs.

The only other crisis to occur at the top of the 320-foot tower was in 1856 when a squadron of starlings decided to roost on the delicately-balanced 14-foot copper minute hand. Until they took off again four minutes later the hand didn't budge and for the first time in history Big Ben boomed behind time.

The history behind the great clock takes some strange twists.

In 1851 the astronomer royal called for tenders for a clock for the tower of the new Parliament Buildings. It was specified that the clock's hour bell must always ring within one second of the correct time. Even Vulliam, Queen Victoria's clockmaker, refused to tackle the job.

Two years later the astronomer royal called in a Yorkshire lawyer, Edmund Beckett Denison, to help revise the conditions. Denison, an amateur clockmaker, decided to design a clock himself without any formal approval. Then he had his design constructed. He got support from Sir Benjamin Hall, commissioner of works, for whom Big Ben was later named.

ORIGIN OF CRACK

The clock started ticking May 31, 1859, and on June 11, the same year, Big Ben unleashed its first bong. The bell, which had been hauled through Lambeth by 16 horses, cracked under the blow of the hammer. It was turned so the crack wouldn't be hit again, and it still sits in that position.

The clock can be reached by way of 374 steps which spiral up through the tower but in order to make this climb you must be accompanied by a member of Parliament. At the top, a guide tells visitors that the tip of the minute hand travels 100 miles a year around the clock's face-30 - feet in diameter. He talks about the problems of cleaning the two-foot-high numerals and shows how pennies and half-pennies are placed on the pendulum to offset climatic conditions.

When Big Ben was silenced for three months in 1956 for general overhauling of the clock, the BBC substituted the higher-pitched "Great Tom", hour bell of St. Paul's Cathedral. Immediately listeners wrote The Times saying that Tom's tone was better than Ben's. That set off a row that filled the letters columns of most newspapers. But it drew little official reaction and Ben returned.

The birthday celebrations this year will include a display of clock models in the Parliament Buildings and a series of movies to be listributed around the world in various languages.

CEYLON PEAKS

Ceylon's coastal rim is flat, but mountains rise to more than 7,000 feet in the interior.

MARKS CENTENARY — The clock that everyone knows as Big Ben is seen across Parliament Square in London, England. Actually the name Big Ben belongs to the clock's huge bell and the clock itself has no name. This year the clock marks its 100th birthday with an enviable record of only one mechanical breakdown. It still keeps time to within one second a day and experts say it is as good as ever. (CP Photo from UKIO.)

CITY STORMED

ALGIERS (AP) — An armed rebel band Sunday stormed through the centre of the city of Orleansville and fired on military, police and territorial guard posts. After holding the area for 30 minutes, the band withdrew, French authorities reported. A similar attack was made on the nearby village of Oued Fodda at the same time. Officials in Algiers gave no other details.

GODFREY LEAVES FARM

TETERBORO, N.J. (AP) — A jovial Arthur Godfrey, carrying the fear of cancer, piloted his private plane into Teterboro Airport Sunday night. He made the 23-minute flight from his farm at Pasonlan Springs, Va., to undergo a New York operation this week to determine whether a tumor in his chest is benign or malignant.

Kennedy Labor Regulation Bill Given High Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed by an overwhelming 90-1 vote the Kennedy labor regulation bill aimed at routing racketeers from unions.

Senator Barry Goldwater, Rep. Ariz., cast the lone negative vote.

The bill sponsored by Senator John F. Kennedy, Dem., Mass. now goes to the House of Representatives.

The principal anti-racketeering provisions would require unions to make detailed financial reports which would be open to public inspection; set up procedures for fair elections with secret ballots and a limitation on terms of officers; ban persons convicted of serious crimes from serving as union officials for prescribed periods; control trusteeships by international unions over locals and limit their duration; require employees to make public reports on their activities designed to influence labor disputes through middlemen and in other ways; and fix severe criminal penalties for false reporting and other violations of provisions of the bill.

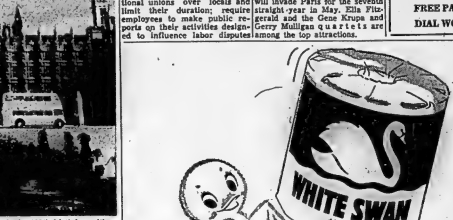
Retarded Child Being Given New Lease on Life

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Mentally retarded children have a life-long handicap for which there is neither severity nor cure.

These facts cropped up in almost all addresses before the sixth convention of the Ontario Association for the Retarded in the province's 2,200-bed hospital for the retarded here during the weekend.

Ontario Health Minister Dymond warned parents of retarded children not to expect miracles when they send their youngsters to special schools.

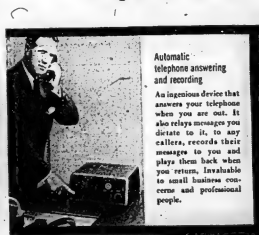
"If their child progresses favorably," he said, "the parents are fortunate." Dr. Dymond said he has been told by scientists that "at best the results are not too encouraging."



"An awakening public is giving the retarded child a new lease on life," however.

Dr. Dymond said people are beginning to accept him for what he is "and are striving to provide opportunities which contribute to his happiness and development."

William Mavis, chairman of the association's workshop and employment committee, said:



"With all help they (retarded children) can get in day schools they still will be unable to compete with normal young children in the community."

CNR FIREMEN'S STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Britain Loses Fight To Retain 'Flexibility'

West to Offer Russia Package Deal at Parley

PARIS (AP)—The major Western foreign ministers were understood to have agreed today that they would put on the agenda of the question of Berlin and a German peace treaty as a package in Geneva talks with the Soviets.

This indication came from conference sources following the first session of the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States, France and West Germany. They are meeting to harmonize their positions before the East-West meeting opening in Geneva May 11.

No delegation member would talk for the record following a two-hour, 30-minute morning session. The ministers said in a communique that no information would be given to the press, at least for the time being, on progress of the talks.

OPPOSITE POSITIONS

The reported Western determination to discuss the whole range of Berlin, Germany and European security questions is in opposition to the Communist position announced today.

Moscow spurt foreign ministers, winding up a conference in Warsaw, opposed any attempt to link the discussions. They said the "two most urgent and important questions" for Geneva were conclusion of a German peace treaty and liquidation of the military occupation of Berlin.

Britain was waging a lone fight here against a package deal.

The British want to separate at least the Berlin discussions from other issues to make an East-West deal possible on that divided city's future if nothing else can be achieved.

The move for "flexibility" by Prime Minister Macmillan's government seemed sure to run into opposition by French and West German opposition. These powers are understood to prefer no package deal and favor one package settlement to avoid the Berlin-Berlin-all German reunification and various European security schemes.

WARSAW ACTION

The Soviet bloc today backed the British position with a statement that appears to imply a hint the problems of West Berlin, German unification and European security "into one knot seriously strives to hamper greed declaration.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Communist boss Russia's seven European satellites and Red China, meeting in Warsaw, issued a communique that (1) Berlin must be made a demilitarized free city, (2) a German peace treaty must be written speedily, and (3) German unification must and can be achieved by negotiations between the East and West German governments.

Urge Merger Of Six Suburbs

WINDSOR (CP)—An independent research organization has recommended the creation of a new layer of Windsor and six suburbs to form a city of close to 200,000 population.

The Citizens' Research Institute of Canada in a report prepared for the Windsor Junior Chamber of Commerce recommended the merger rather than a metropolitan federation similar to that in the Toronto and Montreal areas.

The report was presented Tuesday night to the Jaycees and civic government officials from Greater Windsor. The institute also called for a readjustment of the system of provincial grants to municipalities.

The Jaycees paid the full cost of the report.

The proposed merger would take in the towns of Riverside, Ojibway and Tecumseh, the village of St. Clair Beach and parts of Sandwich East and West townships.

Boundaries would likely be similar to those to be proposed at a special meeting of city council tonight by Mayor Michael Patrick. The mayor announced Saturday he will propose annexation of a suburban fringe area.

In recommending against a federation similar to that in Metropolitan Toronto the report spoke the following criticisms of the Metro system:

1. It only partially equalizes the tax capacities of the member municipalities.

2. The federation has increased municipal expenditures, reducing the ability of the "poorer" local municipalities to pay for local services.

3. The system "adds another layer of local government and requires senior executives to do double duty."

GRANTS ARE PROBLEM

The report said that unless the system of federal grants to municipalities is changed the proposed new city would face substantial losses in grants for education and roads.

Unless the grants system were changed the merger should not be completed until planned suburban secondary school construction is completed.

The research institute is a non-profit organization formed by government charter in 1919.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: The storm that buffeted Ontario with winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour Tuesday is headed for Hudson Bay still accompanied by gale-force winds. The storm dumped better than an inch of rain over most of the province.

The strong wind will gradually decrease in southern regions today and partial clearing will allow afternoon temperatures to reach the 60 mark.

Thursday should be sunny in Southern Ontario, with gradual improving weather in the north.

TWO ELDERLY MEN BURNED TO DEATH IN PERTH FIRE

Hotel Built in 1823, $200,000 Loss

PERTH, Ont. (CP) — Two elderly men died Tuesday night in a fire that destroyed the 3-storey Perth Hotel, an ancient granite structure built in 1823.

The blaze started during the supper-hour when a pan of cooking grease caught fire in a ground-floor restaurant. Firemen said a kitchen exhaust system fed the flames to the upper levels.

An hour after the outbreak, 65-year-old Percy Spalding, former Perth postmaster, was found dead in his bed on the third floor where he lived.

Then, blown by gusts, firemen checking the hotel's 40 rooms found William J. Palmer, 70-year-old lumber purchaser, face down in a second-storey hall. Palmer was one of six guests in the hotel.

No other injuries were reported.

Hotel owners Jack and Dan Delaney estimated their loss at $200,000. They said they bought the building in 1946 and had just completed $50,000 in renovations.

Firemen from Smiths Falls, Carleton Place and Lanark added Perth's three firefighters. Perth is 45 miles southwest of Ottawa.

Only 10 feet separated the burning hotel from a Bell Telephone Company exchange building, where 11 operators stayed on the job during the blaze.

Monty Visits With Khrushchev For Two Hours

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Khrushchev spent two hours talking with Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, retired British military commander, in an unofficial Kremlin conference today.

Montgomery, who arrived Tuesday on a three-day self-appointed private reconnaissance mission, opened with Khrushchev the smiling photographs before and after the session.

They chatted lighthearted ly and on one occasion Montgomery, Khrushchev and Soviet Vassily Sokolovsky, Soviet chief of staff, stood shoulder to shoulder and Montgomery gestured towards photographers saying "You see we're getting together."

Khrushchev quickly demurred: "Not only two professional generals."

Montgomery chuckled and Khrushchev added the remark to "well three footballers then."

Up to this point Khrushchev and Montgomery had been talking about soccer experiences and Montgomery's unexpected but urgent need to be back in London in time to see a big game Saturday.

British Press Fires Blast At Monty for TV Attack on Quality of U.S. Leadership

LONDON (AP)—Britain's press fired a blast at Field Marshal Montgomery today for branding the blunt old soldier chose the worst possible time for his TV attack on the quality of U.S. leadership.

The papers expressed fear Montgomery of Alamein's outburst shortly before the East-West foreign ministers' talks might have dealt a damaging blow to British-American unity.

In an hour-long film televised Tuesday night in the U.S. by CBS, Montgomery said it that the present leadership of the free world is "suspect" and declared that Britain had come forward to supply the "consistency" needed by the Western alliance. The interview was filmed before U.S. screens not long after Montgomery arrived in Moscow for a private visit which some British papers have condemned.

Montgomery only filmed the interview before making his trip to Moscow, also fired a scatter shot at President Eisenhower, Secretary Foster Dulles and State Secretary Christian Herter.

These American leaders, the wartime hero asserted, are "people I have not known" and added that this is "no good."

The Mirror in a caption Daily Sketch: "Monty is dead right when he says that soldiers should stay out of politics. If only he would take his own good advice."

The News Chronicle says the references to the health of U.S. leaders were "couched in the most unfortunate way" and added the taunt about Western leader-

Work Out Kinks in Seaway; Big Swells Damage Property

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The kinks in the St. Lawrence Seaway are working themselves out.

Since the great inland waterway opened Saturday, navigation has been smooth except for a smashing which the experts apparently didn't foresee has just come to light.

Swells from large ocean freighters sailing towards the heart of the continent have smoothed a perfect damage at a summer waterfront cottage near Cornwall.

Residents there say boathouses have been flattened, wharves demolished and docked boats torn from their moorings. The ocean vessels are about five times the size of lakers.

Today the waves had diminished to a ripple and navigation is going to be the first into the various lake ports, reduced speed on the river.

Mechanical defects have caused the first accidents which halted seaway navigation. The Canada Steamship Line grain-carrier Provencher ran aground briefly in front of the western entrance of Dorion Sandbar. Canal Tuesday night after striking a lift bridge.

Today three tugs freed the 2,000-ton vessel, undamaged in the accident near Valleyfield, Que., to end a 15-hour layup. The lift bridge it struck was also damaged and closed.

Although this was the first major stoppage of navigation on the seaway, ships have delayed an hour at the east end of the canal system at Iroquois to form a line for a lock jammed.

Ships stopped out unloading by stevedores in the Toronto Tuesday and ships entering the port crossed the problem in berthing. Port officials said connection could be made by Wednesday or Friday.

It was indicated federal officials will make harbor pilots available to the Toronto-bound ships requesting them.

Canada Steamship Lines's grain elevators is forcing grain carriers to anchor below the city while they unload. Normally movements out of Montreal have been moderate as the opening Seaway locks near Montreal are handling freighters at the rate of every 90 minutes. Seaway authority officials Tuesday night said the locks had left for the lakes since Saturday.

Iowa, Many Other States In Real Financial Troubles

NEW YORK (AP) — "I feel sorry for the next governor," said a veteran Iowa legislator as he considered his state's financial needs.

As is the case with many other states, wealthy Michigan, Iowa has fiscal troubles. Its treasury is solvent, but a $60,000,000 "rainy day fund" that was built up during the Second World War has been drained. Living, like many another state, has become costly. It's hard to dip into this reserve.

An Associated Press survey of state financial problems indicates 10 of them deeply in debt or in serious trouble. Others teeter on the red. And 18 have some financial problems or deficiencies that could become awkward.

Many got into trouble by spending more money than they received, making up the difference by borrowing from reserves maintained by borrowing. Others are recession victims: Last year's business decline cut their income below their outlays.

Michigan, among the most troubled states, was brought to its current crisis by multiple factors. Generally, overspending and the recession, complicated by political bickering, has been held responsible.

Over — spending income while balancing the budget from reserve funds has created financial difficulties in California, New York, Washington, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Some states have special problems. In the coal mines of West Virginia and eastern Kentucky machines permit six men to mine twice the coal 50 men produced a decade ago. Accompanied by declining demand for coal, this technological change has caused widespread unemployment.

Governor Averell Harriman of New York has withheld Louisiana state lands from oil leasings because oil royalties are a big money factor because of the need for new revenue. In the fiscal year ending, the treasury scooped up $39,000,000, and the state's budget estimates have been solved for the time being, at least.

DEATH FROM EXPOSURE

BARRIE (CP) — Thomas Sullivan, 37, of Angus, whose body was found at the rear of his house 12 miles west of here early Sunday, died of exposure, a coroner's verdict returned Monday. Coroner Frank Shannon said Sullivan died after overnight temperatures dropped to 20 degrees.

HOUSE MEMBERS ADVANCE PLEA FOR HIGHER PAY

CCFer Suggests Figure of $15,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Three members in the Commons' back benches, bolstered by the applause of their fellows, have asked for higher pay for MPs.

Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) said Tuesday night that most Commons members need more than the present $10,000 a year to carry on a proper family life and discharge their duties adequately.

The 39-year - old high school teacher, father of three sons, said he knows of many MPs who are thinking of quitting. He suggested a boost of at least 50 per cent to $15,000 a year.

PM REMAINS SILENT

Prime Minister Diefenbaker listened but said nothing. Any pay increase must be initiated by the government.

Two Progressive Conservatives, John MacLean, Winnipeg North Centre, and Grant Campbell, Stormont, backed the hearted support. Members of all parties banged their desks in applause.

But no others accepted Mr. Fisher's invitation to speak up for more pay—he said his opinion is shared by a majority. J. W. Pickersgill (Bonavista - Twillingate) said later he believes private MPs shouldn't regard Commons membership as a full-time job. They could represent their constituents better by earning their living in the way others do.

The short debate on salaries followed a Conservative vote in

Berth Shortage Delays Ships At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Port of Toronto stevedores were back at work today unloading overseas cargo but a shortage of berths continued to cause a lineup of ships at anchor in the busy harbor.

Seven ships were being worked and seven more were riding at anchor in the outer harbor Tuesday night. Six others were expected to arrive today.

Heavy rain Tuesday stopped work on the harbor front and delayed the arrival of four ships. Extra work gangs were being recruited to speed the pileup.

Berthing facilities are being taxed by bigger freighters coming through the new deepened St. Lawrence Seaway. Where there are four 25-foot ships could be up previously, now there is only room for two of the larger ones.

The Toronto Harbor Commission Tuesday night said it left for the lakes since Saturday.

Admit Firemen Out On Yard, Freight Diesels

CLC Said to Have Been Cool Toward Walkout

OTTAWA (CP) — There will be no firemen's strike on the CNR.

The firemen's union called off the strike late Tuesday night. It had been set for 12.01 a.m. Friday.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) in calling off the strike acknowledged the principle that firemen are not needed on freight and yard diesels. It is prepared to take a vote by mail to this effect.

BATTLE SWITCHES TO U.S.

The battle over the firemen's issue switched today — it had not switched before — to the big U.S. railroads, where it is expected it will be fought this summer.

The BLFE has a similar contract with the CPR, signed after two strikes.

The union withdrew the latest strike call in the face of several factors.

The first was that it doubted it could win. The CNR had said it would keep the trains running without firemen.

A big factor for the firemen was lack of support from other unions. The Canadian Labor Congress was cool and no indication has been expressed even warmth.

The break in the dispute came after two days of meetings among Labor Minister Starr, CNR president Donald Gordon, and W. E. Gamble, the union's Canadian vice-president.

AGREE IN PRINCIPLE

Mr. Starr said agreement in principle had been reached on all points in issue. Both sides professed themselves happy with the outcome.

The CNR was reported to have made a concession to the union in yielding a more liberal amount in wages on so-called "bonus" time — a sticking point in the late stages of negotiation.

Arbitrators are the periods before and after a fireman's regular eight-hour shift, which are not actually work the time. Diesel firemen get this pay, which is a carryover from steam railroading, in which firemen spend hours before and after their runs tending engines.

However, major issue was the CNR's plan to begin gradual elimination of firemen from freight and yard diesels, effective May 1. This step was recommended by a federal conciliation board.

NO MORE RIDING

Mr. Gordon told reporters that the principle is agreed upon:

Canada Decking Out Fanciest Planes for Tour

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is decking out its fanciest aircraft for use of royalty this summer.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will cover more than half their 12,000-mile tour by air and three four-engine planes have been appointed for the job.

Among them is the pampered jet of the RCAF, the C-5 piston-driven luxury liner that has transported the Queen twice before, and Prince Philip three times.

It carried Prime Minister Diefenbaker around the world last year.

The C-5 will be used in the Atlantic area and Quebec after the royal arrival at St. John's, Nfld., June 18.

A specially fitted Comet jet, bigger and faster than the C-5 will perish the royal party across long dreary portions of central and Western Canada.

A Viscount, the turbo-prop jet that is the pride of the department of transport, will take over when royalty tours the northern territories.

Queen as Princess Elizabeth used the C-5 briefly in late 1951, Canada to Canada and New from Ottawa to Washington in it in 1957. Prince Philip has scattered both journeys and also travelled in it to the British Empire Games in Vancouver in 1954. Princess Margaret used it on her Canadian visit last year.

tions, retirement and death.

It has been estimated that this will take about 15 years. There are 3,700 firemen with the CNR. Generally, the union's same deal the firemen's union made with the CPR after two strikes against that line in the last 27 months.

Clare Boothe Luce Cuts Loose, May Lose Job Over Morse's Horse

WASHINGTON (AP)—A drop of verbal acid from Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce has brewed a new storm that could end in her quitting her newly-won job as ambassador to Brazil.

Shortly after the Senate gave her its 81-0 vote of confirmation Tuesday, despite the opposition of Democratic Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, Mrs. Luce issued this statement in New York:

"I am grateful for the overwhelming vote of confirmation in the Senate. We must now wait until the dirt settles. My difficulties have been with a senator back and began when Senator Wayne Morse was kicked in the head by a horse."

That put the fat in the fire.

Morse, still on the Senate floor, retorted, "This is part of an old pattern of mental instability on the part of Clare Boothe Luce. The last time she kicked by a horse was 1951.

Several of his Democratic colleagues; who had voted for Mrs. Luce's confirmation, jumped up to repel the attack against one of their own. They said if they had to do it over again, they'd vote against her.

There was a flurry of telephone calls between the White House and Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Dirksen said later that the president felt there was some provocation for the remarks.

And Mrs. Luce's husband, Henry R. Luce of the Time-Life-Fortune publishing empire, said in New York he had asked his wife to resign the ambassadorship.

"That would be good for the country," said Luce sarcastically.

Luce took the position that the Senate confirmation had been accomplished Mrs. Luce. "But," he said, "there remains the question of Brazilian opinion and whether she can now hope to accomplish the delicate mission assigned to her by the president in a climate where anti-American sentiment and suspicion aired on the Senate floor have naturally created in Brazil."

Mrs. Luce had no immediate comment on her husband's request that she resign.

SWEET CORN CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

On the evening of April 17th, the members of the South-East-ern Ont. Sweet Corn Club attended their first meeting of the year, to reorganize their club and elect officers.

Elections were as follows: president — Paul Heagle; vice-president — Joe Hageman; secretary — Dorothy Brooks; press reporter — Bill Arbuckle.

O. L. "BILL" BELL ELECTED PRESIDENT

At a recent meeting of the Canadian Electronic Wholesalers' Association held in Windsor, O. L. "Bill" Bell, president of the Big A Company Ltd. in this city was elected president of the Associa-

Lin Johnston New President Of Kinsmen

At a dinner meeting held in the Quinte Hotel Monday night the Kinsmen Club of Belleville elected its new slate of officers for the year 1959-60.

Kin Lin Johnston was elected president and the following were elected as directors: Kin Murray Atkinson, Don Boyce, Don Brown, Doug Bennett, Jack Stewart, Mac White and Bob Wood.

The new committee will take office at the first meeting in September 1959.

President Jack Hamill introduced guest Deputy Governor District Six, Kin Eddie Duncan of Kingston. The Deputy Governor described the Kinsmen organization, directing his comments primarily to new members. He pointed out that there are 700 clubs across Canada. These clubs are brought together each year at a national convention, at which time the national executive is chosen. This year the convention will be held at St. Andrew's, N.B.

To help co-ordinate the activities of the individual clubs the organization is divided into eight districts. Each of these districts holds its own district convention to elect the executive and district governor. The District Six convention will be held in Belleville this year, May 14 to 17th.

President Jack Hamill thanked the guest speaker.

The eye-clinic chairman, Kin Bob Wood reported that nine pairs of glasses were given by the committee during the last two weeks.

Kin Roland Belanger was welcomed as a new club member by President Jack Hamill.

Additional guests in attendance were Evan Bovay of Belleville and visiting Kinsman Ron Orth.

Response Good To Red Shield Annual Appeal

The annual Red Shield campaign of the Belleville Salvation Army is off to a very satisfactory start, according to Major Victor Greenwood of the Belleville Citadel. The initial canvass has been made of the industrial firms and the downtown businesses. The house-to-house canvass has just been started.

Bram Humphreys a veteran of many a Belleville Salvation campaign, is of the opinion that this will be the best drive of any to date which he has seen. The response of workers and givers has been much better than expected. If the current pace keeps up it may be possible to conclude the scheduled soothing campaign early.

tion. This is the highest honor in the gift of the organization and there is no doubt Mr. Bell will give the office the best of his ability.

Charge Boy, Girl With Obstructing Police Officer

TRENTON — Two local teenagers were placed under six months' probation when they appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills on charges of obstructing a police officer in the performance of his duty.

One of the accused a 17-year-old girl, pleaded not guilty to the charge and took over her own defence. However, she did not question the witness for the crown and when informed by the Magistrate she could have a choice of saying nothing, testifying without being placed under oath or testifying under oath on her own behalf, she decided to say nothing.

The other accused, a 16-year-old boy, pleaded guilty to the charge.

The girl was found guilty on the evidence by the Magistrate, who told her he felt her actions on the night in question were quite sufficient to cause obstruction.

In giving evidence for the crown Sgt. Gordon Stenberg of the Trenton Police Department told of going to the Star Cafe on a radio call from the police station. He said that when he arrived Constable Vickers was bringing a young lad out of the cafe and down the street. He said after trying to leave the accused girl began making remarks about Constable Vickers' force. He said there were several other teenagers around at the time and he warned her to stop and leave but she would not and he then placed her under arrest and took her to the station where she was later released with information that she would be charged with obstructing a police officer.

The crown attorney said he felt the girl's remarks were such that they were inciting the other teenagers at the scene. The magistrate agreed.

Constable Sid Vickers told the court he had gone to the cafe on call, being told a young lad was giving the cafe owner trouble. He said he took the lad out the street and told him to leave but he also began to use vile words which caused his arrest on a similar charge.

Before passing sentence on the two young people, Magistrate Wills said it was difficult to know what to do under the circumstances. To the boy he said, "You have to be sorry for what you have done." To the girl he said, "You must accept the fact that you were wrong. If you persist in doing things like this, then the next time your sentence will be more severe."

Besides the six months' probation they were both ordered to pay court costs of $9 each.

Racing pigeons have been timed at more than 90 miles an hour over an 80-mile flight.

Legion District Convention Will Be Staged

TRENTON — Trenton Legion is getting host this Saturday to approximately 300 Legionaires from 31 Legion branches attending from Alex on the west to Deseronto on the east for the District Day and Bancroft on the north. The occasion will be the district "PP" Convention.

Registration of delegates will commence at 9.00 a.m. and the morning session of the convention will begin at 10.00 a.m. A civic welcome will be extended to the visitors by Mayor Ross Burtt. Branch 110 president W. T. Lawrie will act as official welcomer on behalf of the host branch. The morning session will adjourn at 11.55 a.m.

Legionnaires will then form up for the long parade which will leave the Legion grounds at 12.05 and proceed up Quinte Street and Dundas Street to the post office where the salute will be taken by G/C T. V. Spruston, the commanding officer of CFB Trenton. The parade will be accompanied on the reviewing stand by H. Ronald Stewart, the Conservative minion treasurer of the Canadian Legion, and Lt. Col. Ernest Ogilvie Provincial Command Legion organizer.

A laying wreath ceremony will be held at the Cenotaph conducted by Rev. Albert Street to the War Memorial where a short service will be performed.

District Commander Lou Shalit R.C.A.F. Wing will direct color parties of the various branches, the Co. 6 Rifle Band and the Legion Band from the Campbellford branch.

A banquet will be held at the Legion for the ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 110, will get under way at 1.00 p.m. During the afternoon session the election of the District Executive will take place.

Arrangements have been made to entertain the many ladies accompanying delegates to the convention from out of town. To Deseronto, Bancroft and their wives have been invited to attend the reception on Saturday evening dance at Branch 110.

Bata Workers Finish Courses

TRENTON — More than 100 merit certificates were distributed to employees of the Bata business administration courses held throughout the year by the firm's personnel. The courses covering many phases of business administration are part of a training scheme organized and introduced by the industrial research department under the guidance of Anthony Cekota.

The dinner held in the recreation hall, April 24, included the presentation of merit certificates by the instructors of the various divisions of study and short addresses by the director of the project, Anthony Cekota, and Dr. C. K. Hera, vice-president and managing director of the company. - B. F. Fines, personnel manager, presided as chairman.

Stone Border Is Constructed

TRENTON — A new addition has been made to the Municipal Building at the expense of the Trenton Rod Club. This is in the form of a border built of stone around the front of the building.

The job was finished early yesterday morning when 14 evergreens, of four different varieties from the Hollandale Nurseries near Trenton, were planted by Bart Boers, town gardener and owner of the nurseries.

The stone work was done by Peter Vanderwerff of Smithfield, who also put the cement capping on the top of the border to finish it off.

Cairns will also be built around three of the drinking fountains in town and on parks board property. There will be the one on Gilmour Hill, one in Hanna Park and one at the Municipal Building. The latter will be done to blend in with the stone border.

The total cost of all the stone work will be slightly over $300.

The stone used in the building of the border and the cairns was given to the Parks Board after the Quaker Oats Company on Dufferin Road, a large quarry down to allow for expansion of its plant. It is

Kiwanians Hear of Method Of Learning While Sleeping

If you think positively and look forward to a brighter tomorrow, you will feel better today.

This is the kind of advice Steven Steiner, director of the Institute of Hypnosynthesis, Toronto, gives his patients when they come to him for help in overcoming for example, stuttering, insomnia, or psychosomatic illnesses.

In a thought-provoking address to the Kiwanis Club of Belleville Tuesday, Mr. Steiner, who is also president of the Modern-hypnosynthesis Canada Ltd. (makers of Dormiphonic "sleep teaching" equipment) explained the importance of positive thinking and the therapeutic value of suggestion in helping people to overcome these "illnesses" by enabling them to help themselves.

"Most of my patients come to me as a last resort," he said. "The patients are referred to me by their own doctors," he explained.

The speaker explained all too many people have fear complex patern of negative thinking.

USE TOO MANY NEGATIVES

Mr. Steiner cited many examples — for example we tell our children 'don't cross the street' 'don't run' 'don't forget that it is safer to play on this side of the street,' 'Mr. Jones, don't emphasize what should be done; what's good and right for people should never think of past unhappiness, unpleasant memories and failures. They should "encourage" both themselves and those around them.

"As a man thinketh, so he shall be," Mr. Steiner declared.

In speaking of hypnosis, the soft-spoken but persuasive lecturer said stage demonstrations of hypnosis are very misleading. He said that the hypnotist accepts only those volunteers who are receptive to the suggestions he makes. He explained, although people have free will, if they accept a suggestion and it is constantly repeated, it is retained in the subconscious mind, and this results in involuntary reactions.

Hypnosis can be a powerful tool if used with discretion and for practical purposes, such as hypnotherapy, he stated.

LEARN WHILE SLEEPING

The well-known lecturer who has been featured on the Front Page Tabloid, and also in newsreels, told the ability of the subconscious mind to retain ideas and facts by reiteration, and the subconscious mind never sleeps, has resulted in the development of a scientific system of learning.

This is known as the Dormiphonic method which employs quick relaxed learning possible when a person is awake and asleep.

One branch of the new system, introduced, takes only about a year and a half. Apo from the U.S. courses which are many, the other helps you learn more easily while awake. Both are based on the use of records and tapes.

Mr. Steiner said a person in a light sleep is just as receptive to suggestion as a person under hypnosis.

He said by using this method a person can learn a new language in three or four months, break a bad habit, memorize a speech, correct speech defection, absorb knowledge, facts and figures, all with little effort.

KINS NEW CANADIANS

The speaker said New Canadians who used the method learned English in a much shorter period than those learning through classroom study and were able to speak with a fluency reported that the house was the second one to be built in Trenton, although the exact date of its construction is not known.

—Mrs. Ella B. Reid.

nadian accent.

Mr. Steiner disclosed the Visalia, Cal., Kiwanis Club and the Belleville Kiwanis Club Association are underwriting prisoner-rehabilitation project using this method.

He also said during an interview afterward this system was used by the U.S. army during the Korean War to teach officers Chinese so they could act as interpreters. It has been in use in the U.S. for the last 12 years.

Mr. Steiner was introduced by Gord Crawford and thanked by Bob Brain. He was presented with a gift on behalf of the club by president Gerry Wishart.

VISITORS FROM U.S.

The club observed "U.S.-Canada Goodwill Week" at this meeting when they had as guests an interclub of five Kiwanians from Bloomfield, N.Y.

The group drove over especially for the meeting, and in their honor, following the singing of the National Anthem and the toast to the Queen, "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was sung and a toast to President Eisenhower was proposed.

President Wishart warmly welcomed the six visitors, and in a brief address noted that "the friendship and goodwill between the U.S. and Canada should never be taken for granted."

He asked the Phoenix Kiwanis Club president, Bert Egan, to convey their friendship and best wishes of the Belleville club to his own club.

President Egan then gave a brief address, and extended an invitation for the local club to attend a meeting of the Phoenix Club.

The five were then presented with cheeses on behalf of the club.

Also among the many guests was Lt.-Gov. Charles Smith of Kingston, who gave a brief address congratulating past president Charlie Lusk and committee for their efforts in encouraging higher attendance at the Montreal convention next fall, and Juan Sheridan, former Montreal Alouettes football star.

CASTRO'S AIDES

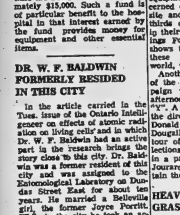
Cesar Vega, a former night club owner in Havana, Cuba, has charged that the mastermind behind the revolution is Roberto Arias, former Panamanian diplomat who has taken refuge in the Panamian embassy.

Cuba's revolutionary prime minister, Fidel Castro, severely condemned his countrymen's interference in Panamanian affairs. In a press conference broadcast to Cuba from a place during him U.S. visit, Castro said the invasion by Cubans "is embarrassing and unpatriotic."



Castro told his people the Panamanian government is not in the same category with Latin American dictatorships he has overthrown.

TORONTO STOCKS.

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils led the stock market down today amid the fastest morning trading in almost two weeks. Profit-taking chipped away part of Tuesday's gains by oil issues.

The 11 a.m. volume was 1,655,000 shares, compared with Tuesday's 686,000 at the same hour.

Speculative mines were neglected and Can-Erin lost 1 cent at $1.51. However, a number of lower-priced oils were active and higher. Pacific Petro added 2½ cents at 93 cents.

Among other western oils Ilcfey-Selburn was off 65 cents at $9.35 and Pacific Pete lost ½ at 16½.

Trans Mountain Pipe Line was the most active industrial, off ¼ at 14½ on a turnover of 30,000 shares.

In base metals Consolidated Mining and Labrador each lost ½, while International Nickel and Falconbridge were off ⅝. Changes in golds were few and small.

On Tuesday western oils, refining oils and pipelines surrendered but the market generally was mixed in moderate trading.

Oils spurted in the final hour following a report the United States would shortly announce an easing of import restrictions against Canadian crude.

Trans Mountain was the centre of attraction in the final hour, rising by 1¼ at 14⅞ on a turnover of 44,555 shares. The best oil gain went to Pacific Pete, up 2⅛ at 16⅝.

Industrials lost, mainly on the strength of a drop of 30¼ in Dominion Stores and a 2 - point drop in Bell. Imperial Bank added 2½ at 78½.

Consolidated mining added 3⅛ at 23⅞ on the 14,000 ounce plans for an iron and steel smelter at Kimberly, B.C. Falconbridge lost 1¼ at 29⅝ but most other senior mines moved in small fractions.

Golds lost as McIntyre dipped ⅛ at 70¾ and Noranda lost ⅛ at 17. Speculative mines were generally quiet.

Base metal changes: Industrials off .27 to 530.60; golds off .03 to 89.94 and base metals up .10 to 177.79; western oils 7.95 to 139.14.

Montreal Man Arrested After $57,800 Holdup

QUEBEC (CP)— A Montreal man is being held in connection with a bank holdup here Tuesday that yielded $57,800 in cash and an undetermined amount in bonds.

The man was picked up in his room after a car rented in Montreal was found by police near the holdup.

The holdup was at a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in the city's industrial St. Malo district.

Four men with guns and hoods made of grey woollen stockings entered the bank shortly after it opened while manager J. A. Seale was in the open vault. They held Mr. Seale, an accountant and three clerks at gunpoint, filled a large duffel bag with the cash and bonds.

No one was hurt though Mr. Seale said he fought against a wall when he made a move towards the bag of the holdup men.

A shot was fired by the man who pushed Mr. Seale but no bullet hole was found which led police to believe the gun was loaded with blanks. One bandit dropped a .22 calibre gun.

They escaped in a car stolen here during the night. The car was abandoned a half-mile away. Passers-by said they saw four men change cars and car and jump into another.

Bruce H. Smith Installed as Grand Principal

BRUCE H. SMITH

Signal honor is being bestowed on ex-Ald. Bruce H. Smith today in Toronto, as he is being installed as the Grand First Principal of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons. A. Smith is a member of Eureka Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and a past First Principal of Quinte Friendship Chapter, Royal Arch Masons in the city. He is also a member of the Preceptory and Ramses Shrine in Belleville.

Mr. Smith served his city well as an alderman, took an active interest in sport, being manager of the hockey team under the Arena Commission and at the present time is chairman of the Minto River Conservation Authority.

Audit, Customs Staffs Honor Retiring Member

The Excise Audit and Customs staffs, gathered together Tuesday afternoon, to honor to Excise Tax Auditor M. B. White, who is retiring from the Government service.

Excise Tax Auditor E. L. Horning, Introduced C. E. Phillipson, Divisional Director, Excise Audit, of Toronto, Ontario, who, on behalf of the Minister and Deputy-Minister of the Department of National Revenue, presented Mr. White, with a Certificate of Service.

Mr. Horning, on behalf of the Audit and Customs staffs, presented Mr. White with a gift in recognition of his happy association with those staffs.

Mr. George Wardle, Chief Clerk of the Customs, in the absence of Mr. G. M. Miller, the Collector of Customs and Excise, expressed appreciation of Mr. White's fine co-operation with the Customs staff and said that his happy association would be missed.

Mr. White, entered the Government service approximately twenty years ago at Kingston, in the Treasury Department of the Department of Finance, transferring to the Excise Tax Audit office in Belleville, 17 years ago, where he rose to Excise Tax Auditor Grade 3, in charge of the local area since 1947.

Mr. White, thanked all for their kind thoughts and in a reminiscing mood, mentioned many of his early experiences, one of which was travelling up North and due to a severe snow storm, was unable to return by passenger service and had to ride in the caboose of the snow plow, travelling at high speeds around curves, which certainly did not lend much pleasure or comfort to the passenger.

Mr. Phillipson, went one better, and stated that years ago on one his appointments, he had to travel on the cow-catcher of the engine.

Refreshments were served and all wished Mr. White, many many years of happy retirement.

Councillors Adopt Report For Equalized Assessment Of $29,665,000 for Next Year

Faraday township is the fastest growing municipality in Hastings County of Belleville it was noted yesterday at Hastings county council in the report of county assessor Cecil Geen.

During the past year the township increased its population by 136 residents, due undoubtedly to the uranium mining boom in the district.

This activity was reflected in the amount of mining grants received by the municipality from the province. The mining grant converted into assessment saw the township's assessment for County purposes increased by $404,800 to $782,400.

The town of Deseronto also increased by 120 residents during the year, with Tyendinaga and Rawdon townships slipped by about the same number of residents.

The townships of Sidney and Thurlow both had their populations decrease during the year as a result of annexation which saw about $4,200,000 in assessment lost to the county to the city of Belleville.

About half of the lost assessment, however, was returned to the county as the result of new construction and this was dealt with in the proposed county equalized assessment for 1960 being $29,665,000.

The 1959 county purposes is $37,422,500 with actual property and business assessments in the various municipalities $28,655,850.

The township of Thurlow still has the greatest assessment at $3,622,400 while Sidney has replaced Trenton as the municipality with the greatest population — 14,000.

RECESS MINE GRANTS

The report of the county assessor with its suggested figure of $29,665,000 as the 1960 county assessment for the county, is to be considered at a recess though there was considerable discussion about mining grants received by the municipalities.

Timber Cutting Operations On Crown Land to Be Looked Over by County Councillors

Hastings county councillors will go on an inspection tour of Crown land in the northern part of the county to see at first hand how timber cutting operations are being carried on by the regulations set down in their county tree cutting by-law.

The by-law, an which all members of council have been asked to be along, is meeting May 11th with members to meet at Gilmour at nine o'clock in the morning. It will be conducted by the Department of Lands and Forests, all district officials whose direction timber cutting operations on Crown land are carried out.

Reports have reached council of clear cutting on Crown land, this being contrary to the county tree cutting by-law which prohibits all of all trees under seven inches in diameter at the stump. The by-law states that trees would "clear the air" and give Department officials the opportunity to plant trees in their views on the matter.

Reeve Sprackett said he knew of an area which had been practically cleaned completely of all timber.

WARDEN CONFUSED

Warden J. N. Brown of Bancroft, chairman of the board, confessed about timber cutting operations noting that the department was apparently going against the intent of the by-law which had been set up at department suggestion.

Ald. Mason noted that the department wished to show councillors at least three areas where clear cutting had been done; 2, where logs had been taken out, and 3, where pine hag been planted.

Reeve Victor Hughson of Wellington noted some operations of the county would not grow hardwood satisfactorily and suggested this was why clear cutting of hardwoods was being done on Crown land. Such areas are later planted to pine.

All councillors favored the inspection trip, there being but one note of warning from Reeve Sprackett.

"Make it before May 15th or you'll never get to the woods for black flies," he said.

FREDERICK SHOBEY ANDERSON
(Anderson's Island)

STIRLING — The funeral of Frederick Shorey Anderson was held on Monday, April 27th at The Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling. His pastor Rev. A. Packman of the St. Paul's Carmel charge officiated. The bearers were from the Carmel community — Messrs. Archie Bailey, Clifford Hubble, Jack Armstrong, John Grills, Ernest Grills and Everett Grills.

The interment was made in Stirling cemetery.

Deceased was a life member of Stirling Lodge No. 60 A.F. and A.M. and on Sunday evening a memorial service was held under the direction of Grand Master David Duffin of Belleville.

Deceased was a son of the late Joshua Anderson and his wife the former Mahala Parcels. He was born on Anderson's Island on December 30th 1875 and lived all his life on the island where he was engaged in farming and fruit growing. He died in his old home on Saturday, April 25th after a brief illness, in his eighty fourth year. He had resided there and spent all his years on the island and was a member of Anderson's Island Church. He was one of a large family and leaves to mourn one sister, Louisa Ellen) Mrs. Chester Hoard of Bellville.

Family of Five Left Homeless As House Burns

PICTON — Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a frame house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clesson Allen and three children, Allison, 4, and Alice, 2 years old. The house on Portland street was completely destroyed by fire. Interior was damaged beyond repair. The family lost everything but the clothes they were wearing.

Mrs. Allen was alone in the house at the time and it is believed the oil stove exploded. The fire spread rapidly to the through the small house and the cottage next door.

Picton firemen kept the fire under control, working during a heavy storm.

The previous day, a summer cottage on the Glenora road, owned by Jim Hutton was almost destroyed by fire. Mr. Hutton had been burning grass and it is believed sparks ignited the cottage. Most of the contents were ruined.

Firemen believed that yesterday's rain will be a boon to eliminate the many calls to grass fires.

INVESTIGATE THEFT

Members of the Ontario Provincial Police are investigating the theft of a box of whitefish from the C.N.R. freight shed at Bay Ronkin at Salmon Point. The catch valued at $55 dollar pound at the present time, were valued at $55. Another box, containing whitefish valued at ten dollars was also taken. Smelt are running on the Bay and police believe some fishermen were responsible for the theft.

TWO SOLDIERS HELD

Two soldiers stationed at Picton Military Camp were being held in jail here on charges of assault and robbery. It is alleged that the two men attacked and robbed Sam Vigodda at his home on Bridge street. Vigodda, a poultry dealer, told police he was robbed of about $15. He suffered three broken ribs and severe bruises and was given treatment at Prince Edward County hospital before being removed to his home.

County Council to Request Highways Dept. to Approve Hot Mix on Madoc Highway

Hastings county council will consider a resolution asking the Ontario Department of Highways to approve the laying of hot mix on the 11 miles of the Madoc-Marmora Road as a road development project.

This was made known Tuesday at the spring session of county council during the reading of the roads report by roads committee chairman Reeve Ali Wickett of Thurlow township. The resolution from the roads committee will be up for the provincial later in the session.

The intention would be to lay the hot mix on the existing roadbed, with the possible exception of the elimination of one or two blind spots.

Councillors generally agree that the Madoc road should be taken over as a provincial highway but with little likelihood of this materializing before the next few years it is the opinion of the roads committee that a hot mix permanent top should be placed.

SNOW REMOVAL COSTLY

According to the roads report the heavy snow of last winter resulted in winter control costing $18,000 over the amount set up. Full cost of winter control, including erection of snow fences, getting snow off the road and keeping it with chemicals was expected to run from $60,000 to that of $48,000 for the 1959 fiscal year.

A roads expenditure by - law of $330,000 has been set by council and approval of the provincial secretary by-law amounting to $35,000 is to be asked.

Spring breakup and gravel roads was not as great as was expected as weeks ago, however, it is too late to pavements and other hard surface roads may be fairly heavy and is still expected.

Paving of the 2.75 miles of Developmental Road south of Madoc was completed last fall and the highways department will be asked to allot sufficient funds to permit paving the .8 miles at the Halliwey-Sydenham road.

RESUME BRIDGE WORK

No highways department allotment has been yet made for the resumption of development work on the Ridge Road but it was expected further funds would be available. Bridge construction work at the Rawdon Creek bridge has been underway since and sumed since winter, with about 75 per cent of the work now completed.

Approximately one half of the survey work for the 3.5 mile bypass development road has been completed and the remainder of the roads is expected from the highways department for 1959 work on this road.

Plans for the grade separation on County Road No. 14 north of Trenton where it crosses the CNR double track are going ahead by the varied department as expected although it is not expected that construction work will commence until some time in 1960. The main line of the CNR will have to be raised during the construction and unless the county road can be closed for the six months which construction is expected to take, a road detour will have to be provided.

"Construction of the underpass is going to be an expensive job," commented Reeve Wickett.

MADOC ROAD WORK

In reference to the proposed paving of the Madoc Road, Reeve William J. Davis wanted to know if the motoring public would be satisfied with a "patch job" on the existing roadbed. He suggested it was a possibility that the whole thing might have to be redone in a few years.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc replying the reason the new top was being asked for was that the county could not this year expect development grants for the Ridge Road and the Solphide Road and the Madoc Road as well.

Pearson Says PC Government 'Bewildering'

WINNIPEG (CP) — Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson Tuesday night described the Conservative government as "bewildering and inconsistent" in its approach to solving problems and tackling crises.

Mr. Pearson, guest speaker at a dinner by the National Federation of Liberal Women, said the Conservatives had been consistent in some as having "moved left of Liberalism."

"So far as the alleged change of direction is concerned, it now is difficult to chart its course as it twists and turns in a bewildering way with every problem the government faces.

"When a government gets into the habit of dealing with problems only after the become crises, such gyrations become inevitable."

The federation's three-day convention closes today.

Mr. Pearson discussed the Conservatives of making mistakes steadily since assuming power in 1957. Most of them were broken promises.

"People are learning that the promises tossed out during the campaign have an economic consequence."

A panel group discussing free dom and democracy recommended that a committee be formed by each province to study the effect of trade unions on the community economy.

WHAT PRICE UNIVERSITY?

Now is the time when those high school students who plan to pursue their educations at universities this coming fall are concentrating on the filling out of application forms and assembling the various data which university registrars require. We often wonder what thoughts course the minds of our Canadian students as they do this. Are all of them looking forward to an university career because they actually want to obtain a broader outlook on life; or do some look forward to receiving specialized technical training; or are they doing this because their parents want them to go to university; or might it be, in the case of a few, because they anticipate a glamorous group of activities on and off the campus, such as football games, weekend formals, and the like?

There are, perchance, too many of the latter two types. Usually they do not last long, perhaps only one or two years. This is unfortunate, not only for the students concerned, but for the students they have displaced and for the university and society at large. A room seats which might have otherwise been filled by students earnestly seeking to better themselves. This attitude is probably a reflection of our way of life. In a civilization where prosperity is widely spread and the material things in life are fairly easily come by, youths sometimes adopt the attitude that life owes them a living and that whatever they cannot obtain through personal endeavor can be bought by money or influence. Not everyone is afflicted with this attitude but an increasing number seem to be.

It is interesting to observe the attitudes of the youth and students of other lands where a different outlook on life prevails. The attitudes set forth in The Reporter describes the attitudes of Japanese students.

To start off with, Japanese students are extremely eager to get into university, especially the older institutions of Tokyo and Kyoto. Many will wait as long as six years in order to be accepted by either of these universities, meanwhile cramming and preparing for annual entrance examinations and existing by whatever odd jobs they might be able to acquire. There are so many of these students in-waiting that they are accepted as an element of the Japanese social system and are known as "ronin." Seriousness of the highest order marks the life of the Japanese student in both his university courses and his extramural activities in the pursuit of culture. Travelling art exhibits are literally jammed with students. The most popular musical selection in the coffee houses frequented by students is Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

At the same time the Japanese student finds "relaxation" of apparently equal intensity in sports. Baseball is the favorite sport, a six-team university league in Tokyo drawing almost one million spectators in 1957. All sports are very popular, foreign as well as domestic, with the exception of cricket.

One foregone conclusion should point out to North Americans the fact that there is a tremendous drive by the younger people to improve themselves and their countries through obtaining the best possible education and the most advanced culture they possibly can. This is a very dynamic desire which drives these new generations in foreign countries. An interesting sidelight is that unlike the case of death for those between the ages of fifteen and twenty-four in Japan. This apparently stems from the fact that youths take their personal progress so seriously.

If there should be concern in comparing the zeal of such students as these with the North American student's apparently preconceived notions that when dealing with a bus conductor, Komsomolskaya Pravda says, there's always room for one more smile, which is certainly a worthwhile policy to the ultimate test.

Still, it's a good thing to have the Russians smile, and we hope this new state policy works. Now we can all go all the way with K. Pravda's conclusion that "a kind word is the companion of good deeds."

Of course, it might be. But then again it might not. And while there's no reason for our state policy makers to become as gloomy and dour as the Slane about matters, it would be well for them to keep in mind Hamlet's conclusion that one may smile and smile and be a villain still.

TCA Showed Foresight

Montreal Gazette

The airlines of the world are going through difficult times. One South American airline president put his problem in a nut-shell some months ago. "I can fail slowly through jet competition," he said, "or I can buy jets and fail quickly."

One major United States line has decided it will be idle to order for new turbine aircraft because it couldn't keep up the payments.

The size of the financial problem in converting to turbine aircraft is illustrated in the report submitted in the Commons on Friday of Trans Canada Air Lines operations in 1958. In 1954, when it will be ready to be converted to turbine powered aircraft, their value will be $190 million.

TCA is half-way through the process of converting its average 930-35 million each year on its conversion bills. Yet, unlike the two airlines mentioned above, the airline continues to show a profit, small, but nevertheless a profit.

The difference between a successful takeover and near-bankruptcy depends on planning. Before the war began planning, TCA accepted the turbine principle a dozen years before it would come into completely turbine-powered fleet. The prepared-ness began in 1945, three years before the line introduced the first turbo-prop aircraft, the Vickers Viscount, manufactured, by coincidence, in North America.

Each year, TCA revenues rose by 15 percent at the same time operating costs rose by 14 percent. Also each year, $31.3 million on new aircraft (out of total capital expenditure of $33.9 million) and there showed a profit of $347,429 on total revenues of $120.3 million.

During the same period, United States airlines got one rate increase and required another. During the same period, Canadian lines in many were cut in the American level.

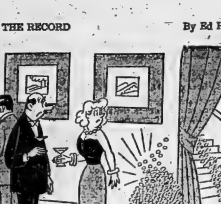
Long range planning makes the difference. TCA's record report is a good example of such planning.

But Villains Also Smile

Wall Street Journal

If we have a problem, we'd certainly take Komosomolskaya Pravda's hint. "A fine, bright, wholesome smile not only adorns a person but it warms those to whom it is intended, and those who see it," is the lyrical way the paper puts the key element in Russia.

Well, styles do change, dimness was once fashionable in the Kremlin and smiles were so far out that it was written that when one occurred everyone knew that the cat was out of the window and the canary but the cat, too. Mr. Stalin, though, finally went to work wherever good Communists go, and Mr. Molotov went into obscurity, and Mr. Khrushchev came, all smiles, to power.



Mr. Khrushchev's smile will be as broad as Laughing Boy's, a real ear-to-ear disarming grin. It has been described as vivacious, friendly, and bubbling. Nothing sinister. So it's not surprising that, in the land of smiles, which the state-controlled press now recommends that the people smile more often, and in the land where dealing with a bus conductor, Komsomolskaya Pravda says, there's always room for one more smile, which is certainly a worthwhile policy to the ultimate test.

Still, it's a good thing to have the Russians smile, and we hope this new state policy works. Now we can all go all the way with K. Pravda's conclusion that "a kind word is the companion of good deeds."

Of course, it might be. But then again it might not. And while there's no reason for our state policy makers to become as gloomy and dour as the Slane about matters, it would be well for them to keep in mind Hamlet's conclusion that one may smile and smile and be a villain still.

Two-Party System Best

Windsor Star

Mr. Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, may not have made himself too popular with some unions recently when he says he regrets the number of political parties in Canada and the larger number only two. He is, however, only being accurate in the appraisal of democracy.

Experience proves that democracy functions best under the two-party system. When there are more than two, a government often represents only a minority of the electorate. If there are many, then a government of necessity usually is coalition, representing often opposing interests and weak because of them.

Mr. Jodoin also is correct when he says the best two-party system is that in which one is to the right or left of centre and the other a little to the right. This not only makes them different but gives each have a healthy action and reaction on each other's policies.

Trouble in Canada, however, isn't just that there are more than two parties but that two par parties are fumbled up, overlapping in their policies. Western Conservatives generally, are more liberal than Quebec and Maritime Liberals; Quebec and Maritime Liberals more conservative than Western Conservatives.

Some policies of the Diefenbaker Government are in balance, not one short old-line Conservatives. They also are thrilled by many Liberal-minded Liberals. There just isn't enough distinction between the two to make it clear what is the one reason why there are other parties.

Senator C. G. Power, some years back, was discussing this situation. He suggested the dividing line between two major parties be drawn not simply between those who are really nationalistic in their attitude and those who favor the old connections. Trouble is, the latter are becoming fewer all the time and the former more numerous.

Nothing Wrong With Name Cod

Hamilton Spectator

It is suggested that the name of the codable fish, cod, should be changed because the public and its fish-eating habits. It seems not to be impressed by such a title. The proposal is made by Dr. A. W. H. Needler of the Fisheries Council of Canada.

"The name leaves consumers cold," he observes. "Give us a name on which we can build a really different that the world historians will be forced to take up pen and paper to write history."

Any person who has stood fascinated on a dock at Halifax or Lunenburg and watching the salt cod being taken from nets from the hold of a schooner knows that the fish cured in three months on the Banks knows that to rename cod would be a crime against the proletariat. Salt cod's pungent and ocean-sharp odor is so rich and satisfying to those who enjoy it — thousands do and there's no reason why they don't if they would only try it — that it's best to speak for itself no matter what its name.

Fish are fish. There is no mystic in the lowly cod soup, baked cod, shad, sole, sucker, guppy.

Who is going to provide the "refreshing" name for cod fish? Little aid may be expected from historians who are still exhausted from naming the Burlington Skyway. The dictionary is of little help. It seems to deepen the mystery. Cod, while defined as a large fish, is recorded as of elym. dub. A hasty reference to the glossary reveals that the dictionary itself (Concise Oxford Dictionary) is referring to a cod's head.

Language Taught Tots

Denver Post

The Jefferson County School District is the only one we know of in the country with compulsory foreign language program from kindergarten through sixth grade.

That's somewhat of the distance we are behind, but we're glad to know the program is going to continue.

Denver is also planning a four-year language program in the high school.

The more interdependent world, where America's dealings with other countries are so vital, the training in foreign languages is a vital asset.

Our ignorance of other languages has been a major handicap in the Eisenhower administrations for the friendship of peoples throughout the world.

So, even if this country burn, Jefferson is wise in sticking to the language pact. Both the children and the nation they will serve will be better for it.

I just had a complete examination by a heart specialist and was told everything is fine except that I am underweight. Yet every time I get an ache or pain in some part of my left side, I continue to worry and cannot get it off my mind that, perhaps, the tests have false readings. A.D."

Letters like this — the pains may be in different places and the fears varied, but the principle is similar — are not uncommon. I get a lot of them. This one is quite typical.

Several years ago I mentioned in a little column that left or right in a bit of blood, and worrying, and "realizing" that it "must be" tuberculosis. What it turned out to be was a wisdom tooth that had to be pulled up the gum a bit as it erupted.

To this day, I still feel that the "suggestion from the doctor was worth the money — for those days I was getting $20 a week. But I recall it, plus a bottle of fizzy pills that the doctor gave me to take "for the nerves," did not do a thing for for against wisdom tooth. They have been me occupied for three or four days until I accepted the truth of the matter, which was simply the fact that nothing ailed me except an over-active imagination.

Now I don't necessarily say that yours is "A.D.T. Maybe something does. But it doesn't hurt to be heart-minded because certain pains on the left side sometimes accompany heart trouble.

A FEW OTHER POSSIBILITIES

Other possible causes of left arm pain, muscle spasm, bursitis, indigestion, emotional tension, poor posture, pressure on nerves at the neck, pinched nerves, muscle strain from sleeping with your arm in an uncomfortable position or something. Late Any would fit "an ache or pain in the left arm."

To be sure, for each one of these causes including the last one there are there would be a small but significant difference. I can't go into all the differences short of writing several books. But the symptoms would be identical. That's the doctor's worry.

But what's my advice to the person involved? I'm not going to say, "Go back to your doctor and ask him what's wrong with you". I'm not going to say that it hurts and it sleep.

doctor's feelings for a patient to come in with the trouble already diagnosed." It is decent.

I say, just be natural and frank about things. Go to your doctor and say you have such-and-such pains, and if you are saddled with some particular fear (as "A.D." happens to have heart trouble in mind) just say so.

I gather that "A.D." has a private suspicion that the doctor is right. It isn't heart disease and it might be sheer nerves. But how to be certain? Just lay things out the line to the doctor. If you have some special fear, tell him, and he can take some extra precautions to make sure that it is — or isn't — what you fear.

A faulty heart that can cause pain at all will give some further unmistakable signs that will be detected by the stethoscope or other instrumentation. "A.D.'s" heart, I'm sure, is sound as a nut.

If you have some special worry, tell your doctor. Then leave things up to him. There's nothing wrong with developing these "feelings" in the back of them. Everybody has had 'em. But don't bottle 'em up.

Note to Mrs. E. R. — These patent medicines I dislike so much you mention that make such extravagant claims tip their own hand. A product that is really good doesn't have to brag like that. "2½ Sodium phosphate is ordinary "washing soda." (3) Vitamin E contains several varieties of a chemical called tocopherol.

D.M.L.: The growth of such hair at the age of 21 would, in my estimation, be worth a visit to your doctor. "And, depending on his findings, he may refer you to an endocrinologist.)

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading my booklet "How To Stop Constipation". For a copy write to me in care of The Chicago Daily Tribune, Station C, Box 158, Dundee Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20c in coin to cover handling.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE EYES OF SPRINGTIME

More than at any other season of the year do we look at the world at this time with its budding flowers and awakened leaves in all the trees and shrubbery. These are the eyes of Spring looking into the hearts of us all. Even the tiniest flower blinks its eyes to get a touch of the earliest Spring sunshine.

Many varieties of birds have returned to my Northern home. Even as I write this I hear one Cardinals feeding, among others, from food scattered for them — and how grateful they all are! Three Bluebirds have been in the spring just below my home at the edge of a meadow. I welcome the robins that have returned, who seem happy that their old haunts still remain for the new nesting time.

The greatest joy is to have these feathered friends back again, to sing their morning songs and sometimes their evening ones. The inspiring notes birds have, as they open their hearts to Nature's miracle days. It is interesting also to note how these birds, little by little, keep losing their fears and seem to emphasize their joy in the sun of returning Spring much for their good will and health.

Nature is our greatest textbook. From her we learn more than from any other single volume. And her textbook is open wide at all times, and has been for centuries. Nature has taught us far more than any book, though these books have appeared from time to time for our love and enjoyment. I read in an advertisement the following, these words: "Diamonds are Forever." Some one has said the same thing can be said of everything beautiful and inspiring. The eyes of Springtime are for all eyes. They are like a mother's eye. They look into the soul of things.

THE CRY OF YOUTH

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I want to be where the big men,
Are,
Out there on the battle line.
I want to carry my standard far
And know the applause is mine.

My blood runs hot in my veins today
And I yearn for a strong man's place,
But, oh, so slowly I tread my way
In the-maze of this worldly race.

I dream by night of the days to be
When I'll battle my way alone;
When none shall advise or counsel me
And the strength that I have is known.

But I chafe by day at the binding chains
Of youth that hold me back,
And I'm yearning now for the big men's fame
I'm tired of the beaten track.

But slow, so slow are the steps I take,
And light are my burdens, too;
And empty a night I lie awake
Planning wonderful things to do.

For the great unrest is in my breast;
I shall never know peace again
Till I've won the right to a strong man's test
And taken my place with men.

SIGNIFICANCE OF EVANGELISM

Someone has recently made the statement that the church is a field for evangelism rather than a force for evangelism. It seems sometimes as if the church is more interested in social reform than it is in evangelism — that is, in the proclamation of the gospel, the good news.

Evangelism often manifests certain weaknesses and these weaknesses seem to be large in the eyes of some people that they are against evangelism per se. The question is often asked, "Do the converts made at evangelistic meetings stick?" Most of the time they do. Although sometimes of a large number a few do not. What we should face, however, is the reality that the church of the Lord Jesus Christ has grown only when it has been vigorously evangelistic.

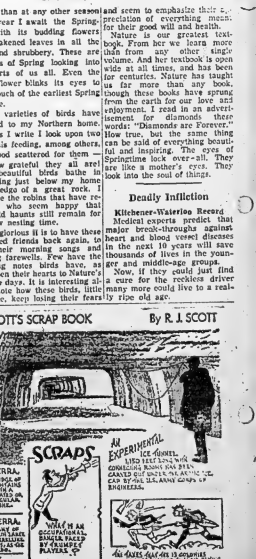
Take, for instance, the history of the church has evangelism been carried on so intensively. It was during the first few centuries. In those days, everybody was an evangelist. Housewives converted other housewives. Merchants brought their customers. For almost 300 years after the founding of the Church at Pentecost, little organized or substantial people all over the Roman Empire kept multiplying in numbers and influence.

Only in periods of revival has the church gone forward by leaps and bounds. More and sanier evangelism!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

While the beaver enjoys distinction on many Canadian symbols and insignia, it is the canoe that really ought to be commemorated for more gratefully than it is. There certainly would have been no beaver trade to inspire travel and exploration without the canoe. No other vehicle or craft could have taken the place of the bark canoe in Canada's early history and expansion. Or even more than Canada's.



It was a Canadian born, Louis Jolliet, who with Father Jacques Marquette in a bark canoe, who discovered the Mississippi, many hundreds of miles from his home base in Quebec, and years before any other explorers followed.

Though the white birch is found in some variety in every province across Canada, it was only in a limited range that it grew to its the size and vigor that supplied our Algonquin nomads with the material for their canoes which became the instruments of history in the time when canoes arrived. All other tribes of Indian in America were pinned down by either having no birch or to employ crude and unwieldy dugout canoes or the necessity to find elm bark or hides stretched on frames.

But our famed explorers found their repair material wherever they went along the way; and when they reached the prairie, they found reeds of birch used for any emergencies involving their fragile but essential canoes. Before any other explorers followed, the Indian canoe, the history of the continents of America might have been quite different from what it

White Cane Club's Members Hold Party on 9th Birthday

By GLADYS WARD

Nine candles decorated the birthday cake for the White Cane Club on the occasion of its anniversary party at the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday evening. Guests were present from Kingston, Trenton, Picton and district, as well as representatives from various service clubs and the Hastings County Advisory Council. President of the club, Mrs. Waite, welcomed the visitors who had come to help the members celebrate the anniversary.

A spirited sing-song was led by Mrs. H. Rollins and Bill McKay of the local radio station entertained with folk songs, accompanying himself on the guitar.

Greetings were brought by Mrs. Bacon, president of the Kinette club, who wished the club a happy birthday and spoke of the privilege of serving the club with lunch each month; John Luscombe spoke on behalf of the Y's men and the Y.M.C.A.; Mrs. Nellie Seymegour representing the Women of the Moose; Governor of the Loyal Order of Moose W. Prindle congratulated the club; the home teacher, Virginia Phillpotts, spoke for the Friendship Club of Kingston; Mrs. Gordon Walmsley brought the good wishes of the Busy Fingers Club of Picton; Mrs. Gallop, president of the Kingston club offered congratulations; Don Ferguson, assistant field-secretary, thanked the members of the Lions Club who had driven three carloads from Kingston; Field Secretary, Preston Timmins recalled the beginnings of the club nine years ago, and paid tribute to those who had assisted through the years. Mr. Timmins wished the club a happy and efficient time in the years ahead.

A contest was held with Jack Bews winning the prize. The lucky chair prize was won by Mrs. Laura McGowan of Picton. Prizes were also given to the oldest person present, Mr. A. Morton, and to the youngest, Mildred Rushlow. The door prize was won by Mrs. Waite.

TELLS OF UN VISIT

The speaker for the evening, Mrs. John Haig (Harriet Stevens), was introduced by Mrs. O. Withart as a true Canadian who had a full life as the popular commentator on CJBQ radio, as an author in collaboration with her husband, and as a columnist in The Ontario Intelligencer. Interested in a number of clubs, Mrs. Haig had been selected to attend a study on the status of women at the United Nations in New York, where she had spent three weeks.

Mrs. Haig explained that she had been an observer with a non-governmental organization, the Old League of Nations and the Security Council have the same functions dealing with the problems of nations; but it was hoped to go beyond that and establish agencies that would go to the people of a country and through them serve the cause of peace.

"These agencies are an extension of missionary work," said the speaker, "reaching out to help people. There are so many countries whose people are 3/5 literate and who live in a primitive state. In the human family what affects one part will affect the rest. There is an imbalance in the world, and we must give of ourselves to less fortunate people. Conditions in underdeveloped countries can not go on as they are. Official delegates to the U.N. deal with crises in a short-term view while the commission of the economic and social council takes the long-term view.

"The time is past when women cannot contribute as citizens to the welfare of the country. There are just not enough people to handle all the problems of the world without the aid of women. It is a slow process, with representatives of 18 countries sitting on the commission, and it takes time to get the proper wording.

CANADA HAS SEAT

"We are proud that Canada sits on the commission of the Status of Women, where such topics are discussed as the political rights of women; the nationality of married women; economic opportunities for women; and questions on the age of retirement and pensions. There is so much to be done that everyone needs to be aware and sympathetic, and to show interest in the under-privileged countries."

Thanks were expressed to the speaker by Miss Pat Baver-stock. Mrs. Haig was presented with a plant of mums by Mrs. Waite. Arlie Scott voiced the appreciation of the club to the Lions Club which had provided transportation; Mildred Rushlow thanked the Kinette Club, and Clarence Morris thanked the entertainers.

A tasty lunch was served by members of the Kinette Club, finishing with ice cream and the birthday cake which was cleverly iced with a white cane, roses, and a happy birthday message.

HOUSE MEMBERS

which the Conservative majority voted down 163 to 37 a Liberal non-confidence motion attacking government financing operations.

TWO-DAY DEBATE

The vote ended a debate of nearly two days on a motion which accused the government on five counts: "Errors and inequities" in last year's huge conversion loan bond issue; the record Bank of Canada interest rate; the largest annual expansion in Canada's money supply since the war; a record peacetime rise in the national debt last fiscal year; and record public debt charges.

To this massive indictment Finance minister Fleming gave a massive reply — a three-hour speech that began Monday night and continued through most of Tuesday afternoon's sitting.

Mr. Fleming charged the Liberals with "gloating and glorying" in higher interest rates which had increased government costs.

Higher interest rates, he said, were due to an extraordinary demand in the economy for loans.

The government hadn't decreed an increase in the money supply last year, in fact the money supply had declined since 1958.

PLEA BY YOUNGER MEN

The call for higher pay for MPs was voiced by three members, all in their 30s.

Mr. Fisher said the Commons contains a larger proportion of younger men than old most previous parliaments.

"It is on these younger men that the cost of living and of performing the duties of a member of Parliament bears most hardly."

MPs should tell their constituents: "It is time you paid us what we are worth for the job we are doing."

Commons members now receive annually an $8,000 taxable indemnity and a $2,000 tax-free allowance. The indemnity was doubled from $4,000 in 1954.

Mr. Fisher said that if no action is taken this session he will propose next year that the indemnity be at least $12,000 and the allowance at least $3,000.

Mr. Campbell, 36, said North American society judged things according to their price tag.

"The respect and attention given to members of this House is largely dependent on the salary," he said.

He said cabinet members deserve a pay increase even more. It was "fantastic" that the manager of some small manufacturing plant gets as much and probably more than the prime minister.

The prime minister receives $27,000 a year — $25,000 salary, $10,000 as an MP but all taxable, and $4 tax-free $2,000 automobile allowance. Cabinet members receive $10,000 less than the prime minister.

Code Amendments To Give Provinces Wider Powers

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is planning amendments to the Criminal Code that will clearly empower the provinces to suspend drivers' licences for traffic offences, if was learned Monday.

This was one of several points discussed at a meeting between Justice Minister Fulton and Attorney - General Roberts of Ontario.

Mr. Roberts said a number of matters of mutual concern to his provincial department and the federal government were discussed.

He said they involved mostly technical details that would require action by both the Ontario and federal governments.

He said the matters discussed were aimed at improving administration of various laws and providing for a "more expeditious" handling of various court cases.

Both ministers indicated to reporters that their meeting had resulted in agreement on the points at issue.

ELDORADO W.M.S.

ELDORADO — The Eldorado and Madoc Missionary Society held the April meeting in the Standard Church, Madoc, on Thursday evening with the president, Mrs. Lough, in charge, and Mrs. Jack Smith at the piano.

The president, Mr. J. Lenaghan of the World's Home Bible League of Canada, from Scribner, was present and spoke on his work and his experience there, which was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Lough read the Scripture lesson taken from Romans 14, and Mrs. McKnight favored with a solo.

There were 36 present. Offering was $15.73.

Mrs. McKnight favored with a solo.

Guest speaker for the evening was Reverend J. McKnight of the Wesleyan Church, who opened his message with a Scripture reading from Matthew 28, being "The Great Commission," chosen by Christ to get the message of truth to all the world. He stressed three words as a challenge, "Power, Prayer and Perserverance."

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

It has been quite some time since T & T indulged in the type of column which we used to do periodically. Every once in a while we would devote a column for which the name "This & That" could be taken literally. Over the past few weeks we have been disorganized and disrupted from the regular round and although our reading of news releases has been neglected there are still many items of this and that from here and there that may change the pace and interest you. The following are neither intended to be world-shattering nor profound. We hope they contain elemental and simple items of interest.

In a recent brochure handed to us by Mr. Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P., we learn that our province of Ontario contains 412,582 square miles or is as large as the combined area of fourteen states of the U.S.A. including New York. Our population is over 5,850,000. There are 1,292,133 passenger car registrations, 287,543 commercial and 37,800 others, for a total vehicle registration of 1,617,400. Both operator and chauffeur licenses equal 1,855,725. Public, secondary and separate school pupils total 1,036,659.

The list of facts and figures is impressive and too long for our restricted space. However, it is interesting to learn that the population is increasing at the rate of 18,000 per month. Ontario accounts for about 40 percent of the total personal income of Canada. Approximately 115 provincial parks were in operation last year and over 23,000,000 visitors were expected. Believe it or not, one-third of Canada's buying power is located within a radius of 100 miles of Toronto. We wish we could include all the figures on industrial capacity.

Our provincial flower is the white Trillium. The Ontario moto on the arms of Ontario translated is — Loyal she began, loyal she remains.

We thank Mr. Sandercock for the excellent folder including facts and figures about Ontario, pamphlets offering safe and wise driving instructions and pictures of scenic Ontario. Three or four scenes are shown from our Bay of Quinte district.

As item of human interest comes from India. Last November we read in "India", a wonderful pamphlet sent to us each month from the information Service of India, that because of the country's huge population, the purchase of penicillin was costing India millions of Rs in foreign exchange. Through the help of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, which purchased machines and equipment and the World Health Organization which loaned technicians to train Indians, the government-owned plant is catching up fast, much faster than dreamed of. Self-sufficiency is the goal. Penicillin is being made available to every remote village throughout the land. Since the November release the price has been reduced by 20 percent and by the end of the present five-year plan India expects to save Rs 40,000,000. Our kennel instincts warn and advise us that as India goes, so goes Asia which could mean Africa and the western hemisphere. Therefore what happens to our neighbor somewhere must be of vital concern and interest to all of us. It is encouraging to read such facts as: Three new steel plants increase the output of steel; one was backed by the U.K., a second by Germany and a third by the Soviets. The first four-seater all India-made airplane has been tested. Books published in India in 1957-1958 show that more are printed in English than in any single Indian language. Visitors to India from other lands are increasing rapidly. TV has come to India. Railroad coaches and locomotive output is increasing and breaking production records regularly. Already machine tool output has passed the target set for 1960-61.

In a recent address Prime Minister Nehru stated: "Tomorrow's India will be what we make it today's labors. I have no doubt that India will progress industrially and otherwise, that she will advance in science and technology, that our people's standards will rise, that education will spread, that economic conditions will be better and that art culture will enrich people's lives."

It may well be that India holds the key to the struggle between totalitarianism and democracy. Well may we seek to understand and know the foundation of democracy in Asia and possibly all those areas where the rising aspirations of suffering millions face us in the chasm between ideologies.

Foresters Hold First Bowling Party in City

The Canadian Order of Foresters bowling party held in the Parkdale Community Centre last Saturday evening was a delight to both guests and the members of the Belleville Foresters Bowling Committee.

The party was preceded several hours earlier by the Foresters annual bowling tournament at the Bowl-O-Drome.

After the tournament the contestants and guests made their way to the Centre where food, served buffet style and dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

The Centre was packed throughout the night with guests from many points covering Eastern Ontario.

A cash door prize was drawn and a draw on a beautiful illuminated smoker was made. This was the first time that the Foresters were successful in bringing the annual tournament to this city, and those responsible left no stone unturned to see that it was a success all the way.

The delicious food and coffee were prepared by the ladies of the bowling committee, and the meal was served by Mrs. Bro. Earl Derry male committee member.

Guests and friends were loud in their praise and are looking forward to coming back to Belleville next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vanner Happily Wed Fifty Years

A family dinner at Christ Church Parish Hall was held Monday evening celebrating the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vanner, 35 Burton Street. Twenty-three members of the immediate family and close friends attended the function.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanner have lived in the city since their marriage in Christ Church half a century ago. He is a native of London, England, coming to Canada 53 years ago, while Mrs. Vanner, the former Frenna Wilkins, was born in Belleville.

A member of the local decorating firm of E. W. Vanner and Son, Mr. Vanner is now retired from active work having been forced to quit in 1947 as result of a heart attack. He has since almost fully recovered.

Both were formerly active members of Christ Church, where Mr. Vanner was both People's and Rector's warden. Mrs. Vanner was active in the Parish Guild and other organizations until health also forced her to slow down.

"I just do the housework now," Mrs. Vanner says, although she looks much younger than her 73 years. Mr. Vanner is 75.

Mr. Vanner looks forward each summer to an active season of bowling, watching TV is his other hobby.

Dozens of cards and telegrams were received by the happy couple offering congratulations on their fiftieth anniversary. Lovely flowers and gifts were also received.

Congratulatory messages were received from Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings West.

The Vanners have a son, Robert, who carries on the family business, while their two young grandchildren are the apple of their eye.

Mr. Vanner has two brothers Mark of Belleville and George of England, and a sister, Mrs. Dietshaker and Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings West.

W.I. Elects New Officers

WELLINGTON — The regular monthly meeting of the Wellington Women's Institute was held last Tuesday evening in the town hall with the president presiding. Dues were paid. One a motion by Mrs. C. Wannemaker it was moved that the fee be raised from 25 cents to 50 cents per year.

Letters were read, one from Greenbush. W.I. inviting the Wellington W.I. to attend its 40th anniversary April 24th; a number of thank-you notes were also read. All bills were moved to be paid.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the evening, Mr. James Dick, was introduced and gave a splendid talk on agriculture. Mr. Dick is on the marketing board for Ontario. He explained how prices were set on an even scale all across Canada and of the mobile relations that through these meetings. This talk was appreciated by the ladies. The president, Mrs. Tripp, thanked Mr. Dick.

The secretary gave her financial statement for the year. Conveners' reports were also given from the standing committees.

Mrs. Tripp declared all offices open and election of officers was held with Mrs. Ralph Ellis performing the installation of the following officers for 1959-60, with Mrs. Jackson acting as secretary: past president, Mrs. Ralph Ellis; president, Mrs. S. Tripp; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Garfield Whitney; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. W. Haverstock; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. Callow; assistant secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Charles Broadbridge; district representative, Mrs. William Jackson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jack Wight; press reporter, Mrs. A. Ogilvy; pianist, Mrs. Norman Foster.

Conveners for standing committees: citizenship and education, Mrs. W. Callow; home economics and health, Miss Edith Ward; community activities and public relations, Mrs. Peter Vourt; agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. Ken Wood; historical research, Mrs. F. Harris; auditors, Mrs. Ogilvy and Mrs. Jackson.

At the close of the ceremonies Mrs. Ellis thanked all past officers and new ones for their kindness when called upon. She also presenting each officer, old and new, with a pretty corsage.

A short program followed with Mrs. J. Dick and Mrs. Ken Wood, hostesses. Poem of the month, by Mrs. Henry Dick. Mrs. C. Breadridge gave the current events and Mrs. Dale Cleave rendered a lovely solo, "Without A Song" with Mrs. Foster as pianist. Refreshments brought an interesting meeting to a close.

Manly Macdonald at work on the banks of the Moira in Belleville, with an interested group of young admirers watching every stroke of his brush.

W.I. Presents 1959 Slate Of Officers

ELDORADO — The Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institute held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Chambers on Tuesday. In the absence of Mrs. Charles Pigden, Mrs. John Thompson took charge.

Roll call was answered by paying fees. Reports of the standing committees were read; agriculture, Canadian industries by Mrs. Beryle Carman; citizenship and education by Mrs. Cecil Blackburn; historical research by Mrs. Russell and health by Mrs. J. Thompson.

Mrs. Ken Bateman took charge of the slate of officers for the year 1959-60. The president, Mrs. Pigden, is retiring. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Pigden for her fine work during her tenure of office.

Standing committee conveners: agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. Beryl Carman; citizenship and education, Mrs. Arthur Bronson; historical research, Mrs. Russell Empey; home economics and health, Mrs. Clayton Blackburn; girls' work, Mrs. Stan Franks and Mrs. B. Hagerman.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants and a social half hour was enjoyed.

University Women's Club Fair To Show M. Macdonald's Work

For some years now the University Women's Club "Spring Fair" has been an event eagerly anticipated by many Belleville and district residents. While the "Spring Fair" includes the pleasures of afternoon tea, and a sale of homebaking, the key note of interest is the opportunity provided to view the paintings of the beloved local artist, Manly Macdonald. This year the "Spring Fair" will be held on May 2, on the main floor of the Kiwanis Centre.

Mr. Macdonald will be present during the afternoon to discuss the locale or other interesting features of his oil paintings. At the close of the exhibition, he will draw the lucky number for the painting he has donated, and will present the fortunate winner with the picture.

The University Women's Club extends a warm invitation to all to take this opportunity to view Mr. Macdonald's beautiful paintings.

Through his generous annual donation of a painting for the draw, Mr. Macdonald has made it possible for the University Women's Club to promote education by presenting a scholarship of one hundred dollars to a girl of Belleville or district who plans to attend university. Two years ago the number of scholarships, of equal value, was raised to two, known as the University Women's Club scholarship, and the Manly Macdonald scholarship.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Martha S. — Their father would be poison to the children.

Jane M. — She should try to get over her bitterness.

Martha S. — I am the mother of two children, a 13-year-old girl and a boy of nine. My husband deserted us five years ago and we have not seen him since.

Fortunately, my father left me enough money to get by on for the next few years. I am also working part-time and eventually I'll take a full-time job. My husband's family has also been very nice. They thoroughly condemned his conduct and have offered to help the children get a college education if they want it.

However, I am now furious about my sister-in-law. She helped my daughter write a letter to her father behind my back. Now he wants to come to see the children. I want nothing to do with him and I'm sure he will be poison to the children.

Jane M. — I feel that I did the only right thing under the circumstances. My little niece came to me and told me that she misses her father and wants to get in touch with him. I couldn't say no to the child and I couldn't tell Martha because I knew she would be furious and wouldn't let her make contact with her dad.

I am not trying to defend my brother. He behaved disgracefully but I felt that by this time he had probably begun to realize and regret it himself. Apparently I was right because he is now eager to see the children.

I think Martha should try to get over some of her bitterness for her children's sake. Even if they can't live with their father, it would do them good to know that he cares for them.

The Council: It is never "right" to conspire with a child to do something behind a parent's back. As long as the parent remains a responsible person, no child should come between them as a kind of higher or better authority.

Jane was also wrong in her idea of using this little girl's feelings to pull back her father. This man knew where his children were and had every right to see them if he wanted to. Yet he chose to remain away for five years. Surely, if he thought about it, he realized that his children missed him — letter or no letter. The little girl's letter served the wrong purpose of coaxing him, of catering to his own childlike desire to get some proof that he is loved in spite of the fact that he has done nothing to deserve love.

However, Jane is right on one point. It is important for Martha to try to get over her bitterness toward her husband. If the little girl had not felt her mother's bitterness so strongly, she would not have appealed to her aunt. This child should have felt free to speak to her mother about her longing to see her father. She should have felt that she would get sympathy and understanding on this score.

If the child had spoken to her mother, Martha would have remained in better control of the situation. She could have advised her daughter to wait until she got a little older or she might have won some say in the kind of letter that was to be written.

Martha is now in a very difficult position. If she forbids the visit, she will seem cruel to her children. It would be better if she could persuade her daughter to put off the meeting until she is older and has more understanding. If the girl is determined, however, it may be best to permit the meeting and let nature take its course. Children sometimes manage to get the good from an apparently bad person or situation.

Has Last Year's Suit Shrunk

by Mary Moore

That trying-to-fit-into-last year's-spring suit effort is now on.

Goodness! If I am to judge from your letters everybody must have put on weight just like I did during the winter hibernation. But unlike the bears we ate and ate and ate.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY (Gatsis)

Veal Scallopini (see Tuesday); Spinach Soufflé (see Tuesday); Baked, Crumbed Parsnips; Individual Fresh Fruit Salads: Pineapple Slices, Orange Slices and Grapefruit Wedges, Banana Halves coated with Mayonnaise and dipped in Chopped Nuts; Cheese and Crackers; Coffee.

Now comes the reckoning.

If you are dead serious and determined to lose weight, try this routine for two weeks, combining it with ten minutes at least of morning calisthenics and one hour of walking or gardening in the fresh air.

BREAKFAST:

One peeled and sectioned orange; 1 egg coddled with 1-16 teaspoon butter (to grease the little coddling dish); 2 cups clear coffee; 125-to-150 calories (depending on the size of the orange and egg).

LUNCH:

Three-quarters cup cabbage or lettuce and cucumber salad with 1 tablespoon each cottage cheese and mayonnaise; one 1-oz. slice of lean meat or cheese; 1 medium banana; one 8-oz. glass of skim or buttermilk. Total calories 260 to 275, (difference depending on size of banana.)

NOTE:

Remember that 1 tablespoon of mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon of butter. Each count for 100 calories.

DINNER:

One 4-oz. slice lean meat; 1-2 cup diced cooked carrots; 1-2 cup steamed spinach; 1-2 medium grapefruit or 1 apple or 1 fresh pear; clear tea or coffee. Total calories 375 to 400, (difference depending on whether meat is beef or pork or chicken and which fruit is chosen.)

NOTE:

If bone milk had been added three times a day to your tea or coffee it would have added approximately 25 to 50 calories. You also may have added as much as 66 calories by putting 1 teaspoon butter on each vegetable. Imagine, one peanut has 5 calories in it. I am pointing this out for it will show you in black and white how those little amounts can sky-rocket your calorie count.

So the knowing and kind advice, from one who is in the same predicament? Yes, over-weight is my spring suit, is to write down, in a notebook bought for the purpose, each and every calorie consumed by you. If they are under 1000 and you are a moderately active woman and do your exercises and outside recreational daily, you can lose one pound per week.

Go on. You do not have to take my word for it. Try it!

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

A PINK MOTHER-IN-LAW-TO-BE!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Our son is to be married in September, "God willing," and let me say right away how very pleased we are with the lovely and charming girl he has chosen to be his wife and our new daughter. Our only wish is to do everything right. You see, the bride's parents live far away from here, and the wedding is going to be in their church in the city where they live. Our son has met them, but we haven't. Of course I wrote them when our son told us about the engagement, and later, when he told us about the plans for the wedding. Is there anything else we should talk over with her parents?

2. How do we let our friends here know about the wedding? Do we just send them the usual invitations?

3. Would it be proper for me to give the trousseau tea? Since the bride-to-be is boarding at the present time, most of her trousseau things, and engagement and wedding presents, would be brought here to our house until they come home from their honeymoon. I thought this would be a good way to give her friends here and our friends a chance to meet her and see her trousseau and gifts. — A. H.

What a wonderful and generous-thoughted mother-in-law you are going to be! You show this in every word of your friendly letter!

1. As the time and the correspondence get on, the bride's mother will tell you what type of dress she is planning to wear, and will undoubtedly send you a swatch of the material, and you will then plan to wear a dress of similar type and of a color harmonizing with the color of her dress. She will write you, I'm sure, about all other plans, and will tell you where she would like to have you and your husband stand in the receiving-line at the reception.

Ask her about what type of attire her husband is to wear at the wedding. Your husband, who will be the man guest of honor at the wedding, should wear the same type of attire. And you will have to find out how many invitations your family will be assigned.

2. The customary thing is for the groom's mother to send a list of names and addresses of the family, relatives and friends.

3. This would, I think, be a very fine idea . . . but you should talk it over with your son's fiancee for her approval.

Also, when the bride and bridegroom return from their wedding trip, it would be an excellent plan for you and your husband, if possible, to give a reception in honor of the couple. The bride, wearing her wedding dress (but not her bridal veil), would receive with you, and I hope it will be possible for her mother to come to the reception, also to receive with you and your new daughter.

SHOULD GLOVES BE REMOVED?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In a Protestant church, is it proper to partake of Communion with gloved hands? — Mary A.

No. Gloves should be removed, or at least the glove of the right hand should be removed.

INTRODUCING COUPLES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the correct way to introduce one couple to another couple? I have been told that one should introduce them individually, that is, first the women to each other, then the men to each other, and so forth. This seems to me unnecessarily complicated, but perhaps I'm wrong. Am I? — H. C.

Right you are . . . that these individual introductions are "unnecessarily complicated." The correct way to introduce one couple to another is the easiest, simplest way: "Mr. and Mrs. Baker — Mr. and Mrs. Clark."

Mother's Helper

WHEN THERE is serving to do at a large family dinner, why not let the older children do it? They can carry such plates from Daddy to you for cutting a portion of meat into small pieces—and then set it in front of the proper person. This is probably the most spillable method for passing plates from hand to hand while everyone is seated.

Family Bureau Helps Parents Out of Trouble

WINNIPEG (CP)—The lure of easy credit which may get a family into financial difficulties is one of the major reasons why assistance is sought from the family bureau, one of the agencies in the Winnipeg Community Chest.

Marjorie Moore, executive director of the bureau, told the annual meeting of the Community Chest that families frequently come to the bureau for help in a financial crisis. She mentioned two examples, threatened unemployment due to garnishees, and the prospect of eviction for non-payment of rent.

The family in financial difficulties is helped to draw up a budget and to untangle the easy-credit "merry-go-round." Fifty-seven Winnipeg families received financial help last year.

Altogether, 2,461 families were helped in various ways by the bureau during 1958. Apart from finances, she said major causes for breakup of family life were alcoholism, poor mental or physical health, misunderstandings between husband and wife, or between parents and children.

The bureau also assists families in working out their emotional problems. Caseworkers visit the homes, and other families are aided by interviews with counsellors in the bureau's office.

Young Couple Feted by Many Friends

TWEED — On Thursday evening of last week Salem Church hall was filled with friends, neighbors and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barrie (nee Jean Twiddy), honoring them on their recent marriage.

The Rev. Siobhart acted as chairman expressing congratulations and best wishes to the newlyweds.

Mrs. George Sine led in community singing with Harold Sarles at the piano. Readings were given by Mrs. Harold Holden, Mrs. Harry Allyo and Mrs. Stan Thompson. Musical selections were given by Mary, Marjorie and Doug Ray; the Geen Sisters and Carol and Burton Sine. Harold Sarles favored with a piano solo and Miss Carol Sine gave an accordion selection.

Mrs. Cecil Carter read the address and the bride and groom were presented with a spare-ever and cushion, for which Gordon and Jean expressed their thanks to everyone and extended an invitation to visit them in their new home in Stirling.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

STIRLING

Earl Fox Receives I.O.O.F. Lodge's "Highest Decoration"

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING — On Saturday evening a gala event was held in the King Georges High School, Stirling, before several hundred people, when the Grand Decoration of Chivalry was presented to Major General E. Earl Fox of Stirling, Department Commander of Ontario, and Chevalier Frank Green of Guelph, Ont. The Decoration of Chivalry was presented to Lieut. James Harper of Woodstock, Ont.

The program was arranged by the Patriarchs Militant, Independent Order of Odd Fellows of the Department of Ontario, with the kind permission of General Russell Holland, General Commanding Patriarchs of Militant, I.O.O.F.

Members of the various groups attended from many Ontario centres, and also from the United States. Thus the groups were given the opportunity to enjoy "international fraternal relationship" in its truest meaning.

The ceremony was under the leadership of Major General (R) E. E. Woods, North Bay, Ont., past Department Commander of Ontario. The staff was composed of officers, Chevaliers and ladies throughout the Departments of New York and Michigan, and Ontario Patriarchs Militant I.O.O.F.

Patriarch Morley Tanner of Campbellford, District Deputy Grand Patriarch of Encampment District No. 20 was the chairman of the committee which arranged the event.

BORN IN CAMPBELLFORD

Major General R. Earl Fox was born in Campbellford where he spent his early life. He came to Stirling in 1928 and spent several years as a pastry baker in a local shop. Later he was employed by Thomas Spry, and now owns that business. He also operates a farm north of the village. He has served as a member of the Board of Education and was chairman of the Public School Bo.rd in 1951. He is also a member of the volunteer fire brigade.

Earl and Mrs. Fox are members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. They have five daughters and four granddaughters.

Earl began Oddfellowship in 1929 when he was admitted to membership in Stirling Lodge No. 226, I.O.O.F. In 1932 he became a member of Stirling Encampment No. 80, and in 1944 he was admitted to Canton Lodge No. 8, Belleville. In 1956-57 he served as Grand Patriarch of Ontario and in December 1957 was elected for a three year term as Department Commander of Ontario.

Mrs. Fox is a past Noble Grand of Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 311, and a past District Deputy President.

Earl has given unstintingly of his time and energy to promote Oddfellowship. The I.O.O.F. has followed the time-honored custom of bestowing decorations on worthy members who have given outstanding service to their community by alleviating the wants and sufferings of the common people.

The Grand Decoration of Chivalry is the highest and most desirable decoration given in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Earl's name was recommended by his own lodge in Stirling, endorsed by the Cantons in this area, and later accepted by the Department Council.

The ceremonial staff was composed of acting Department Commander, Major General E. E. Wonch, P.D.C., North Bay, assisted by the following: Major General E. Crandall, D.C., Pulaski, N.Y.; Major General Richard Sutliffe, D.C., of Michigan; Department Adjutant, Major General Elmer Rose, P.D.C., Windsor; Chief of Staff, Brig. Gen. J. Russell Leacock, Windsor; chaplain, Lieut. Col. H. McDonald, Belleville; banner, Lieut. Col. Ken Liking, Woodstock; aide, Col. James E. Thow, Trenton; headquarters guard, Lieut. Col. Thomas Murphy, Simcoe; sarnior, Chevalier J. Grant Chambers, P.G.M., of Ottawa; standard bearer, Lieut. Col. (R) Kenneth M. Sine, Peterborough; maid of honor, Miss Sharon MacDonald, Frankford; jewel bearer, Andy Mayhew, Stirling.

LADIES ASSISTED

Lady assistants were: Lady Ruby Johnston, A.P.P., Tweed; Lady Gena Spry, Stirling; Lady M. Hilton A.P.P., Kingston; Lady M. Likins, Woodstock; Lady Hattie Wonch, A.P.P., North Bay and Lady Edith Pratt, A.V.P., Ottawa.

Escorts were: Col. J. McAllister, St. Thomas, Ont.; Lieut. Col. G. D. Simpson, Belleville; Col. J. W. Milliker, Kingston; and Col. H. E. Dudenhoffer, of Ottawa.

Grand representatives were: Lieut. Col. J. Herbert Dawson, Windsor, who gave the address of welcome and presided at the piano throughout the ceremony; Sis. Mabel Mabee, president, Rebekah Assembly, Tillsonburg; Lady Jean Burch, Department Association I.A.P.M., St. Catharines; Brig. Gen. Ralph Hubbs, Patriarchs Militant, Picton; with Brig. Gen. D. McCloy, Brantford, as an escort.

The Foni attendants were: Lieut. Col. Ken Down, Kingston, and Lieut. Col. Larry Pullit, Belleville. The candidate escorts and guards were: Lieut. Col. James Howie, Kingston; Lieut. Col. A. Brotherstone, Peterborough; Major Fred Saskey, Gananoque; Major J. H. Mulligan, Cobalt; Major Fred Pound, Picton; Major Clifford F. Reed, Oakville

The Sentinel was Lieut. Col. Thomas Allen, Lakefield. Commander of the color party was Lieut. Col. Ken Likins, Woodstock, assisted by Capt. Niels Jensen, Belleville; Capt. Gerald I. Blair, Campbellford; Capt. James Thompson, Ottawa; and Lieut. K. H. Bengal, Gravenhurst. The drum detail was under the direction of Commander, Lieut. Col. W. Earl Tuck, Ottawa, assisted by Capt. L.F.E. Carter, Grantham; Capt. Conway Burns, Peterborough; Capt. James R. Smith, Oshawa; and Capt. Louis Marcus, Pembroke. The soloist was Bro. William Reynolds, Stirling, and the bugler was Master Robert Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bell, Stirling.

The director of ceremonies was Maj. W. J. H. Adams, Port Dover. The L.A.P.M. officer in charge was Lady Noreen Howie, of Kingston. The floor Custons were members of Belleville No. 8, Kingston No. 6, and Trenton No. 32.

TRESGHTS BOUQUET

At the close of the ceremonials Mrs. Fox was presented with a bouquet of red roses on behalf of Encampment District No. 20. The family of Bro. Earl Fox then greeted their father and the two honored men.

Earl made the presentations to the maid-of-honor, his oldest granddaughter, Miss Sharon MacDonald of Frankford; to the bugler Robert Bell, a neighbor; and to the jewel bearer, Andy Mayhew, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Mayhew who resides next door to Earl's farm.

Mr. Fox then spoke briefly. He paid tribute to the older Oddfellows who assisted him in many ways when he first joined the order in 1929.

These men have now entered the "Grand Lodge above" but their "memory is still green," he said.

He also expressed appreciation to all those from far and near who had gathered at the high school in his honor.

A letter of greetings to Earl was read from a past Grand Master, Reverend Foster, of Kingston, who is ill in hospital. He said in part: "Today is your day. You have always cherished the ideals of Oddfellowship and have been a living example of all that is good and true and we honor you on this auspicious occasion."

The salute to the national colors by the Patriarchs Militant was followed with the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and the National Anthem, thus honoring both Canada and the United States.

PRESENT COLORFUL DRILL

The Patriarchs Militant exhibition drill team of Canton Lincoln No. 25, St. Catharines, Ont., with members of St. Catharines I.A.P.M., presented a colorful precision drill. The various emblems of oddfellowship were exemplified with approximately 30 members of the team participating. This group provided their own musician and soloist; the latter rendered "The Old Rugged Cross," and other selections. The floor work was excellent.

The grand finale followed with a large number of the visiting dignitaries participating in the closing exercises.

Afterward a couple of hundred folks gathered at the I.O.O.F. lodge hall where members of both lodges in Stirling served light refreshments to the guests, under the direction of Noble Grand, Mrs. Marion Carter, and assistants.

A large number of the Grand Lodge representatives and members of the guard of honor remained in the village overnight and attended the "divine service" Sunday morning at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Saturday evening Laurel Rebekah Lodge served a hot supper to approximately 115 guests from all parts of Ontario and the U.S.

Sunday noon Department Commander Fox and Mrs. Fox entertained a large number of guests at the I.O.O.F. lodge hall before they departed for home.

Not bread alone . . .

For those in trouble, The Salvation Army keeps an open door. In its hostels, havens, homes and hospitals, workers who understand the human heart know that bread alone is not enough.
While the body is cared for, the spirit is healed and uplifted by the message of hope. Men, women and children are "made whole"; and drawn the way to loving service of God and man.
In this work of mercy you can share. Your contribution will bring the glow of happiness to your heart.

High School Activities

Well, spring has sprung up on the Quinte hill, and there are signs of this welcome season everywhere. Mr. Reid's annual announcement about keeping off the lawn have had a considerable effect, and the Ag boys under Mr. Cookrane's vigorous direction, are doing a wonderful job on the grounds. Our marching band has been swinging into spring with faithful practice. Even on chilly days, with music and scarves flying in the breeze, they have been stepping high. Apparently some students think that it's not only cars that need a spring changeover, but that the treatment applies equally well to winter romances. At any rate, some old twosomes are off and some new ones are on, judging by the hand-in-hand promenades in the warm sun at noon hour. Regarding spring's benevolent influence, one student passed the remark that even the teachers look happier these days, that they act almost human. About the only sign of spring that we could do without is that delightful, delicate fragrance that floats daily from the general direction of the henhouse and assails the occupants of the classrooms in the new wing.

RITES OF SPRING

Among the annual rites of spring celebrated at Quinte is the crowning of our King and Queen. This was done at a special assembly on Wednesday, April 16, with the Keyette Club ably ushering the contest and the whole school participating in the voting for their favorite candidates. When the final ballots were counted, the reigning monarchs proved to be Sharon Bush, our Queen, and Bob Follwell, our King. As the King and Queen took their places on their thrones and were crowned with handsome coronets, the assembly thundered its approving applause. As well as receiving the honor of the occasion, the King and Queen acquired considerable loot as well. From the Keyette Club, Queen Sharon was presented with a gorgeous bouquet of red, red, roses and King Bob received a handsome Sheaffer pen. Some of the other booty which Sharon received included a sweater from O'Connor's; jewelry from Paul Mercier, and bath oil from Duff's Drug Store. The local merchants did equally well by Bob and presented him with a shirt from Dover's, ties from Wilbur and Don Stanton and shaving lotion (applause) from Lattimer's. All in all, our King and Queen were royally treated and royally received as, of course, bodies personages of their royal stature.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, WILL

Will who? Will Shakespeare, of course, and to wish the bard approximate happy returns of the day the student body saw an interesting and artistic film on his life during last week's assembly. The film, produced in color by the Encyclopedia Britannica was shown to us through the arrangements of Mr. Smykalski and Mr. Sloan. Elizabethan music, costumes and settings were authentic, and passages from the plays and sonnets were woven most effectively into the narration of his life story.

G.M. PRESENTS

Another assembly that had us all on the edges of our seats was that presented the previous week by the General Motors Corporation to stimulate an interest in science and science education. Mr. Abbott performed a series of fascinating experiments with acid, cans and with an engaging sense of humor, doing everything from conducting an orchestra via microwaves to frying an egg on a cold stove. The enthusiastic applause of the audience showed that the magic of science had captured us all.

APRIL CAREER VISIT

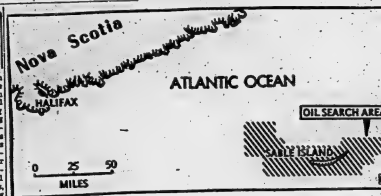
A Hospital Careers Conference was held in Kingston on Saturday April 11th. Grade 11 students Rosalind Brown and Ken Blackburn, Grade 12 students Anna Calvert and Robert Lafferty accompanied by Mr. G. Locklin attended this conference. The morning was spent at Etherington Hall, Kingston General Hospital, listening to a panel composed of hospital personnel from this area discussing various aspects of their professions. After the panel discussion, an interesting film dealing with the topic was shown.

The noon luncheon was held at Cathedral School. After a very delicious meal, an hour was spent in a question and answer period with the professional panel doing an excellent job of explaining their roles as members of a "Hospital Team".

A tour of Hotel Dieu or Kingston General Hospital rounded out a very fine program. Members of the Regional Hospital Council who organized this Career Day should be complimented on a very successful venture. Students interested in leaving more about the opportunities in this field should contact one of their student representatives who will be delighted to tell them about the wonderful opportunities in this field.

A FORWARD LOOK

Glancing at the calendar, the last big event of the month seems to be coming up on Wednesday, the 29th — none other than the Harrier, the cross country and around town race of the year. Mr. Sisson is expecting a big entry from boys of all forms to make the fifth annual Harrier the biggest and best yet. Grade 12 is the sentimental favorite as they are the only grade who have not yet had their name inscribed on the coveted and indescribable trophy. But, it's anybody's race, so c'mon out boys, and support your form, and c'mon out girls, and support your boy on Wednesday, Harrier Day. One word to the wise — anyone caught hitching rides on buses, bikes, piggyback or other form of automation is disqualified!



The May calendar starts off early with Cadet Day on May 6, and the squadron has been out practising manoeuvres and drills for sometime now. Later in the month, several departments of the school will combine their talents to bring forth a Spring Variety Show. Mr. G. Locklin is chairman of this show which will feature exhibits and displays by the Industrial Arts and Agriculture departments; a typing demonstration by the Commercial department; gymnastic display by the Physical Education department, a fashion show by the Home Economics department and all of these will be enhanced by selections from the Music department. More news of this big event will follow later.

CRINOLINES CROWD CORRIDORS

And to close, have you heard the rumor that the Student Council is considering passing legislation that will outlaw crinolines over four feet wide. It seems that they're causing a real traffic problem in our narrow halls, or you might say "crisp crinolines cause congestion in crowded corridors".

RUSSIAN TONGUES

Linguists estimate that at least 145 different languages are spoken in the Soviet Union.

SEEK OIL IN ATLANTIC — A Canadian oil company is seeking permission to explore for oil around Sable Island, in the Atlantic about 100 miles off the southeast coast of Nova Scotia.

Mobil Oil of Canada Limited announced in Calgary that it had applied for exploration licences covering a 600,000-acre block (shaded area on map) around the island.

The company said geological studies indicate the possible existence near the island of a basin with up to 15,000 feet of sedimentary deposits.

The island, essentially a sand bar about 25 miles long, has long been known as the graveyard of the Atlantic" because of the large number of ships wrecked on its treacherous underwater reefs. (CP Newsmap.)

Search for Cause and Cure Of High Blood Pressure Being Pressed at B.C. University

VANCOUVER (CP) — A painstaking search for the cause and cure of high blood pressure is being pressed at the University of British Columbia with some new materials—sodium-sensitive glass and cobra venom.

Professors Sydney and Constance Friedman, the university's husband-and-wife research team, are using the materials to help advance their theory that blood pressure is controlled by the salt and water balance in the body.

They are studying what combination of factors—diet, drugs, and glandular action — changes the concentration of sodium, the main element of salt, inside and outside body cells.

Changes in sodium concentration between tissue cells and the blood affect the tone of blood-vessel walls and so cause high or low blood pressure.

The Friedmans' search to determine how these sodium transfers work and how they can be controlled is being helped immeasurably by the new sodium-sensitive glass.

They say the glass is used to make tiny electrodes which will fit blood vessels of living rats and record changes in the blood. They are so small that it takes the skilled fingers of Japanese-Canadian research assistant Miyoki Nakashima to fit them into most accurately.

The electrodes enable the researchers to measure with far greater accuracy the changes which take place in sodium concentration when they artificially manipulate the blood pressure of their "patient" with drugs.

"We've been sure for three years we were on the right track," says Dr. Friedman. "Now we can make the fine measurements we need to support our evidence."

Other researchers, who heads UBC's anatomy department, says the work is going so well that "we now can call the shots" about how a test will turn out when one of the factors which cause high blood pressure is manipulated.

His wife and co-worker says:

"I feel we now are closing in on what causes it. If we can prove that, then it may be possible to devise a cure."

The cobra venom comes into the picture when they start looking for new ways to control the flow of sodium through the membranes of cells.

The Friedmans say it is just a notion at present, but their interest in the cobra venom stems from the fact that this poison kills by breaking down cell membranes. Studying how it does this may help knowledge of how this works and how to be counteracted might help in controlling sodium transfers through cell walls.

It is the latest of dogged research on blood pressure disease. One expert said: "All scientists have to have anything as startling as cobra poison spotlighted in a glory."

In order to make proper use of his new discovery they have to find nearly $10,000 to buy the complex electrometers and recorders necessary to record findings of the electrodes.

Must Withdraw Four British 'Girlie' Books

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto police were ordered Tuesday to warn shopkeepers to withdraw from sale four British "girlie" magazines, shortly after a magistrate ruled the publications obscene.

But even before the order went out a lawyer announced that he would appeal the decision of Magistrate W. F. B. Rogers.

Magistrate Rogers found Morris Singer, 37, a midtown tobacconist, guilty of four charges of selling obscene literature and fined him a total of $100 or five days on each charge.

The magistrate ruled that Nudies Kontinental, Lovelies, Line and Form No. 2 and Line and Form No. 22 were obscene.

SAYS HE'LL APPEAL

Pat Hartt, Singer's lawyer, said he will appeal before a county court judge.

Another magistrate, C. O. Bick, chairman of the Metro police commission, said police have been told to see that such magazines are withdrawn from sale.

The magistrate's first decision was laid by Ross Whicher, lib-lab member of the legislature for Bruce, Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer Tuesday night questioned Mr. Whicher on his action and suggested that Attorney-General Dana Porter should be erecting Magistrate Bick's drive against obscene publications to aid of Toronto.

Mr. Whicher said in testimony given in Toronto that he had had shopped for indecent magazines and decided the four he selected were the worst. The story were the worst. He said he felt his morals were corrupted. The constable who arrested Singer testified: "I can't say they have corrupted me."

'INVITE IMMORALITY'

Crown Attorney Lloyd Graburn said the magazines emphasized to the bosoms of women and were an "invitation to immorality."

Magistrate Bick said failure to comply with orders to remove magazines could result in prosecution. He announced earlier a directive to remove all "girlie" magazines from Metro stores. He said he could see no reason or purpose in the sale of the magazines.

Mr. Wintermeyer said in a statement the Liberals called for a "cleanup" of obscene magazines "at the next session of the legislature but the attorney-general refused to act and challenged Mr. Whicher's good faith

He said parents throughout Ontario "should now be in a position to assure of a cleanup of local news stands.

Body Recovered

LATCHFORD, Ont. (CP)—The body of William Beatty, 45, missing since Oct. 31, was recovered Tuesday from the Montreal River.

Beatty and three others were drowned when they set out on a hunting trip. Their boat capsized and two bodies were recovered shortly afterward. The other body, that of Fred Durant of Borrie, was picked up a week ago.

Glubb Pasha Says Unmasking Of Russian Imperialism in Mid-East May Help Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Glubb Pasha (Lt.-Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb) believes that the "unmasking" of Russia's imperialist ambitions in the Middle East might afford Britain the opportunity of regaining the friendship of the Arabs.

In a new book entitled Britain and the Arabs, the one-time commander of the Arab Legion explains he has no doubt that Russia has little desire to build up in the Arab Middle East another Red China, "an ally too strong to submit to the dictation of Moscow."

"A number of struggling little satellites, each looking to Moscow for orders, might well be more to Russian liking than Arab unity would be," he writes. "Again, with the end of British control and with the Arab Communist states endeavoring to introduce Russian imperialism, the nationalists should surely look to the West for support.

"In 1945, Britain helped the Arabs against the Turkish empire. Soon they may need her against Russian power."

Glubb expresses the belief that British influence and prestige lost in the Arab countries has appeared selfish and materialistic.

"To such people the West will remain in the Middle East to protect our oil supplies, and will be scarcely an inspiring slogan with which to win friends," he declares.

"Our new deal with the Arabs should show that we are prepared for their side of the bargain, should be characterized by more devotion, more imagination, more warmth and more friendliness."

"Moreover, we must try to realize that the spread of education and the ease of travel and communications have made the millions of the Middle East, Asia, and Africa more politically conscious in world affairs.

"Others have appreciated this and have produced highly developed techniques for the manipulation of the minds and emotions of these masses. Britain has not made a real effort to overtake her rivals in this field."

The book is a study of the relations between Britain and the Arabs during the 50 years from 1908 to 1958.

For 36 years of this half-century, Glubb served in the Middle East. For 16 years as Arab Legion and for 26 years in Jordan. There he was the Arabs' friend and leader.

In March, 1956, King Hussein of Jordan dismissed him from command of the Arab Legion, a post he had held for 17 years. The young monarch said he had done so because Glubb "disregarded repeated warnings about Arab Legion policy and defence policy."

In his book, Glubb notes some objections to Britain cooperating with Arab nationalism in the struggle against Russian imperialism because "it means supporting President Nasser, who has loaded the West with abuse."

He adds, "that the democracies should themselves be affected by the emotional atmosphere of the cult of a personality, for to like or dislike President Nasser is not a policy."

"Whether or not the Arabs desire Nasser to be their leader is a matter for them to decide. It is Britain's purpose to be the friend of the Arabs whatever government or leader they may choose."

Glubb considers the future prospects of Jordan "gloomy indeed."

"It is not beyond the bounds of possibility that, should President Nasser succeed in funnelling a rebellion in Jordan, Israel might take the opportunity to occupy all Jerusalem and move her frontier down to the river Jordan."

Of the new regime in Iraq, he writes: "If the government be not in fact Communist and will remain the loyalty of the army, Iraq may escape from the danger of Russian domination."

Nehru Comes Close to Calling Communist China Rulers Liars

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

India's Prime Minister Nehru, while pleading for the "language of restraint," came close to calling the rulers of Communist China liars in the quarrel over Tibet.

Nothing could be more bitingly polite than the words of Nehru when he referred to "responsible people" in China in saying:

"They have used the language of the cold war regarding the truth and propriety. This is peculiarly distressing in a great nation with thousands of years of culture behind it, noted for its restrained and polite behavior."

In categorically denying Red Chinese charges against India regarding Tibet and the fugitive Dalai Lama, the Indian neutralist leader reached considerable heights for the Tibetan affair.

HISTORIC TURN

Not since taking power in China have the Communists come under such critical scrutiny in the eyes of Asia's millions. The key appears to be that the Chinese managed to mutilate two things at once: The modern Asian dream of self-determination; and an age-old Asian religion.

The Communists lost face in still another way—politically. That showed it is possible for even a tiny country—admittedly helped by extremely forbidding terrain—to raise serious resistance against mighty Red China. And the fighting spread in border areas of China itself, exposing discontent there.

The Dalai Lama, by making clear that he left Tibet voluntarily and not under duress as Peiping claimed, further discredited Red China before millions who look to him as a living god incapable of deceit.

Denunciation of the Red Chinese action has been heard in such countries as India, Malaya, Ceylon, Indonesia, Japan, Burma, Viet Nam and Thailand.

POPULAR FEELINGS

As was to be expected, popular expression—parades and demonstrations—ran well ahead of official government comment in so-called uncommitted countries. No one is taking about attacking Red China, a country of 600,000,000 population, but typical is the comment of Nehru:

"We have every desire to maintain friendship between India and China. At the same time we have every sympathy for the people of Tibet and we are greatly distressed at their hapless plight."

As has happened so often in the past, the Tibetan uprising was followed to the Hungarian school of 1956 by Dr. Ismail Rusdi Abdul Rahman, minister of external affairs for Malaya, who added:

"As upholders of the United Nations charter, we must deplore the failure to allow the Tibetan people to exercise self-determination."

From Burma came a religious comment by U Dhammi Tha Ya, president of the National Buddhist Association, who condemned the brutalities and ruthless killings" by which Tibet's Buddhist population had been condemned.

New Plebiscite Ordered on Liquor Issue

COBOURG (CP) — There will be a new liquor plebiscite in Sowmanville, county court judge John N. Kennedy ruled Tuesday.

Two questions on a five-point plebiscite held here last November were ruled invalid by Judge Kennedy. No date has been set for the new vote.

The questions ruled invalid were both defeated in the plebiscite — those concerning dining lounges and Sunday sports.

Establishment of a liquor store in Sowmanville was approved by the voters. Beverage rooms for mixed couples and beverage dining rooms for men were rejected. None of these three were opposed here.

The appeal was launched by Gerald Hughes, president of the Community Advancement Association. It was opposed by Ross Whicher, lib-lab member for Bruce.

Only the two rejected sections will be up for decision on the new vote.

'Dropped Brick' Says Eccles In Criticizing British Press

LONDON (AP) — A political storm has blown up here around the handsome head of Sir David Eccles, president of the government's board of trade.

The cause was Sir Eccles's criticism of the British press in remarks to a group of West German industrialists at a private trade fair in Hanover Sunday. He complained that the German's family ties with Germany.

His aim was to assure his German utterances and criticism of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's policies by government by London newspapers.

Under a counter-attack by the press and parliamentarians, the 54-year - old politician agreed Tuesday he went too far and issued a statement through his ministry saying he had "dropped a brick."

Eccles had been quoted as telling the Germans: "Nobody buys a newspaper in England except to find out what his football team has done. I am sorry to have to say this in the 2:30 race.

"I have found it difficult to understand why you should take our newspapers seriously. We don't."

In his explanation, Eccles said "this was a private party of the Hanover Fair and after-dinner speeches are the only ones in order."

"I had a serious point to make, namely that the Germans seem to be paying too much attention to certain articles in the British press," he said.

Two Toronto Travel Firms Offering 30-Day Tours to Russia But Fare Draws Fire

TORONTO (CP)—It used to be "fellow travellers" and "pinkos" who went on trips to Russia—now the capitalists are going.

Two Toronto travel firms are offering 30-day tours this summer to the Soviet Union for $1,900 to $2,350, including plane fares.

"My experience is when you travel with top business people you can't cut corners," says O.K. Johnson, whose firm offered its first tour last year and attracted 11 businessmen and wives.

This year Picard and Stafford also is offering a Russian tour with CBC news broadcaster Larry Henderson as director, and vice-president Irving Picard says it's a dream.

"You've got to be an enthusiastic traveller or else you've got to have a lot of money."

TOUR BY BUS

A more economical tour is planned by 25 members of Toronto's Piccadilly Club, using the club's 10-year - old bus, called Genevieve, for a 60 - day swing through Europe which includes a visit to Moscow. It'll cost them $1,750 apiece.

Travel will be in style — by limousine and plane, mostly—for participants in the two commercial tours. The Johnson firm puts a limit of 15 persons to a group. Picard and Stafford, Eccles expects one group.

Bookings were slow at first because there was so much subbarrelling over Berlin," says Mr. Johnson, "and the subbarrelling has been going on for years."

What attracts the tour-goers? "It's strictly curiosity," says Mr. Johnson. "You can't get to Russia is a tourist country in the strict sense of the word."

"People want to see for themselves how much of the news is fact and how much is propaganda," says Mr. Picard.

OFFICIAL GUIDES

Mr. Johnson, who accompanied last year's tour and made a trip to Russia beforehand, says Intourist says visitors in the Soviet Union must be accompanied by official Intourist guides, with itineraries pre-arranged.

But tourists are free to roam by themselves in the vicinity of their hotels. And during visits to factories, only businessmen had no trouble visiting relatives.

"If a person has some special interest — and it isn't a secret project—you can be sure of it," Mr. Johnson foresees more and more travel to Russia. He's just back from Copenhagen, where he met a group of American travel agents who told him Intourist expects 7,000 visitors from Canada and the United States this year. They also reported Intourist is establishing resorts along Russia's riviera, the Black Sea.

Mr. Picard is even more enthusiastic. He says the Russians are bound to open more and more fewer restrictions, making tours to the Soviet Union more attractive and less expensive.

"All governments are realizing travel is the best method of mutual understanding and a guarantee of world peace."

Bars to Canadian Oil Shipments Coming Down

OTTAWA (CP)—United States bars to Canadian oil shipments, attacked for months by the Canadian government, apparently are coming down soon.

Informants here and in Washington indicated Tuesday that the U.S. has agreed to lift import restrictions as applied to Canada and Mexico, after 16 months of voluntary and then mandatory controls. Reports were that President Eisenhower would announce the move in a few days.

A Washington dispatch quoted unnamed sources as saying that concessions will go into effect July 1. Since virtually no Mexican oil enters the U.S., the change will affect Canada only.

VITAL FOR DEFENCE

Trade Minister Churchill has repeatedly urged that the U.S. curbs should not apply to the Canadian oil industry because it is vital for continental defence. He declined comment Tuesday.

Progressive Conservative MP Art Smith, an oil and gas authority, said the victory won by Canada seems to be "of major proportions."

But the Commons member for Calgary South said the Canadian oil industry still faces a stiff fight for survival in both the U.S. and Canada.

In Eastern Canada, especially at Montreal, oil from Venezuela shut out from U.S. markets has provided strong competition for western Canada crude.

PIPELINE PROPOSED

Independent Canadian oil producers have been urging that an Alberta - Montreal pipeline be built. The Borden royal commission on energy has been studying the question and its report on the subject may be made public within a month.

Elimination by the U.S. of its import restrictions would be expected to cause any major increase in Canadian oil shipments to the U.S.

However, some authorities say that lifting of the restrictions would encourage greater investment in Canadian oil exploration and development.

Surface Parking For 2,000 Cars Likely to Go

TORONTO (CP) — The city-owned Toronto Parking Authority may close most of its downtown parking lots to make room for 2,000 cars, it was reported today.

F. G. Bundy, general manager, said the step was proposed to force motorists to use the new underground parking garage beneath the downtown civic square project.

The surface lots are located in the same area as the garage. The smallest may be sold outright. The rest will be needed for construction of a new city hall.

Mr. Bundy said the underground garage can handle 6,500 cars a day. A spot check showed it is used by only 1,500 cars a day.

Killed by Train

OTTAWA (CP) — Alexander Sopek, 68-year - old CPR employee, was killed Tuesday night when struck by a train at a level crossing in the western part of the city. Police said he was struck as he ran to close one of the crossing gates to street traffic.

Missing British Plane Spotted On Turkish Peak

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A wrecked plane spotted today on a bleak mountaintop in southeast Turkey was identified tentatively as a British air freighter missing with seven parts for Britain's rocket range in Australia.

It had been feared the plane had come down in the southern Soviet Union.

There was no immediate word of any survivors. Twelve men were aboard the aircraft, which disappeared last Thursday.

RAF headquarters in Nicosia said the evidence was fairly conclusive that the wreckage was from the missing Avro Tudor. A ground search party was being dispatched to the site, to be joined by

WELLINGTON

Annual 'Parents' Night' Held at Public School

WELLINGTON — Wellington public school held its annual parents' night at the school on Friday evening. The large crowd which turned out was most encouraging to the teachers.

The teachers were in their rooms to talk over with the parents, and problems of their children. Each room was gaily laid out with many different themes.

Grade 1 room, (teacher, Mrs. Sarles), looked gay with a circus for its background, and samples of the children's work on display.

Grade 2 room, (Mrs. Campbell, teacher), was quite spring-like with its April and Spring scenes also an Indian display of plasticene.

Grade 3A room (Miss Valleau, teacher), displayed an Indian village, also a collection of bird houses and flowers made by the children; a scene depicting the making of maple SYRUP was drawn on the board.

Grade 3, (Mrs. Branscombe's room), had a zoo and Japanese scenery.

Grade 4, (Mrs. Shannon, teacher), had for its theme, Mexico, and a display of Easter hats and novelties.

Grade 4, (Miss J. Goodfriend's room), displayed a variety of asbestos moulding and a real Ka-Hula plant from Hawaii.

Grade 5, (Mrs. Freeman's room), had as its theme an exploration of Africa, with spring scenes. The skin of a real python snake speared by natives near the Niger River, West Africa; a skinning knife and other African articles were also shown.

Grade 6, (Mr. Howell, teacher), the provinces of Canada with the coat of arms and products from each were displayed.

Grade 7, (Mr. Trumble, teacher), scenes of early Canada and a wonderful drawing on the board by Georgie Budgeyakit, a coming young artist.

Grade 8, (Mr. Snider's room) showed several numbers, paintings, wood working such as end tables, magazine racks, coffee tables, and other things made in the manual training department.

A number of traffic and road signs were on the board, also a large drawing of "Our Country", this was drawn by Velma VanDewater, Madeline Everall and Sheila Branscombe.

The sewing projects from grade 5 to grade 8 were on display in the home economics room. Such things as pot holders, stuffed animals, aprons, beautiful embroidered cushions, and gym suits, were all made under the supervision of Mrs. Sarles. One project, (cotton skirts) not quite finished, due to so much illness among the pupils and staff.

This year coffee and cookies were served by the wives of the members of the school board, which made a lovely finish to an interesting evening.

Israeli Planes Drive off Four Soviet MiGs

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—Israeli Army headquarters announced that Israeli fighter planes drove off four Soviet-built MIG-17 jets which penetrated Israeli territory from the United Arab Republic Tuesday.

The statement did not mention any actual combat. It said the U.A.R. MiGs turned around and escaped back across the border after a short chase.

The encounter took place over the Negev Desert south of Beersheba. The Israeli jets took off to intercept the U.A.R. planes after they had flown deep into Israeli territory, the announcement said. Air force sources said the encounter lasted only a few minutes.

Miss Mabel Brown, Messrs. Harold and Gerald Brown and Mrs. Leonard Young attended the funeral service of C. M. Sine at Bethel United Church, Stirling, on Tuesday.

Mrs. A. Skaarup opened her home on Thursday evening for choir practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis were Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Curtis.

Mrs. Ethel Bell of Trenton, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Ackerman and Mr. Ackerman.

Service at While's Church was taken on Sunday morning by Mr. Wayne Bradfield, assisted by Mr. John May. Mr. Bradfield chose as his subject, "The Golden Calf." The junior choir assisted with an anthem, "On a Rainy Day," with Miss Wendy Jones singing the verses. Mr. and Mrs. Skaarup contributed a trumpet and piano solo.

TV PIONEER

LONDON (CP)—A public house to be opened in the Muswell Hill district will be called The John Baird, to commemorate television pioneer John Logie Baird.

Northport

NORTHPORT — Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKenna spent Tuesday evening with the latter's sister, Mrs. Bud Rabble and Mr. Rabble.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Wager and family were guests recently of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens have returned home, having spent a few days with friends in London. While away their girls, Glenna and Eleanor stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mills and family, and Elizabeth with Carol Robinson.

Teacher training class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Foster on Thursday night.

Work has commenced at Rabble's greenhouse — a few tomato plants have been set.

A number from this vicinity attended services at Calvary Temple, Belleville, on Sunday morning and evening and enjoyed the Italian singers from Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Geddes and Bryon of Toronto, will be spending the weekend at their cottage here.

International at a Glance

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the International League (based on results through Monday's games):

Rochester—Gene Oliver is batting only .204, but seven of his 10 hits have been for extra bases. He has four doubles and three homers. Four of the team's last five games have been decided by one run with the Red Wings dropping three of the close ones. Young Bob Miller had a 3-0 record with only two earned runs in 22 2-3 innings before losing to Miami Monday night.

Miami — The Marlins have made at least one error in their last 14 games, but have won nine and lost five during the string. Woody Smith and Leo Burke have accounted for all the club's homers with Smith walloping four and Burke two. Veteran Foster Castleman is off to a great start with 34 hits in 56 tries for a .429 average. Harry Byrd, another veteran, has won all three of his pitching decisions, defeating Toronto, Montreal and Buffalo.

Toronto—The Leafs have made 14 double plays and hit into only eight. Fleet Angel Scull has five of the team's seven stolen bases. Larry Haines leads the Leafs with 20 hits but only two have been for extra bases. Lefty Hal Woodeshick, optioned by Cleveland, has posted three victories, one a shutout, without a setback. His earned run average is 1.96.

Richmond — Outfielder Jerry Thomas leads the Virginians' regulars in batting with a .326 mark on 12 hits in 39 at bats. The others have been unproductive, however, resulting in a meagre team batting average of .190. Curt Roberts is down to .185 and Deron Johnson to .195. John Gabler, has been unable to get started. He is 0-2 with the lone Des and Bill Dineen in the second period. Mike Nykoluk tied it for Hershey in the same period. The winning goal came at 2:20 of the third period when Ed Stankiewicz scored on Rec Lalande's rebound. Marshall and Mowle Yanosik added insurance goals.

Rochester and Toronto.

Montreal — The Royals have scored only 40 runs in 14 games and have been shut out twice in the last three. Rod Lemone has got off to a great start last season, has been held hitless in seven of 14 games and is batting .229 with 11-for-48 and one home run. The club has left 120 runners on base for an average of 8.6 a game. Lefty Tom Lasorda is 2-0 with an E.R.A. of 1.99 for 23 1-3 innings.

Columbus — Joe Christopher has pilfered six bases in 12 games. Al Jackson, 5-0, has pitched the club's only shutout. He has given up only two runs in 18 innings while striking out 18. Lyan Lovenguth is 3-0 with victories over Rochester, Buffalo and Toronto. Jim McDaniel leads the club in runs batted in with 12.

Buffalo—Joe Caffie and Luke Easter, Bisons standouts in past years, are off to poor starts. Caffie has a .164 batting average with 9-for-55 and Easter is at .158 with 6-for-38 and no home runs. Bobby Morgan had an 11-game hitting streak snapped when he was blanked in both ends of Sunday's twin-bill with Havana. The vet infielder is hitting .310. Pascual Herrera leads the team in home runs with four and RBI with 17. Warren Hacker has allowed only one earned run in 18 3-3innings while posting a 3-0 pitching mark.

Havana — The Cubans have been blanked three times—most in the league. Tony Gonzalez paces the club with six homers and 18 runs batted in. Vincente Amor has won all three of his decisions. He has gone the distance twice and recorded a shutout against Rochester.

Hershey Wins Calder Cup For Second Year

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Take hard work, mix it with a little tricky strategy and add confidence. That's Hershey Bears' formula for winning the Calder Cup, the American Hockey League's top prize.

The Bears took the cup for the second straight year Tuesday night with a 5-2 victory over Buffalo Bisons. They scored three goals in the final period to win the best-of-seven final 4-2.

"Every man on the team worked hard," said Hershey coach Frank Mathers.

Lloyd Blinco, Hershey general manager, said: "Playing scientific hockey I believe caught Buffalo off guard. I think they were actually surprised at our style of play."

The Bears finished fourth in the league standings after losing nine of their last 10 season games. They advanced to the finals by beating the second-place Cleveland Barons in the semi-final.

Bears are the first team to finish fourth in regular play and win the cup. They also joined Buffalo Bisons and Cleveland as the only teams to win the cup two years in a row. And the Bears' Bobby Solinger tied an assist record for the playoffs with 53.

Blinco explained his reference to "scientific hockey" by saying Buffalo expected Hershey to play rough as the Bears did against Cleveland.

"But we played a fast, smooth-skating game and used set plays," Blinco said. "We had good teamwork with a lot of assist."

The last game was a see-saw affair in the first two periods. Hershey took a 1-0 lead on the first of Willie Marshall's two goals while Dick Gamble was serving a penalty.

Buffalo came back to tie and take the lead with goals by Bill

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The sports scene shifts with rather startling suddenness after the Moorlands have become accustomed to living with their families again, the Boosters have perked their taste, flags, bunting and world champion pennant sails in the mothballs, and the breezes which sharpened their edges on icebergs have switched their allegiance to the Gulf Stream.

It's springtime in the Rockies, or it should be after tonight's tilt in Tawrawnta between the Whitby Dunlops and the Verner Canadians but this week sees ringtime in Belleville. Not the kind associated with lovesick swains and moon-eyed maidens, but that which comes with the squared circle.

It's boxing night in the city come Thursday when Jack Fitzgerald introduces a brand new beak-busting echoer to the faithful. On Friday night, Waller Gerow brings back the graduates of the college of applied pandydemy —and we're sway for the summer, if there is one.

The fight faithful should let bygones be bygones and give these fine youngsters of the Fitzgerald mitt stable a fair chance. Jack has some fine prospects in his school, and the only thing tough they will run up against is the opposition. We were talking with boxing people in Toronto during the OHA – Allan Cup weekend, and the reports we received were the best.

It seems some of the Pitts' boys fought in bouts at the Palace Theatre. Fier against some of the best pugsters us around stairaway and outside points and they left a very fine taste indeed in the mouths of the fans and Queen City experts. "You have in Belleville," one authority told us, "some excellent prospects. We understand they are being well handled and under fine management. They should do well for the sport down your way."

One of Belleville's favorite mat men will usher in the "trawler" season some fish-day evening. The Eric will test the summer activities under way when he will mainbout the show against one of the sport's toughest hombres.

Eric will undertake the role of stazi-killer in the feature event when his opponent will be the Great Bolo, a masked devil with a reputation of a ruthless roaster who has killed the aspirations of many a brilliant grappler. The Yuke has been given the assignment of stopping the mad rampage of the "Bolo" and undoubtedly the first unveiling ceremony in the history of the tough guy.

The rest will be strangers to city and district fans — or thet most of them are. Al Korman has shown his wares here before and he meets scientific Frank "Scotty" Thompson in the opener. Don Jardine, a muscular "stranger" from Moncton, New Brunswick, makes his debut here against a bearded ruffian, it says here, Frank Fozo. That's the kick-off.

Upsurging soccer will help usher in the season of tulips, gardening, fishing gear and open-mesters. With two strong leagues organized and ready for the opening whistle it looks from here as though fitba' is heading for one of the best seasons in years.

Les Digby's Eastern Ontario League, consisting of three Kingston clubs, Sports, Dynamos and City, Batawa, RCAF and Belleville Wilson's looks like a well-balanced organization and should give fans of the district plenty of thrills and action. This league gets under way on May 2 with Wilson's meeting Dynamos and City taking on Batawa.

The Bay of Quinte League under the jurisdiction of president R. Dickson, boasts five clubs, Batawa, Northern Electric, Trenton, RCAF and Wilson's Concretes. The league opens playing operations on May 3 with Wilson's taking on Northern Electric and Batawa meeting the RCAF.

It should be remembered that games of the Bay of Quinte League from May 5 to 26 start at 6:30. The remainder get under way at 7 p.m.

Games are all Saturday affairs with kickoffs scheduled for 3 p.m., with the exception of Saturday's opener here which starts at five o'clock.

Braves Hit Warpath With 5-2 Victory Over Petes

Blew Early Two-Goal Margin Then Salted Away Triumph With Three in Final Frame

WINDIPEG (CP) Winnipeg Braves were elated but cautious about their chances today following a 5—2 victory over Peterborough Petes in the crucial third game of the best-of-seven Memorial Cup finals.

The victory, which gave Braves a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series, "was our best so far this season," said Braves' coach Bill Allum.

"But Peterborough has a club that can disorganize you and I'll make no prediction," he said.

The teams meet here again tonight, then move to Brandon for the fifth game Friday.

BOWMAN SADDENED

Coach Scotty Bowman of Petes was disappointed about his club's showing.

"In every game we go only so far and then we just die. This is nothing new. We've been behind before, but last once I wish we would get that first goal."

Braves took a 2-0 lead in the first period, held to it in the scoreless second, then scored three more after the Petes, reinvenated briefly, tied the score early in the third.

Braves' top scorers were team captain Wayne Larkin and Laurie Langrill, with two each. Al Leblanc got the other Winnipeg goal. Bob Bernard and Wayne Boddy scored for Peterborough.

Bowman said Winnipeg's first line of Larkin, Langrill and Leblanc "really killed us." In comparison, he was getting "nothing at all" out of his first trio, Wayne Connelly, Larry Babcock and George Montague.

Bowman said he might put Bill Mahoney back in the lineup Friday. Mahoney is recovering from a broken ankle.

FOUR MAJORS IN FIRST

A crowd of 7,500 watched the contest, marked in the first period by a brawl in which four major penalties were handed out. Larkin and Don Atamanchuk of the Braves and Petes' Barry Plager and Connelly were banished for five minutes and determination Chuck Hamilton of Petes got a minor.

In the Braves' dressing room following the game, players were still talking about Larkin's third goal, the one allotted neatley up the middle, twice flicked the puck through Hamilton's feet and then drilled it home.

Writer Impressed By London's Style, Speed

By MURRAY ROSE

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Does Britain's Brian London have any kind of a chance to lick Floyd Patterson's heavyweight boxing title Friday?

Fight managers say no, the experts from Britain and the United States say no, but London's right hand booms out a yes.

We had our first look at the six-foot, 205-pound British husky in action Tuesday. We were surprised by his style and by the speed of his punching, especially with right uppercuts and straight rights.

The 26-er British champion is supposed to be a brawling battler with little finesse. That's not what we saw, although you can't go by a two-round workout.

London fights mostly from a stand-up, flat-footed stance. He moves in swinging. He has a fair left and rushes his rights to the jaw with more than average quickness for a big man.

"I'm a good finisher and if I get him down I'll get him. I can keep him there." London said. "But of course I'll have to nail him first. That's no easy problem."

The 24-year-old Briton's punching impressed Al Weill, who guided Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight crown. He said he hopes to buy a piece of London's contract for a friend.

Patterson appeared sharp in his final three-round session. For the next two days he and London will loosen up with light gym work.

Canadians' Coach May Repeat Same Strategy That Gave Vernon First Win

TORONTO (CP) — Coach George Agar of Vernon Canadians pulled a bit of psychology Saturday and won an important hockey game. Will it work tonight?

The 40-year-old coach who has played 21 years of senior and minor professional hockey was pondering that question Tuesday night. It hasn't been before his team was to meet Whitby Dunlops in the fifth game of the best-of-seven Allan Cup finals.

Agar, a playing coach and manager, benched himself Saturday and his team defeated Whitby 3-0 on the first shutout Whitby has suffered in 83 games. The win left the eastern champions ahead 3-1 in the series.

Agar's psychology was that the team could call its own plays from the ice and he could run the show from the bench.

WHAT NOW

"I'm not just sure what to do now," said the coach who has scored 1,500 points in his playing career. "The situation Saturday called for desperate measures and I figured that was desperate enough."

Agar admits the situation is serious. But he also mentions the fact that his Okanagan Senior League team defeated Nelson Maple Leafs of the Western International League after being down two games on the way to the Allan Cup.

He said an effort similar to Saturday's will win tonight's game.

"Our guys are finally untracked. They can skate with Whitby and they've got to."

GOALIE KEY MAN

Agar says goalie Hal Gordon, who stopped 45 shots Saturday compared with 20 by John Henderson in the Whitby nets, is the big money player for his team.

"He's great during the season, but in playoffs he's superb."

Agar has a pair of tough luck guys in Merv Bidoski and Hal Trenkal. The forwards have paired up on seven two - man breaks but have scored only twice.

Vernon worked out Tuesday, Whitby in the evening.

Meanwhile, Whitby manager Wren Blair is worried about the performance of Bobby Attersley, perennial scoring leader of the Ontario Hockey Association Eastern Division Senior A who has not yet scored a goal in the series.

Jimmy Foxx Famous Slugger Broke Again

By BOB WOOD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jimmy Foxi leaned back in a frayed chair and said:

"I'm broke but guess I always will be. When you get 51 years old nobody wants you. There's nothing tougher than doing nothing. I've had a lot of experience recently at doing nothing."

It hasn't always been this way for the famed Double X." Once he drew a fat paycheque as one of baseball's greatest hitters—second only to Babe Ruth in all home runs.

He was the American League's most valuable player three times and was named to baseball's Hall of Fame. He earned more than $250,000 before retiring in 1945.

The money and the headlines are gone. He lives in a modest rented home in northeast Phoenix. He's out of a job and out of baseball.

If my brother Sam wasn't working, we couldn't be eating," Foxx said in an interview Tuesday.

COACHED SOME

Foxx's financial plight was discovered last year when he was found destitute and in debt in Miami, Fla. He got a job with the Red Sox and spent the summer as a coach with Minneapolis of the American Association.

"Those were days at least I pulled me out of debt," he said. When Foxx decided to train in Scottsdale, Ariz., Foxx headed for nearby Phoenix.

"One month after I arrived they gave me my release," he said. "That let me sitting on's limb."

Foxx spends his days around the house. He admits he blew most of his baseball earnings. He can't explain what happened.

"I heard a man down at the service station say he might need a helper. I could pump some gas. A few dollars are better than nothing."

SAFETY CHECK

LONDON (CP) — New safety rules for Britain's shipyards require yards employing 500 or more men to employ a full-time safety inspector.

Kentucky Derby May Lack Big Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It seems sure that the 85th running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday isn't going to produce a big favorite among the bettors.

Three prime reasons show up today:

1. The eye-catching filly Silver Spoon definitely will run in the mile - and - a - quarter classic at Churchill Downs, barring injury. Trudy Tuesday's Derby Trial failed to produce a top heavy winner; Bill Boland was a fast contenders feared out of the race he's improved.

Boland, leading, last year's champion two-year-old, won his division in Tuesday's trial but had to fight off powerful stretch bids by Carrie C. Hillock's Chantrell and K. G. Marshall's John ERUCE, Quantrell ended up third and Silver Spoon was a fast closing second.

Spoon's time from Elkcam Stable showed his derby qualifications by running a mile in 1:35 3-5 in the first division, 3-5 of a second better than First Landing.

Finagan battled Open View down to the wire, but lost by a head. Royal Orbit was third.

Easy four, now with a sore ankle, still is a doubtful starter in the Derby. But trainer Paul Kelley said: "I imagine I'll put him in the entry box Thursday morning."

Calumet Farm also is unsure about Gun-and-On, but will probably enter him.

Sword DANCER, TOMQ Lee, At are also all set to start.

Big Tournaments May Get Death Blow

NEW YORK (AP)—A proposal before the U.S. Golf Association may strike a death blow to big golf tournaments with Calcutta pools, such as the Tournament of Champions last weekend at Las Vegas, Nev.

Joey Dey, executive director of the USGA, said Tuesday the suggestion has been made that players who compete in such events be barred from the U.S. national Open championship.

"I don't know what action will be taken at our meeting next January," Dey added. "It's a matter for the executive committee. But golf is strongly opposed to any movements having the slightest connection with organized gambling."

If such a ban were in effect now, most of the game's top professionals would be affected. The field in the Las Vegas event, consisting of men who have won sanctioned Professional Golfers Association tournament during the year, read like a who's who in golf.

SOUCHAK WON

Mike Souchak took the first prize money of $10,000. A syndicate, which bought him for $14,000 in the Calcutta pool, collected $122,500.

The normal procedure is that the player be cut in for 10 per cent of the Calcutta winnings. This means Souchak should have picked up an extra $12,220. Gambling is legal in Nevada.

Dey said: "We are presented with a situation in which a golfer might collect more money by throwing a match than by winning it. I don't say this will happen but it could. And it's dangerous."

The USGA has no jurisdiction over professionals except relating to their participation in the USGA's blue ribbon event, the Open. One answer to the PGA, which has taken no action against events such as the Tournament of Champions.

Will Reject Bucs' Protest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Warren Giles of the National League says he will reject Pittsburgh Pirates' protest of a game in Philadelphia last Sunday unless he receives additional information to change his mind.

The Pirates protested the second game of a doubleheader which they lost 10-8. The controversial play occurred in the first inning when Pirate outfielder Bill Virdon tried to score from third. Virdon and plate umpire Vic Delmore collided and the Philadelphia catcher tagged Virdon. Third base umpire Shag Crawford called Virdon out.

Murtaugh contended that Delmore was blocking the base path.

Giles said four other umpires told him that when a ball is hit up the first base line, the plate umpire should move to a position about three feet up the third base foul line, he said Sportlowy.

"In Vic Delmore's report he said that he was in that position," Giles said.

Senators' Russ Kemmerer Newest 3-Game Winner

Turns Back Athletics 8-3 As Nats Slip Into 5th Spot; All Other Games Postponed

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two old pros with a total of 30 years in the major leagues rate reallocation of boyhood dreams as top moments in their careers.

Mickey Vernon and Bob Rush of Milwaukee Braves recalled their burning desires of long ago while lounging around Tuesday after the Braves and Chicago Cubs were rained out of their National League game for the second straight day. Two other games were washed out Tuesday —San Francisco at Philadelphia and St. Louis at Cincinnati.

The dreams of both indicated fierce competitive spirits even as youths. Vernon thought only of hitting against the great Lefty Grove, while Rush wanted to pitch against New York Yankees.

DREAMED OF GROVE

"Gosh, how I dreamed of facing up to bat against Lefty Grove", Vernon said. "Nothing else seemed to matter. I finally got the chance in my rookie year with Washington in 1939. And I singled to centre. What a thrill."

"I thought of nothing as a kid except pitching against the Yankees before a packed crowd in Yankee Stadium," Rush said. "But I didn't get the chance as quickly as you did, Mick. It took me 11 years in the league before I realized my dream—last fall in the world series."

Vernon, at 41 one of baseball's wonders, and Rush, a 29-year-old righthander, spent most of their careers with second-division clubs before being acquired by the Braves.

LED LEAGUE

Vernon, obtained from Cleveland just before the start of the season, led the American League in hitting with averages of .353 in 1946 and .337 in 1953. He also was rated one of the league's smartest first basemen.

Rush, acquired by the Braves from the Cubs after the 1957 campaign, was the winning pitcher in the 1952 all-star game. He managed to win 110 games in 10 seasons in Chicago although pitching for a weak club.

And what do they dream about now?

"Well, I'd like to play in a world series," Mickey said. Rush would like another crack at the Yankee — an old Yankee Stadium. He was charged with the loss in the third series game last year.

They'll See Orange Go And Not Red

NEW YORK (CP) — Boston Bruins and New York Rangers will be doing a little experimental research during their 23-game European exhibition tour which opens in London today.

The two National Hockey League teams have taken along two gross of a new type of puck designed by Clair F. Kinsey of Toronto. After using the disks, the teams will report to league president Clarence Campbell of Montreal whether they consider them an improvement over the pucks now in regular play, the Rangers' organization said here Tuesday.

Kinsey made his new puck with a bright orange side. He hopes this will make it easier for goalkeepers to keep the puck in view—it should also help other players and the fans — particularly when it is traveling at knee - height and is otherwise hard to distinguish against players' dark pants.

The rubber used is of a texture designed to slide better on the ice and it doesn't require freezing for a few chest before the game to take some of the bounce out of it.

All Other Games Postponed

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

If today's pennant race standings aren't enough to convince you this is an unusual year in the American League, take a stab at naming the three pitchers in the league who have won as many as three games so far.

The league as such aces as Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan, Herb Score, Cal McLish, Bob Turley, Whitey Ford, Frank Lary, Bunning and Jack Harshman.

but the three who have won three are Washington Senators' Pete Ramos and Russ Kemmerer and Bob Grim of Kansas City Athletics. Each is 3-1.

Ramos had a 14-18 record last season for the last - place Senators. Kemmerer was 6-15. Grim had a 7-7 record split between New York Yankees and the seventh-place Athletics.

Kemmerer, who at 28 became a full-time starting pitcher for the first time last season, put away his third in a row Tuesday night at Kansas City, beating the Athletics 8-3 with an eight-hitter while the Senators slipped past Boston Red Sox and New York into fifth place.

It was the only game played in the majors. Rain and cold forced postponement of the others.

The Senators, a half-game behind the fourth-place Athletics, gave Kemmerer a quick push in his second complete game performance Tuesday night, scoring three runs in the first inning. The first four men hit safely against Ray Herbert (1-1), with Roy Sievers singling home one run and Jim Lemon's double counting two.

They added three more in the sixth, two on Ron Samford's first major league homer, and chased Herbert. In all, the Senators got 14 hits.

Kemmerer, who doubled in Washington's last two runs in the eighth, didn't walk a man and struck out three. He gave up a run in each of the second and third innings and the third in the ninth inaning on Roger Maris' home run.

The Game Just Ain't The Same

TORONTO (CP)—To Frankie Frisch baseball isn't the game it was when the old Fordham Flash was covering second base for St. Louis Cardinals.

"Why, the gloves they wear come up to their elbows," he said of today's players. Frankie was addressing the Old Timers' Baseball Association's annual Meet the Ball Club dinner on the eve of Toronto Maple Leafs' home opener against Havana Sugar Kings in the International League.

"People tell me of the trouble batters have nowadays with the new pitches, like the slider — are we on the air?"

He was.

"Just a five-cent curve", he improvised. "If it's below the knee it's a single. If it's above the waist it's out of the park."

All the business of smoothing the infield between innings left him cold:

"In my day the other second baseman used to take out a handful of pebbles and sprinkle them around so the ball would bounce up and hit you in the face."

He was equally jaundiced about dugout air-conditioning, batting helmets and the constant use of spotless new baseballs.

"We used to play with the same ball for four days."

Machine Brain Little Better Than Human-On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP) — Remington Rand has put its electronic brain to the test most frustrating of tests — picking the winner at a racetrack. The brain proved slightly superior to the track's human handicapper, but not much.

Human and machine each picked one winner out of two races Tuesday. But only the brain stood say chance of profiting on its choices. The human went in the hole financially.

This proves, perhaps, that while the machine will never replace the horse, it might with a little more experience replace the horseplayer.

The idea was for the multimillion dollar brain, Univac, to pick the finishes of the Kentucky Derby Trial races, the Churchill Downs Prep for Saturday's Derby. Normally one race, it was run this year in two sections.

Just as the human handicapper turns over a multitude of data in his mind before selecting his horse, so Univac fed thousands of details on the entries and their past performances.

Then Univac came up with its selections—First Landing in one race and Royal Orbit in the other.

Well, First Landing won. But Univac's trainers was somewhat empty. The track handicapper and just about everyone else also picked First Landing. He was the heavy favorite and paid only $2.80 to win.

For second, Univac and the track handicapper both picked Our Dad. He ran out of the money.

Univac hit it on the nose for third, though, picking Quatrell. The track handicapper's third choice ran out.

In the other division of the trial, Univac's thinking proved a bit topsy-turvy. His choice, Royal Orbit, ran third. It picked Open View for third and the horse won at good odds. The horse it picked for second, Trollus, ran out.

But at that, the handicapper was worse off. His first choice, Finnegan, finished second, his second choice, Royal Orbit third. His third choice was out of the money.

It would have cost Univac or the handicapper $36 to play each of his six choices across the board, that is to bet them to win, place or show. On that basis Univac would have come out $6 ahead, while the handicapper would have lost $18.80.

But if both selectors had bet $2 on each horse as they called them they would both have lost money—Univac $2.80 and the handicapper $9.20.

Jordan Named Top Fighter Of the Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Gaining stature through his convincing 15-round title defense against Virgil Akins, welterweight champion Don Jordan is named "fighter of the month" by Ring magazine, whose monthly ratings were announced today.

Most of the changes in ratings were minor. The heavyweight list is unchanged but in the middleweight division Rory Calhoun, loser to Carl (Bobo) Olson, was dropped from the top 10.

The ratings include:

Heavyweights — Champion, Floyd Patterson, U.S.; 1. Ingemar Johansson, Sweden; 2. Zora Folley, U.S.; 3. Henry Cooper, England; 4. Sonny Liston, U.S.; 5. Eddie Machen, U.S.

Light heavyweight — Champion, Archie Moore, U.S.; 1. Harold Johnson, U.S.; 2. Tony Anthony, U.S.; 3. Yvon Durelle, Canada; 4. Erich Schoppner, Germany; 5. Sonny Ray, U.S.

Middleweights — Champion, Ray Robinson, U.S.; 1. Carmen Basilio, U.S.; 2. Gene Fullmer, U.S.; 3. Spider Webb, U.S.; 4 Gustav Scholz, Germany; 5. Holly Mims, U.S.

Welterweights — Champion, Don Jordan, U.S.; 1. Virgil Akins, U.S.; 2. Sugar Hart, U.S.; 3. Del Flanagan, U.S.

Lightweights — Champion, Joe Brown, U.S.; 1. Kenny Lane, U.S.; 2. Cisco Andrade, U.S.; 3. Paolo Rosi, U.S.

Featherweights — Champion, Davey Moore, U.S.; 1. Hogan (Kid) Bassey, Nigeria; 2. Flash Elorde, Philippines; 3. Ricardo Lamperti, France.

Bantamweights — Champion, Alphonse Halimi, France; 1. Piero Rollo, Italy; 2. Leo Espinosa, Philippines; 3. Joe Becerra, Mexico.

Flyweights — Champion, Pascual Perez, Argentina; 1. Sadao Yoita, Japan; 2. Pone Kingpicleh, Thailand; 3. Ramon Arias, Venezuela.

Pitcher Knew "The Show Must Go On"

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Young Don Mossi sat alone in the Phoenix dressing room before Tuesday night's Pacific Coast League game against Vancouver Mounties, his head on his chest.

"Are you all right, son?" asked manager Red Devis.

"Yeh," the 23-year-old pitcher muttered. "I'm all right."

Then he took the mound against the Mounties. He pitched to four,men, allowed three hits and three runs and was relieved. Vancouver won 16-6.

Davis then learned that Hyman's mother had been killed earlier in the day in a car accident.

Hyman knew it before he went out to pitch.

Says Comeback Due to Doing Things Right

CLEVELAND (AP) — What transforms a lifetime .222 hitter into a slugger with a .360 batting average?

The changed man is George Strickland, 33-year-old Cleveland Indians shortstop. His reply to the question is direct but not too informative: "I'm just doing the right things."

Strickland is more explicit. He says:

"Yeh," the 23-year-old pitcher muttered. "I'm all right."

Then he took the mound against the Mounties. He pitched to four,men, allowed three hits and three runs and was relieved. Vancouver won 16-6.

Davis then learned that Hyman's mother had been killed earlier in the day in a car accident.

Hyman knew it before he went out to pitch.

"I've always had confidence, but I was overanxious. I'd overswing and overstride. I'd be lunging at the ball. Now I'm taking my time and getting my weight back. I'm hitting the ball where it's pitched."

Strickland, batting .360 after his first 25 games, has driven in 19 runs. He had driven in 19 runs in his previous three seasons.

BOXER IMPROVING

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Boxer Gene Tippett, 26, of Pittsburgh was reported in "serious but improved condition" by hospital authorities Tuesday. He was operated on Monday night after suffering a brain hemorrhage while being knocked out by Cal Hubbard of Philadelphia.

MEETING NEARS END

PORT ERIE (CP) — Port Erie's spring meeting will close Saturday with the running of the $7,500 Vigil Handicap over six furlongs. The horses will then move to Toronto for Monday's opening of a 24-day meeting at Old Woodbine Park.

Aviz., Strickland was there batting .360 after nine major league seasons. He was a favorite of the fans and had a reputation as an outstanding infielder but he wasn't hitting.

Discouraged, he went home to New Orleans where he worked in a sporting goods store and at a racetrack mutuel window.

However, baseball was still his big interest. He decided to try another season. When the Indians started training at Tucson, games with the Indians.

Four Masked Men Take $80,000 From Que. Bank

QUEBEC (CP) — Four masked men, two of them armed with machine guns, Tuesday held up a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Quebec's industrial St. Malo district and escaped with an estimated $80,000.

The branch, which opens at 9.00 a.m. to serve the industrial section, was empty of customers when the quartet entered at 9.30 a.m. At one point they forced six employees against a wall and ordered the manager to open the vault. They also cleaned out some tills.

Quebec's Deputy Police Chief Aime Guillemette said that because Wednesday is a pay day for some firms in the district the men must have taken at least $80,000.

The bandits wore cloth hoods over their heads and only two of them were armed. They fled in a late-model car which had been reported stolen Monday night.

Police said the bandits turned two corners in the car then abandoned it and apparently were picked up in a second car which was waiting for them.

Licence plate of the stolen car had been replaced with another to prevent immediate detection.

Robin Builds Nine Nests on Fire Escape

NEW YORK (AP)—"Most unusual," said William G. Conway Monday, drumming his fingers on his desk.

He is curator of birds at the Bronx Zoo. And outside his second-floor office window is a fire escape. On nine successive steps of the fire escape a robin is building nine separate nests.

What's wrong with the Robin? Obviously, said Conway, she's confused.

FAIR NOMINATED

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Albert H. Weeks, 40, and Les Batterson, 45, both of Windsor, Saturday night were chosen CCF candidates for the next provincial election. Mr. Weeks will run in Windsor-Sandwich and Mr. Batterson in Windsor - Walkerville. Douglas Fisher, CCF member of Parliament for Port Arthur who attended the meeting, attacked the Ontario's Progressive conservative government for its "cynical and skeptical look on politics."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, April 29

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Avoid those persons who would deter you—from the plans and activities you have in mind, since they can very forcefully try to impose only their mind. P. M. relax at the social function or sport which happily is made possible to you.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—Altercation between associate and higher up is brewing, but fortunately you need not become a part of it. Be graciously neutral and safe. P. M. should be spent quietly at home relaxing. Be most devoted and affectionate there.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—Although some fascinating interests come your way during day hours, do not jeopardize your position or job by taking time out to enjoy them. Await the evening when all goes your way and you can be considered free. Be wise.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — While you would rather be about town having fun, it behooves you now to listen closely to ideas given you by experts and show gratitude for them. Put in operation quickly. P. M. is ideal for inspiring evening with closest attachment.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) While you long to travel and be off to some interesting new site or environment, it is your duty to get important work done. Do it, and then in the evening an influential person fortunately gives right backing to make your existence easier.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21)—Here is one of those days when you must be careful not to be thrown in with individuals who are hardly worth while. Act so that you uplift them, not lower own standards. P. M. think out what steps to take to become more successful, happy.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22)—Best way to eradicate own worries and problems is to help others with theirs. So give little gifts or uplift by the radiance of your smile. P. M. enjoy yourself. You can make wonderful new contacts.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Rather than give in to temptation to give a verbal lashing to some family tie, or start a rumpus, do something constructive there. P. M. is then excellent for finding ideal solution to problems and bringing a happy time at home.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Don't waste time fuming over the inevitable. Step out into the busy world of progress and tend to business methodically. Take care while driving or walking, also let your speech be quiet and gentle. P. M. have fun with pals.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Do not become upset over some situation at work about which you can do nothing. Labor diligently and you win out, but no griping. P. M. a change for the better occurs and your income is increased appreciably.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Don't give in to temptation to go to executive and utter unkind words, because you do not have accurate idea of exact situation concerned. P. M. is then fine for having a good time at social affairs you most prefer. Be gay.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Private worries would only keep you from taking advantage of today's excellent aspects, if you permit. Be on the go and most productive instead. P. M. can then be most happy within the warm circle of own family.

If your child is born today ... The delightful youngster born today is the type who from earliest years does and says things in such an original manner that everyone will be amused and perhaps wondering. However, right training will bring out the fine talents in this chart admirably, and your progeny would have a fine career as a beloved comedian, or be good in politics, government — or as a stunt flyer, performer.

Get-Out-Vote Drives Assailed

TORONTO (CP) — Grattan O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal has carried service clubs which "drag" people by the scruff of the neck to vote.

Mr. O'Leary was speaking Monday night after he was presented with the citizen of the year award of the Civitan Club of Toronto.

Mr. O'Leary said there are people who vote only every couple of years without knowing for what or for whom they are voting.

He said these people think they are doing their part for democracy by casting their ballots. But the only way to understand citizenship "is to work at it every day, every year."

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinkage) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 20 to 30 years' standing!

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H. Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

STIRLING

IOOF Lodge Holds Annual Divine Service

STIRLING — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was filled to capacity Sunday morning for the annual divine service of Stirling Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 229, Stirling Encampment, No. 80, and Laurel Rebekah Lodge, No. 211.

The chancel held a lovely bouquet of red roses, a gift to Mrs. Earl Fox on Saturday evening from Encampment district No. 30, and a large bouquet of variegated carnations in pink and white, a gift to Major General R. E. Fox and Mrs. Fox from their family on the occasion of Brother Fox receiving the Grand Decoration of Chivalry.

The brethren convened at the lodge hall on Charlotte Street and paraded from there to the church where they were met by members of Laurel Lodge, visiting sisters, officers and members of the L.A.P.M. of Kingston and other points in Ontario.

Picton I.O.O.F. Band led the parade to and from lodge hall and church.

The Marshals were Bro Guy Bradshaw and P.D.D.P. Sister Marion Heath.

Organist Mrs. Harry Morrow played appropriate music throughout the service. The full choir sang an anthem, "Holy Spirit, Faithful Guide." A duet, "Abide With Me", was sung by Mrs. George Heasman and Mrs. Walter Warren.

The Rev. D. C. McLelland, M.A., of Trenton, and interim moderator of Stirling, was in charge of the service. He graciously welcomed the members of the various groups on behalf of St. Andrews.

His children's story for the adults to carry home to some child was centred on the theme, "Lost and Found Department", based on Luke Chapter 15.

The message to the lodge assembly was based on Philippians 1:21, "For Me to Live is Christ and to Die is Gain."

The speaker gave many instances to prove that the efforts of one dedicated person had been used by God to carry on His work on earth.

TheBible lessons were read by Sister Mabel Mabee, Tillsonburg, president of Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, and Bro. J. Herbert Dawson, Windsor, Grand Master of Ontario.

The congregational selections included "Unto the Hills Around", "A Children's Hymn", and "Rescue the Perishing, Care for the Dying."

The offering was gathered by Messrs. James Johnston, Silas Boyce, Harold McGee, and Clayton Tummon.

AFTER-CONFERENCE CHAT — Foreign ministers of four major western nations chat after their conference in Paris Wednesday. See Potential Loopholes in Soviet Offer Of Veto-Free Nuclear Test Ban Inspections

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities see many potential loopholes in Russia's offer of limited inspection to back up a nuclear test ban.

The Russians have given only a general outline at Geneva of their idea, but officials here have found enough weak spots to make the plan unacceptable. They are awaiting clarification before deciding whether the proposal shows enough promise of leading the long deadlock in the talks on banning nuclear tests.

The Western powers had called for an inspection system to halt atomic explosions but Moscow had pushed for veto power.

In a switch Tuesday night, the Soviets announced in Geneva they would cooperate in a veto-free system of spot checking the sites of suspected nuclear explosions provided the big three atomic powers fix in advance the number of such checks to be allowed each year.

OTHER WEAKNESSES

President Eisenhower pointed up some of the loopholes Wednesday. He said there is no sense in talking about the number of inspection visits to be allowed as long as the Soviets insist on veto rights on who is to serve on control committees and inspection teams and what can be inspected.

The Soviets have demanded, too, that the inspection teams be headed by nationals of the country being inspected and that the majority on the teams be Communists. The U.S. contends this amounts to self-inspection.

In the U.S. view, the number of inspections to be allowed would be of great importance. The Russians have neither proposed a specific number nor said how the total should be decided.

According to one set of scientific calculations, there may be from 200 to 1,000 natural events a year—such as earthquakes—which would have to be checked to assure they were not atomic blasts.

The British also have suggested a limited number of inspections as a way of meeting the Russians' professed fear that the Western powers unlimited checks would allow hundreds of spies to pass-cross Soviet territory.

U.S. authorities have asserted that Britain still is in agreement with Washington and Moscow that control is harmless the inspection must not be allowed and that inspection must not be kept so limited as to be meaningless.

TO JOIN FORCES

HAMILTON (CP) — Brantford, Kitchener and Hamilton will coordinate their police forces for the visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip to the three municipalities. Board of police commissioners endorsed a plan to permit 100 members of the Hamilton force to travel to Brantford and Kitchener to help out police in those cities during the tours.

VARIOUS TOPICS DISCUSSED BY HOUSE MEMBERS

Suggestion Made Gordon Should Quit

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament's bill of business fare Wednesday featured variety.

In the Senate, Senator David Croll (L—Ontario) threw his support behind Commons suggestion that members of Parliament be paid more than their present income of $10,000 a year. Specifically, he said there should be parliamentary family allowances for members of Parliament with young children.

The Commons, meantime, handled a number of items, mostly involving creation of community clubs.

While the annual railway committee said the future of the publicly-owned CNR and TCA was being set up, T. Wesley Stewart (CCF—Selkirk) suggested there would be better CNR staff relations and greater efficiency if Donald Gordon was no longer its head, although he didn't want Mr. Gordon removed "in an out-of-hand way."

GORDON IN CRITICISM

R. Hardy Small (PC—Toronto Danforth), a Gordon critic in the committee, said the railway president was "foolish" not to accept a high-paying job in the U.S. that was reported to have been offered him some months ago.

Mr. Hardy also said the 30-year-old CNR chief does not inspire his employees with that kind of faith and confidence he should. Relations would be more harmonious and efficiency greater if Mr. Gordon, president since Jan. 1, 1960, were replaced by a man

Michigan Nervously Waiting to See What Happens When Bills Unpaid

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — What happens when a state runs out of money to pay its employees and its bills?

Will guards desert state prisons and attendants quit their jobs at mental institutions?

Will suppliers cut off food and fuel deliveries to state-owned public sanatoriums?

Will hospitals refuse to accept state-supported crippled children and turn others out?

How long will telephone and power companies carry the state on the cuff?

These and other questions face state officials and employers today as implications of Michigan's grave financial picture began to unfold. There were few blessings.

Payment was halted on payrolls for 28,000 employees and bills for fuel, food, telephones and travel to what Democratic Governor G. Mennen Williams said was an "artificially bank-rupticy" brought on by stalling in the Republican-controlled legislature.

The curbs were ordered Wednesday by the state administrative board in the face of a $116,-

37 More Ballots Cast Than Total School Register

WINSTON - SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Some of the candidates in the student government at Wake Forest College Tuesday had some strong support. But things were carried a little too far.

It developed in the vote count Wednesday that 37 more ballots were cast in the races for vice-president and secretary than the total number of registered students. And votes were listed for 21 persons no longer in school.

Seafarers' Union May Be Ousted From Congress

OTTAWA (CP)—The turbulent Seafarers' International Union has been threatened with suspension from the Canadian Labor Congress unless it meets a 60-day deadline on halting raiderwardship raids on another CLC union, it was learned today.

An informant said the ultimatum likely will be delivered to the union today and a decision to this effect reached by the CLC's executive council at a special meeting here Wednesday. The 22-man council has suspension power.

While congress officers maintained official secrecy on the move, it was learned the council will give the SIU that:

1. It has been ordered to return to the National Association of Marine Engineers another CLC affiliate, between 700 and 800 members it has raided from that organization.

2. Unless this demand is complied with in 60 days after receiving the notice, the 10,000-member seafarers will be suspended from the 1,000,000-member congress.

Council Will Decide Later About Courthouse Project as Low Bids Over Half Million

Construction of the proposed new Hastings county courthouse including space for county office and store land and the new county registry office will cost in excess of half a million dollars.

This was indicated at this morning's session of Hastings County Council when tenders from ten contractors were read by the architects.

The two low tenders submitted by Con Engineering of London, Ont., and the H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Belleville were for approximately $510,000.

No decision on the tenders was made at the meeting session with council to decide today or tomorrow whether to proceed with the construction. The matter is expected to bring out considerable debate before a decision is reached.

Last fall council authorized architects to draw plans and call tenders for a new structure, when it was found that renovations considered for the present structure would cost more per square foot than would a new building.

Soil conditions at the proposed site of the courthouse immediately to the front of the present building were also found to be such that piles will be required for the foundation. This work will add to the cost by $20,000, but is included in the tender price.

Mr. G. Hamann, representing Gregman and Hamann, noted that as soon as the tenders are settled, piles will have to be driven. Operations by another type of steel would be used.

The new four-storey courthouse building would have an area of slightly more than 34,000 square feet and on the basis of the low tenders would cost approximately $15.25 per square foot.

This figure is slightly higher than was estimated by the architects but their estimate of $14 per foot was before it was known that piles would be required for the foundation.

Low price for the building alone included the heating, laid out at $14.03 per foot, a figure with which Mr. Hamann said his firm was happy.

The new courthouse structure would be three storeys in height at the front, and two storeys at the rear. The building would be built into the hill on the west floor, even with the parking area at the rear.

Plans would call for leaving the present courthouse intact until the new building was completed, when the old building would be torn down to provide parking and other space. The present county Hall and Registry Office could also be razed as quarters for both offices would be included in the new building.

Fall facilities would be left as they are although certain work would be necessary if the present courthouse were torn down.

Reeve W. J. Davis said in his opinion it would be a mistake to tear down the present courthouse until some decision was made as to how large a new hall was to be built in the near future.

This feeling was also echoed later by Reeve Earl Sager who said perhaps should have included provisions for a new jail as well as courthouse.

Warden J. N. Brown, however, noted that requirements for jails have very little to do with completely separate from courthouses. He said that a new jail could be built at any time without affecting the courthouse plans.

Mr. Hamann noted that the 34,000 square feet in the proposed new building would provide an additional 11,000 square feet of space over that contained in the present courthouse, registry office and county hall.

All departments had been contacted and provision made for requirements over and for the immediate foreseeable future.

Three cubic feet of space also is provided for the registry office where it now has but 2,700.

The tenders were made for additions 12 at any time in the future this is deemed necessary.

The question of furnishings for the new building was raised later.

Warden Brown said that definitely some new furniture would be required, including all new furniture for the new hall in the new structure.

Council however scheduled to continue this afternoon with a decision either today or Friday on what action is to be taken.

Seaway's First Week Marred By Incident and Controversy

By The Canadian Press

The St. Lawrence Seaway got off to a stormy start Wednesday.

Its ink-day life has been marked by incident and controversy and the climax of its birth —the official opening by Queen Elizabeth—remains two months away.

Capt. MacDermid MacDermid who guided the first American ship to pass through the seaway, said Wednesday he doesn't mean, or Santa Regina had a rugged trip.

Unless the seaway changes its methods of operation, he said, ocean-class ships will be forced redesigned to avoid damaging their hulls and superstructures in the narrow parts of the canals.

Capt. MacDermid threaded his vessel, 730 feet long, 80-foot beam, through the 80-foot-wide locks and later enumerated the damages he found—dents in plates, scraped side, deck-railing lost. "I'll be demoted if I make this trade in itself," he concluded "and you have to be educated

U.S. Planes Keeping Lookout For Rebel Ships Off Panama

PANAMA CITY (AP)—Panamanian troops today were reported prepared to fight off rebels "at any minute" against invaders who have holed up on Pacific coast 20 miles from the entrance to the Panama Canal.

A report of U.S. fighter planes was ordered up over Panama's Pacific coast today to discourage approach of more invaders reported crossing the Colombian border. Planes are patrol well requested by the five - ambassador team sent by the Organization of American States (OAS) to help end the attempt to overthrow Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia.

Diplomatic sources at ambassadors recommended that the OAS council in Washington urge Panamanian Foreign Minister Carlos Cuban government to "exhaust all measures to prevent a new in-

$20,400,000 Bridge Will Be Constructed

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—A $20,400,000 step towards linking Nolthern Ontario with the great highway arteries of the United States was announced Wednesday night by Premier Frost.

The premier said at a Chamber of Commerce dinner here the two Soos—Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., across the St. Mary's River would be linked by toll bridge by November, 1961.

Construction of the 1,200-foot bridge over the United States and Canadian ship canals would start next year. Ontario, the State of Michigan and the five-year-old International Bridge Authority would share the cost.

The premier made his announcement following a meeting in the Americas between Michigan officials, representatives of New York banking and financial interests, Canadian Allan and Highways Minister Cass.

After he spoke George Gathercole of the department of economic research, Mr. Frost said approximately $7,900,000 and the bridge authority $9,000,000, with the remainder from the United States bureau of roads would be $3,500,000.

USE TO US

Tolls would be used to pay off the bonds and the American share of the bonds would be paid by the U.S. federal highway system.

Mr. Frost said after the bonds are repaid the bridge will be "more or less toll-free." A small toll may be levied to pay maintenance costs.

He said with construction of the Rainy river causeway, Northern Ontario would be connected with Chicago, the Mississippi Parkway and other arteries in the U.S. industrial belt.

"These great new traffic connections have fabulous possibilities for all Northern Ontario, and particularly those areas around Sudbury Bay, Sudbury, Manitoulin, Sault Ste. Marie, the North Shore, Moose River and also the great hinterlands stretching up to Timmins."

EMBASSY CHAPLEAU ROAD

He said when conditions permit a first-class road will be built between Sudbury and Chapleau on the CPR mainline 150 miles to the northwest. The highway 17 northwest of here, was being joined with Chapleau, Foleyet and Timmins.

The premier made his bridge announcement following meeting in the American Soo between Michigan officials, representatives of New York banking houses and Provincial Treasurer Allan and Highways minister Cass.

He said the 125-foot high bridge will be located within the boundaries of the two Soos.

He said the picture of highway and bridge development would be lined will open up great economic possibilities in pulp, lumber, and mining as well as the tourist industry.

Canadian labor and materials would be used in the construction of the Canadian portion of the bridge.

Accord Reached, Big Four Parley Ends Tonight

Deal With Berlin Alone If 'Package' Is Rejected

PARIS (AP)—The Western big four foreign ministers announced complete agreement today on a package plan they will deliver to the Geneva conference next month. They then unexpectedly ended their session.

A final communique gave no details of the plan. The foreign ministers opened their meeting Wednesday to unify their positions for the East-West foreign ministers conference in Geneva May 11.

The ministers said they stood four-square behind the West's pledge to hold fast to its rights in Berlin—and to refuse to abandon the 2,500,000 residents of the city.

SEPARATE OFFER

Though the communique did not say so, official sources reported the ministers had agreed to negotiate a separate Berlin settlement if the Soviet Union rejects the over-all package deal on Berlin, German unity and European security they plan to propose at Geneva.

This allied agreement on a fallback position was disclosed before the British, French and West German foreign ministers began their day-long discussion of Britain's project for a zone of limited, controlled arms and armies in central Europe.

Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan has described a withdrawal agreement of such a zone as the first step in a real-war settlement with the Russians.

Text of the communique:

The [illegible] ministers of the Federal Republic of (West) Germany, France, United Kingdom and the United States have concluded their meetings in Paris in accordance with instruction on the basis of which to negotiate with the Soviet Union at the forthcoming Geneva conference.

Their discussions were based on the report of the working group which has been meeting in London to examine various aspects of these problems.

The foreign ministers reiterated the determination enunciated at their meeting in December, 1958, and reaffirmed in their recent declarations meetings to maintain the freedom of the people of West Berlin and their rights and obligations there of the Allied powers. At the same time they reaffirm their willingness to enter into negotiations with the Soviet Union with a view to establishing a just and durable peace in Europe.

To this end the Western ministers reached complete agreement on the proposals to be presented at Geneva.

The results of the meeting just concluded will be discussed with the leaders of the Soviet Union. Arrangements will be made to maintain contact with the latter during the Geneva conference.

Kansu Peasants Caught Yeti

LONDON (AP)—Chinese peasants captured an Abominable Snowman in Kansu province and even trained him to work, Moscow radio reported today. But they killed him.

The broadcast gave no further details of the capture or the tantalizing the Snowman, or Yeti, the legendary creature who supposedly wanders over the high mountains of Asia but flees

Monty's Second Talk With Nikita Proves to Be Unexpectedly Short

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein unexpectedly cut short meeting with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The session, lasting just under an hour, contrasted with their talk of more than two hours on Wednesday.

The retired British soldier, who is on a private visit to Russia and Moscow, declined comment after the meeting. Khrushchev and Monty ate drove off, to the British Embassy for a luncheon given by charge d'affaires Hillary Young in his honor. Four Soviet marshals and two generals attended the luncheon.

Montgomery made a bit with Premier Khrushchev in their talk this morning. Western diplomats could not recall any other occasion when unexpectedly short views on successive days.

A Russian army colonel called to pick up Montgomery at the British Embassy this morning and said "Monty, tomorrow." Khrushchev promptly agreed, Montgomery said.

"There is so much to talk about, so much of interest," said the retired British soldier, who is here "to improve East-West relations" Khrushchev despite strong disapproval of British newspapers and most politicians.

Police Requested To Find Hubby Gone 34 Years

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A woman called police headquarters, reported her husband missing and asked whether officers could find him.

"How long has he been gone?" asked Sgt. W.F. Hall.

"Thirty-four years," replied the unidentified woman. She said she planned to remarry and wanted the new marriage "to be legal."

Arthur Godfrey's Chest Tumor Is Cancerous

NEW YORK (AP)—An operation disclosed today that Arthur Godfrey's chest tumor is cancerous. Physicians are removing it.

One of the radio-TV star's doctors said at 10:30 a.m. EDT that the operation would take until 1 p.m. Godfrey was taken to the operating room at 7:25 a.m. Surgeons removing left lung also was being removed.

His condition was said to be excellent.

Godfrey's wife, Mary, visited him before he was wheeled to the operating room. She arrived here Wednesday night from their Virginia home and spent the night at Harkness pavilion of the Columbia-Presbyterian medical center.

Godfrey, 55, is occupying a two-room suite with bath on the 10th floor. It overlooks the Hudson river.

Three doctors, one anesthetist and three nurses were in the operating room. A hospital spokesman said Godfrey slept well Wednesday night and breakfasted.

In a statement issued during the operation, the doctor said:

"The lesion of Mr. Godfrey's left lung has been identified as cancer of the bronchial tube. The section of the lung containing the tumor is being removed. His condition is excellent."

The doctors' names were not immediately made public.

CHANCES FAVORABLE

It was understood unofficially that Godfrey's chances are favorable for complete and successful removal of the tumor.

County Council Gets Report On Children's Aid Society From Superintendent B. Kerr

The Children's Aid Society was the topic of discussion for much of the Wednesday afternoon session at Hastings county council, when Superintendent Bruce Kerr outlining the operation of the society.

Mr. Kerr noted that in the past few years there had been many changes in the act, most of those as the result of recommendations by the Ontario welfare department, following a 1953 survey.

Growth of the work of his department, especially in preventive work and in adoption, was outlined.

In 1954 there were 326 children in the care of the CAS and on lack of trained personnel the number of adoptions was small and very little preventive work was done.

ADOPTIONS INCREASE

At the present time this year there were 225 children in care and in the five-year period there had been 1,000 adoptions, which Mr. Kerr said was a good average for workers in this province. Of the number of children in care, 160 are chargeable to the county.

For the past few years there had been a full time supervisive officer working solely in the county and in the words of Mr. Kerr, "I don't know how we ever had paid off."

He said that regular visitations were the keynote of the protective service, the aim of which was to prevent conditions necessitating children being taken into care.

The aim of the CAS today was to provide for wards as good an academic or trade training as was possible by the time they reached their 18th birthday when, according to provincial law they would cease to be wards.

In special cases where a young ward showed unusual ability suggestions could be made for extension of wardship to 21 years, this allowing for more advanced training or university schooling.

FINDING FATS OFF

Mr. Kerr felt that good training was paying off as young wards were fitted to earn their way in life and thus would be unlikely to be in trouble with the law. He noted that it cost $700 a year to support a child in care, while it took about $1,400 to keep a man in jail.

"There is an old saying that there can be no profit without capital investment and the county is reaping a profit in its investment in children," he said.

A request from the Children's Aid Society for an increased grant from the county, to make possible an increased salary for the preventive officer, sparked the debate on the CAS and was also the reason for Mr. Kerr's visit to council.

Reeve W. J. Davis of Bangor said that the information of CAS activities given to council would reduce the criticism. He noted that in the town municipality he had learned that the CAS did more than the work that was required by the township officials.

He said that without the information council might be prone to criticize unjustly.

FINAL COURT REPORT

The juvenile and family court report read by Reeve James Sprackett showed that actual expenditures for the CAS last year had been $80,270. Estimated expenditures for the year had been $80,000. With receipts at $5,900 which is higher than was anticipated, a surplus of $10,700 had been created, according to the report.

The per diem rate for the Bellevilla Boys' Home last year was set at $1.86 per day, which is an increase of 22 cents from the past year.

Opening of the new receiving home in Belleville last year had resulted in a capital cost expenditure which was being depreciated over a three year period.

Also tabled at yesterday's session was the Justice Board report read by committee chairman W. J. Davis. The report showed total expenditures for the year of $107,075.13, less receipts of $1,086.80.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Profit-taking continued to dominate industrials and western oils as the stock market was easier in light morning trading.

The 11 a.m. volume was 720,000 shares, compared with Wednesday's 1,055,000 at the same hour. Specialties were mixed.

Most industrial changes were in small fractions. Steel company of Canada, however, was down 1 at 78 and Dominion Stores lost ½ at 79¾.

International Nickel led a narrower base-metal group, adding 1⅛ at 85¼.

Uraniums were mixed as Algom added ½ at 18¾ while consolidated Denison and Gunnar lost fractions.

Kerr-Addison was off ¼ at 18¾ 17, but a number of juniors were up in a 5-cent range to give golds a narrow edge.

Wednesday the oils were the big lovers.

The final volume was 3,617,000 shares, the heaviest in almost two weeks and compared with Tuesday's 3,595,000. Active specula-

Mead Johnson Head Speaker at Foremen's Club

D. L. Menzies, president of the Mead Johnson of Canada, spoke to the members of the Quinte Foremen's Club at their monthly dinner meeting at the Club House on Thursday evening. "The Low Cost of Living" was the topic for the guest speaker's address.

Mr. Menzies introduced his subject by saying that probably most people feel the druggist or the manufacturer is making an exhorbitant profit when they pay a high price for but a few pennies worth of medicine when the rather large number of mass-produced compounds of a pharmaceutical nature available on the market for but a few cents for a large quantity.

Actually these preparations, designed to cure a specific disease, are the result of long and expensive research projects during the course of which many possible compounds have been devised and tested before a satisfactory one is discovered. The final product is naturally expensive because of the cost of developing it, reasoned the speaker.

Mr. Menzies went on to point out that, although these various preparations are relatively inexpensive, the results they accomplish prove that they are relatively cheap in comparison, such as pneumonia and tuberculosis, which formerly required a patient to be confined for a lengthy period with attendant hospital expense and so forth, are now being cured, thanks to the new drugs, within a fraction of the previously required convalescent time. The number of deaths from tuberculosis has been greatly reduced thereby contributing to the low cost of living.

The evening program, which was preceded by a one hour and one-half tour of the Mead Johnson plant, was a delightful barbershop quartet from Belleville. The barbershop accompaniment was played by Jimmy Carvalol.

About twenty members were present, with special guests including Mrs. Roger Pyke, Deputy Reeve of St. Margaret's on the Hill, who delivered sermonette; Mr. J.C.H. Bunchard of Northern Electric; and Mr. Gerald Whitaker, of Bell Telephone, Belleville plant. The welcome of a new member, Clifford Miller of Trenton, was made and the election of new officers was also held. Gregory Ferguson, Tweed, was chairman for the occasion.

Tram Hits Truck Tweed Man Has Knee Fractured

TWEED — Tuesday morning at 10.50 a.m. a freight train sliding at the Tweed Feed Mill was leaving the mill, going slowly, when there was a collision between it and a truck owned by Mr. Tebbo, a resident of Tweed and driven by Mr. Vincent Tebo of town. Mr. Tebo was on the mill when he approached the tracks, but was unable to bring the truck to a stop as "gave it the gun" in an attempt to cross in front of it. The train struck the truck (with five cattle aboard) just at the back dual wheels causing extensive damage to the truck and approximately $300 damage to the engine of the CPR train.

The truck was turned over on its side, the cattle were in the front of the van and were uninjured. Mr. Tebo was unhurt, while Mr. Thomas Kelly of Tweed, a passenger in the truck cab is in the Belleville Hospital with a fractured knee.

The engineer on the freight train was Mr. D. Tyrell and the conductor was A. G. Rochefort.

The accident was investigated by Constable Allen Allore of Tweed.

Will Inspect City Plants

Tomorrow the local Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Commission will be the host for nine assistant trade commissioners from the Department of Trade and Commerce in Ottawa, Toronto and travelling across Canada prior to taking posts abroad to promote Canadian trade. The group is touring many plants and industries to acquaint themselves with the problems of foreign trade.

Visitation of plants and discussing problems with export sales managers will, it is hoped, facilitate their ability to deal with potential foreign customers.

The local tour will include the different plants in this area. A luncheon with the Industrial Commission will be held at the Queen's Motel during the noon hour.

Election for the 1959-60 officers was held with the nomination for the present slate of officers. An enjoyable evening of dancing, with refreshments given, ended a very successful year.

District Lakes Free From Ice Says Department

District lakes are now free from ice cover, putting an end to speculation as to whether local fishermen could take a boat or ice chisel along on May 2nd when the trout season opens, says the Department of Lands and Forests.

Reports in the southern portion of the district are agreeably approaching their normal flow, although it will be some time yet before fly fishermen will be seen testing their skill on these streams.

1959 trout landings will include a number of new district lakes, and a few of the waters stocked over the last few years that have not produced fishing will be ready for their first bite. Aerial fish planting of fish will begin the first week in May with Commissioner Cain taking the respective patrol zones aboard the plane and dropping the fish into the various waters designated for planting.

Anglers who have not received a copy of our 1958 fish planting list may secure a copy at the Tweed district office of the Department of Lands and Forests or from the Department's lakes stocked with speckled trout and bass, travelling across Canada prior to taking posts abroad to promote Canadian trade. The group is touring many plants and industries to acquaint themselves with the problems of foreign trade.

Visitation of plants and discussing problems with export sales managers will, it is hoped, facilitate their ability to deal with potential foreign customers.

The local tour will include the different plants in this area. A luncheon with the Industrial Commission will be held at the Queen's Motel during the noon hour.

Eddie Berry Found Not Guilty Of Theft by Magistrate

TRENTON — Eddie Berry of Quinte Street, Trenton was acquitted on a charge of breaking and entering and theft by Magistrate T. V. Wills yesterday afternoon. Berry was defended by Robert Temple of Belleville. Stewart Robertson acted for the Crown.

In reaching his decision following the 3 1-3-hour court session, Magistrate Wills said there were conflicting facts about the case and "I wouldn't be justified in convicting the accused. The explanation of his fingerprints being on the cash box is reasonable and is supported in a way by two of the witnesses for the crown. I will dismiss the case and feel quite safe in doing so."

Six crown witnesses were heard on Monday and continued yesterday. The first witness to testify was Inspector R. J. Rutherford of the Trenton Police Force. He told the court that on Monday, April 6, he had started out on the inquiry of the information received from the OPP Corporal on April 3rd. He said that he and Mr. Berry.

ARRESTED AT STATION

He told the court that Berry was arrested about 5.35 p.m. that day when he appeared in the police station on another matter.

He told the court that the accused had been given the regular police warnings after the arrest. He told him at 5.30 p.m. and at that time Berry had said, "I don't know nothing about it," or words to that effect.

Inspector Rutherford was then cross-examined by Robert Temple, counsel for the defence.

"Did he deny the charge at any time?"

"Yes."

"Did he deny the charge at any time?"

"Yes."

Patrol Sergeant Westfall was called back to the witness stand and said that he had taken part in the questioning of the accused on the night he was arrested but he had just more or less listened. He said he heard the inspector read the warning after Berry had been brought into the office at 7.15 p.m. and following that there had been some conversation between the inspector and the accused. He was then questioned by Mr. Temple.

"Did the accuse deny the charge?"

"That's right."

"Did you ever hear him give anything but a direct denial to the charge?"

"No."

Mr. Temple then asked the court for a dismissal of the case as there was no evidence presented in court against his client which connected him with the theft of the cash box.

Mr. Robertson argued the fact that the accused's fingerprints were on the box called for an explanation.

To this the magistrate agreed and the accused was called to the witness stand.

Questioned briefly by Mr. Temple the accused told the court that he had brought the Webb move the furniture in the office and that they moved smaller objects on the top of taller ones to prevent them from falling when the large set was moved after the painting is finished.

He was then questioned by the crown.

"Did you see the cash box on top of the filing cabinet?"

"Yes."

"Was it open?"

"Yes."

"Was there money in it?"

"Yes."

"Who was there at the time?"

"Mr. Webb and myself."

"Did you touch the cash box?"

"Yes. I moved it from the top of the filing cabinet down to the cash box."

The crown then questioned the accused concerning the night the cash was broken into.

"What were you doing on Sunday night?"

"I was at my cousin's home, watching TV. Then we went to town street to the cafe, had lunch and returned to watch TV again."

"What time did you leave?"

"About 2.15 a.m."

"Where did you go?"

"Home."

"What time did you get there?"

"About 2.30."

"What did you do then?"

"Went to bed."

Two of the witnesses for the crown were recalled to the stand by Mr. Wills the first, for which the court under questioning that he could see the cash box at any time and explained how it was their practice to remove money from the cash box when they would not be damaged when they threw the large set of furniture and then removed them later. He also told the court that the accused had told him that it was strange they would leave so much money lying around the office.

Mr. Carrigan, the company's accountant was recalled and told the crown when the cash box was purchased and that it had been in use for the filing cabinet. He testified there had been no money put into the box until Friday morning.

Mr. Carrigan also told the court the cash box had been moved but that he had not looked under the large to see if it was there and that there was also a small piece of board on top of the filing cabinet.

In summing up the crown asked for a conviction on the grounds that the accused's fingerprints on the cash box had not been satisfactorily explained and that his story, if believed, varied from the evidence presented in court. He said that according to witness Carrigan there had been no money in the box and if so the accused had seen it it was while the cash box was in the desk drawer. The crown attorney said he felt the witnesses for the prosecution were truthful and that there were some discrepancies.

Defence counsel Temple, in summing up, asked for a dismissal on several factors. He said there was no evidence as to Mr. Webb that the money was in the box and Mr. Carrigan denied it was there. Mr. Temple said the only evidence the crown had against the accused was fingerprints on the cash box and this was reasonably explained by the fact that Berry was working in the office. He said here was no evidence that indicated his either at the scene the night the crime took place or that he was even near the contents of the box. There were no fingerprints on the box of covers or the other office or telephone exchange which were also ransacked.

Trenton Board May Set Up Special Opportunity Classes

TRENTON — The Trenton School Board is looking into the possibility of setting up special opportunity classes here for a number of students who are having difficulty keeping up with their regular school work.

This point was discussed at the Wednesday afternoon following an address by K. D. Monroe, Inspector of Public Schools, Department of Education.

Mr. Monroe pointed out that there opportunity classes should not be confused with retarded children's establishments, for they concerned entirely differing groups of youngsters.

The special classes are to provide the proper individual attention for pupils who are certainly not retarding in the sense that they need to be placed in institutions, but for those who have less ability to learn and are classed as generally slow learners.

Mr. Monroe has conducted tests on 23 Trenton Public School students whose scholastic standing was below the class average and he found that 18 of these were in definite need of some sort of special training.

He urged the School Board to experiment with these opportunity class for a year at least, to see if they would not find it a satisfactory way of helping the slow learners.

Mr. Monroe said there might be a variety of reasons why children found it difficult to learn — lack of proper education, poor health and lack of interest in their studies which frustrate the child. And because of factors he himself can't control, he loses his enthusiasm for learning.

The best method of making provision for these pupils, he said, was to place them in smaller classes with teachers of sympathetic teacher would be able to give them individual attention.

He said if a program of this kind were established, it would definitely improve the whole Trenton school system, for regular classes would not be be handicapped by having to devote time to the slower pupils and would be able to gain much more headway with the rest of the class.

600 CLASSES OPERATING

Six hundred of these classes will be operating in Ontario by September 1959, and Mr. Monroe cited many examples of programs had been in effect for 10 or 15 years with marked success.

It appeared to be the opinion of the meeting that a lot of time and effort was devoted to turning out the gifted child, while the less gifted were left pretty much by themselves, mainly because the teachers are unable to give the individual attention needed. And they agreed that establish-

Aviation Development In Canada on TV

TRENTON — Beginning this Sunday at 5:30 p.m. and continuing for 13 consecutive weeks, the CBC will present a series of three half-hour television programs depicting the history of aviation development in Canada. The special programs, narrated by both Kingston and Peterborough personalities, will deal with aviation in all its aspects, including contributions made by members of the RCAF.

HISTORIC BELLEVILLE

(Article 78 contributed by members of the Hastings County Historical Society.)

When The West Was Young

The early years after Canada's Confederation were troubled ones.

The Fenian raids continued intermittently until 1870, while trouble in the Northwest was brewing with the Metis (half-breeds) feared that they would lose their land and privileges.

Accordingly a group gathered around Louis Riel, and determined to see that their rights were protected. They kept the newly appointed Canadian governor of the Northwest from entering the territory, and went so far as to take over the Hudson Bay Post at the Red River Settlement (now Winnipeg) and imprison a number of people. Among these were pro-Canadians who had taken up arms to see that the territory was transferred to Canada.

Although these actions had taken place before the official transfer of the Northwest to Canada, the Canadian Government instituted steps to put a rebellion. A military force was despatched to the scene, but by the time the troops arrived all was quiet.

The Red River Settlement, Riel's band had left, and the first Riel "Rebellion" was at an end.

The only casualty of the trouble was a Hastings County youth, Thomas Scott. His fiery and indiscreet vocal attacks upon Riel and his followers are said to have been the cause of his execution by Riel.

This execution aroused much controversy in Ontario, the Loyalist province of the Dominion, strongly against Riel and demanded that he stand conviction on a charge of murder.

Riel was not brought to trial, however. Instead, he was elected to the Dominion Parliament in the Manitoba riding of Provencher. He had preserved the rights of the inhabitants of the Settlement and had been largely responsible for the early creation of the province of Manitoba (1870), hence his election.

Indeed, but for his unwarranted execution of Scott, he might well be called the "Father" of Manitoba.

Following his election, Riel presented himself at Ottawa, but failed to take his seat before the House of Commons and then fled to the United States, where enemies could bring about his arrest.

On April 15, 1874, Mackenzie Bowell, then member for North Hastings and an ardent Orangeman, moved that Riel be expelled from Parliament. This motion was carried by a vote of 124 to 68.

This did not end Riel's career, however. After spending some time in an American mental institution, Riel returned to Western Canada, where, as we shall see next week, he again stirred up unrest.

Do-It-Yourself Workshop

New York Times.

On the busy and bustling island of Manhattan, where most people are caught in the rush of modern life, there are pockets of small but successful havens. One of the most successful is Samuel L. Kuhn, a retired management engineer, who derived great satisfaction from his amateur woodworking that he decided to provide a workshop and opportunity to share his lifelong hobby. So he opened "Your Workshop" at 549 West Seventy-fifth Street. The worshop, now in its fifth year of operation, offers comradeship and camaraderie as well as extensive facilities and expert instruction. Two hundred persons have made it the headquarters for their hobby.

The workshop, encompassing 2,500 square feet of floor space, contains work benches, power equipment, hand tools, lumber and a variety of finishing supplies. It is permeated with the spicy aroma of seasoned wood, the abrasive sound of sandpaper rubbing against resistant surfaces, the whirring purring of the power saws and the rat-a-tat-tat of hammers. Ample lockers await accumulators on the floor like miniature mounds of snow. The rectangular room is not unlike the workshop reconstructed with the help of colorful people who are doing constructive work, exchanging information and gossip, sharing refreshments and enjoying the general atmosphere of well-being.

"It's like a club," says a prominent New York lawyer who is a familiar figure at the workshop. "I meet and see people who make joint use of the workshop and consider it a rewarding contribution to their relationship. A young husband and wife share the facilities for much the same reason. A clever hand man who frequents New York on business drops here and prefers the workshop to any of the city's night clubs. Another regular visitor, a resident of Philadelphia who works here during the week, reports that he "there's just nothing like it in Philly. These workshop reciprocal privileges are a delightful and practical attributes with equal enthusiasm.

Most of Mr. Kuhn's clients, who pay about $1.50 an hour to cover his costs, are New York apartment dwellers who do not have sufficient space to practise their hobby or to provide a shop also attracts some suburbanites from Westchester, Long Island and New Jersey as well as visitors from more distant points. Habitues of the workshop are doctors, lawyers, engineers, business men, writers, professional men, school teachers, secretaries and housewives. Others include a night school for training in architect, an artist, a physiotherapist, a radio announcer.

Mr. Kuhn's diversified clientele includes do-it-yourself enthusiasts who have a specific project, and those who simply need space to work it and work as often as possible until it is finished. Other clients work for pure pleasure on a week-to-week basis. Some of these amateurs are kind-hearted souls who create fine furniture of their own design. Others produce relatively poor results. They do not observes, but they are happy doing it. The woodcarving, ranging in age from 21 to 80, make bookcases, hi-fi cabinets, desks, tables, household items and children's toys.

The 62-year-old proprietor of "Your Workshop" is a confident, efficient and articulate gentleman who seems to know what he wants and how to get it. He overcame many obstacles to launch the workshop into being, nurtured its growth with meticulous care and patience and now operates it as a vocation as a thriving enterprise. Associated with him in the venture are two commercial craftsmen who share the skills with the workshop. He serves as an amateur accessory to their professional shops. Since he does not interested in money, Mr. Kuhn says, he operates a hobby haven that he finds more satisfying than bridge, bowling or any of the other activities available in the city.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WATCH THE MORAL TREND

Great peoples and civilizations have appeared on the earth and after some centuries deteriorated. The Roman civilization was one of the greatest the world has ever known viewed from the standpoint of political power. The Greek civilization surpasses all others in culture, beauty, and aesthetic values. There were also great civilizations in Assyria and Babylon. These have passed on. Egypt had a mighty civilization which still continues and its deified kings and queens, the never-ceasing fertility of the Nile valley.

Today we have a civilization which is more and more coming to be dominated by the English speaking peoples of the Western Hemisphere. There are ways in which this civilization is the most outstanding the world has ever known. Much of it had its conception in religious dissent. A vast, empty continent welcomed the oppressed and hardy pioneers. And these built up a liberty-loving nation. Today the people of the United States and Canada are making a contribution to the world civilization, comfort, and opportunity for good unparalleled. But shall we, with the passing of time, pass away as did the others? Precisely, if we make the same mistakes and diseases are injected into the body of our civilization as were injected into the bodies of previous civilizations. Today the moral character of our population is the third of greatest importance. Will men of faith, vision, and the never-ceasing continue to dominate our nations?

If so — increasing achievement. If not — deterioration and discard.

This is not accomplished by wishful thinking, and not accomplished overnight. It takes some regularity of proper exercise.

And in the birth itself (according to what I am familiar with) if a modest amount of aesthesis is advisable, it is given. I can't go along with the old tremist view that "natural childbirth" means going back to the "good old days" when a needless pain is "good for people"; very many than a can believe that cholera, famine earthquakes and war are "good for people" and that "pain is pain are "natural."

"Natural childbirth," properly understood and reasonably carried out, is quite acceptable. Indeed, I would call it a good thing.

Misunderstood, and turned into barbaric theory, it has no place in our lives. We want sterile conditions, we want the best and one doctors that have made childbirth so safe today, as compared to the dreadful death rates of a few generations ago.

We certainly do not want to go in the direction of drugging or anesthetizing mothers into total unconsciousness, upon which the normal body processes no longer can help the baby be born quickly and well. True understanding of all that is needed to keep this from being an "argument."

"Dear Dr. Molner: X-ray treatments have been recommended for my daughter, but she objects because she believes it would cause her to be sterile, the same as exposed to the sun. Is there any truth to this" — Mrs. H.M.*

No. Prolonged exposure to ultra-violet light in the sun's rays are not ultra-violet.

Note to Mrs. H. C.: Spitting blood always should be investigated medically. Sometimes it is the result of some trifling cause, but you have to be sure. Guessing is too risky.

Norway Took The Unwanted

Vancouver Sun

It is astounding to learn that 12,000 of the 45,000 refugees admitted to Norway during the past 13 years were "people not wanted elsewhere."

They were aged, blind, tuberculars or crippled. But scientific and humanitarian methods have restored many all of them into productive workers.

Norwegian health and welfare officials have established that the "not wanteds" could be rehabilitated. Such foresight and concern deserved to succeed.

Norway proved that the rejected persons of the world have qualities which can be cultivated and applied to industry's needs. Among them are patience, willingness, a high sense of responsibility, even gratitude.

A number of agencies in Canada and the United States are trying to impress this outlook upon employers. Humanity demands that the campaign should flourish. Wise employers are heeding it.

Rockefeller Proves Foxy

Milwaukee Journal

Governor Rockefeller of New York is being lauded as a man of courage and vision. Turns out he's a pretty foxy politician, too.

One of his strengths in the last election was the upstate farm vote. And he is showing that he deserved it. He has just signed a bill giving farm insurance companies to subtract three years from workmen's ages and sell them insurance at lower premiums.

The reason officially given: Women live longer and should, therefore, pay lower premiums. But the political viewers see something else. Any man who has lived for three more years younger is a man to keep an eye on.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

When we think of the word "power," we usually first think of electric current. Lately, the word has come to include hydrogen bombs, jet aircraft or some such thing as that. Power is what we hear something to do in our minds with nations.

But there is another power that we can make ourselves aware of. It is the power that we look out in the back yard and looking around at earth, the trees, the fields, the trees. The power of a mysterious thing called life, as revealed this very week in living nature, can, if you see it intelligently, make us the combined powers of man look pretty frivolous.

Down on the ground at your feet, within the one glance of your eyes, are a million fragile green plants. They are the new grass, so tiny, so fragile, so utterly weak you wonder that a breeze does not destroy them. Up out of the beds poke the tender sets of what soon will be the garden plants, so delicate a raindrop should crush them. On each tree, a million buds in every one of which the infant leaves and blossoms are there, the frailest tissue paper.

In the robin's and sparrow's nests eggs of a fragility for which there is no synonym. And each egg, already throbbing, too feeble to raise their heads, symbolizes the frailty of everything.

But in a stupendous rush, the power of life will within four weeks, have transformed every living thing, every tree, every flower, every bird, every creature, into a force of radiant, raging, triumphant life that should leave us speechless in our humility.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"NATURAL CHILDBIRTH" IS ALL RIGHT IF NOT CARRIED TO EXTREMES

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you give your opinion on 'natural childbirth'? There seems to be a lot of misconception about it. F.M.D."

All right, I'll rise it, figuring that I'll probably be clobbered by both sides.

My own attitude toward this is, if not neutral, at least sort of mid-dle-of-the-road. As everybody knows, the middle-of-th-roader is fair game for people on both sides of him — but he isn't supposed to throw any bricks himself.

However, I'm sure that you and other readers remember the various occasions on which I've preached my perpetual slogan of "moderation in all things." Now I'm doing it again.

In the abstract, I think "natural childbirth" is a very reasonable. Babies were being born thousands of years before we had doctors, drugs, hospitals or even midwives.

There is this difference, however. With today's civilization, we no longer live the way mankind did in the prehistoric days. It is still true, that, in primitive tribes, mothers have their babies without medical care, and they evidently have them with relative ease, as compared with what I said "comparative."

But these women don't wear high-heeled shoes, they don't wear girdles, they don't sit in chairs (running the risk of developing sacks, or watching television.) They carry very young, they are physically active and supple. And there is no question but that they come from tribes and that they have a life expectancy of perhaps somewhere around half the expectancy we have. (This is, of course, due to the overall factors of their lives; not the result of their practices in childbirth.)

Anyway, "natural childbirth," as practiced in hospitals with which I am acquainted, starts months before the birth. The mother is given instruction by which the pelvic muscles more active and erect.

This is not accomplished by wishful thinking, and not accomplished overnight. It takes some regularity of proper exercise.

And in the birth itself (according to what I am familiar with) if a modest amount of aesthesis is advisable, it is given.

I can't go along with the old tremist view that "natural childbirth" means going back to the "good old days" when a needless pain is "good for people"; very many than a can believe that cholera, famine earthquakes and war are "good for people" and that "pain is pain are "natural."

She has ceased to think of style,
Now her pudgy hands are red,
But she still retains her smile
Though the charms of youth have fled.

Time was, not so long ago,
That her husband called her fair
And his love was glad to show;
Now he slumbers in his chair.

Do you think his love has died?
That he sights for what is past
And in her has lost all pride
Since her beauty couldn't last?

Not at all. He still is true.
Arm in arm they wander out.
Time has walloped him a few;
Now he's bent and bald and stout.

Curling Season Will Close With Annual Meeting

The curling season will be concluded tonight at the club rooms of the Quinte Curling Club, when the annual meeting of the club will be held. Reports will be given by the president, William Geall; the treasurer, "Jerry" Jarrett, and those in charge of various committees formed throughout the year.

It is understood the financial report will show the club had another outstanding season and that all facilities of the club were conducted on a high plane. As far as curling was concerned the members enjoyed a most successful season and many honors have already been brought to this young club. The curlers, who started for the first time, when the club was formed, have progressed admirably and in the years to come the Quinte Club will be one to be reckoned with in the many bonspiels around the district.

The election of officers will be the main item on the agenda and only by turning out and expressing your views can the club hope to keep up its fine record. A varied program has been arranged and every member that can possibly be on hand should attend. There will be the usual social hour after the meeting.

Major A, Classic Bowling Leagues Close Season With Dinner-Dance

Two top bowling leagues of the city met in a social "bout" at the K. of C. Hall last night—and the result was a "draw."

The Major "A" League and its newly-born counterpart, the Quinte Classic League, both personalities, prizes and pretty girls into a dinner-dance social whole that was the last word in enjoyment.

Art Atkin, popular president of the Major "A" circuit, chaired the dinner with Jim McKenzie, well known bowler, chairman of the Quinte circuit, giving topflight assistance.

Since both are top keglers and members of high-ranking teams, the head table two-man presentation conclave at times had the earmarks of a mutual admiration society.

However, it was a grand party. There was the conventional tasty turkey dinner, prizes, awards, trophies and other presents, a delightful variety show and dancing to the rhythms of Harmny MacDonald's orchestra.

To the victors went the bowling spoils.

The Belle Cleaners, champions of the Major "A" League, were presented with the Carling Trophy and individual mugs by Harry Ridley, district representative of the company. Team captain Joe Cassell, seasoned veteran of many a stout bowling battle, received the trophy while his champions, Les Lennox, Harry Ridley, Art Atkin and Lee Turner accepted the personal awards. The team also received handsome ashtrays donated by T.-A. Carruthers.

In turn, Mr. McKenzie presented the victors' awards in the form of the Bowl-O-Drome trophy and a substantial cheque to the Quinte Classic League champions, Murray's Sea Foods, through their captain, Art Atkin. The Bata Shoe team was given the consolation prize, Boulton's Sunoco received the second-place prize.

Lloyd's Cleaners won the Major "A" playoff award, with Station Street Merchants and Seeley's Clippers running second and third.

A special award of a handsome bowling bag was given Phil Loft who rolled the fantastic triple of 1161 during the season.

High triple honors in the Major "A" went to Al Dever with a score of 918. Les Lennox took the high single prize with a 418 with Jim McKenzie getting the high average award with a 235.

Some of the Murray Sea Foods Quinte champions, Art Atkin, Phil Philp, Phil Loft, Ron Saylor and Harry Ridley figured in the individual awards. Saylor copped the high average award with 246; Philp the high four-string with a 1,223 and Doug Hull and Jack Canning shared high single honors with scores of 379.

Special gifts were given to the lading present who also received "surprise" bags containing many useful household articles. Many draws were made during the evening, while handsome prizes were given as spot dance awards.

Highlighting the affair was the comedy floor show with the versatile Jack Fitzgerald stealing the limelight with his ability as a pantomimic and comedian.

A comedy "four-bowler" quartet garbed in barber-shop apparel got the show away then Fitzgerald gave his comedy routine, "The Message" hilarious satire on "Little Bo Peep".

Another uproarious comedy skit "This is Your Life" featuring Graham Seeley in the "victim" role and Jim McKenzie as the narrator followed but it was left to Fitzgerald's pantomime to bring down the house. The quartet with community singing rounded out an entertaining program.

Bill Vermilyea Wins Quinte Harrier Race

Bill Vermilyea, a grade nine student, topped a field of 35S yesterday in the annual running of the Quinte Secondary School Harrier Race.

Vermilyea outdistanced all opponents, many of them much older, by navigating the 3 1-3 miles in 13 minutes and 17 seconds. Alex McNaught, grade 11, took second place, close on Vermilyea's heels, with a time of 13.21. Doug Dafoe, also a grade 11 student, finished third.

The grand total of 355 boys is 85 per cent of the school's male enrolment and all those taking part receive points toward their school letter.

Winners are also named in the different grade brackets. Bill Green topped the grade 12 and 13 students, Alex McNaught was first for grade 11, Lawrence Boyle for grade 10 and Bill Vermilyea for grade nine.

The winning form was G 10 C with 219 points. I 9 piled up 196 points and G 11 C 182 points.

A trophy was presented to the winning form and all individual winners received cups.

Residents in County Home Lowest for Some Time

The number of residents in the Hastings County Home is now the lowest for some time and is 20 below the number at the corresponding period a year ago. There are now 353 residents in the home, 106 male and 97 female with 56 being from the city of Belleville.

Home superintendent Kenneth York told county council yesterday that for the first time in many months there were now vacant rooms at the home and suggested that now was the time for reeves to get in applications for their really deserving cases.

Otherwise when winter again approaches the home will again be filled to capacity.

Council was told that the Ontario Department of Welfare was now asking for a higher ratio of infirmary and special care beds in old people's homes. Actually he said the Hastings home, although only a few years old, was built backwards. Instead of 150 ambulatory beds and 50 infirmary beds, the ratio should have been the other way.

The county home report read by committee chairman Ray Hannah showed a gross expenditure of $180,065.15 at the home last year with a revenue of $106,640.11, leaving a net cost of $31,425.04 for operation. There were 74,754 patient days with the gross cost per patient day being $2.11.

28 NOT ELIGIBLE

He said the fact that 28 patients at the home were not eligible for old age assistance pensions resulted in a higher net cost than would otherwise be the case.

Operation of the county home farm showed a profit during the year. Revenue from the farm totalled $15,867.45 with expenditures set at $11,242.27.

County Warden J. N. Brown noted that the Ontario Department of Welfare was asking that home superintendents live otherwise than at the home. He said it was being found that when superintendents "lived in" there was a tendency for them to be on 24-hour duty each day and this was not considered fair.

Mr. York said that throughout Ontario county homes about 50 per cent of the superintendents lived out and he would like to gain more information as to how this was working out before making any change.

"What is best for the old people is of most importance," he said.

Of such is the Kingdom . . .

Yes, even ragged, half-starved children, scarred by neglect or ill-treatment . . . of them, too, the Master spoke when He said:
"Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

In the havens, homes and hospitals of The Salvation Army, waifs like these receive loving care. Healed in body and spirit, they are given the prospect of a happy future.

You can have a share in restoring men, women and children to healthy and useful living, through such works of mercy. Your contribution will bring the glow of happiness to your heart too.

The understanding heart and the human touch

Give from the heart.

LEGION EUCHRE

Last evening the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held their weekly euchre in the Legion Hall with 11 tables in play. Favors went to, ladies, Mrs. Chapman; Mrs. M. Pearce; Mrs. M. McCann; men, E. Pringle; Mrs. Lou Quirt; tie between Mr. Mason and Bill Clare.

St. Andrew's W.G. Enjoys Travelogue

The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Guild was held on Tuesday evening with Mrs. H. G. MacKay in the chair.

Mrs. D. Kane read the Scripture taken from Psalm 94. The group leaders reported on the future activities of the groups which included home decorating demonstration, three teas and several banquets.

The speaker for the evening, Miss Kay Homan, was introduced by Mrs. Gatehouse.

Miss Homan, as a representative of the Junior Farmers of Hastings County, toured the British Isles and a beautiful travelogue was presented, accompanied by a most interesting commentary.

Edinburgh Castle was magnificent as well as the botanical gardens of Scotland, showing the vivid and brilliant colors of the rhododendron. Other flowers were shown which included azaleas, trilliums, delphinium of every shade, begonias and tuplips.

The animals as typical and so colorful included black-face sheep; highland cow; pony, also birds, ravens, pigeons and swans, talking, as well as the countryside and farm lands and the busy city streets.

Scenes of Loch Lomond, home of Robert Burns, Loch Ness, Grant's Cmnower, Buckingham Palace, Trafalgar Square, St. Paul's Cathedral and Piccadilly Square were also enjoyed.

Miss Homan returned home on the Empress of France after two and one half months vacation in England, Ireland and Scotland.

A sincere vote of thanks was extended by Miss N. Bell.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Ryan's group of Parley Avenue.

Following the meeting, a home bake sale was held by the Mothers' Auxiliary of the 19th Cub Pack of St. Andrew's under the convenorship of the president, Mrs. W. Cook.

YOUNG OFFENDER

RICHMOND, England (CP)—A 15-year-old boy was fined 10 shillings when he pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly. A policeman told juvenile court the boy had been drinking cider and was "very drunk."

Medical Aux. Plans Future Activities

The W.A. to the Hastings and Prince Edward Medical Society held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Elliott with the president, Mrs. Ken Douglas, officiating.

Final arrangements were made for the forthcoming "Daffodil Spring Tea and Fashion Show," which takes place in May in Bridge Street United Church parlors.

It was decided that Mrs. K. Douglas would act as spokesman in an interview requested by Harriet Stevens to be heard over CJBQ in the near future. This is to inform the public of the purpose and aims of this recently-formed auxiliary.

Mrs. F. Ross was named delegate to the W.A. section of the Ontario Medical Association convention to be held in Toronto in May.

A social half hour brought the meeting to a close.

Madame Soong Ching-ling Non-Communist, Holds High Post in Red Chinese Govt.

By RONALD FARQUHAR

PEIPING (Reuters)—A beautiful American-educated woman, a non-Communist and sister-in-law of Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek, has risen to the second highest position in Communist China.

She is 56 - year - old Madame Soong Ching - ling, a smartly groomed graduate of Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn., who recently was elected one of the two vice-chairmen of the Chinese People's Republic.

She is the first woman and non-Communist to reach such high state position in mainland China. She served as one of the six vice-chairmen in the first government formed by the Communists when they came to power in 1949.

A short woman whose pale, untinted face is framed by jet-black hair combed severely back, Mme. Soong looks much younger than her 56 years.

WIDOW OF SUN YAT-SEN

She once was a member of the Kuomintang (Nationalist) party, but now has no known party affiliation. Although not a Communist, her public pronouncements endorse the party line and recently she wrote an article in the official party newspaper hailing China's achievements under communism and denouncing the Tibetan rebellion.

She is the widow of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, who founded the first Chinese republic in 1911, and sister of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

Her father was educated in the United States and after becoming a prosperous businessman on his return to China, he sent his daughter to receive American schooling when she was only 14.

After graduating from Wesleyan University she returned to China as a secretary to Sun Yat-sen and married him when she was 29 and he had been forced to flee China to Japan.

An ardent Methodist—she does not profess any religion now—and a lofty idealist on her return from North America, she joined in her husband's revolutionary movement against the Manchu dynasty.

She was widowed only 10 years after her marriage, and there were no children. She then drew away from her family and the Nationalists and preached close collaboration with the Soviet Union and social justice for China's masses.

Later she spent two years in Russia, organized nursing facilities behind the Japanese lines in the Chinese-Japanese war, and has moved up steadily in the state's heirarchy since the Communists came to power in 1949.

The appointment of two vice-chairman instead of one is a new departure for Peiping. The other vice-chairman is Tung Pi-wu, a 73-year-old veteran Communist who was known for his moderate views in the days when he was a liaison officer with the Nationalists during the Japanese war.

Like Mme. Soong, he is familiar with North American life from the time he spent in San Francisco as China's representative at the 1945 conference which set up the United Nations.

Wedding

BARRIE — TWIDDY

On April 11th a quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Knowlton United Church parsonage, Stirling, when Margaret Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Twiddy, Harold, was united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony to Gordon William, only son of Mrs. Margaret Barrie, Harold and The Rev. W. G. Fletcher officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a navy suit, white picture hat and accessories with corsage of red roses. She carried a white Bible with fall-of-the valley and streamers.

The bridesmaid, Miss Patricia Fraser, wore a blue dress suit, white hat and accessories and corsage of white roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Donald Brady, of Ormsby. Only the immediate family were in attendance.

The happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Niagara Falls and around Lake Ontario. On their return, they will reside in Stirling.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower by her friends at Simpson-Sears, Trenton, where she is employed, and the home of Mrs. Olive Nicholson.

The Misses Jean and Carol Sine entertained in her honor at a miscellaneous shower by her girl friends at Minto.

Bridge St. C.C. Displays Items Of Handicraft

On Monday evening the Coronation Club of Bridge St. United Church held its April meeting. The president, Mrs. E. B. Lochlin, welcomed the visitors and members and introduced one new member.

The devotions were under the direction of Mrs. T. Brown and her group. Mrs. M. White read the Scripture with the meditation given by Mrs. J. Ross.

During the business meeting several reports were given and two letters were read.

Mrs. Lochlin thanked Mrs. J. B. Leslie and Mrs. W. G. McGee for convening the "High Tea" banquet, and Mrs. F. F. Taylor, Mrs. M. J. Daley and Mrs. C. Bristol for managing the bake table.

DISPLAY HANDICRAFTS

Mrs. Brown introduced the guests for the evening, Mrs. Davies, Mrs. Gilroy, Mrs. McCreary and Mrs. Summers, members of the Arts and Crafts Club, who demonstrated and displayed their handicrafts.

Mrs. Davies explained the various methods whereby a piece of raw clay can be transformed into beautiful ceramic objects. She also described the glazing and firing processes, noting that glazing is an art in itself.

Mrs. Gilroy showed several lovely pieces of hand weaving and demonstrated on a box loom.

Carved and tooled leather purses, wallets and belts were shown by Mrs. McCreary. A partially completed handbag evoked much interest as did a baby's pair of pink shoes.

Mrs. Summers displayed a wide selection of needlecraft items ranging from jewelry to table trays. Both copper and aluminum pieces were shown, some had been etched while others were tooled or hammered.

ITEMS DISPLAYED

All the items were left on display for closer inspection at the close of the meeting.

With the closing of the meeting the bake table became a busy place and was rapidly sold out.

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Brown's group.

Mrs. C. E. Burley Heads Pr. Chas. H-S Assoc.

The annual meeting of the Queen Mary Prince Charles Home and School Association was held recently in Prince Charles School.

Mrs. C. E. Burley gave a report of the Ontario Federation Convention she had attended in Toronto with another delegate and thanked the association for the opportunity of attending.

Mrs. R. Jones, president of the Belleville District Home and School Council, spoke to those present and urged them to stand behind their executive and to help in every way possible.

The new executive for 1959-60 was introduced and installed by Mrs. R. Jones as follows: president — Mrs. C. E. Burley; 1st vice president — Mrs. R. Taylor; 2nd vice president — Mrs. G. Wonnacott; treasurer — Mr. J. Andrews; rec. sec. — Mrs. G. Ling; corr. sec. — Mrs. P. Till; executive — Mrs. L. Sullivan, Mrs. B. Clarke, Mrs. J. Goettler, Mrs. D. Fisher, Mrs. M. Wiley.

Following the installation Mrs. C. E. Burley presided for the remainder of the meeting during which she presented Mr. W. Lowen with a past president's pin.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The last April meeting of the Women of the Moose was held in the Moose Hall, Victoria Avenue with Senior Regent Gladys Ritch presiding.

A new member was favourably balloted on.

A thank-you note from Alma Bailey for gifts during her recent illness was read, also a letter from Mrs. Rollins inviting the members to attend a meeting of the White Cane Club to be held at the Y.M.C.A.

The meeting was brought to a close with penny bingo and refreshments served by Audrey Donnelly's committee.

The draw, donated by Alice Livingston, was won by Audrey Donnelly.

The euchre that was to be held at Gladys Ritch's on the 30th has been postponed until May 7.

APPEAL DISMISSED

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Court of Appeal Wednesday dismissed an appeal by Edwin (Eddie) McDonald, 35, against a conviction last November for possession of narcotics for trafficking. Tried in the fall of 1957, he was convicted and sentenced to seven years. He also got a year for jumping bail.

81st Birthday Marked by Turkey Dinner

MARMORA — A family gathering and birthday party was held on Sunday for Mrs. Cyrus Henderson with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sopha, as host and hostess at a turkey dinner complete with birthday cake.

She was presented with flowers and gifts.

Her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clark and Mrs. Leona Lashmuir, of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Sopha and children, Phillip and Patricia; Mrs. Stella Cairns, her sister and intimate friends, were present who, with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sopha and family completed the party.

Mrs. Henderson, nee Cynthia Tompkins) was born in the village, 81 years ago on April 27th and has the distinction of being the oldest native-born inhabitant and one who has spent all her life here.

On Monday she received several visitors, gifts and cards. Mrs. Henderson is in command of all her faculties and enjoys a game of euchre with her friends.

A New Idea In Chicken Pies

by Mary Moore

Trying to act like the little woman who wasn't there in front of the meat counter in a supermarket I listened to the comments between husbands and wives. Time after time they reluctantly passed from the high-priced beef section to the bargain special chickens.

Bruce, my naighbor, is a farm machinery block salesman. Dutch is one of his big dealers. They both tell me that many of their chicken-raising customers expanded too much and are threatened with, or trying to absorb, losses. That is why chickens are so inexpensive. But whether they are selling currently at a small profit or none or a loss the raisers need us desperately to consume them.

I have a lovely new chicken idea for you — very different — that I hope every reader of this column will try for Sunday dinner or for a buffet party or a special weekday dinner. At city prices in the third week in April this costs around $1.50 and serves 5 or 6.

CHICKEN PIE SAVORY

Filling:

Raw white meat from 3 chicken breasts (they cost 95c and I used the bones for soup) or 1 lb. raw chicken meat from other parts of chicken or veal, 1-3 cup each chopped onion and celery, 1-2 slice whole wheat or white bread, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup skim milk, 1-3 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 1 chicken bouillon cube, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley. Top and Bottom: Three egg yolks, 1 cup commercial sour cream (where sour cream is unavailable buttermilk may be used, but don't substitute unless you have to), 2-3 cup unsifted all-purpose flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3 egg whites, 1 2-3 cups shredded old Cheddar cheese. Put raw chicken breast meat through medium knife of grinder. Follow it through with the onion and celery and follow them with the 1-2 slice of bread to clean the machine. Saute all in the butter stirring until meat is seared, then reduce heat and cook gently 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt and pepper and simmer 15 minutes longer covered. Add parsley and remove from heat. Beat together the egg yolks, sour cream, flour and 1-2 teaspoon salt until batter is smooth. Beat whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Turn a little more than half of this batter into well-buttered deep 9 or 10-inch pie plate. Sprinkle half of the cheese over it and bake 10 minutes at 400 deg. F. Remove from oven and spread chicken mixture over evenly. Carefully pour remaining batter over and sprinkle that with remaining cheese. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer, or until golden and firmish. (If desired heat may be reduced to 350 deg. for final baking period.) Serve piping hot cut into 5 or 6 wedges, accompanied by crisp green salad. Or for a summer supper serve ice cold cut into 12 wedges.

Rosalyn J. — My husband and I are having a controversy about how to deal with a certain couple who are friends of ours.

We have known the F's for three years and have enjoyed their company very much. But I am constantly being embarrassed by the fact that Mr. F. pays me too many compliments — especially in a way that is hurting to his wife.

For example, Mr. F. will say, "You look gorgeous tonight." Then he'll turn to his wife and say, "Why don't you get a dress like that? No, maybe you should not. It wouldn't look like that on you."

I feel awful about this because Mrs. F. is a swell person and I don't want to lose her friendship. I want my husband to tell Mr. F. to cut it out, but he doesn't want to get "mixed up" in this thing.

Gerald J. — I know this guy F. like a book and I'm 100 per cent sure that if I talk to him about this thing he'll take it that I'm jealous.

Not only would I hate to give him the satisfaction of thinking that, but I'm afraid it will make matters worse. He'll then think that Rosalyn has become interested in him and will really make a play for her.

I feel that Mrs. F. is much smarter than her husband and is too shrewd to take his silly blustering seriously. She always agrees with her husband that Roz looks great and never shows any jealousy.

I think that Roz takes these compliments a little too seriously. This guy isn't a bad sort and doesn't mean anything by it. I think maybe I should start paying Mrs. F. a lot of compliments.

* * *

The Council: We think Gerald is right not to want to rock this boat by having it out with Mr. F. But we don't think his alternative proposal is much good either.

Mrs. F. is apparently not only smart, but is a lady. She does not stoop to even acknowledge her husband's boorishness. The kindest thing everyone else can do is to follow her example.

We can't blame Rosalyn for being annoyed, however. When a man indulges in heavy-handed compliments to another woman at his wife's expense, he is using the other woman as a weapon against his wife. He isn't even making a serious "pass" at the other woman. He is expressing some sense of helplessness and confusion in relation to his wife and possibly in relation to women in general.

This kind of conduct is embarrassing to others because it so obviously brings a personal problem and domestic conflict into public view. The simplest thing for others to do is to look the other way.

Whatever Mrs. F. feels deeply and privately about her husband's behaviour, she knows that cutting off friendships with others would be no solution. Possibly she hopes that someday her husband will wise up and realize how small and foolish he is making himself in the eyes of others. At that time he may even be willing to face his real problems and conflicts.

For the time being Mrs. F. has apparently decided to accept the fact that in her marriage along with the good, Rosalyn and Gerald should try to do the same with the friendship. Rosalyn should politely thank Mr. F. for a compliment, and quickly change the subject.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: DO "MENTION IT"

"Don't mention it" is a graceless way to reply to a person's "thank you." Why not "mention it? The good traditional reply is still the appropriate one, viz: . . . "You're welcome" or "You're very welcome." Or, on occasion, such a pleasant acknowledgement as "You're so very welcome, Betty. I was delighted to be able to be of help."

MAY GROOM'S FATHER WEAR TUXEDO?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My brother is to be married very soon; a church ceremony, to be followed by a dinner in a restaurant. Would it be proper for my father to wear a tuxedo at the wedding? I was under the impression that the bride's father, but not the bridegroom's father, wears a tuxedo at the wedding.

—A.

Customarily and correctly the bridegroom's father, since he is the man guest of honor at the wedding, wears the same type of attire that is worn by the bride's father, the host of the wedding. At a semi-formal evening church wedding the groom, best man, ushers, the father of the bride and the father of the groom may properly wear tuxedos (dinner jackets) . . . but of course a tuxedo should never be worn at a wedding that takes place before 6 o'clock in the evening, at the very earliest.

SHE SHOULD RETURN EX-FIANCE'S GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister had been "going steady" with a very fine young man for two years before he was sent for Army service in Germany. She has told me that they really became engaged just before he left. Very soon after his arrival there he began to send her beautiful items and other lovely things for their future home. Several months ago she went to a dance, met a young man, began a friendship with him, and now is refusing even to see her former fiance who has just returned from Germany.

My mother is outraged that she obstinately refuses to return any of the gifts her ex-fiance sent her, stubbornly insists they were sent to her and she intends to keep them. I agree with our mother. Are we right that my sister should return these presents? My sister always reads your column, and we'd appreciate your publishing your opinion.

— Sister

Certainly I agree with you and your mother that your sister's former fiance gave these presents to her as engagement presents, actually as items for their future home. Since this engagement no longer exists, and since obviously there will be no plans for their home together, your sister should have the decency to return these presents. I should think she would want the man to whom she was formerly engaged to have some respect for her.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S P.C.

GILEAD — The April meeting of the Friendship Guild of St. Andrew's, Gilead, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Huffman with a good attendance.

Mrs. Gerald Livingston was in charge of the worship service and used as her theme "Our Father Which Art In Heaven".

The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Minnie Livingston; the meditation by Mrs. Embury and a reading by Ruby Pound, "Sacrament of Prayer".

Mr. Carman Huffman took charge of the business part of the meeting. The next meeting is to be held at the school on May 13th.

Mr. Earle Ross gave a report for the committee in charge of building a hall.

A guitar selection was given by Bruce Swan; Lolra Livingston conducted a Bible Quiz and contest.

The ladies served lunch and a social time was spent.

RAWDON

Hold Party For Couple Recently Wed

RAWDON — Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bristol were tendered a present-ation party at Springbrook following their recent marriage. Mrs. Bristol was formerly Mrs. E. Graham, of Toronto.

The Rev. H. E. Beare was chairman and solos were sung by Miss Linda Wellman, Master Gary Bateman, and Mr. Murney Bateman. Misses Muriel and Shirley McMullen sang a duet and Miss Muriel Mumby played an accordion solo. Selections were read by Mrs. Clayton Bus-kitt and Mrs. S. G. Meikeljohn.

Mrs Mumby read an appreci-ative address and Mrs. G. Broad-worth and Mrs. M. Mason pre-sented the couple with a tri-lite floor lamp and electric fry pan.

The recipients expressed their thanks after which the ladies served refreshments and all en-joyed a social half hour.

Deseronto

GRASS FIRES

DESERONTO — Sunday af-ternoon a series of grass fires about the town kept the fire department on the jump for a few hours. The first call was to the property north of the can-ning factory where the grass was blazing merrily. After bringing that fire under con-trol, the firemen noticed smoke rolling from the Candak pro-perty and proceeded there to subdue another grass fire. Shortly thereafter they were called to Summerside Inn where a bonfire was out of control. About five-thirty they were called to the White Rose ser-vice station where burning rub-bish had started a grass fire was threatening the station. About seven o'clock they had to put out another blaze on West Main Street. Fortunately there was no damage to any property other than the burned grass.

EUCHRE PARTY

Under the auspices of the Ladies of Christ Church, Tyen-inaga, a euchre party was held at the new school on Fri-day evening of last week. There was a good crowd in attend-ance, and some spirited play was seen.

Following the games, refresh-ments were served by the com-mittee in charge.

The winners, ladies — Mrs. George Smart, Mrs. Stan Brant, Mrs. R. Henson; men — Wil-liam Conley, Huron Brant, Lloyd Brant. The lone hand prize was won by Mrs. George Smart and the door prize by Lloyd Brant.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Pear-son and family and Mr. E. Pearson of Edenville, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. K. N. Leavitt, of West Flamboro, were in town on business the early part of the week.

The Rev. Canon Coleman is a patient at the Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. Everett Martin spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Martin, Green Street. Everett who has been a guard at the Don jail in To-ronto for the past 11 years was last week promoted to the rank of sergeant.

Mrs. Leopold Valiquette left last weekend for Montreal where the family will reside in the future.

Mrs. T. A. Rogers has return-ed to her home here after spending the winter months in Oakville.

Mrs. Wesley Joyce has return-ed to her home on Green St. af-ter spending the winter with her daughter and son-in-law at Whitby.

Mr. and Mrs. Leburn Thomp-son and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dowen spent the weekend in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Caron and children, of Toronto, visited with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard French and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Van Alstyne and, daughter, Meg, of Belleville, were callers in town on Saturday.

Mr. Fred Caron has returned home after spending the winter with relatives in Montmagny, Quebec.

Mr. William Allan is a pa-tient at General Hospital, King-ston.

Mrs. Walter Hill and Terry, of Hamilton, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Ida Brant and family.

Tweed

TWEED — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tripp, of Montreal, spent sever-al days visiting Mrs. Tripp's par-ents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Orbell and son, David, of Peterborough, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Mack Wilson, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lemon, of Toronto, visited with Mrs. Lemon's mother, Mrs. G. C. Barnet, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Wright, of To-ronto, spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, of Toronto, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hall

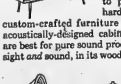
THE ELECTROHOME CAPRICE—Canada's newest stereophonic high fidelity FM/AM radio phonograph combination; priced within every budget

If you love music . . . if you expect to hear the full range of high fidelity . . . then YOU will be looking and listening for your idea of what stereo ought to be. Look for the name Electrohome, the Canadian name you know and trust . . . then listen to the new Caprice. What you hear will be the beginning of a new world of musical appreciation—true stereo high fidelity. And the best of it is, that this stereo-FM/AM radio phonograph combination is engineered in Canada by Canadians to cost you hundreds of dollars less than your ears would ever let you believe!



The changer—essentially the finest made. A specially developed, Garrard 4-speed stereophonic changer is de-signed to play both twin-track stereo records and all other types. A diamond stylus for stereo and long-play and a sapphire 78 stylus provide outstanding long-life performance. Muting and pause switches are included.

The price, top value, if ever you've heard it! Hear Electrohome true stereophonic high fidelity . . . see its hand-crafted Deilcraft cabinet . . . tune in FM/AM reception "loud and clear"—and you'll know how low the Caprice is priced for all it offers. If you love music, now is the time to live it. See your Electrohome Dealer and hear the result of sound design in stereo. With complete FM/AM and 5-control stereo system, the new Caprice combina-tion is the stereo buy of the year. Priced slightly lower with AM tuner only.

$399.50

The cabinet—in stereo, more important than ever. The undistorted, instrument-pure sound you hear from an Electrohome Caprice owes its beginnings to perfectly cured, solid fitting, fully seasoned hardwood. From long experience, Deilcraft, the custom-crafted furniture Division of Electrohome, has proved that acoustically-designed cabinets built from the finest imported hardwoods are best for pure sound production. The beauty of a Caprice cabinet is in sight and sound, in its wood and in its timbre!

The sound—you can focus it, control it fully. An Electrohome Caprice goes be-yond basics to offer you true, full-range stereo reproduction. A powerful dual-channel amplifier feeds two separate three-speaker systems, each consisting of a large, high compliance "woofer" and a coaxial mid-range speaker with a built-in "tweeter." The result is rich, realistic sound in three dimensions. Controls are fully compre-hensive, including angular adjustments for speaker-focusing.

The specifications—If you know stereo, this is it! DIMENSIONS & FINISHES—48" wide, 31" high, 17½" deep. Finished in Walnut, Mahogany, Autumn Leaf Mahogany, Light Oak and lustrous Swedish Walnut. CHASSIS —8 tube AM or 10 tube FM/AM dual channel stereo. FREQUENCY RANGE—50-15,000 c.p.s. CONTROLS—(1) On-off treble tone (2) Bass tone (3) Balance-tone clutch-type control balances output from each speaker system and controls loudness (4) Selector Switch—five-position FM/AM, four-position AM selects tuner, monaural phono, stereo, stereo reverse (5) Tuner, CHANGER—Garrard 4-speed automatic and manual. Diamond microgroove and sapphire 78 R.P.M. stylii. SPEAKERS—One 8" P.M. high compliance woofer and a mounted 6" coaxial mid-range with built-in tweeter permitting angular adjustment in each of two acoustically treated enclosures.

Battle Lines in Manitoba Election More Sharply Drawn Than Since First War Days

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Robin Robin's rise to power as leader of the Progressive Conservative government in Manitoba has gone hand in hand with a revival of hot political partisanship.

As the parties prepare for the provincial general election May 14 battle lines are more sharply drawn than they have been since the days of the First World War.

The CCF party claims there is no basic difference between the ruling Conservatives and the Liberal-Progressives who were defeated June 16, 1958. However differences have widened during the last year with the Conservatives advocating more spending and the Liberal-Progressives supporting a tight grip on the strings of the public purse.

PREMIER'S VIEW

Mr. Robin has contended, in effect, that the province must spend money to make money from its resources. The enlarged spending program, started and planned by his minority government in its first nine months, reflected this view.

Former premier D. L. Campbell, who heads the Liberal-Progressive party, claimed that the premier "was inclined to take his government with him and go too far too fast." The public should be made "conscious" so that electors would know they were paying for government programs.

The premier has campaigned on a platform of building a "modern Manitoba" while Mr. Campbell has called for a "sane, progressive government prepared to give attention to the standard of the times."

The CCF has a 10-point platform, including assurances of aid for farmers and a better deal for labor, more public ownership, health insurance and higher wages on government projects.

Mr. Robin has drawn Liberal-Progressive fire by expanding the civil service to handle the enlarged government role he envisages.

These basic differences are reminiscent of the early days of the province, founded in 1870.

1958 ELECTION

Prof. William Morton of the University of Manitoba said in a history of the province that the first partisan political election was fought in 1888. The Conservative government of Premier John Norquay gave way to a Liberal regime headed by Premier T. Greenway in 1888. The Conservatives came back in 1900 and spent 15 years in office under the leadership of Sir Rodmond Roblin, grandfather of the present premier.

The Liberals under Premier T. C. Norris held office until 1922, although in November were a minority of 21 in the 53-seat house after an election in 1920.

Party lines blurred as a result of the 1922 vote, when the basically non-political United Farmers of Manitoba took 27 seats in the legislature. They enlisted John Bracken as leader.

The farm representatives, who became known as the Progressive group, were matched in strength by the combined strength of seven Liberals, six Conservatives, six Labor members and eight independents. The varied representation in the legislature continued after an election in 1927, with the Progressives taking 27 seats and the combined opposition, headed by the Conservatives with 13.

The Liberals withdrew from politics in 1928 and the Liberals and the Bracken Progressives gradually formed the Liberal-Progressive party that still exists, in 1930. The Liberal-Progressives as a party won 23 seats against 21 for the opposition, but with the support of five Social Creditners the group retained power.

The alignment held, then there was no clear-cut government and opposition in the legislature reached a peak after 1945, when all four parties backed a coalition government by the Liberal-Progressives.

Although the first Labor member was elected to the legislature in 1915, the CCF as such did not become a force in Manitoba until the 1930s. Since then it has been the third party on the provincial political scene.

The coalition started to break up in 1945, when the CCF pulled out. The Conservatives departed in 1950, leaving two of their members to sit as Progressive Conservatives while the Liberals carried on as a minority government.

Mr. Roblin entered the picture in 1954 when he won the Progressive Conservative leadership. He has been credited with picking the party up by the scruff of the neck almost singlehandedly and putting it on the road to power, after being opposed to the Liberal-Progressive regime.

Mr. Campbell received the idea that the government should lead, rather than follow the electorate. He attacked the Liberals following.

Attorney-general Sterling Lyon took the case straight in a campaign speech: "A government must march with public opinion and not follow public opinion like a dog on a leash—to the leadership of Sir Rodmond

Monty Must Impress Nikita, Going to Have Second Visit

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery is speaking as bluntly to the Russians as he did to the Americans he must be having a lively visit to Moscow.

Moscow reports indicate that the celebrated soldier has duly impressed Premier Khrushchev who took the unusual step of agreeing to meet "Monty"—travelling as a private citizen—two days in a row.

And Montgomery seemed to be handling himself with his customary good cheer and aplomb, saying he and Khrushchev were getting "everything."

Things weren't so happy in London officialdom, where the Foreign Office was said to be aghast at an hour-long Montgomery interview televised in the United States and Canada Wednesday night.

LONDON WORRIES

One London newspaper said the talkative war leader's comments would "make the average American" in New York, the interview stirred much interest although no "muddled" reaction was apparent—not right away anyway.

The interview, carried by the Columbia Broadcasting System, probably would have had even more impact except that many of Montgomery's criticisms already were familiar from his recent book on the Second World War and from numerous newspaper articles.

Speaking from the standpoint of public interest and entertainment the program was regarded as a distinct success, and Montgomery's clipped manner of delivery was effective. Says the New York Times television critic:

"He was an extraordinary television program — utterly absorbing in its provocativeness, refreshing in its candor and fascinating in its personalization of history."

American television has frequently been lambasted for a saccharine approach to controversial subjects, so that to hear an important figure speak out forcibly was a delight in itself.

The field marshal must have been a big hit in Moscow, as on the coast when he said President Eisenhower, John Foster Dulles and Christian Herter, who succeeded Dulles as state secretary, "are not awfully well."

Montgomery drew a clear distinction between professional and personal criticism, then chuckled as he added:

"But of course, suffer from both. I don't mind. I rather enjoy it, actually."

NO RECRUITS

He didn't win recruits to his American fan club when, in enumerating British's qualifications for leadership, said:

"It's a question of wisdom, and you've got to remember that in handling world problems the British have the experience of centuries, the U.S. has the experience of decades, and I would say that you have quite a bit to learn."

Montgomery said the peoples of Europe are fundamentally distrustful both Britons and Americans—the Americans because they waited a long time before entering either of the world wars.

Asked if a new "rough-house" to Europe, "American blood must be shed on the first day."

He (the European) often said that to me, and I said—well, I would shed some blood on the first shot."

The 71-year-old soldier continued, laughing, "I'll shoot one myself—shoot one myself."

Struck by Car

TORONTO (CP)—An unidentified man was struck and killed by a car Wednesday night while crossing a downtown street during a rainstorm. He was Metropolitan Toronto's 27th traffic fatality this year, compared to 32 at this time last year.

Drivers Killed In Collision Near Woodstock

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Two persons were killed and four critically injured Wednesday night in a head - on collision two miles west of here on Highway 2.

Dead are Gerrard Caron, 39, of Woodstock, and William Habkirk, 39, resident of the Woodstock YMCA. Both were drivers of the cars involved in the accident.

In serious condition, in hospital are Mrs. Margaret Caron, ebout 30, suffering deep head cuts and undetermined internal injuries, her two sons Reta, 3, and Andre, 10. Both suffered facial cuts and shock and Mary Dafoe, 17, of Woodstock suffered severe shock and undetermined internal injuries. Miss Dafoe was the only passenger in the Habkirk car.

PIONEER NURSE

Jeanne Mance, founder of the Hotel Dieu in Montreal who died in 1673, was the first secular nurse in North America.

PM Launches Biting Attack On Liberal Critics of Bill Of Rights to be Introduced

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday launched a biting attack on Liberal critics of his bill of rights. He maintains they should be a constitutional amendment instead on human rights.

He said the persons who have opposed his attempts through the years to get a bill of rights are "advocates of a constitutional amendment embracing provincial rights as well.

"They know it can't be attained."

The provinces have constitutional jurisdiction over property and civil rights and are "not prepared to go any way in subordinating their rights."

REPLIES TO BRIEF

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke in reply to a brief presented by the Association for Civil Liberties and 33 other national and regional organizations.

The brief itself endorsed the view of a Senate committee in 1950 that protection of human rights should be written into the British North America Act as on all governments in Canada.

But the brief added that "short of a constitutional bill of rights we welcome as an interim measure the adoption by the Dominion Parliament of a Canadian bill of rights act."

The brief was read by Irving Himel of Toronto, executive secretary of the association for Civil Liberties. Among organizations supporting it were the Canadian Labor Congress, the social relations department of the Canadian Council of Churches, the Canadian Jewish Congress, the National Council of Women and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his remarks were not directed at the brief's sponsors although he did not directly name the Liberal party he left no doubt he was attacking itself.

He said those who are "loud in their protestations" for a constitutional amendment belong to "the group" who never brought before Parliament the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights between 1946 when it was adopted and 1957. Those people had said it should not be brought if the declaration's terms infringed on provincial rights.

The prime minister attacked action of the former Liberal government in suspending operation of habeas corpus rights during the 1946 spy investigations. He said that people who took part in those "infringements" of human rights are those who now call for a constitutional amendment.

The prime minister's bill of rights, introduced this session, is scheduled to be debated this session.

Woman Killed

CLAREMONT (CP) — Mrs. Edna Forsythe of Claremont, in her 70s, was killed Wednesday when a car in which she was riding collided with CPR Dayliner at a crossing near here. The car was carried about 1,000 feet down the track.

Mrs. Jane Button of Stouffville driver of the car and Mrs. Forsythe's daughter, suffered shock and bruises.

SHIP FREED

SARNIA (CP)—The Rockport Steamship Company ship John A. Kling was freed seven hours after she became grounded at a dock here Wednesday. Pulled free by a tug, ship Captain Ed Hall, the 500-ton self-unloader grounded in 17 feet of water loaded with 7,000 tons of crushed stone.

Died From Blast In Operating Room Says Jury

HAMILTON (CP)—A coroner's jury has found Mrs. Ruth Hastings, 60, died April 3 as the result of an explosion in an anaesthetic machine while undergoing a minor operation at the general hospital here.

Mr. Mervin Harvey, anaesthetist, testified Mrs. Haslam's two-hour operation was almost complete when it was considered advisable to attach two adapter elbows to the machine which was feeding the patient a mixture of oxygen, nitrous oxide and cyclo propane.

He said the mixture was volatile and explosive.

The force of an explosion at the adapter fittings went through tubes feeding the gas into Mrs. Haslam's lungs.

Dr. Harvey said the technique of attaching elbows is standard and all possible safety precautions are observed. He said a static electric spark could have ignited the gas.

Election Date Will Be Given Mon. Says Paper

TORONTO (CP)—Reports that 5 provincial election will be held June 16 are mere speculation, Premier Frost says.

Ontario election law requires a 27-day interval between the date election writs are issued and voting day. The minimum interval between May 4 and June 11.

June 11 has been picked as the election date since it would allow the premier to announce the election date May 4—the 10th anniversary of the day he became prime minister.

Meanwhile, the province's political parties are busily engaged in preparations for the early vote. Already 138 candidates have been nominated at party conventions to contest the 98 legislature seats and the number is growing daily.

The Liberal party, Progressive Conservative party has nominated 41 ridings to 49 and CCF 39. There are eight Communist Labor-Progressives in the field and one Social Credit Party candidate, a conservative. The Conservatives hold 71 seats in the present house, the Liberals 21 and CCF three. There is one vacancy, in a Progressive Conservative seat.

The Toronto Telegram said Wednesday the government will announce the June 11 election date Monday. It gave no authority for the statement.

In Espanola, Liberal Leader John Masterman said the party would welcome the election and was actively preparing for months.

CCF READY

CCF Leader Donald MacDonald said the party is ready and waiting, intends entering 90 candidates — more than any time since 1943.

"The sooner he (Mr. Frost) holds it, the sooner he'll fall," declared Mr. MacDonald.

Mr. Frost said only that he has been so busy opening public buildings and welcoming ball teams this week he hasn't had a chance to think about an election.

But he added: "I'll determine when time-election is going to be pretty soon."

Past elections would indicate a Thursday election and June 11 falls on Thursday. But, as the matter remains undecided out, the Conservatives "still have a year and a half to go."

Shakespeare's Town Makes Millions Out of Bard But Poet Did Not Acquire Much Money

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England (AP)—William Shakespeare didn't make much money in his hometown but the bald bourgeoisie has made millions out of him.

Three hundred and ninety-five years after his birth, he remains the community's biggest business. He gets bigger every year.

From all over the world visitors pour into this place to swoop upon the scraps of mingled fact and hazy legend connected with the life of perhaps the greatest writer in history.

They jam the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, they pack the hotels, they mob the restaurants, they clutter up the narrow streets, cram the souvenir shops and make the sale of corn plasters for a dozen feet a highly-profitable business.

"We sell more corn plasters than we do Elizabethan blacks, tooth brushes or aspirin," said A. R. Tuley at one of the local drug stores.

"Swotting up on Shakespeare is easy on the head, but hard on the feet."

LITTLE KNOWN

Yet, so little is really known about the poet and playwright that authorities have even argued how he spelled his name. For that matter, Shakespeare doesn't seem to have been a big spender. Paleographers agree that he generally wrote "Shakspere" but there are "cases of his having scribbled it Shaxpere and even Schackspere and Shakespeare."

All the Shakespearean shrines, except one, were created after another that walking seems the obvious method of reaching them. They lie along the Avon and Stathaway's cottage in the nearby village of Shottery. But, even so, rands walk the four miles every year.

They call it a cottage, but it contains 12 rooms, the most impressive of which is the hall. This contains a love seat, or courting settle, on which young Shakespeare is supposed to have indulged in some heavy Elizabethan necking.

History doesn't say that William did his wooing on the straight-backed settle, but Alfred Boker, a descendant of the Hathaways who died in 1699, thought so. She told many people that the very bench was well established in the Hathaway family at the love bench.

After A.P. explained a pretty blonde guide, "they had to go some place to court, and as this was a private place, it seems a natural place."

PROVING LICENCE

Late in 1582—when Shakespeare was 18—a marriage licence was issued in his and Anne Hathaway's name. But try to find a record of the marriage. Over all the years more search has been on.

Shakespeare's schooling? Again no record that he ever attended a school or college. As his father, John Shakespeare, was high bailiff of the town, it seems likely that Shakespeare would have been entitled to a free education at the Stratford Grammar School.

There is other interesting documentary proof of the life about the Shakespeares.

There is record of his father being fined for depositing rubbish on the street outside his house, how the father was also struck off the rolls of city aldermen for neglecting the business of the municipality. And the poet is recorded as once being in arrears in taxes.

But, as his plays succeeded in London, he earned money and even bought property here.

PRETTIEST HOUSE

The house in which the bard was born is one of the prettiest in this pretty town. The upstairs bedroom could be in which he is supposed to have been born is somewhat smaller than any other place. Nowadays, visitors

"Never mind — at least I'll be getting a taste of religion."

CCF Would Pay Education, Welfare Costs

HAMILTON (CP) — Ontario CCF Leader Donald MacDonald Wednesday night indicated his party would relieve property owners of education and welfare costs if elected to power.

He accused Premier Frost of "toying" with the problem of municipal finances and making leader demands for local taxation by introducing more and more services paid only in part by the provincial government.

"As somebody once quipped: 'Mr. Frost governs with a very free hand with spending the municipalities' money for a service that it then proceeds to take great credit for.'"

Mr. MacDonald said a CCF government would sit down with municipalities to determine which services should be taken over by senior governments. Revenue sources would be provided for services left with local governments.

The CCF leader spoke at a political rally in nearby Saltfleet Township where Ross Thorburn is sitting CCF member for Wentworth East in the legislature.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A FENCE CAN MAKE

TO THE APPEARANCE AND VALUE OF YOUR HOME

FENCING COMPLETES THE PICTURE

One of the easiest ways to add practical beauty to your home is to fence your yard. A fence "frames" your home and lot, provides a beautiful backdrop for flowers and shrubs, and draws together the house, the yard, and the garden.

On the practical side, a fence gives your children a defined play area, protects valuable shrubs and plantings, and discourages intruders. A fence adds value to your home, too. It can easily become your best investment from the standpoint of improving your entire homesite.

BEAVER FENCING IS PRE-PLANNED AND DESIGNED FOR EASY ERECTION WITHOUT WASTE

KEMPEX QUICK-BILT PRE-CUT

ATTRACTIVE LOW-BOY
Clean, low-line fence that's a distinctive backdrop for shrubs and flowers. Cuts 6 ft. post 4" x 4" and two rails 1" x 4", per ft. section

SEAWAY'S

Vessel traffic was blocked overnight when the Prescott dropped its anchor to avoid hitting the bridge near Valleyfield, Que., and swung against a canal abutment, jamming eroswise in front of the canal entrance. Mr. Hees said the bridge stalled because of a blown fuse.

Milwaukee Wednesday night celebrating the arrival of the first foreign flagship to lie up at a Lake Michigan port — the Prins Johan Willem Friso, a Dutch freighter. Flowers were dropped from a helicopter, jets flew overhead and sirens screamed in welcome.

Toronto has already seen the arrival of enough ships to cause congestion in the port and longshoremen Wednesday were working at top speed to keep shipping moving. Rain halted loading and unloading the day before.

Harbor workers in Hamilton were predicting that a congestion in Toronto could result in some Toronto-bound ships being diverted to Hamilton.

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposal for an Ottawa River seaway was repeated Wednesday night at the annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Development Association.

Mayor Robert Simpson of Arnprior, association president, said that "if there is an area that lacked the development it should have had, it's Eastern Ontario."

Now is the time to press the association's oft-repeated demand that the Ottawa River be deepened to make it suitable for steamship navigation, he said.

"Now that the St. Lawrence Seaway is open . . . we have a good opportunity to make representations to the Ontario water resources commission."

MONTREAL (CP) — An order of Roman Catholic nuns is suing the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and four seaway contractors for $150,000 damages it says were caused by blasting and draining work.

Les Soeurs des Saints Noms de Jesus et de Marie, owners of a convent and a school in St. Lambert, on the St. Lawrence River's south shore, contends its buildings were damaged severely by seaway authority operations. The group charges that as construction was speeded up as the seaway neared completion, progressively more powerful charges of dynamite were used. It says plaster of walls and ceilings of the two buildings cracked and tumbled, tiled floors were damaged and the foundations weakened.

Contractors named as co-defendants with the seaway authority are: McNamara Construction, Pigot Construction, Peacock Brothers and McQuiggan Limited.

IVANHOE

Safe Driving Rally Held

IVANHOE — Hastings County Federation of Agriculture held a successful safe driving rally in Ivanhoe hall.

The president Philip Harris introduced the guest speaker, Corporal Sears of Madoc Provincial Police detachment.

Corporal Sears said accidents he had investigated during the past five years had brought death to twice as many people as were in the hall. Every accident is caused by carelessness on someone's part. Everyone must be safety minded in order to keep highways safe.

Winners of the safe driving contest were: first prize of $10, Jack Chatten, second of $6, Gerald Reynolds; third of $4, Donna Robinson. These young people are members of the Thurlow Junior Farmers.

Safety films shown were Tom Little Farmers, and Defensive Driving.

Antibiotic Griseofulom Effective for Ringworm

TORONTO — The antibiotic griseofulvin — recently found to be effective in the treatment of ringworm and other fungoid diseases — is now being produced on a large scale under the name 'Grisovin' by Glaxo Laboratories Ltd., Carlow Place, London W.1. (Glaxo Allenburys (Canada) Ltd., 83 Barfor Road, Toronto 15).

Research scientists at the company's fermentation research division in Lancashire have evolved a deep fermentation method of making the antibiotic, which was previously obtainable only in small quantities.

The drug is taken by mouth, not applied externally as are most treatments for fungal conditions. Absorbed by the cells that enable keratin to resist invasion by fungi, it is claimed to have been remarkably successful in the treatment of ringworm of the hands, feet, nails, body and scalp, and in chronic cases of fungal disease where the fungus had previously been inaccessible.

British researchers isolated griseofulvin from cultures of Penicillium griseofulvin in 1937. In 1955 two British research teams recognized griseofulvin, which was then being developed for use in horticulture, as the least toxic antibiotic ever known, and began to investigate the possibility of administering it systematically. It has been called 'a fundamentally new therapeutic approach,' and trials on its use are continuing.

A course of Grisovin for the treatment of ringworm or one of the other fungal diseases would probably take up to four weeks.

MOSCOW (AP) — Seven U.S. veterans arrives in Moscow Tuesday for a Russian-American reunion of soldiers who met at the Elbe River in 1945 in the drive that split Germany in two.

Gunman Shot, Wounded in Police Chase

DETROIT (AP) — A gunman who kidnapped a hostess in a bar holdup Wednesday was shot and wounded in a police chase.

Attractive blonde Diana Marin, 25, ducked police bullets that aided the flight of the gunman who held her hostage in his car.

Held prisoner at hospital was Roger Henderson, 25, who was shot in the right chest and shoulder.

Walter Bigda, 38, owner of the Chez Beauty Lounge, and bartender Walter Kuck, 32, told police they were held up as they were closing the bar.

The gunman took $226 and two bottles of whisky, forced the hostess into his car and fled.

Patrolmen Percy Hart and Ray St. Onge spotted a car parked four miles from the bar.

Hart opened the door on the driver's side. The driver told him, "Don't try anything or I'll kill the girl." Holding a gun against Miss Marin, he drove off and the policemen opened fire.

promises in the event of a victory, he said. He claimed about half had belonged to astro's revolutionary army.

In Mexico City, meanwhile, the newspaper Ultimas Noticias said an invasion force trained in Cuba plans to land on the Nicaraguan coast within about 15 days. Castro, in the heady days after his victory over Fulgencio Batista, had called for the overthrow of Nicaraguan President Luis Somoza as a dictator.

In a dispatch from Havana, the New York Times reports that Panamanian rebels are plotting a symbolic grab of the Panama Canal if they overthrow de la Guardia. The United States has permanent jurisdiction over the waterway and the zone on each side of it under a treaty between Panama and the United States.

The Times says plans call for a few rebels to move into the 10-mile wide Canal Zone and plant the Panamanian flag. They count on U.S. authorities throwing them out. Then they would submit the question of the canal's control to the OAS or to the UN, citing Egypt's successful seizure of the Suez Canal in 1956.

who knew more about railroading.

Staff morale on the CNR, the continent's biggest railway line, occupied the attention of both Mr. Howard and fellow-socialist Douglas Fisher, Port Arthur.

Mr. Fisher said there is growing uncertainty among CNR employees about their job future and the future of railway communities. He urged that Mr. Gordon and PR president N. R. Crump spell out the future programs of the railways in terms of the effects on the employees and their communities.

REDUCING STAFF

Staff reduction are were taking place as a result of labor-saving devices and automatic traffic control that were contributing to the unrest and uncertainty of railway employees. Maintenance of way workers were being cut down as were repair crews.

When automatic traffic control was in operation in the next few years between Toronto and Wiarton there would be further reductions and train crews would be operated over two railway divisions instead of the usual one.

Hazen Argue, CCF House Leader, urged that the Commons committee be empowered to call Mr. Crump and CPR officials as well as those from the CNR. The same proposal should apply to officials of Canadian Pacific Airlines.

In Senate debate, Senator roll said on MPs' pay: "I think personally this country is on the cheap with Parliament."

"They ought to be paid what they are worth and I consider they are worth a good deal more than they are getting."

If no more pay is possible for common members, he said, then there should be a basic allowance for all MPs plus a parliamentary family allowance for members with young children.

Joey Bishop Shuns 'Sick' And Insult and Vulgar Jokes

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Bishop, who will sit in for vacationing Jack Paar next week, was saying that he'd like to get his two brothers on the show. One is a head waiter in Miami Beach and the other "runs a pocketbook factory in California."

A fellow asked if Bishop believed they were unrecognized comic geniuses.

"No," replied Bishop, "they're hopefuls—as comedians. But they could use the 200 bucks you get for appearing on the show."

One yardstick of comedians, he implied, lies in the neighborhood of $200—those who need it and those who don't want it. "I'd like to get Jack Benny and Bob Hope. But neither of them wants $200."

Benny, he said, is a "genuine comic. A genuine comic is a guy who's told by the audience that he's funny. The other kind tells the audience he's funny."

Warming to the subject of Benny, Bishop said: "Have you noticed how he never has the flu anymore? He gives them to somebody else. And that must be difficult."

Since Benny wasn't around to put in a good word for Bishop, we'll have to do it ourselves.

Success hasn't spoiled him either. Like Jack Paar, he has been developing his own style and pace of comedy. He shuns "sick" and insult and vulgar jokes.

Bishop was a highly successful nightclub comedian when he was offered a spot on the CBS-TV show Keep Talking. Guest spots on the Paar show on NBC-TV followed.

His appearances on these programs made him familiar to a larger national audiences than ever had known him before and greatly increased the demand for him in club work.

AT THE PARK — James Garfiel and Alan Hale in a tense scene from Warner Bros. "Up Periscope", now at the Park Theatre. Filmed in Technicolor and WarnerScope, the adventure drama also stars Edmond O'Brien and Andra Martin. On the same program is "Rawhide Trail" starring Rex Reason and Rhonda Gates. Both attractions are first Belleville and District showings.

AT THE McCARTHY — A skin diver finds a buried treasure of jewels in this scene from Columbia Pictures' "Forbidden Island", in Columbia Color. Jon Hall stars in the adventure drama and Nan Adams is featured. The feature has its first Belleville showing at the Belle Drive-In Theatre tonight, 2nd. new hit is "Juke Box Rhythm", starring Jo Morrow, Jack Jones, Brian Donlevy and guest star George Jessel.

AT THE BELLE — Cyd Charisse lights off the attentions of John Ireland in MGM's "Party Girl", a romantic action-packed story of two men pitched in an unholy battle for the affections of the same dame, Cyd Charisse. Robert Taylor and Lee J. Cobb are co-starred in "Party Girl", in Color, now on the Belle Theatre screen.

Bowman Says, He Will Stay With Canadiens

WINNIPEG (CP) — Coach Scotty Bowman of Peterborough Petes says he likely will not accept an offer from the Toronto Maple Leafs organization to coach its Toronto Marlboros OHA junior A farm team.

Bowman, whose Petes are playing Winnipeg Braves for the Memorial Cup, said:

"I've been in the Montreal organization for 11 years, both as player and coach, and they've treated me well. I don't think I'll leave them."

The Petes are a farm club of the NHL Montreal Canadiens.

TITLE DEFENCE SET

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown has been matched for a title defence against Paolo Rosi in Washington June 2. Brown, king of the 135-pounders since 1956, will be putting his crown on the line for the seventh time. Rosi, an Italian who came to the United States in 1952, was listed as No. 3 contender in Ring magazine's rankings. The National Boxing Association rates him fifth. The Wednesday night fight will be televised.

CUP MEMBERS WIN

FORMBY, England (AP)—All six members of the British Walker team reached the round of 16 in the English amateur golf championship Wednesday. David Marsh had the most dramatic escape, sinking a 20-foot putt to win. Other members are M. S. R. Lunt, Arthur Perowne defending champion Doug Sewell, Michael Bonallack and Guy Wolstenholme.

Junior Baseball Team Being Organized Here

"Cuffer" Noakes, well known baseball star in this district a few years back, has taken over the job of organizing and coaching a junior baseball team in Belleville.

Noakes has high hopes of a strong junior club consisting of the city's best midget, juvenile and junior age players. Reports are that there will be no midget league here this summer and these players are invited to try out for the junior club.

The team has held one practice to date and another is planned for Sunday afternoon at CNRA Park at two o'clock. Noakes, who is working with Vic Morris as manager, has invited all boys under the age limit to attend this practice. All positions are open.

Plans at the present time are to try and enter the team in the Kingston Junior Baseball League. If this does not work out both Morris and Noakes are determined to find a league somewhere in which the team can be entered.

Trade Talk Pops Up in Braves' Camp

MILWAUKEE (CP) — Trade talk involving Milwaukee has pitchers cropped up with right-handers Bob Buhl and Bob Trowbridge listed as possible bait.

Oliver Kuechle, sports editor of the Milwaukee Journal, wrote that deals with the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals are "well along in the talking stage."

Kuechle said the Braves are seeking infielder Al Dark of the Cubs and veteran outfielder Irv Noren of the Cardinals.

Whip Vernon Canadians 9-3 In Fifth Game of Series; Will Likely Go to Europe

By Milt MacPhail
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Whitby Dunlops, a history - making hockey team, celebrated a second Allan Cup triumph today that made them almost sure bets to represent Canada on a European exhibition tour next fall.

Whitby, to hardly anyone's surprise, won the national senior championship here Wednesday night for the second time in three years by smothering Vernon Canadians 9-3 to take the best-of-seven series 4-1.

Dunlops have a perfect record in two Allan Cup appearances. In 1956 Whitby followed with a world title in 1958.

Whitby's triumph was the 27th Allan Cup for the east since the series blossomed into an east-west affair 43 years ago. The west won 15 times, the last being Vernon in 1956. There was no final in 1948.

SWAN SONG FOR COACHING

The game was a swan song to hockey for Whitby playing-coach Sid Smith and his counterpart with Vernon, George Agar.

Smith, who has a hardy-looked ready for retirement after coaching three professional outfits, seemed definite about his decision.

"I'll be going out with a winner", he said. "That is my last game as a player. I'm 34 now and hockey is becoming too much of a strain. Besides, I have my family and job to think of," added the ex-pro with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Agar, who will be 40 this Sunday, had the same feeling.

"I'm definitely through playing," the veteran forward said. "I don't know what my plans will be, but after 21 years I may get away from hockey altogether."

There wasn't much doubt Whitby would be picked to tour Europe for two or three weeks next fall.

George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, planned to recommend this at the CAHA's annual meeting May 16 in Detroit.

EAGER FOR EUROPE

Whitby manager Wren Blair, between gulps of champagne in the dressing room, said: "Definitely we'll go to Europe. There may be some league problems such as scheduling, but they can be worked out."

Dudley, who presented the cup to Whitby captain Harry Sinden following the game, said: "I'm sure the Dunnies' tour—if they go—would have to pay for itself. He was very doubtful it would include Russia because "the Russians will only pay a visiting team's expenses and it wouldn't be worthwhile financially."

The crowd of only 1,240 watched while Smith with linemates Bobby Attersley and George Sullivan spoiled Vernon's comeback hopes.

Agar with three goals, including the tie-breaker in the second period, and Attersley and Sandy Smith scoring twice each, gave the Dunnies more than enough offensive punch. Ron and Sandy Alt were the other Whitby marksmen.

Art Hart, Jim Moro and Russ Kowalchuk, an addition from Junior Packers, replaced for Canadians.

THREE IN THE SECOND

After each team scored once in the first period, Whitby scored three times in the second game added five more goals in the third when Vernon got its last tallies.

Netminder Hal Gordon, Vernon's star in the series, received little protection from his defence and had to make 32 stops compared with 18 for Whitby's John Henderson.

The series, which Dunlops wanted played in Maple Leaf Gardens because their own rink holds only 800, drew a total of 17,702 fans for the five games. Dudley blamed an uninteresting series.

At Whitby, Dunlops came home to horns and brens and crowds cheered as a gigantic bonfire was lit in the town's home. Dunlops rock in on a fire engine.

Leafs Shade Sugar Kings; Royals Lose

By The Associated Press

Only Toronto Maple Leafs' 6-5 victory over Havana Sugar Kings prevented a southern sweep in the northern opening of the International League Wednesday.

The league-leading Miami Marlins breezed to an 11-3 victory over Montreal Royals. Richmond Virginians whipped Buffalo Bisons 9-4 and Columbus Jets gained a 3-2 11-inning victory over Rochester Red Wings.

Archie Wilson's pinch-hit triple in the sixth inning drove in two runs to boost Leafs to their victory before 14,262 paying - day fans in Toronto. Borrego Alvarez' three-run homer in the fourth put the Sugar Kings in front briefly. Dave Pope, who had three hits, hit his second homer of the season in the second inning for Toronto.

CHESAN WINS

Jack Crimian (1-1), in relief of Hal Woodeshick, was credited with Frank Funk's three scoreless innings of relief after the sixth-inning departure of Lou Arroyo (0-3) was the loser in relief of Vince Amoros.

The Marlins sprinkled three home runs and seven doubles among their 11 hits to give Jack Fisher his second win without a loss. Gerry Staley, Wim one-hit pitcher to his second victory without a loss. Art Kahaffey (0-2) was the loser.

The Bisons, who had 10 hits including Lino Rivera's three-run double and single, played without Frank Herrera, their regular shortstop.

Herrera and his wife were involved in a collision before they left Havana Tuesday for Guatemala City. Their automobile was released when Cuban officials found that his wife, who had the same name as a woman they sought, was without supplies. Both are natives of Cuba.

Don Baleh hit a pinch-hit single in the 11th inning to drive in Joe Christopher with the winning tally. It kept the Jets a game behind Miami. Lynn Lovenguth (4-0) got relief help from Don Williams in the home half of the 11th for the victory.

Marshall Bridges (0-2), lost, pitching without retiring a batter, second inning to the 11th inning. Christopher singled in the 11th, stole second and scored on Baleh's hit.

Manager Says

'Real' Patterson Will Show Against Britisher from Down Under

By Murray Rose

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The "real" Floyd Patterson will be on display against British challenger Brian London in their heavyweight boxing title fight Friday night.

That was almost the final word from the champion's camp today as Patterson went through some light workouts for his fourth title defence. He is a 10-to-1 favorite to beat London.

"Floyd will be 100-per-cent better than he was against Roy Harris—and he had better be," said manager Cus D'Amato. "London is a tough fighter."

"This is going to be the Patterson you saw knock out Archie Moore," said trainer Dan Florio.

Patterson flattened Moore, the light - heavyweight king, in the fifth round Nov. 30, 1956, in a fine flawless performance. He was far off that form in stopping Harris in the 12th round last Aug. 18 in Patterson's last fight.

Patterson was not informed by his manager about the latest rhubarb — a minor one — involving the promotion. This concerned a local television program which was cancelled Wednesday night because Patterson did not show up.

Both Patterson and London were to have been interviewed

'Bowler, Brolly' Brigade Leaves To Cheer Brian

BLACKPOOL, Eng. (AP)— A British bowler and "brolly" brigade left on Brian London's home town to cheer him on in his world heavyweight championship fight against Floyd Patterson at Indianapolis Friday night.

The party of 58, including London's wife and his mother, will hear a special farewell night in New York, and it looked like a guards' brigade reunion going by the group of fight fans.

All the men wore black bowlers and all carried rolled umbrellas, known as "brollies" in England.

It's just a little touch to give the Americans the right impression," said Ian Coleman Manny Goodall. "When Brian wins that world title we are going to have the bowlers and brollies into the ring."

Red Wings Play in L.A.

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League have scheduled three exhibition games in new Los Angeles rink.

The games will be played either Sept. 22-23-24 or Sept. 27-28-29 against Detroit's Edmonton farm club of the Western Hockey League. There has been considerable discussion about Los Angeles eventually joining the western league and the exhibitions are regarded as a trial balloon.

Braves Sweep From Behind To 5-3 Victory Over Petes; Can Wrap It Up on Friday

WINNIPEG (CP)—Only Winnipeg Braves know what coach Bill Allum said after the second period but it paid off with a come-from-behind 5-3 victory over Peterborough Petes in the fourth game of the Memorial Cup final Wednesday night.

Braves swept from behind a 3-2 second-period count to take a commanding 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series. Winnipeg could take home the cup and the Canadian junior hockey crown with a win in Brandon Friday night.

Allum kept a rousing pep talk between the second and third periods," said Allum. "And the boys dug for yards after playing badly the first two.

Peterborough appeared ready to tie up the series after a fast start gave them a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period. They held on to a slim 3-2 margin going into the third period but then fell behind when Winnipeg players twice stole the puck close to Pete net and scored.

Petes' coach Scotty Bowman said: "We should have won. We outshot them, outplayed them and outchecked them. We played our best game of the series."

Petes outshot the Braves 22 to 18 before 8,375 fans.

Al Baty scored the winning goal at the 15-minute mark of the final period. Captain Wayne Larkin clinched the victory three minutes later with his second goal of the night. Centre Bobby Rivard also scored twice.

Petes' scorers were Jim Robert, Bob Rivard and Rogers Montague.

Bowman was bitter about the work of referee Len Corriveau of Quebec City. "He called only the glaring trips, never the hooking or boarding."

Bowman said he would ask that another referee be named for the fifth game.

Only injury from the game was Braves' Don Attamchuk, who suffered a bruised hip. Club doctor Jack Waugh said he thought Attamchuk will be ready to play Friday.

Braves also are expected today.

dress Pat Augers, who missed Wednesday night's game with a knee injury.

Petes looked bad on the two vital goals. Baty's winner and Larkin's clinching shot.

Rivard was the goat on the winner. He was checked by Gerry Kruk in front of his own net. Baty took the loose puck and drilled it past goaltender Dennis DeJordy. Bowman said he thought Kruk should have been penalized on the play.

Larkin later took the puck from defenceman Barclay Plager in front of the Peterborough net. His shot deflected off defenceman Tom Thurlby's leg.

A sixth game, if necessary, will be played here next Wednesday.

Villa ated to d Division

(Reuters) — Aston Villa with one of the greatest records in English soccer today might was relegated to the second division of the English League for only the second time in its long career.

Villa, beaten by Nottingham Forest in this year's cup semi-finals, never looked like beating Bromwich and the goal scored by Gerry Hitchens was the first by Villa in four games.

Another relegation problem was solved in the second division.

Barnsley, whose chairman Joe Richards is president of the Football League, was beaten 3-1 at home to Leyton Orient and toppled into the third division.

Grimsby Town had already gone down from the second division.

Football Association Cup is a record, was last relegated to the second division in 1958, but came back again in 1938.

Manchester City was a goal down to Leicester early in the first half, but Joe Hayes equalized before halftime and Ray Sambrook and McAdams each scored in the second half.

Haney Threat Pays Off; Brooks Back In Top Spot

Logan, Covington Gain 'Life' With Game-Winning Homers; Yanks Getting Forward Look

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee lost two in a row, fell out of first place and a disturbed manager Fred Haney announced he planned to beach weak-hitting Johnny Logan and Wes Covington. Now the Braves are back in the National League lead, and who hit the home runs that put 'em there? Logan and Covington.

With a couple of days of rain intervening between that lost weekend in Cincinnati and Wednesday night's game with St. Louis, Haney changed his mind about beaching his shortstop and left fielder. And within three innings Haney was happy.

Logan belied his first homer of the year, also a two-run clout, in the three-run second inning. Then Covington blasted his first of the year, also a two-run shot in the third and the Braves were off to a 5-3 victory over the Cardinals.

CLOSE RACE

That gave Milwaukee a .562 percentage edge over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who slipped to second with a 5-4, ninth-inning defeat at Philadelphia. Cincinnati powered into third, ripping the Chicago Cubs 15-6 after San Francisco had skidded to fourth with a 3-2 loss at Pittsburgh.

While Logan (1-for-3) and Covington (2-for-4) fought to hold their starting positions, Hank Aaron continued his hot hitting with a 4-for-5 night, including his fifth homer, and lifted his league leading average to .526. Billy Bruton also homered for the Braves, who collected 15 hits and made Lew Burdette's fourth straight victory a breeze.

Burdette, unbeaten, gave up 11 hits, two of them solo homers by Gino Cimoli and Bill White, and struck out five while winning his eighth in a row in a string that started last season. Winless Larry Jackson lost his third.

The Phils caught up with Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres (2-2) with two runs in the ninth on four singles. Pinch-hitter Don Bowman drove in the tying run and pinch-hitter Dave Philley the clincher against reliever Art Fowler. Jack Meyer (2-1) won it in relief of Robin Roberts, who suffered a muscle spasm in his back and gave way to a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

GETS TWO HOMERS

Wally Post hit two homers for Phils' first three runs. Duke Snider drove in the Dodgers' first three, with a single and a double, and Don Demeter's sacrifice fly gave them a 4-3 lead in the seventh.

The Reds had 18 hits including homers by Frank Robinson, Roy McMillan and Gus Bell. Brooks Lawrence (2-1) was nicked for a 10-0 lead in two innings, but needed relief help from Bob Wilhe in a four-run seventh that put the Reds' edge to 12-4. Pinch-hitter John Gorry and George Altman hit two-run homers for the Cubs. Moe Drabowsky finished it.

Cincinnati had 21 runs in its last nine games but won only five.

The Pirates were blanked on three hits by southpaw John Antonelli (2-1) until their three-run seventh inning capped by Bill Mazeroski's two-out, solo homer. Ron Kline won his first, striking out nine, walking but one and shutting out the Giants after they bunched four of their seven hits for a two-run second inning.

CHELSEA BEATS BELGRADE

CHELSEA, England (AP)—Chelsea, English First Division soccer team, defeated Belgrade 1-0 Wednesday night in the first leg of a quarter-finals match in the European Inter-cities Fairs Cup.

What is it about the Chicago White Sox that pops up the New York Yankees?

There was, for instance, that dreary, final-two - month slump the Yankees had last season before clinching the American League pennant. At one stage they lost four out of six games before playing Chicago, then took two of four from the White Sox. Later, they lost four of five, but then took two of three from the Sox. And just before locking up the flag they swept two from Chicago, after again losing four of six games.

When the Yankees had their first run-in of the season with the White Sox Wednesday, they had lost four in a row and Bob Turley, the Yanks' right-handed ace, had lost two straight. Also, the club hadn't been able to score twice in any of its last 51 innings.

So the Yankees rapped three home runs, scored twice in the first inning and beat the White Sox 5-3 as Turley evened his record at 3-3, although giving up nine hits.

HOMERED TO FIFTH

That boosted the Yankees to fifth with a .500 record and helped to hand the Cleveland Indians, three games with Boston was rained out, a 1½-game lead. The Baltimore Orioles, who had won four in a row, remained tied with Chicago for second despite a 7-1 loss at Detroit, where the Tigers won their second of the season in a game held to five innings by rain. Kansas City defeated Washington 7-6.

Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Bill Skowron homered for the Yankees, who had eight hits. Manlie's came with a man on in the first off loser Ray Moore (0-1).

The White Sox, hit by flu which sidelined manager Al Lopez and six players, left 11 men on base. Only Nellie Fox, who was 4-for-5, gave Turley real trouble as he beat the White Sox for the fifth time in a row since 1956.

With or without help the ex, Frank Lary (1-2) became the first complete game pitcher this season for the Tigers, who had last struck out for the second time. Lary gave up seven hits, but didn't walk a man.

Larry Osborne and Al Kaline homered for Detroit in a three-run first inning against loser Arnie Portocarrero (0-1). It was Osborne's first in the majors and he was 3-for-3 as a first base replacement for slumping Gail Harris.

Hector Lopez drove in four runs for the A's, singling home the winner in the ninth. He also hit a two-run homer. Joe Demaestri also homered for the A's, while Jim Lemon hit a home run for the Senators. Tom Gorman (1-0) won it in relief after the Nats chased Bobby Shantz in a three-run ninth that tied it six-all. Wilo Valentinetti (0-2) was the loser in relief.

Bahama Wins Over Meyer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Veteran Yama Bahama, using a steady left hand, scored a unanimous decision over Phil Meyer, Wednesday night in a 10-round welterweight boxing match.

Bahama got round Bahama's left hand in his face most of the televised bout.

Bahama, 34, came into the ring at 152 1-2, while Moyer, 21, weighed 151 1-2.

IBC Is Dead But Not Buried, Says Manager

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— Gus D'Amato, manager of world heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson, said today the International Boxing Club is dead but not buried and he is fighting it with a combine of his own.

D'Amato said he has hooked up with the manager of the world welterweight champ, Don Jordan, and is seeking other managerial colleagues to combat the erstwhile IBC.

"The IBC is operating the same damn way it did before the court dissolution which was supposed to have broken it up," D'Amato said in an interview. "Cus said he has entered into a pooling agreement with Don Nesmith, Jordan's manager.

Since the IBC was dissolved, separate branches were set up in New York and Chicago. The IBC interests in Madison Square Garden were sold.

Tony Kubek Collapsed at Breakfast Table

CHICAGO (AP)—Tony Kubek of the New York Yankees collapsed at the breakfast table at the team's hotel Wednesday. He fainted and was helped to his room. It was believed that the flu, which had hit 13 Chicago White Sox players, also had gotten him but a doctor who examined Kubek said it wasn't flu. The 22-year - old infielder was taken to the doctor's office for further examination, Manager Al Lopez and six of his players were unable to appear in uniform today, due to the flu or virus. Lopez, infielders Earl Torgeson and Billy Goodman, outfielders John Callison and Don Mueller and pitcher Dick Donovan were confined to their rooms, Earl Battey, reserve catcher, was in a Chicago hospital. He went there for an examination because he felt faint and was put to bed when found to have a high temperature.

Coach Tony Cuccinello ran the White Sox in the absence of Lopez.

FRANKFORD

Enoch Orser Reaches 77th Milestone

FRANKFORD — Mr. Enoch Orser, of Frankford, R.R. 4, celebrating his 77th birthday on Wednesday, April 22. Mr. Orser is in fair health and spent the day quietly at home with his wife, family and friends.

Mr. Orser has three daughters and three sons, 23 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Among the friends who called to wish him a happy birthday were Mrs. William Gunter and E. Lockwood, both of Frankford.

Rossmore

ROSSMORE — The ladies of the afternoon group entertained their husbands Saturday night to a banquet and social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ross. Sixteen attended and enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner served on a beautifully appointed damask - covered table centred with carnations and snapdragons.

The evening was spent in playing cards and prizes were awarded to the winners. Mrs. W. Clapp won the ladies' high and Jone hand; F. Belnap, the men's high, while low prizes went to Mrs. F. Belnap and Mr. Moy.

A vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Ross for opening their home and entertaining so graciously was moved by Mrs. Empey and seconded unanimously.

Mrs. Charles Reddick entertained the ladies of the W.A. at her home Tuesday afternoon. The business part of the meeting was dealt with and plans discussed to attend the convention at Bedlerville.

A social half hour was enjoyed while the hostess served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Denike have moved to Kingston.

Mrs. E. Anderson, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. J. Empey, Mrs. L. Pollitt and Mrs. S. White attended the bowling banquet Wednesday evening in the I.O.O.F. Hall in Belleville.

Moira

MOIRA — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Keller attended their nephew's wedding in Madoc on Saturday.

Miss Mabel Mumby spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Billie Vardy, and with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Clarke, of Stirling. She returned home on Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarke and they spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. David Mumby.

Mr. Douglas Farrel has finished his course at Kemptville and is helping his father on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Holden and children, Catarsqui; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith and children, Bloomfield, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Holden.

Mrs. James Lake, Stirling, is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Rose eKitchecon, and Mr. Kelchecon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose Ketcheson and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell, Foxboro.

Mr. Douglas Findlay and girl non and tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McInroy on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hall, of Tyrone, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. David Mumby.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dyson were Sunday dinner hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Mumby.

CANADIANS ARRIVE

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (Reuter)—Seventeen students of Canada's National Defence College arrived here Wednesday for a three-day visit during which they will tour defence installations.

COLORAY® LIVING CARPET

Read these interesting facts about COLORAY®

- The dramatic colours in COLORAY® Carpets are actually captive colours—they can't escape. The pigments are a part of the chemical formula of this wonder fibre.
- COLORAY® leads in density of pile—(more actual tufts per square inch) . . . deep, thick pile for that naturally luxurious look and feel of COLORAY® carpeting.
- There's new living resiliance in COLORAY® carpeting. It's built right into the fibre for a new luxurious feeling under foot. The new living wearability of COLORAY® carpeting is actually unequalled in this and many other higher priced fields.
- New freedom from stains—discolouring. Your COLORAY® carpet is safe from moths and such household spills as beverages, foods ...Yes, even Javel Water or nail polish remover.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Thursday, April 30

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Ideal day to get together with right persons and formulate plans for some worthwhile venture that will prove lucrative and interesting for all concerned. P. M. have a gay time socially and regain that lost de vivre.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Go about your business in the busy world of progress in a more determined and efficient manner. If you feel you should change conditions or jobs, do so. Get your credit higher and be active in civic matters. You are greater than you think.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Now you can absorb all the modern data and ideas that easily at hand via radio, TV, periodicals, and particularly books you can pick up at the local library. Get busy and life in the future can be very bright for you.

Moon Children June 22 to July 21) — Get in touch with those fine personal BeWisers who can truly assist you materially to gain your hopes and wishes. Then be appreciative of other persons and do not fail to give due praise where it is due. This pays fine dividends. P. M. be romantic.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Have a meeting with associates who can help you to put in operation novel ideas that are truly wonderful. They will quickly co-operate with you. Don't be afraid to sign on the dotted line after every clause has been intelligently discussed.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — You are full of energy right now, so it should be very easy to put behind you a mountain of odds and ends. Do it! Clear the decks. P. M. throw a little party for fellow workers and cement better relations, show appreciation for help.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Your finest day of current week! Business interests can be out and about town having a good time or accomplishing much in way of creative expressions. P. M. go to see a good play.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — If you simply give full attention to problematical affairs that concern own home and ties, you adjust them very quickly and efficiently. Begin spirend and increase success. P. M. take it easy at home or entertain lightly.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Excellent day to confer with associates or friends, do shopping, visiting with vital persons in your life, and bring about a better set of conditions than now exists. P. M. studying is fine, or catching up on letter writing.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Now is the time to adopt those modern appliances or methods that will add much to your present possessions. Also good for seeing influential persons who can help you have a far greater income. Work hard and succeed.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Jan. 19) — Get most important duties out of the way early and then delve into interesting things that fascinate you. Be out in the world of progress and dressed in highest fashion. Discuss aims with right persons. P. M. be very sociable.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Nice day to be with those whom you trust in order to discuss intimate and confidential matters that will bring you increasing success and happiness. Make concrete plans. P. M. have an inspiring evening with loyal attachment.

If your child is, born today ... The fine child born today will have a most humanitarian bent to his or her nature, so be sure you always have acceptable young children about for fullest expression. Excellent chart for any work that has to do with helping people in general as well as professions that deal with the social niceties or artistic graces. However, early teach that help must be asked for before proffering it. Charming child!

ANCIENT SITE

Augsberg in West Germany dates its History back to 15 BC when the Romans built a fort at the strategic location.

FIRST ROAD

Canada's first graded road, about 10 miles long, was built by Samuel Champlain in 1606 at Port Royal, N.S.

Nervous; Always Tired Limbs, Joints Sore, Painful

Surprised How Much Better I am Since Taking Syntona Says This Woman.

"I was rundown and my nerves were all on edge, but Syntona has given me wonderful results" said Mrs. Winnifred Stewart, 348 Ridell Street, Woodstock, Ontario, in a recent report.

Suffered 5 Years

"This condition came about after medical treatment for the past five years with constipation, and pains left by digestive troubles. I was advised to rest. I would get sharp pains, awful bloated feeling and shortness of breath. Rheumatic pains set into my joints. I was nervous and tired. At night my nerves would be so tense I couldn't sleep and I felt tired from the time I got up in the morning.

Relief Came Quickly

"From the first that I started taking Syntona I could feel that it was helping me and now that I've been using it awhile I am relieved of that awful distress and indigestion after meals. I also got wonderful relief from those painful joints, my nerves are now normal, I sleep sound and my nerves are calmed down. I sleep soundly at night and am full of pep — how much better I feel."

Syntona is a unique combination of three medicines in one tablet including 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots. It acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, aids in the elimination of excess acids and assimilation and promotes better appetite and digestion.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan the Druggist.

It's that season again..
